The resignation of Chief Justice John P. Devaney removes from the state Supreme Court bench not only an able lawyer but a person of a decidedly liberal trend of mind. With reactionary courts nullifying remedial legislation almost daily, the need of persons of broad viewpoint and sympathetic understanding of the problems of the masses is greater than ever. Judge Devaney's dissenting opinions on the Minnesota bench, particularly the recent iron ore tax decision, stamp him as that type of a fearless jurist.

Those that regard law as an exact science and contend that the courts arrive at decisions bearing on social and economic questions without bias have very little to support their contention. Every important economic decision not only on the bench of the United States Supreme Courts but the state courts as well, finds the reactionaries interpreting the law in accordance with their reactionary concepts and the liberals interpreting the law in accordance with their lights.

While one regrets exceedingly the departure of a man like Judge Devaney from the bench, there is a measure of compensation in the fact that his successor, Henry M. Gallagher of Waseca is likewise a person of liberal tendencies and, lawyers are agreed, a very able man in his profession.

Chief Justice Devaney and George B. Leonard, prominent Minneapolis attorney, are active in the new National Lawyers' Guild, recently organized in New York.

Formed in opposition to American Bar Association, which comprises only 15 per cent of the practising attorneys in the country, the new Guild aims to protect and foster democratic institutions and civil rights and to promote justice in administration of the law. Leaders of the Guild point out that the American Bar Association is directed and controlled by the American Liberty League and similar reactionary groups.

A Minnesota chapter of the Lawyers' guild will be formed by Mr. Leonard in the near future.

Plans for enabling farm tenants to become owners of their land were put forward by T. H. Arens of the Rural Credits Department at a hearing before President Roosevelt's Committee on Tenancy held at Lincoln, Neb., recently. Mr. Arens who represented Governor Benson, at the hearing, suggested that one-third of the crop instead of cash be accepted as payment on the farms of tenants.

In explanation, he said that farms are worth no more than they can produce; consequently, it is only just that there be a division of produce between landlord and farmer. This would remove gouging by landlords in bad crop years. He pointed out that the plan had already been tried in Minnesota successfully.

Governor Benson in his inaugural message expressed concern regarding the rising number of farm tenants in the state. He pointed out that because the depression had caused many farmers to lose their land as high as 62 per cent of the farms in some counties are operated by tenants.

Axes are no longer swinging in the tall timbers this week as 3,500 lumber jacks are out on strike. Declaring that eating their meals out-of-doors in below zero weather and bunking in not overclean beds in the same room with a hundred other lumberjacks are not conditions engendering the greatest health and comfort, the lumberjacks have asked for higher wages and a legislative investigation into their conditions.

In the meantime, the men have asked for relief until a settlement can be reached. Governor Benson indicated at a meeting of the State Executive Council last week that he was in favor of helping the men obtain relief. He said: "These men must not be permitted to go cold or hungry. It is our duty to see that they do not."

POOL OF "BLOOD"— MAN DEAD IN SNOW?

Belle Plaine A supposedly dead man lying in a snow bank in a pool of "blood" created such excitement that three public officials were notified by three individuals of a gruesome happening. An excited woman called the sheriff at his office saying, "There is a man on the street dead or dying, lying in a pool of blood." At the same time someone else was conveying the same message to the Shakopee police chief and a third person excitedly telephoned the deputy sheriff with the same information. All three guardians of the law converged on the designated spot at about the same time. There was the man, face downward in the red stained snow. If he wasn't dead he was certainly bleeding to death, each thought. Lifting him up, they found they were facing an old familiar drunk from the Shakopee transient camp, drunk again. The red pool was from a bottle of red wine that smashed under him as he fell.

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

FORTY YEARS AGO

We present here some items of interest from old newspaper files and official records for the year 1896. We begin with the events that took place just after the new year began, showing happenings of 40 years ago, from the stand-point of an annual review.

The first item deals with the release of Chippewa lands for settlement: "Early in January of 1896 announcement was made of the early opening of the Red Lake Indian reservation and the future of the city loomed up brighter than ever. The sale was first announced for June 1, then changed to May 1 and was finally held May 15. Mrs. Jennie Cunningham was the first person to make a filing and as she had secured an excellent quarter section was forced to undergo much litigation.

"On January 28 a mass meeting was held for the purpose of outlining plans for the incorporation of Red Lake Rapids and Thief River Falls as a city. Ira C. Richardson was chairman of the meeting.

"In the latter part of the month the Polk county grand jury returned indictments against every saloon keeper in the village, charging violations of the laws.

"At the spring election on Mar. 10, the Meehans succeeded in finally electing their candidates. These were Jas. Meehan, president; K. M. Hansen, T. P. Hamre and C. C. Jackson, trustees, and H. H. Olson, treasurer. Lars Backe of the opposition was elected recorder.

"On March 1 a mass meeting was held to confer with James J. Hill regarding a resumption of daily service over the Great Northern, but the request was denied by Mr. Hill for the time being.

"On March 30 Mrs. John Lallree, who might fittingly be called 'the Mother of Thief River Falls', passed to her reward following an attack of typhoid fever. The Lallrees were then living on a farm in the town of Excel north of the city.

"In April G. W. Mason arrived with a large crew of men for the purpose of erecting the saw mill at the dam being built by F. H. Kratka. April was a 'boom month' and at one time nine business blocks were in course of construction in the little village.

"On May 1 an appropriation of $10,000 was made for the improvement of the river. The work occupied a number of months, a flotilla of dredges and houseboats being erected for the work of removing obstructions from the river. One of these boats is now (1915) occupied by John Durbin as bachelor quarters.

"On May 18 the First State bank was organized out of the Polk County bank, A. G. Gallasch was president and L. P. Johnson cashier. It was decided to erect a building for the institution and the building is that today (1915) occupied by the Thief River Valley Land Co.

"During the same month petitions were circulated praying for the division of Polk county into five parts with county seats located at Red Lake Falls, Fisher, Fosston, East Grand Forks and Crookston.

"On May 21 an election was held in the matter of establishing an electric light plant, but the proposition was defeated by a vote of 60 to 40. A somewhat interesting item, although not of any historical value, is that pertaining to the organization of the ball team, in which W. B. Fuller was catcher, William Warner pitcher, Archie Donaldson shortstop, Frank Davis first base, Charles Page second base, Allan Bensie, third base, and K. M. Hansen, Delos Douglas and E. E. Zeh fielders, W. B. Fuller was chosen manager.

"On June 24 the big steamer 'Martin Lally', was launched. The boat was to be used for towing logs on the Red lakes and was owned by the T. B. Walker interests. The assessed valuation of the city as returned by the board of equalization on July 3 showed real estate at $114,912 and personal property at $35,833, making a total of $150,745.

"On July 18 notice was issued for the hearing of petitions for the incorporation of the city, the hearing to be held on September 1. Two names were suggested, 'Thief River Falls and 'Twin Falls'. On August 21 a petition was presented to the postal department asking that the name of the postoffice be changed to Beau Falls, this being a move to confuse the voters in the matter of the incorporation. The election was held on September 1 and 177 votes were cast, of which 130 favored the incorporation. Thief River Falls was chosen as the name receiving 78 votes while Twin Falls received 52, the balance being scattered. The first city election was held on October 20 and resulted in the election of the following: Mayor, Frank H. Kratka aldermen, John Burkee, P. O. Bergh, C. A. Robbecke, G. Gilbertson, C. J. Knox and O. T. Tandberg (Mr. Knox was later chosen president of the council); treasurer, J. W. Wallini. At a later meeting of the new council Lars Backe was chosen clerk, E. S. Wilcox chief of police and Jas Farr chief engineer.

"The incorporation of the city was a bitter blow to H. W. Lee who represented the Meehans and was bitterly fought in the courts, the litigation extending over several years. However on April 9, 1897, a special act of the legislature legalized the incorporation and Thief River Falls became a city in fact as well as in size, name and prestige."

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

We have had a little taste of rough weather this week, but after referring to files of a year ago we decided not to complain. A year ago this week we had several days of thirty below and then on the twenty-second the thermometer dropped down to a minus forty-three. After checking up on last year's figures we concluded that the weather man is doing an extra fine job this season.

A couple of weeks ago we said nice things about that portion of Governor Benson's inaugural in which he came out definitely against additional borrowing by the state and urged the pay-as-we-go plan for all state financing. It rather surprised us, therefore, to read the reports this week that he approves a proposal for issuing another seventeen million dollars of state bonds. We have watched the papers carefully for a vigorous denial by the Governor but so far in vain. It must be, then, that the reports are true and that what the Governor said in his inaugural was not to be considered seriously.

TAXING RAILROADS

One of the proposed sources of increased tax revenue for the state of Minnesota is the railroads. At the present time the railroads are paying five per cent of their gross earnings, five cents on each dollar they collect, to the state. In recent years the earnings of the railroads have been greatly reduced, which means that their contribution to the state in the form of taxes has also decreased. It is now suggested, therefore, that the rate of taxation be increased to offset to some extent the decrease in revenue to the state.

That Minnesota needs additional revenue cannot be denied. And that railroad gross earnings taxes are easy to collect is also self evident. But it also is quite clear that our railroads are not able to pay increased taxes without passing those taxes on to their customers. In other words any increases in taxes on the earnings of the railroads must of necessity be sales taxes, added to the cost of each transaction and paid eventually by the consumer.

In this community we are vitally interested in the Soo Line, depending on it, as we do, for the bulk of our railroad service. In the year 1929 the gross earnings of this road in Minnesota were $14,638,280. During that year it carried 4,908 employees on its Minnesota pay roll to whom it paid wages in the amount of $8,275,121, leaving a little less than six million dollars with which to pay other operating expenses. In 1935 the gross earnings within the state had dropped off to $6,306,496, of which $5,141,131 was paid out in wages to 3,603 employees, leaving just a little over a million dollars with which to buy coal and pay its taxes and other operating expenses. While 1936 figures, not yet available, will probably show some improvement over 1935, the picture will be substantially the same. And it certainly doesn't require a knowledge of accounting to appreciate the fact that the Soo Line is not able to pay more taxes. Owners of the Soo Line, with an invested capital of more than two hundred million dollars, have not received dividends on their stock during the past fifteen years. To add further to the operating costs of this railroad, expecting the company to absorb the costs, is therefore unthinkable.

If the state wishes to place additional taxes on transportation, then let those additional taxes be spread uniformly over all forms of transportation, to be paid by those who pay the transportation bills. By doing this the tax will not be a penalty on just one form of transportation service, but will be fair to all of them. And it will be an honest tax because those who pay it will know they are paying it and why.

The automobile industry, which was on its toes all during the depression, will be on its uppers if those strikes should last indefinitely.

Former Ada Farm Hand Seized in Kidnap Case

George Wilson, former Ada farm laborer, who was arrested Tuesday in Portland, Oregon, became enraged when questioned about his possible knowledge of the Charles Mattson kidnapping and shouted to officers that "I am glad the boy was killed." The suspect who had a newspaper clipping of the crime in his pocket when arrested gave his name as George Wilson. Police said he resembled descriptions of the kidnaper.

Evangelist Discusses Creation in Lecture

"The Work of creation can never be explained by science. What science can explain the mystery of life? The universe came into existency at the command of God. He was not indebted to pre-existing matter, all things, material and spiritual, stood up before Him", declared Evangelist Gulbrandson before a large audience last Sunday night in his lecture on "Creation and Division of Time" at the old Methodist Church. Pictures from many lands were shown and gospel songs were sung. The Back to the Bible lecture program for next Sunday is announced in this paper.

Bids Are Sought on Four Traffic Survey Scales

As a part of its program for a statewide highway traffic survey in 1937, in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Public Roads, the state highway department today called bids on four dual platform pit scales, to be opened February 5.

The estimated cost of the equipment, for the weighing of buses and trucks up to 20,000 pounds, will be in the neighborhood of $10,000. The survey, in charge of R. J. Short, state manager, is under the general direction of H. S. Fairbank, chief of the division of information of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The scales will be located four miles north of Farmington on Trunk Highway No. 218, three miles north of Shakopee on T. H. No. 169 and T. H. No. 212, six miles southeast of Elk River on highways Nos. 10, 52, 169 and 218, and four miles east of Sebeka on T. H. No. 61.

The survey will be informative only, Mr. Short said, and, so that the information objective may be fully achieved, no prosecutions will result. Mr. Short expects the cooperation of all truck and bus companies. The plan is a part of a nationwide project.

To Make State Campaign for Babcock Memorial to Honor Former Road Head

The statewide campaign to establish an appropriate memorial to the late Charles M. Babcock will be a truly "citizen's drive", seeking its support from small contributions by citizens groups, good roads advocates and automobile clubs.

Announcement of this policy was made this week by the committee of the Charles M. Babcock Memorial Association, of which N. W. Elsberg, Babcock's successor as state commissioner of highways, is an active member.

Local campaign committees will be formed in each of Minnesota's 87 counties, Commissioner Elsberg said, membership to be selected from among those who, at present and in the past, have realized the great value that has accrued to the state from its fine highway system from "pulling Minnesota out of the mud".

TAXI DRIVER GETS HIS TOWNS MIXED

Northfield—A local taxi driver succumbed to "embarrassing error No. 1 for 1937" when he confused two towns, Northfield and Dennison. He received instructions to call at a Northfield address to transport a passenger to Dennison in time for a train. Some time later a taxi official chanced to the address and noticed that no car tracks appeared in the snow in front of the house. He inquired of his would-be patron about the cab and learned it had not arrived. Consequently a second one was dispatched and the traveler caught the train in the nick of time. And driver number one? He was found in Dennison searching vainly for the street address and a passenger to bring back to catch a train in Northfield.

Dormitory Facilities at Northwest School Now Fully Occupied

For the first time in the history of the Northwest School, officials found it necessary to refuse late applicants due to lack of dormitory accommodations. The last of the three dormitories, of which there are two for boys and one for girls, was erected in 1914 when the enrollment averaged about two hundred students each year.

With a new high of 401 students enrolled this year, there is urgent need of additional dormitory and classroom accommodations. The situation is especially acute in the girls' dormitory where three girls have been assigned to all of the regular two-student rooms, with an overflow that filled one floor of the health service in addition to the home practice quarters and rooms in the dining hall. Unless additional buildings are provided, it will [illegible] tration in the future school officials said.

EXCITEMENT YEARN LEAVES GIRLS COLD

Ortonville—They said they wanted "excitement", but they got cold instead, the four comely St. Paul girls who with total resources of one penny ran away from home. The girls, aged 15 and 16, had started out with a view to seeing how the "bums" roughed it in winter as their objective. With their financial support of one cent they purchased two sticks of gum and left the rest to fate and the generosity of whoever they met on the road. Should hitch hiking have been unsuccessful, they had planned to "hop" the freight trains. Spending the first night at Maple Plaine where they were given food and lodging in a restaurant, the second at Danvers, their slow trip came to an end when a sheriff at Ortonville threw a monkeywrench into their plans. The girls bubbled over with enthusiasm for the sheriff, the "grandest sheriff they had ever met", who found them cold and shivering.

THIEF RIVER FALLS HOCKEY SEXTET HAS CROWDED SCHEDULE

The Grand Forks Cavaliers played their third overtime tie Thursday night as Thief River Falls staged a last minute rally to tie the score at 2-all in the third period and then staved off a series of frenzied rushes in the extra session of a spectacular game.

Both teams skated at a fast pace from start to finish. Napoli had a busy night in the Thief River goal, being credited with 39 stops to 17 for Lawrence of the Cavaliers, while the rival forward lines showed flashes of neat passing and the defense men, notably DePaul of the Thieves, did their share in providing entertainment with rugged body checking and solo rushes.

The first period had only 30 seconds left when DePaul gave the Thieves a one-goal lead on a brilliant dash from his own goal. He drove a knee-high shot past Lawrence from the Grand Forks blue line that beat the Cavaliers goalie cleanly.

Rule Jullen scored the final goal with only a minute of the game left, taking a pass from Standbridge directly in front of Lawrence after a four-man power drive had been temporarily stopped near the goal.

USED AUTOMOBILES

Even though the cold and snow, now is the time we can give you better used car bargains and now is a good time to buy for spring.

We are buying heavy for spring in all our lines and we need room, which is one good reason for giving better car bargains right now than later on.

There is a general trend of advancing prices in all lines and many advances have already been made, which must and without a doubt effect automobile prices as well as other merchandise. When prices on new cars advance, used car prices will follow.

We have an exceptional fine stock of 16 used automobiles in our stock now, including many late models with a few good values in older models, ranging in price from $50.00 and up.

We have NINE PLYMOUTH automobiles in our used stock and every one of them exceptional values.

USED TRUCKS

Never in the history of our business have we offered greater used truck values than in the FIFTEEN used trucks we now have in our stock.

It may seem early for some of you to figure on a truck investment because you may not have any use for a truck until spring, but you can imagine with our stock of SIXTEEN used automobiles and FIFTEEN used trucks, this takes up a lot of room and we do need room for new cars, trucks and machinery, so our bargains are on right now. When spring comes there is going to be a big demand and our costs of carry, etc. must be added, so again we urge, right now is the time to make your used truck investment and we have it.

In our stock we have some late models, and outstanding bargains in thoroughly reconditioned International trucks. In long wheelbase or short, duals and single rear wheel equipped. Some repainted and look and are just like new.

USED MACHINERY

We also have a long list of our used farm machinery and tractors, threshers, etc. Too long to list here, but any one interested and cannot come in to see us on these bargains, we shall be glad to mail a list.

CONDITIONS

Owing to the great unrest in so many factories with labor strikes and conditions, general unrest and what not, it is quite evident that there is going to be an upward price trend in automobiles, trucks, tractors and all farm machinery. Further, there is without a doubt, going to be a shortage. We are making every effort to place our orders and shipping in for spring requirements, but even now are unable to get orders filled, so with the exception of heavy requirements especially in new farm equipment for spring we urge that all our good customers realize this advice is given in good faith and we urge your cooperation and buy now. Save money by so doing and be sure you get delivery when you want it.

DEFEAT RED LAKE FALLS

The basketball game between Red Lake Falls and Plummer was an interesting one to watch. The play for the most part was open with lots of action. The boys on each side tried hard and were, for the most part, overanxious which instead of detracting from the game added to it by passing the excitement on to the crowd.

The Red Lake Falls team, which has developed very rapidly, started off with a spurt and scored the first basket. It held the Cardinals for almost a quarter and only dropped behind when team play and superior shooting ability began to count. A tight defense by the Red and White held down the score.

The box score follows:

After the basket ball game last Friday night about 25 persons interested in stock judging met at the school house with Mr. Palmer, the county agent, and Mr. Grimsrud, the local Smith-Hughes man.

The purpose of the meeting was to make plans for participation next Saturday in the stock judging contest at the agricultural college at Crookston. It is hoped that more than one team can be organized. The Agricultural classes in school have been doing work along this line already and any person who is interested is cordially invited to join. If sufficient interest develops a bus may be chartered for the trip to Crookston next Saturday.

An extension course in agriculture for adults will begin on Tuesday, January 26th. This class will meet in the evening. All are cordially invited to participate. It can not help but be of practical value to every one interested in farming.

The work in agriculture now done on Tuesday and Thursday evening will continue as arranged for. Those now enrolled are urged to bring others.

The popularity of the evening classes in typing and shorthand on Tuesday and Thursday continues. The enrollment has increased slightly and work on book-keeping has started. —Mr. and Mrs. Ripple drove to Bemidji on Saturday to visit their daughter, Juanita, who is enrolled at the Bemidji State Teachers College, and to attend the Paul Bunyan celebration.

Miss Burke spent the week end at her home in Bemidji. A return game with Crookston will be played here at Plummer Friday, January 22. This will be one of the outstanding games of the season. The Cardinals defeated the Crookston B team on the Crookston floor a few weeks ago and are out to chalk up another win for the local fans to watch.

On the 26th Thief River Falls plays here which is also sure to be a hard fought battle all the way.

RANGY BEMIDJI CAGERS OUTPLAY LOCAL QUINT

Lumberjacks Sudden Third Period Spirit Features Fast Tilt

After playing four quarters of hard, fast basketball the Bemidji Lumberjacks last Friday evening managed to top the Prowlers by six points the final score standing at 32 to 26.

The game started fast and Bemidji made the first two points on a fast break after several minutes of play. However, Helquist soon tied the score at 2 to 2 when he dribbled the length of the floor and sagged a close-in shot. During the remainder of the first quarter the Lumberjacks made one more field goal and a free throw, placing them in the lead, 5 to 2.

It was during the second period of the game that the Prowlers played their best ball of the evening, although they nearly equaled it in the closing quarter. Helquist started the scoring by sinking a long shot. Bemidji followed with a free throw and Lorentson came through with another two points on a try from far out on the court. Helquist added another field goal to his credit, this time from inside the foul line giving the locals a two-point lead of 8 to 6. After changing advantage of lead several times the first half ended with Bemidji 14, Prowlers 13.

Coming out for the beginning of the second half, the locals either let down a trifle or the boys in red added more vim and vigor to their game, whichever it was, at the end of the third quarter Bemidji had a very decisive advantage, 25 to 16. From then on, the Prowlers were unable to catch up, although in the closing minutes of play they went on a "spree", scoring eight points in close to three minutes. Time was short however, and when the gun sounded the scoreboard showed 32 to 26, with the Prowlers short.

Helquist and Lorentson, both playing an excellent ball game for the locals, had nearly all of the scoring to their credit, and they tied for high point honors, each with eleven points to his credit.

Olson was by far the outstanding player for Bemidji scoring 19 of their 32 points.

A new sport, or rather an old one improved, has taken its place on the sports calendar of Lincoln High School. This new activity, which could be called an art rather than a sport, is tumbling. Tumbling has taken a decided rise in the sports interests of Lincoln which will reach to a climax when the tumblers present a gymnastic circus early this spring. Mr. Gabrielson has procured much new equipment for his proteges and that together with his excellent coaching should make this an attractive program well worth your while to attend.

Another program that the student body should give their wholehearted support to is the presentation in the auditorium this evening. At that time Phil Brain of the University of Minnesota will present motion pictures of the 1936 edition of the Golden Gophers. This is sponsored by the Junior Civic and Commerce, and a large portion of the receipts will go to the Lincoln High School athletic fund. You may feel assured that it will be well worth your time and money to be in attendance. Mr. Brain has taken pictures of all the Gophers games during the past few years. He has traveled throughout Minnesota and the adjoining states. Presenting those pictures. He has an excellent reputation as a photographer and his pictures are reputed to be the best. In short—be there. It'll be worth your while.

PROWLER SECONDS DEFEAT ALVARADO

Earl Nicholson Stars for Lincoln B Team

Earl Nicholson, the wizard of witticism who excels as a basketball player, led his Prowler "B" mates to a very convincing 24 to 16 triumph over Alvarado's fiery Purple and Gold cagers last Tuesday on Alvarado's miniature court.

The Prowler reserves did not appear handicapped by the small floor as Quale sent the Leemen into a quick lead with a field goal. The lead was hastily increased to ten points while the Alvarado quint was able to garner two points in a lone field goal by J. Reidy as the first quarter ended.

The Purple and Gold regained confidence in the second period to outscore the Prowler "B's" but remained in the rear by a 15 to 9 score at the half time mark.

The Lincolnites were again outpointed in the second successive quarter, 4 to 3 but remained in possession of an 18 to 13 advantage when third quarter play was terminated.

Joy Ready, Alvarado's one man team, took the game into his control in the early stages of the final quarter to reduce the gap by accounting for three points as the visitors remained scoreless. Two successful free throws by Quale renewed the Prowler reserves spirits to complete the game in conspicuous style as Nicholson dropped two more shots through the hoop.

WIND-CHILL

—Or rather portraits by a fellow with the sniffles.

It seems that quite a few of the guys and gals got acquainted in Bemidji last week end.

Yvonne and her alumni friend seem to be getting along. How's about it Bob?

Notice Coach playing around at the skating rink last week? Some fun, eh, kid?

Our soph-friends are very enthusiastic about the new member of their class, namely Lester Erickson. He has a sister too. A Junior.

The Prowler editor, Vernon Wedul, promises new developments soon. (Start saving the shekles).

If you haven't heard this one - "Who is the best checker player in the world?" "Mrs. Simpson, because she jumped two men, and got a king."

Mrs. Korstad in Higher Alg. "Your problem is correct, but you won't get the answer, Bruce."

Then Milt Nesse comes along that none of the gentlemen on the last assembly program knew the "Humeriske." Milt says that it really is the one some people call the "Organ Grinder Swing."

Two of our well known Senior girls were called in after school for writing notes. Kid stuff—eh Margie and Marion?

Do you ever go skating? Ever see two teachers skating there? Miss Greenland and Miss Olsen do have fun as they "canant" around on the rink.

They tell me Roberta D. did the honors on Sat. eve. Here's to you, Roberta!

Famous finales: "Sure I went skating last night,—sniffle, sniffle, ah-choo!"

A pep fest was held prior to the Crookston-Bemidji basket ball game—C. H. S. Pepster, Crookston high school.

THE SCREAMER

You certainly get picked on, don't you "Bones"? Imagine anyone putting water in our star basketball player's bed. There ought to be a law against it!

Evidently three-fourths of the mischief-makers of Thief River Falls are on the basketball team. First they pick on "Bones" and then its "Micky". You have to hand it to them for writing a nice juicy love letter to Mary M. O. but why forge poor innocent little Micky's name to it? After all, he's pretty young!

Who says there is no talent in T. R. F.? Elaine R., our hats are off to you for having enough nerve to sing down at the skating rink. It was swell—how about entertaining us at the next Pep-Fest?

Have you heard the latest in the art of fighting? The honest to goodness up-to-date fad is riding in a Ford, that is in Thief River. We'll give you the pleasure of guessing whose car it was!

These skating romances are getting pretty frequent, aren't they Nona N. and Clifford B.? But that's all right, you'll get over it —we hope!

So the Seniors are going to give the Juniors a bit of competition in parties. And it seems that the hockey players were the guests of honor. Well done, Roberta! The Juniors couldn't have thought of a better idea themselves!

And so Eileen R. has the privilege of being the big moment for Jack A. now! Nothing like variety is there Jack, but you keep us busy trying to keep track of you!

Wally T. just drifted in with a breath of California but we've been told it's a rather cold breathing place in spite of its reputation.

What's so secretive about the whereabouts of Milton P. and Clifford V. Saturday night? The whole Sophomore class is "het up" with curiosity!

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

Ah me! The Prowlers hie themselves away to yonder battlefields and here sit I, pounding key 5—pounding key 5—well! I can pray for baskets—lots of them!

Oh yes! and our own basketball regime is coming along right smartly, even handicapped as we are with "flusy" colds and all. Some of the Big Six outfits look threatening with only a few practices. Just watch the bulletin boards and exercise your ears—Prowlerettes—for coming events in "hardwood" technique.

Ever thought that your body is an autobiography? Look yourselves over, young leddies, and decide whether the story of your life is a tragedy—comedy—or breath taking novel of "I love life." Hmm—and this in a gym corner—well—'s the gospel—so watch your tummies 'n such!

And the winning poster committee doff your figure five hats to the blue 'n silver G. A. A. wish for a Merry Christmas done up by Dolores Froseth, Ileen Hoffseth, Barbara Winge, and Peggy Jacobson. The gals receive 50 points each toward school letter—and are instruments of endeavor in making the bulletin board snappy and appealing the rest of the year. Swelegant, Keddies!

Must be off, on my way, people, not my hair—though sometimes—ah well—tweddle-dee. See you on ice—or crutches.

E. G. F. TO MEET LOCAL CAGERS IN DISTRICT BATTLE

Former District Champs Engage Prowlers Here Friday

After a disastrous weekend road trip the luckless Prowlers will seek to mend their losing ways when they battle the popular "Chalky" Reed's giant killers, the Little Green Wave of East Grand Forks at the local auditorium on Friday evening.

The Greenies recently scaled the lofty but fickle summit of prominence by overcoming Ed Bohnhoff's Grand Forks Central Redskins, highly rated contenders for the North Dakota Class A basketball championship. The Reedmen won a thrilling encounter, 19 to 14, in the spacious Central Gym which makes the feat even more remarkable as the Greenies are rarely as potent on foreign floors as are they on their small native court. Their record on the whole is hardly impressive. Cass Lake and Bemidji hold pre-holiday decisions over the East Siders. The Crookston Pirates, who still maintain their high district rating, hold two triumphs over the hapless Greenies. The last was scored last Friday when a desperate last quarter rally succeeded in forcing the Reedmen to bow by a 23 to 19 tally.

The East Grand lineup is composed of five plucky "hoopsters" who flaunt no pronounced weakness. In the Greenie lineup is Ransom Anderson, an abbreviated but shifty forward. Don Hiney, who caused much grief to the Prowlers last fall while donning gridiron spangles, has a virtual dictatorship on the other forward post. Kermit Sundin, lanky veteran, is serving his last year at the all-important pivot post. At one guard post is Orville Sorenson, a husky who made a hasty comeback after suffering a broken leg in football. Pershing Raymond, brother of the renowned George and Gerald, former East Side cage stalwarts, is upholding the Reed tradition of clever and aggressive players. Moore is a versatile reserve who doubles at guard and forward.

The Prowlers will strive to erase two defeats sustained by their rivals last year and to regain lost laurels as a result of their blotted record. Coach George Lee may shakeup the local lineup in an effort to find a winning combination. The Leemen will be in a pugnacious and avengeful mood and anything is likely to happen. This promises to be one of the most hotly contested games of the season and it would be a serious error for any sports blueblood to miss this fracas.

Helquist Paces Prowler Scorers With 72 Points

Leonard Helquist shows a neat pair of heels to his pursuers in the scoring races according to the most recent tabulation. He shows the lofty total of 72 points or more than twice that of his closest competitor, Don Lorentson, who exhibits 31 points for his labors. Lenny has an average of 9 points per game. Only in the Grand Forks, Ada, and Warren games was he held reasonably in check, although he scored in each of these games. Helquist has proved to be most efficient on the gift shot line as well as out on the floor. Although he has not been as consistent as several other team mates, Loren "Bones" Stadum maintains third position in the scoring race.

Individual players record for eight games.

Lincoln Debate Squad Meets Northwest A. C.

The second inter-school debate was held in Lincoln High school last Thursday after school with Crookston and Thief River Falls participating.

The question for debate is—Resolved: That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated. Robert Smith and Vernon Wedul upheld the affirmative for Lincoln High. They debated with Axel Rynning and Marvin Nab'en, the Crookston negative team. Marjorie Matheson and Bruce Prichard took the negative side of the question, debating against Jane Weckenworth and Duane Moin. The same debaters represented Crookston in this debate as in the debate at Crookston last week. Thief River's negative and affirmative teams were also the same. As the debates were again non-decision debates, the same as last week, neither school won any honors.

The first decision debate in which Thief River will participate will be Wednesday, Jan. 27 with Karlstad, in the Lincoln High School assembly at 8:00 p. m. The judges for this debate have not yet been selected. Lincoln High school students will be given their first opportunity to witness their debate team in action at this debate, and it should prove interesting.

Noted Quartet Appears On Assembly Program

The third assembly program of this year took place in the Municipal Auditorium on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock and was presented by the International Quartette. This quartette is composed of Ben Melton, George England, Fred Brown and Jack Wood. The varied program consisted of negro spirituals, classical, popular, and novelty numbers. Some of the numbers rendered were: "Mother Machree", "I'm An Old Cow Hand", "Kentucky Babe", and "Wintersong". Besides these numbers which were sung was a violin solo played by Jack Wood and a group of humorous selections given by Fred Brown. The program was very entertaining and was enjoyed by all the students.

L. H. S. QUINT BOWS TO INDIANS

Second Game on Road Trip Ends in Score of 26-22

The battle worn Prowlers showed ill effects of the previous nights gruelling engagement with Bemidji, as the Cass Lake Indians waltzed to a 26 to 22 victory by a last quarter uprising on the Indian floor, Saturday evening.

Eagle eyed Lenny Helquist continued his fiery pace to excel his performance at Bemidji by scoring six field goals or twelve points and to strike terror in the hearts of the Cass Lake quintet. He received little support in the scoring column so his superb work went for naught.

The Lincolnites held a comfortable 19 to 11 margin at the end of the third quarter and seemed well on their way to victory, but the Indians put in a burst of speed and accuracy in the final quarter to stem the tide of battle and fairly sweep the locals from the floor in a barrage of shots that wiped away the seemingly overwhelming lead.

Both quints fought at fairly even terms in the first quarter but the visiting Prowlers held a 8 to 6 advantage at the end of the period.

The Indian sharpshooters were held from garnering a single point in the second stanza while the Leemen ran their total up to thirteen to the Lakers six.

The Indians were outpointed in the third successive quarter to remain in the rear by eight points as the third period ended with the Prowlers on the long end of a 19 to 11 count.

The fatal final quarter furnished both the climax and the surprise ending. The Indians bewildered the napping Prowlers with a flurry of baskets as Wright, D. Gamache and Letendre found the nets almost at will to run up a 26 to 22 score at the final gun.

Lenny Helquist played a stellar defensive game besides score leader. Wright, D. Gamache and Letendre provided the scoring punch that won.

The contest for the Lakers, Isham, a newcomer to Prowler opposition, was a hound on defense. Dame Fortune smiled her fondest on the Cass Lake boys to enable them to topple the favored Prowler five. The result might have been different if the Prowlers had been able to continue their pace but their endurance had been taxed too greatly in the previous night's fracus.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE RATES Have Been Reduced 8 TIMES IN 10 YEARS
EIGHT TIMES in ten years long distance telephone rates have been reduced. Over the longer distances they now are little more than half what they were in 1926.
During the same period service has been made faster, clearer and more dependable. Long distance calls now are put through in about one-fourth the time required ten years ago. The number of telephones within reach has been increased by nearly 15,000,000 by extending service to more than 60 foreign countries.
Improvement of service and reduction of long distance charges are the result of Bell System research and development — giving telephone users more and better service for their money.

JUNIOR HOCKEY SEASON IS NOW IN FULL SWING

Junior and Intermediate Teams Schedule Games for Saturday

Several spirited contests were held during the past week in both the intermediate and junior hockey leagues under the supervision of Coach Walter DePaul, and the play revealed that the young athletes are making steady progress.

In the intermediate division the Lund aggregation Saturday took a hard-fought battle from the East siders 2 to 0, while Tuesday they extended their lead by drubbing the Sorenson club 3 to 2. The Eastsiders, after their initial setback, came back strong to defeat Cosgrove's team 3 to 2. In this contest Hansen scored all three goals, admirably assisted by Gausen in two of them.

In the Junior league the Blackhawks, starring Walter Peterson with three goals and two assists, defeated the Maple Leafs 5 to 3. In other contests the Thieves downed the Canadians 1-0, and the Maroons and Rangers battled to a scoreless tie.

The schedule for Saturday follows: Juniors: Canadians, and Maple Leafs, 9:30 a. m. Thieves and Rangers, 10:30. Blackhawks and Maroons, 11:30. Intermediates: Sorensons and Eastsiders, 6 P. M. Cosgroves and Lunds, 6:50 p. m.

Local Hockey Sextet Again Bows to Roseau Sunday by 3-1 Score

With residents of this community steadily becoming more hockey-minded, another big crowd in prospect at the winter sports arena Sunday afternoon when the Thief River Falls sextet will meet the University of North Dakota aggregation at 3 o'clock. The game will mark the only local appearance of the university boys this season, as they are playing a single schedule of games. The Thieves were victorious in a contest at the university earlier in the season, and the North Dakota men will be out for revenge.

The pre-season dope on the States-Dominion league has been pretty well born out in the first half of the season's play. With the first half of the schedule completed, Emerson is leading Hallock for first place by a narrow margin of one point. Roseau is strongly entrenched in third place, Grand Forks Cavaliers and Thief River Falls tied for fourth place and the University of North Dakota trailing the league.

The scoring with few exceptions has been very close, most games having been won and lost by 2 points or less. Emerson, Hallock and Roseau have shown the best scoring punch, with Grand Forks and Thief River Falls dangerous at all times. Roseau, Grand Forks and Thief River Falls have strengthened their lineups in the last ten days, Erling Holdahl now playing with his home town, Roseau, after opening the season in the Cavalier uniform. Grand Forks has been bolstered by the addition of Machek, a player from professional circles, and the Thieves have secured Frank Deagle, a sturdy Canadian boy from Winnipeg, who appeared here with the Hallock team recently.

With the semi-finals only four weeks away, an interesting battle looms between the Cavaliers and Thieves for a place in the play off. The two teams are about on a par having tied in the last game at Grand Forks in an overtime battle.

The Cavaliers lost to Hallock Sunday, while Roseau again turned the Thieves back 3-1. Walter DePaul, coach for the Thieves, was removed from the game in the second period with a broken nose, but he will be back in the lineup soon.

League standings:

	W	L	T	G	O.G.	P.
Emerson	5	1	0	32	16	20
Hallock	7	1	1	40	15	19
Roseau	5	3	1	26	29	15
T. R. Falls	1	6	3	18	27	5
G. Forks	1	4	3	13	22	5
U. of N. D.	0	3	0	6	18	0

Playing in the arena before another capacity crowd of fans Wednesday evening, the speedy Hallock sextet administered their third defeat of the current season to the Thief River Falls team by a score of 5 to 1. The Thieves played their opponents on better than even terms in the first two periods, but when Hallock early in the third period gained a 2 to 1 advantage, the locals put on an offensive drive in a determined effort to regain the lead, and in so doing weakened their defense and enabled Hallock

INDEPENDENT FIVE WINS THREE, DROPS ONE IN PAST WEEK

Locals Nosed Out by Dakota Millers in Close Game Last Sunday

Altho defeated in a contest at the Auditorium Sunday by a last half rally of the speedy Dakota Millers quintet, the Thief River Falls independent team exhibited a brand of basketball that merits the loyal support of local fans.

Members of the Millers squad agreed that they had run up against the best independent club they have played all season. The final score was 40 to 35, and the local quint was leading 21 to 16 at the half. B. W. Gabrielson was high scorer for Thief River Falls, accounting for six field goals, followed by Art Myrom, Carl Lee and Vic Jung.

Aside from Sunday's game the local men had a highly successful week, winning three other scheduled games. They defeated Roseau Wednesday evening of last week 45 to 27; won from Bronson Saturday evening 55 to 34; and downed Newfolden Monday evening 74 to 29.

A game has been scheduled with the Crookston Gunners at Crookston next Sunday and at Strandquist next Thursday. The local squad includes Paul Dahl, Myrom, Jung, Gabrielson, Scotty Cameron, Carl Lee, Battleson, Merle Lindberg, Vincent Schneider and George Lee.

LEGISLATURE RECEIVES MANY NEW PROPOSALS

Bill Proposes More Liberal Old-Age Assistance Regulations

BENSON'S INCOME TAX BILL IS INTRODUCED

Proposes Substantially Higher Rates on Larger Incomes

Maximum old age assistance would be increased from $30 to $50 a month and the old age requirement reduced from 65 to 60 years under a bill supported by Governor Benson and introduced in the state house of representatives Tuesday.

Amount of property a recipient could own also would be increased from $3,500 to $5,000 under the administration measure.

Passed by the house were measures classifying all women under 21 years employed in industry as "minors" and thus, according to Rep. Roy Wier, Minneapolis, "protecting them by bringing them under jurisdiction of the state industrial commission insofar as working conditions are concerned;" another appropriating $5,000 for improvements at the St. Cloud teachers college, and a proposal appropriating $3,000 from the state prison revolving fund for acquisition of a sewage disposal site.

The administration income tax bill, designed to produce at least $11,000,000 a year in revenue, was introduced in the house last Thursday by Rep. Edward Hagen, Milan chairman of the house tax committee.

Proposing rates ranging up to 16½ per cent on incomes of over $50,000, the bill is the first of a series of tax bills which will propose increases in iron ore, gross earnings, inheritance, money and credits taxes and a new gift tax, as well as several other minor changes in the state taxing system.

The schedule proposed in the bill would start at one per cent on the first $1,000, with increases to two percent on the second thousand and 3 percent on the third thousand. The fourth and fifth thousands would be taxed at 5 percent, the sixth and seventh at 7 percent, the eighth, ninth and tenth at 10 percent, the eleventh through fifteenth at 11 percent, the sixteenth through twentieth at 13 percent, the twenty-first through fiftieth at 15 percent and all over $50,000 at 16½ percent.

Under the present state income tax system the rate ranges up to 5 percent on incomes of over $10,000.

The estimate of $11,000,000 in yearly revenue, as compared with $5,000,000 under the present law, is based on the same volume of income as reported for 1936. Thus with the inclusion of mining, insurance and building and loan groups, the revenue may be substantially more than the estimated $11,000,000.

A complete legislative airing of Minnesota relief procedures and an income tax which would affect everyone who made from one dollar upwards appeared in the state legislature's current picture Tuesday.

The relief investigation, precipitated by charges and denials of widespread "chiselling" on relief in Washington county, will get a complete workout before the house relief committee Saturday. At that time L. P. Zimmerman, in charge of state relief, will appear before the committee together with H. C. Wayland, Stillwater, chairman of the county board of commissioners.

The all-inclusive income tax was suggested by Representative Carl J. Eastvold, Ortonville, during a heated meeting of the house taxes committee. At the same meeting experts and legislators discussed a proposal that the new corporate tax rates would stifle industry just as it was picking up momentum.

Mrs. Lucille Johnson of Fargo, formerly of this city, arrived Saturday of last week to visit for a week at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Gullingsrud.

Resolutions Are Adopted by Farmer-Labor Club Saturday

Resolutions relating to a variety of matters due to come up for consideration at the current session of the state legislature were adopted Saturday evening at a meeting in the court house arranged by the Thief River Falls Farmer-Labor club, Olaf Neset, vice chairman, presided at the meeting.

To relieve the situation of farmers indebted to the department of rural credit, a resolution was adopted urging reappraisal of all rural credit lands and refinancing debtors up to 75 per cent of present values with an interest rate of three per cent and reasonable amortization requirements.

Action was taken asking 65th district members of the legislature to seek the addition to the trunk highway system of a road extending from Thief River Falls to International Falls, and the rebuilding of at least the first fifteen miles of Highway 1 east from this city.

Stating that the state board of control will in the near future be required to construct another school for the feeble-minded, another resolution urged the designation of Thief River Falls as the location of the institution. The legislature also was asked to make provision for the state to carry its own insurance on all state, municipal and school buildings.

Christmas Card and $5 Awaits Address at P. O.

A Christmas card with $5 enclosed, which was mailed in this city December 22 to Mrs. Helen T. Stallborg and family without any address being given is being held at the local postoffice, it was announced today by Postmaster Andrew Anderson. The card bears the message "To sister and family from Richard", it was revealed after the envelope had been opened in the dead-letter office in Washington. RED CROSS HERE ASKED TO GIVE FLOOD RELIEF

Original Quota of $60 Was Raised to $300 Total Wednesday

CHAPTER APPEALS FOR LOCAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Two-Thirds of Population of Louisville Forced to Leave City

With the Ohio river flood situation apparently at a climax Wednesday, the original quota of $60 requested of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross for flood relief was raised to $300 yesterday by midwestern headquarters of the organization at St. Louis, Mrs. Theodore Quale, county chairman, announced today.

At the same time the local chapter issued an appeal for special contributions from local citizens to help make up the quota, explaining that if the entire amount asked were to be taken from the chapter treasury, it would leave no funds to meet local emergencies that might arise later in the year.

Voluntary contributions, Mrs. Quale stated, have been made to date by the following groups and individuals: Good Cheer club, $10; Rotary club, $10; H. C. Eckland, $5; Waldie Christenson, $5; Miss Myrtle Forster, $2; Miss Orpha Gabrielson, $2; Andrew Trovaton, $2; Mrs. Margaret McCrum, $1; and Will McCrum, $1.

Boxes to receive donations will be placed in several business places according to plans formulated Wednesday. Those who find it more convenient may make their remittances to Mrs. Quale or to Fred Protz, treasurer, or Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, vice chairman.

A territory 1,500 miles along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, through 11 states, faced disease and untold suffering before supplies and relief crews could marshal their forces efficiently—with an unknown prospect in store should the Mississippi's untested levee system prove unequal to the task of carrying off the piled up waters.

Against the time when the flood crest arrives in the south, the Red Cross made emergency preparations to concentrate as many as 50,000 refugees in Memphis alone. Nearly 2,000 boats were said to be at that city to bring refugees.

The Ohio valley had reason to believe that nothing worse than had been could come.

At Louisville, trouble mounted upon trouble. During Tuesday the threat of heavily damaging fire was added to the menaces of disease and water shortage.

Regular army troops had as their first task the completion of evacuation of two-thirds of the city's 330,000 residents. Some 20,000 refugees from low-lying areas remained to be moved; the construction of pontoon bridges seemed the only way.

In Cincinnati, the cry "boil all water" went up repeatedly and insistently through every device of public proclamation.

The period at which water could be had was cut to one hour a day —and even then it was available only in the lower sections.

TAX RELIEF BODY OPPOSES RISE IN AUTO, GAS TAXES

Association Asks Car Owners to Ask Solons to Resist Move

Taking up the fight against proposed increases in auto license and the gasoline tax, the Citizens' Tax Relief Association in a communication received here today asked owners of automobiles to write to their legislators at once and register their protest to the increases.

John P. Scott, president of the association, said powerful forces are being organized to put through a $1,000,000 increase in auto license and an increase of at least a cent in gasoline taxes, which would exact another $1,000,000 from car owners of the state, and expressed the fear that they may be successful if automobile owners do not rise in mass and make a general protest.

"Secretary of State Holm has pointed out that Minnesota had more than $41,000,000 for roads last year, including just the money collected from motorists in licenses and gasoline tax, state bonds issued for road work and federal aid. In addition there are other substantial funds for roads disbursed by the local communities.

"We believe along with Secretary of State Holm that that is enough money for roads in Minnesota and that there is no necessity to increase the licenses. Most of the families that own cars need a lot of things more than they need more highways."

W. C. T. U. News Notes

REPEAL MENACE

"Drink and show your ignorance," is the pithy advice of Dr. William Brady, in his Personal Health Service column in the Los Angeles Times.

"Individuals who indulge in the social cocktail like a little drink, not because they have the habit, but because the narcotic effect of the alcohol makes them feel less conscious of their constitutional inferiority for a brief time. Sober they naturally wish to avoid making asses of themselves. With a drink or two they don't care how silly they may seem. They cut loose and have a good time."

Prohibition closed 177,000 saloons; repeal opened 437,701 of new and worse saloons in the first seven months.

The first ten months of 1936 there were 524 auto deaths in Minnesota, as compared with 495 in 1935. Among these were 38 children, between the ages of 5 and 14.

Morris Haney motored to Grand Forks Thursday, returning Saturday.

Growing With Your Child

University of Minnesota Institute of Child Welfare

What Causes Malnourishment?

The child's diet has the most obvious relationship to his nutrition. Some of the common mistakes in feeding children are as follows:

1. Too little food eaten. This is often the result of the child's inadequate breakfast, one of the big problems of the school age and adolescent child. In order to sleep as long as possible, and still get to school in time, children frequently scamp their breakfasts, which should provide energy for the heaviest work of the day. Many children do not feel hungry when they first get up, and so rush through a scanty breakfast. They may have only a light lunch, and get only one hearty meal a day, at night. It has been shown that the needed number of calories cannot be made up in this way. Three well balanced meals are better for the organism than extremely heavy and light meals in alternation.

The number of children who go to school with no breakfast or with such a poor breakfast as a cup of coffee, some fried potatoes, or a cookie, is appalling. Investigations made both in this country and in Europe have resulted in the serving of free meals in many large cities; for as Terman says, "It is no more sensible to heat the child's body internally with food than to heat it externally by warming the air of the schoolroom." It is estimated, however, that "the country over, not more than one ill-nourished child out of fifty is receiving the full attention his case merits." Terman considers that the time will come when the school meal will take its regular place as a part of the school program, as free as tuition."

It is by no means only the child from the poverty-stricken home who goes to school with little or no breakfast. Sometimes children from very wealthy families are noticeably undernourished because their care is turned over to nurses and servants who have no knowledge of food values.

Getting the child up early enough so that he feels no sense of hurry or strain is a practical way of insuring him a good start. Nervously excitable children are sometimes so afraid they are going to be late that they either cannot eat, or if they do eat are seized with nausea later, because of their fear.

2. Ill-chosen diet. In addition to the small amount of food eaten at breakfast and lunch, there are other kinds of faulty diet, such as food that are ill chosen, or the habit of eating between meals, and the consequent neglect of substantial food served at the table. Experiments have shown that children who are constantly picking at food do not get the number of calories they need in a day because they are never really hungry.

3. Hurried eating. The child must not be allowed to gulp his food down hurriedly if we want him to be well-nourished. This does not mean that emphasis should be placed on eating slowly, for many children who eat very slowly are also very poor eaters. There are several reasons in favor of leisure to eat efficiently:

The chewing surfaces of the child, until he has completed his second set of teeth, are much smaller than those of the adult. This makes mastication slow. Adults, forgetful of this fact, often tend to hurry the child.

The child who hurries through his meal without supervision may eat an unbalanced meal. It is important to see that a child eats the variety of foods provided, before he is allowed to have second portions of his favorite foods.

Food eaten hastily is unlikely to provoke enough taste to start the secretion of gastric juice. A definite amount of time should be set for the child to remain at the table. The school child needs a period of from 20 minutes to half an hour to eat a meal properly. He will be much less likely to rush through the meal if there is no object in his doing so.

4. Irregularity of meals. If a child is to be well-nourished, he must have his meals regularly. The body functions rhythmically in many ways, such as heart and lung action, and regularity of food intake is conducive to rhythmic action connected with digestion. Thus the child whose bowel movements take place regularly every morning, is freed from having to give the matter any further thought for the day.

TRAIN CRASH CAN'T STOP SCHOOL GIRL

Cokato—Even a train crash could not stop Adeline Dahlen from attending school. After climbing from the wreckage that resulted when the car in which she was riding collided with a train, she arrived at school in time for morning classes. She and her brother miraculously escaped without injury when their car was completely demolished. Clarence Dahlin, living two miles west of Cokato, was bringing his sister to school and failed to see the train as he approached a railroad crossing. The train collided squarely with the front part of the car, tore off the front wheels and threw the car back from the tracks. The occupants had only very minor injuries, Clarence receiving a scratch on his cheek and Adeline a small bruise on her leg.

Winter Carnival to be Conducted in St. Paul January 30 to Feb. 6th

Rudy Vallee and his famous Connecticut Yankees will be in St. Paul during the Greater St. Paul Winter Sports carnival, January 30 to February 6. That announcement was made by the carnival association's board of management late last week. In addition to the famous maestro there will be 30 other entertainers in the nightly show at the St. Paul Municipal Auditorium with dancing scheduled from 9 to 1 p. m.

Rudy Vallee will personally crown the St. Paul queen and with a ceremony of pomp and glamor will escort the honored lady to a seat next to King Boreas III, supreme ruler of the carnival spirit, who will reign the entire week.

C. N. Toomey, fourth district commander, American Legion, announces that an invitation to all posts throughout the state has been extended. The plan is to have all units united in one large body to take part in the parade the opening night. Nineteen St. Paul organizations have already entered and the number is expected to be increased by an additional 50 organizations.

Plans have been completed for the North American indoor speed skating championship races to be held at the Hippodrome, state fair grounds. The races will be staged at 2 p. m. Sunday, January 31, and at 8 p. m. Monday, February 1. The midwest ski meet and exhibition will be at 2 p. m. Sunday, January 31.

STATE CHRISTMAS TREE SALES BRING $1,250,000 IN '36

Figures Reveal More Than 10 Per Cent Increase Over Preceding Year

Approximately 2,000 Christmas trees with a retail value of $1,250,000 were cut in Minnesota in 1936, according to the state division of forestry.

About 700,000 trees were used within the state and 1,300,000 were sent to other states, an increase of nearly 10 per cent over 1935. In 1936, the first year for which accurate figures are available, a total of 1,800,000 trees were cut, with 600,000 being used within the state and 1,200,000 exported.

The number of trees wasted in 1936 amounted to only a fraction of one per cent, according to state forestry officials.

A checkup of Duluth Christmas tree dealers showed a surplus of 742 trees. In St. Paul dealers interviewed after Christmas reported having an average of only five to ten trees left over. Similar conditions were reported in Minneapolis.

Several towns in western and southern Minnesota reported less than a dozen trees.

Statistics on the Christmas tree industry are gathered by the division of forestry by tabulating the number of tags sold to dealers under terms of the Christmas tree control law passed by the 1935 Legislature.

CONFINE THE ARGUMENT TO FACTS

The "Taxpayer" who suggested in last week's public opinion column that there might be two sides to the question of what the state should do with its rural credit lands, is certainly getting a lambasting by contributors to this week's column. Without entering the argument on the question itself, it probably is in order for us to come to the defense of "Taxpayer" for signing his contribution as he did.

As a newspaper we accept no contributions of a controversial nature unless the name of the contributor accompanies the article. And "Taxpayer" complied with this rule. His name is on file. Just why he preferred to have his name withheld from publication and his article signed as "Taxpayer" we do not know. Possibly it was for reasons of modesty. At any rate he was within his rights and, it being just as easy to ascribe a laudable motive as a base one to a desire to avoid publicity, we believe he is entitled to the benefit of the doubt on the question of his signature. We will welcome contributions from others who wish to avail themselves of this privilege.

And in the interests of the cause which those who seek changes in the rural credit law advocate, we might further suggest that while the question will be settled at the state capitol and not in the columns of any newspaper, it might be well to practice the art of pleading at home before venturing out into a world that is decidedly unsympathetic.

In the nature of things, the interest of this community in the holdings of the rural credit department differs materially from the interest of the rest of the state. It so happens that most of those holdings are in our territory. It is to our interest, locally, that those holdings go back into private hands on the most favorable possible basis to our people. No one will quarrel with us for trying to drive a good bargain with the rest of the state. As taxpayers, we also have a very direct interest in the amount recovered by the state from these holdings. The greater the state's recovery the less we will be called upon to pay in taxes. We are interested in both sides of the problem. The rest of the state is interested only in one side.

So let's consider the problem as the practical problem that it is. The state has some sixty odd million dollars invested in farm loans and farm lands. For several years the conservator of this investment has been reluctant about cutting prices on rural credit farms, probably because of a hope for improved farming conditions, which would mean increased land values and a greater recovery for the state. Because of this policy of waiting for more favorable conditions, the record of the conservator for his four years of service is not particularly impressive. But it is not fair to judge the wisdom of that policy by present results. A few years from now it may be discovered that the state saved many millions of dollars by delaying the sale of these lands.

The question to be decided by the present legislature is whether or not now is the time to unload the rural credit holdings. If it decides to unload, then the way to unload is to make buying easy. There is nothing difficult about that. Reduced prices and low interest rates will do the trick. But if the legislature decides that the present policy of waiting should be continued, in the hope that by waiting the state will benefit by increased land values, then the thing to do is to hold prices up and wait for a more favorable demand.

What is the best policy is anybody's guess. Only the future will determine the wisdom of whatever policy is pursued. Those who advocate immediate sale should base their appeal on the advantages the state will derive from an assured immediate recovery and the possibility of a greater loss if the day of reckoning is further postponed.

In deciding the question, the legislature undoubtedly will act agreeably to what it considers the best interests of the state as a whole. And local advocates of immediate sale will not injure their cause if they confine their pleading to this phase of the subject. In doing this, they will face practical arguments from many serious minded taxpayers throughout the state, and it might stand them well in hand to practice the art of pleading their cause at home rather than attempting to win their argument by brow beating their opposition into silence.

With its record breaking Ohio River floods, the new year is getting off to an early start as another season of freakish weather. While this community has little reason to complain, it certainly is to be hoped that the cycle of drouth, dust storms and floods will soon come to an end. Perhaps nature is having a little fun with us, giving us a few extremes in weather to match the absurdity of those extremes we impose upon ourselves. Moderation being a virtue we refuse to recognize in the conduct of our own affairs, why expect reasonable restraint from nature? We seem to want things extremely wet or extremely dry. It is barely possible that nature, in its extremes, is making a sincere effort to please us.

Checking the results to date, no one will disagree with us when we say that up to the present time Thief River Falls has not had a winning hockey team. In the record of games won and lost, the figures are not particularly impressive. But, strange as it may seem, this fact does not worry the steadily increasing number of local hockey fans. Considering everything, they seem to be well satisfied. They realize that they are seeing good hockey and that the local team is giving its opponents plenty of trouble. They appreciate the fact that the team is operating under the handicap of a late start in competition with teams made up of men who have played together for years. The one certain thing is that Thief River Falls has suddenly become decidedly hockey minded. With reasonably good success from now on the local customers will be well satisfied with the results and will look forward to another winter of thrills next year.

Perhaps it is too early to pass final judgment on the wisdom of the city's investment in an enclosed skating rink but the first month of operation has at least proven that the rink is a popular place of recreation. If it is proper to judge its desirability by its use, then it certainly is proper to say that the building is desirable. It is being used. As an investment, measured strictly in terms of dollars and cents, its value is still somewhat doubtful. The city will get a fair return this year on its twenty-two thousand dollar investment, probably not enough to justify the expenditure as an accountant would figure it but nevertheless enough to pay a fair rate of interest. And in figuring the cost of the building, the fact should not be overlooked that, as a relief project, it did materially reduce the city's cost of unemployment relief during the past year and a half. Now that we have the building, it is encouraging to know that it is proving itself useful and that being well constructed, it will continue to serve a useful purpose in the community for many years to come.

No Highway Lobby, Says Commissioner Elsberg: to Oust All Offenders

There will be no highway department "lobby" at this session of the State Legislature, N. W. Elsberg, commissioner of highways, made this clear this week, and at the same time proved he meant what he said when he announced recently that the department would make no campaign [illegible] would leave it [illegible] to the legislature to decide whether the state [illegible] highway construction program [illegible].

This week, on every bulletin board throughout the highway department, there was posted an order of two years' standing, to the notice that any employe of the highway department who [illegible] the capitol during legislative session, without written permission from the commissioner, will be subject to immediate dismissal.

At the same time Commissioner Elsberg [illegible] made by a member of the Senate [illegible] Commissioner Elsberg [illegible] [illegible]

PUBLIC OPINION

Mr. Editor:

Thanks for publishing my long article last week. In one of the other three good articles printed last week was stated that if we had only one house in the legislature and one representation from each county, we would not need any lobby at the legislative sessions. That would no doubt, be true in matters that would concern only a small portion of the state. But in matters that concern the whole state, like our present fight for liquidation of the Rural Credit Bureau, we would not be safe without an honest and intelligent representation which is called a lobby. The members of the legislature are badly crowded with new bills (some 700 to 1000) and it takes most of the first half of the session to look them over and get a little posted on contents. We know that there are certain groups of citizens that try to get special privileges and such groups never neglect to have able and smart representatives there, to push their bill thru. The present opponents of said liquidation certainly do not forget to do lobbying. (We have the evidence). Now then, if we do like our celebrated Patrick Henry of revolutionary fame, said: "lie supinely on your backs until you have a British soldier in every house". We will have little show of winning this fight, because then we let the enemy do all the shooting. We must also make use of our ammunition, which, in this case, is truth, and nothing but the truth. And that has to be done by representatives right there on the spot (on the battle line), by our lobbyists who must continually watch and continually see to it that our bill does not come to the bottom of the heap of 100 or more bills. But the good hotelkeepers of St. Paul do not board and room our lobbyists for nothing. We have to pay for it. Two dollars per day at the hotel and 50 cents more for incidentals will not pay the bill everyday. So you see that if you want interest on your Rural credit loan reduced correspondingly, and get first right to repurchase your farm (if you are foreclosed) and on such long time terms that you can pay for it then we have to remind you that it will cost some money to keep our man down there. We are hoping that if we all join in and give one dollar each (that is, we poor ones) and if well-to-do merchants and other business men (and business women) give more than one dollar each we will win our fight this time. The truth (and facts) is this: that bureau has a deficit of some [illegible] dollars on operating expenses which must be dumped onto our taxes. And now they will ask the legislature for 3 million for those expenses. What good have all those official done? The only thing we know of around here is that they have promptly foreclosed on all the farmers who because of the depression and crop failures were unable to pay their regular payments on their loans. In plain language, then, they have persistently and promptly made war on the farmers who were in debt [illegible] for money. Not [illegible] before about 12 thousand farmers in Minnesota have been driven from their farms, and the bureau itself was [illegible] dollars. Great results isn't it. Shall we let them continue that kind of business? We claim that as christian people and christian business men and women, it is everybody's duty to help these farmers get back their farms on reasonable and fair conditions and for a fair price according to present land values. In [illegible] the state take the [illegible] than to let that half [illegible] Rural Credit borrowers [illegible] into complete ruination.

Of course, the leading part of it could be continued at 5 per cent. Our appointed lobbyist, Mr. Gilbert Brattland, also of Thief River will lead the fight down there. He will [illegible] at St. Paul without enough money [illegible] for his board and room. [illegible] year [illegible] he spent some [illegible] dollars of his own money fighting for the same thing and the bill passed the House, but was blocked in the Senate [illegible] We [illegible] to use financial assistance [illegible] [illegible]

A. K. Lokken

Referring to [illegible] the Taxpayer [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] credit land to actual settlers at a price that would make it possible for the owners to pay for it. [illegible] this land could be taxed [illegible] private owners [illegible] [illegible]

taxpayers. He is mentioning the names of Lockren and Brattland and why didn't he sign his name? The state has lost money on this rural credit loans and they evidently have to lose more and I think it will be worse the longer the state holds on to it. As a rule the renters are not interested in building up the fertility of the land. They like to take out of it as much as possible and are not careful enough in using clean seed. I have noticed land that has been worked on shares for a few years has been filled with mustard and other noxious weeds. Let us hear more from taxpayers that can sign their names.

Yours truly,
David Haugen

Dear Editor:

Early in the winter I sent a communication to the newspapers of the Sixth District warning young men who were ambitious to enter the Railway Mail Service that the chance for employment in that service was practically nil and that money spent for correspondence courses to prepare for a position in the Railway Mail service was practically thrown away.

That statement has been challenged by representatives of correspondence schools. On December 11 I wrote the General Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service asking for full information as to opportunity for employment. Under date of January 8 the General Superintendent replied as follows:

"I have your letter of December 11 advising that persons in your district are being solicited to take a correspondence course at considerable cost for the purpose of qualifying them for the Railway Mail Service.

"In this connection I desire to explain that an open competitive examination was held for the Railway Mail Service by the Civil Service Commission last winter and as a result there is a large register of eligibles for every State in the Union. These lists will not be exhausted for sometime and therefore no additional railway postal clerk examinations will be held by the Commission. The Civil Service Commission advises against such solicitors and proposed courses of schooling, and at the present time we find there are over 3,700 names on the register of eligibles for Minnesota."

In talking with the Post Office Department by telephone this morning I find that there are 537 employed in the Railway Mail Service in the State of Minnesota. This number also includes those employed in terminals and executive offices in our state. With an eligible register of over 3,700, that has two years to run, it can readily be seen that any monies spent in preparing for the Railway Mail Service would bring little or no return.

It is asked that you kindly assist in bringing these facts to the attention of your readers.

Yours very truly,
Harold Knutson,
Congressman, 6th District.

Editor, Thief River Falls Times:

If you permit me to write an article in your valuable paper, I would like to state about cooperative marketing. There is an old saying that cooperative marketing will bring the farmer out of the rut.

And nowadays we hear so much about cooperation, etc., and our government has sent a committee to Sweden to study cooperation and if it is a good thing for Sweden why should it not be a good thing for us here in the U. S. A.

According to figures from the department of agriculture of Minnesota we find that in the year 1920 we had in Minnesota 611 cooperative shipping associations, and in the year 1935 we had only 325 left, and maybe by now we have a smaller number of [illegible] the [illegible] truck competition, and about 57 per cent of all livestock that arrives at South St. Paul comes in by truck, and only 43 per cent by train.

Our association here at Viking has made eleven shipments since our last annual meeting, and out of those only five loads were full loads. The other six loads were only about half-loads. So those small loads make a loss to our association, and also to the man in charge.

As we have set rates our business has been poor on account of too much of the stock out here is shipped by truck, and there is no cooperation in the long distance trucking out here. The difference to the farmers is as follows: our expense rate is 10 cents per 100 lbs. less than what the trucks charge, and on a carload of cattle it makes about $22.00 less expense, and on 20 carloads makes $440.00 saved. We also furnish truck service from the farm to stockyard at Viking for a small charge of 5 cents per 100 lbs. on cattle and hogs, and 7 cents on sheep. The stock also gets a nicer ride on the train, and more chance to get a fill at the yard at South St. Paul as the law requires that stock shipped by rail must be on feed for many hours, and the stock from here gets about 20 hours on feed. The feeding law does not govern the truck stock as yet. I have been told that the stockyard company won't only about half as much hay now as it did when stock was shipped by rail.

The railroad in Minnesota pays five cents on every dollar they receive as earnings. The Soo Line railroad in the year 1929 had a gross earning of $11,018,250 in Minnesota, and in the year 1935 their earnings dropped to $6,796,196. So the tax paid to our state by said company has dropped to less than one-half of what it was in the year 1929. And the number of men employed by said road have dropped to 1,205 men less than in the year 1929. So it makes more taxes and more unemployment and lower prices on hay and feed.

And in the year 1936 there were [illegible] people killed in traffic accidents, and the more traffic we get on the highways the more accidents we may see. Much of it is due to drunken and reckless drivers, etc. So it is safer for people and livestock to ride by train.

We plan to ship a mixed stock car from Viking February 6th, and as prices are good now, ship your stock with us and help a good cause along.

Yours truly,
Viking Co-op. Shipping Association
Henry [illegible], Mgr.

Taxpayer:

Your letter in the Times of the 21st is not deserving of an answer.

In the first place you lack the courage to sign your own name to it.

In the second place you are making some untruthful statements and which are personal. Therefore in the next issue, I would ask that you explain yourself or publicly withdraw such statement.

Gilbert A. Brattland.

Editor Times:

In the last issue of your paper there is a contribution in "Public Opinion" which is one of the poorest and silliest pieces of propaganda for the usurers that has ever come to my notice. It is personal, erroneous and irrelevant.

Why should prejudice against persons be brought out in this controversy, which is altogether a matter of public policy? If it is good public policy for the State of Minnesota to make peons and [illegible] by keeping the Rural Credit law as it is and if it is bad policy, then let's use all proper means to convince the Legislature and the Governor that the law must be changed.

When is it that Mr. Arens was given any authority to cut valuations and interest rates down to where the rural credit borrowers would have any reasonable chance to make good? Well, if he never was given the authority what makes "taxpayer" mix his name into his propaganda for the "taxpayer" or coupon clipper?

What Mr. Brattland has worked for is to change the law. He has always, since he started on this work admitted that the law should be changed in order to get a practical solution of this matter which is costing the taxpayers millions of dollars without giving the farmers any advantage, because they will all go broke under present set-ups, and that is the worst that could have happened to them under the original set-up. Does not "taxpayer" know that Mr. Arens is compelled, under the law, to carry fictitious values (deferred interest and amortization payments) on his books, and now asks the legislature to appropriate $3,000,000 to take care of these estimates of indebtedness or other necessary expenses? Who is going to pay these tremendous losses on farming operations? Is not that the "Taxpayers?"

If any one thinks that the state can help [illegible] in [illegible] farming over here, he better find out what happened to insurance companies who tried it after the panic of 1920 at different times. They tried three different ways, cash rentals, share rentals and "manager plan", but lost out on each and every one, and the largest loss was on the "manager plan".

Now, if this "taxpayer" thinks it is only Rural Credit borrowers who are interested in this matter, he is woefully misinformed. Right here, in the city of Thief River Falls, the Public Forum, the Farmer-Labor Association and the Worker's Forum all passed resolutions unanimously endorsing lower interest rates and valuations.

Andrew Trovaton.

Land Exchange Proposal Passed by Lower House

The state House of Representatives last week passed a bill calling for submission to the people of a constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to permit the exchange of certain state lands for federal lands.

The amendment, although admittedly non-controversial, has been defeated at the last four general elections. It would permit both federal and state governments to manage their lands within the state of Minnesota more efficiently, according to [illegible] officials.

It is pointed out that there are more than 300,000 acres of state land in the Chippewa and Superior national forests. Approval of the amendment would permit the state government to exchange such holdings for lands more readily accessible to the state. Mineral rights in any lands exchanged would be retained by the state.

MOYLAN

ALMA FJELD BRIDE OF ERVIN CHAPMAN

Miss Alma Fjeld daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Fjeld of Erie and Ervin Chapman son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman of Moylan were united in marriage Sunday afternoon in Goodridge at the Parsonage by Rev. O. O. Bjorgan, the ring ceremony being used. The bride was attended by her sister Iris Fjeld, the groom was attended by his brother, Lester Chapman. Following the services a reception was held at Erie at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fjeld, with only immediate members of the families present. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will visit with relatives a short time before they start housekeeping.

School bus is going with team from Moylan into Goodridge.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Solheim extend their sympathy to them in the loss of their darling baby that passed away a few weeks ago.—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hans of Grand Rapids are the proud parents of a little daughter born Jan. 9. Mrs. Hans visited here last August with her aunt, Mrs. W. E. Chapman and with friends in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Melvin Hanson and baby who have been staying with Mrs. Hanson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman returned to their home Saturday, accompanied by Melvin Hanson and James Barnett.

Selma Solley went to Thief River Falls last week and had an operation for appendicitis. She is getting along as well as can be expected. Mrs. Nellus Johnson returned to her home near Esplee last Tuesday after spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman helping take care of her sister Mrs. Melvin Hanson and baby.—Mr. and Mrs. James Barnett and son of Thief River Falls visited last week with the latter's brother Melvin Hanson. Henry Becker took Mr. and Mrs. Bert Geerling to Grygla Wednesday. Mrs. Geerling has been quite sick with earaches and the flu but is slowly improving.

The Conservation meeting last Wednesday in Goodridge was not held as the county agent failed to arrive on account of the snow storm. The snow storm last Wednesday piled up the snow so the people that are off the highways are almost blocked in.

Trend of Land Tenure Shows Gain in Tenancy, U. S. Report Indicates

The trend of land tenure in Minnesota since 1900 has followed closely the trend in the United States as a whole, according to a summary recently made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington, D. C. Twenty-five per cent of Minnesota's farm land was under lease to farm operators in 1900, the summary shows. By 1910, that percentage had increased to 33 per cent, and by 1920 had increased slightly more to 36 per cent. The end of the next decade, 1930, saw 46 per cent of Minnesota's farm land under lease. At the end of 1935, 47 per cent of the state's farm land was being leased to farm operators. The percentage of farm land under lease in the United States as a whole presents about the same picture. In 1900, farm land under lease included 31 per cent of the total. This climbed to 33 per cent in 1910, 37 per cent in 1920, 44 per cent in 1930 and 45 per cent in 1935.

The bureau reports that for the entire country "owner-operated farms outnumber tenant farms, and owner-operated farm acreage exceeds tenant-operated farm acreage. But the general trend has been toward tenancy, with a lessening ratio of equity in farm real estate held by farm operators. In brief, farmers are gradually losing ownership of the land."

"Farm tenancy tends to increase," continues the bureau, "with the commercialization of agriculture. Increasing proportions of the farmers are becoming tenants in regions where commercial agriculture is dominant and increasing proportions of tenants are becoming croppers or wage hands in the South. This trend is profoundly affecting both the present and future welfare of rural people."

The ozone layer in the atmosphere is lower than scientists have believed. Seventy per cent of the ozone is below the 18-mile height. Balloons carrying spectroscopes are used to study the ozone layer.

Evangelist Discusses Holy Spirit in Lecture

"The many different names given to the Holy Spirit in Scripture testify to the fact that He is a member of the Godhead. He is therefore a person and not a mere 'influence.' He wields an influence because He is a person, as influence emanates from personalities. The Holy Spirit is referred to in Scripture by pronouns of personality 'He', 'Him', and 'Whom' are used for the Holy Spirit twenty four times in the Gospel according to John in chapters 14-16." So stated Evangelist Col. Brandson in his lecture on "The Office and Work of the Holy Spirit" last Sunday night at the old Methodist Church. The program for next Sunday night is announced in this paper.

Defeat Crookston

Last Friday the Cardinals defeated the Crookston B. team in a fast even game 20-19. The Red and White held the lead all during the game, Crookston often cut this lead to a basket or two but was never quite able to wipe it out.

The game was hard fought but remarkably free of fouls. The Plummer quint apparently passed the ball faster than usual and for that reason found it harder to handle it efficiently. Their shooting was off too, tho' some fine thrilling shots were made by various members of the squad. The defense however, was tight as in former games and comparatively few good shots were given their opponents.

The box score follows:

Plummer	fg	ft	p	Tp
Ripple	4	0	0	8

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLERS RISE TO TURN BACK E. G. F. CAGERS

Local Five Keeps District Slate Clean by Virtue of 30-22 Win

The once mighty Little Green Wave was transformed into a broken bubble last Friday by the gold and blue phalanx of Lincoln High School, better known as the Prowlers, when they outfoxed the East Grand Forks cagers to win a 30-22 contest on the local auditorium court.

The Prowlers outmaneuvered the resourceful Greenies at every turn to hold the upper hand throughout the contest although the visitors presented a ball club that could not be trifled with. The East Side quint, which is under the expert tutelage of "Chalky" Reed, tied the score in the third quarter, but the play of the Leemen perked up to hold the high scoring East Siders without a solitary point while gaining seven for themselves in the last quarter.

Nelson sent the locals to the front by registering a free throw, which was followed by Stadums [illegible] pointer. The East Siders broke into the scoring column when Hiney converted a free throw. Helquist's goal was equalled by Raymond. Nelson added a field goal and two donation tosses. Stadum gave the Leemen a 10-8 advantage with a free throw as the quarter was completed.

Ransom Anderson, abbreviated forward, looped in a field goal and two gift tosses as East Grand Forks came back strong in the second period. Sundin and Hiney kept the rally alive by scoring four more points. Caldis was rewarded with a free shot and Lorentson found the meshes on a short shot to end the half. The East Siders trailed, 15-11, after putting up a stubborn fight in the second stanza.

Both fives waged a furious battle in the third period, but the foes from the west had the better of the fast moving quarter. Helquist led off with a shot from the floor, but Raymond offset it with two shots in like manner. Stadum counted under the basket. Sundin tallied a gratis from the free-throw line to tie the score 19-19. Helquist broke the tie with a gift toss and Lorentson swished the meshes to increase the lead. This was later diminished when Sundin put in his last gift toss which was followed by Lee's shot of the same kind. Raymond tallied a basket near the end of this period which ended, [illegible] in favor of Coach Lee's agile ball-hawks.

The vigilant Prowlers ran away with the ball game in the final stanza as they played superbly on offense in addition to displaying an air-tight defense. The Reedmen stormed the Prowler citadel with all their drive and skill, but the Leemen were more than equal to the besiegers thrust as they scored eight more points. Helquist hooped a long field goal while Mickelson added two points via the free throw route. Nelson, Nesse and Lorentson added three more points to raise the Prowler total near the contest's close.

The entire Prowler squad played commendable ball, with the lion's share of honors going to Captain "Bud" Nelson. Kermit Sundin was the recipient of thirteen free shots because of the fouling tactics of Stadum, Caldis, and Nelson who opposed him at center. He caged only six, however. Pershing Raymond scored four baskets and was the Greenies most dangerous cager. Don Hiney's play was also worthy of favorable comment.

Mr. Gabrielson's troup gave a stellar exhibition of "bravado" and precision-like dexerity in the fine art of tumbling during the intermission at the half.

Two eighth grade quints furnished the entertainment in the preliminary contest. A Wildcat team made up of Rierson, Carlisle, Barthel, Conner, Peterson, Wilson and Althoff capitalized on their superior height to whip the favored Tigers 18-16. Carlson, Aalbu, Ostrom, Gustafson, Parbat, Stenberg, and Hanson were on the Tiger roster. Carlisle and Conner of the Wildcats, and Carlson and Parbat of the Tigers were outstanding.

Local football fans exhibited their interest for college's most popular sport as they attended in great numbers the official motion pictures of the games in which the Golden Gophers of Minnesota were participants. The pictures were shown last Thursday in the Municipal auditorium by Phil Brain, Jr. who depicted some of the highlights in the contests, which acclaimed Bernie Bierman's thundering herd as national gridiron champs for the third successive year.

Unfortunately, Phil Brain, University tennis tutor who snapped the pictures, was not able to present the pictures in person as he was snowbound in New Ulm. He was supplanted by his son, Phil Jr., who succeeded admirably in giving the spectators a most enjoyable evening.

Included in the football reel was a short portrayal of the fire at the Missoula, Montana hotel at which the Gophers were quartered en route to the game with the Washington Huskies. The gridders escaped unscratched although many personal belongings were lost. Of special interest to the crowd was the film showing Minnesota's first defeat in three years of competition. This defeat was at the hands of the Northwestern Wildcats who eked out a 6 to 0 victory on a muddy field.

The Lincoln high school football squad of lettermen who last fall posted a record of seven wins and one loss (a record identical to that of the universally known Gophers) were special guests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the film.

The films were presented under the sponsorship of the Junior Civic Chamber of Commerce of this city. The proceeds were turned over to the local high school athletic department. This showing marked the first appearance of these pictures in the northwest.

The general public, and especially the faculty and students of Lincoln high school wish to express their sincere appreciation to the Junior Civic Chamber of Commerce and to all who made this unique presentation possible.

Tomorrow evening the local basketeers will be battleing with Crookston to decide who will lead the district. The Prowlers seem to be coming back after a slight slump and will give the mighty Pirates all they can handle. Both teams are undefeated in the district but after tomorrow one of these two fine quints will be unable to claim this honor. Let us hope that our team will be the one to win. The only way the students other than the ten on the varsity can aid in accomplishing that purpose is by their whole-hearted support. Lets all be on hand for this battle of the century and cheer our Prowlers on to a glorious victory.

A miracle has happened! The Seniors have books that are up to date with the arrival of the Seniors American Government texts, the Seniors have a text that they may well be proud of. These books, which were handed to them on January eleventh are copyrighted in 1937. Previous to this books used in most of the classes were far out of date. The faculty was unable to teach and instruct the pupils fully in topics of importance that change often. Now these conditions have improved somewhat and we hope and expect that they will continue to improve. We want to thank as well as congratulate the school board and our Superintendent for these improvements.

Snookums—Eleanor
Pete—James

The future private secretary of some big business executive, Eleanor Peterson, "Snookums" to privileged people, (Elmer rates) was born June 28, 1919 in Holt, Minnesota. She doesn't seem to run true to form in her future ambition, for her favorite subject is Chemistry!

"Lantern in her Hand" by her favorite author, Bess Streeter Aldrich, is the center of her literary world.

"Plenty of Money and You" played in Johnny Greene's way suits her fine.

The main movie attraction according to Snookums are Clark Gable (you've plenty tough competition, Elmer) Rochell Hudson and the movie "Stowaway."

The theater most popular with her is the "Lux Radio Theater". While she's listening please serve the butterscotch pie.

Although "Plenty of Money and You" is her favorite popular song, that favorite song, a few years back "Where's Elmer" hasn't lost its popularity with her!

James Peterson, "Pete" to you, doesn't wish for much in the future—just to travel all over the world. He was born in Brown's Valley, Minnesota, on January 12, 1920. His hobby is reading current literature. Pete's pet peeve is ladies handkerchiefs all over, (there is something behind that, we can't appreciate it unless you tell all, Pete). "Gone With the Wind" is his ideal as a book and Margaret Mitchel his ideal as an author, (that my friends, is proof he is up in his current literature) Father Hines playing the "Boston Tea Party" suits him fine.

Pete prefers Jack Benny's program to that of any other on the air. His interests on the screen are centered on Ida Lupino and William Powell, and the movie, "My Man Godfrey". Physics is his favorite subject, he admits he is scientifically minded. A nice steak with mushrooms might make him forget his pet peeve. Pete has attended Lincoln High for two years and taken part in football, Junior Class play of '35, track and is a member of the Prowler staff.

THE SCREAMER

Don't look now, but a compliment is coming up. You oughta know, Sophs, how this hurts us—what with such competition and stuff and things—but here goes. We really thought your pep fest last Friday was elegant and not just a little bit!

Oh my! New couples are practically floating around this here place. Now take Mae A. and Bob S. for instance. Pretty nice—both being blondes and still nicer, they are both Juniors.

It kinda looks as if Plummer is losing its grip or so to speak. Imagine Plummer going and playing second fiddle to Red Lake Falls—or maybe it isn't so unusual at that!

And do these Freshmen believe in starting out young. What's more, they even have competition amongst themselves. That skating rink is a mighty handy place to spy on the little kids. Right out of the clear sky we spotted Marguerite S. escorted by Wallace S. and on the other side appeared Dicky B. and Frances S.—but poor Dick has the stiffest of competition!

But the Sophomore insist upon being in the foreground this week. You guessed it—we're dragging around another couple. This couple is composed of none other than Enid O and our dashing hero, Eddie H!

Versatility woman—Mrs. Gabrielson—escorted to the local theatre not only by hubby but by Mr. Montague and Mr. Riggs.

Such advice that the faculty has been dishing out lately. All concerning the new skating rink and the time at which it should close. Imagine some of our night-hawks leaving at 10 o'clock but still it's advice not to be ignored.

Did you hear about that imaginative Freshman? Miss Olson asked a question to which the answer was Joan of Arc but one creature was at loss for the proper "Joan" so wrote in nice firm letters Joan of Crawford! At least someone is benefited by attending the theater and that's that.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

Hips, Hips, Away! "I'll make my waistline lose three inches, or else"—Personally, sounds like exercise to me and 'tis. Students—one in a class will play teacher, while our teacher will be just a student, Harriette. Cute ways to reduce are to be introduced, say the teachers.

Oh, yes, and the exam for first aid turned out to be sort of a seesaw affair. Imagine a tourniquet for a bleeding nose!

Skating as yet? But, Josies, turn in your points even though you go with your boy friend. If you're skating for your "figger" don't turn your nose toward the hot dog stand, for when Jeanie Lee was weighed last time 'twas found she gained nine pounds.

Basketball's being played in class now. After another week of class practice the tourney will begin. There'll be two more weeks of League basketball, however, before the tournament.

Just in case you'd like to know there's to be a G. A. A. meeting coming up around Valentine's Day. Watch for more 'bout it!

The English IV classes of Mr. Montague have just completed their speeches and have started on English literature.

SOPHS PRESENT PEP FEST FRIDAY

Varied Program Presented Prior to E. G. F. Game

On the afternoon of Friday, January 22, the assembly was filled with hilarious laughter prompted by the pep fest preceeding the East Grand Forks game. It was put on and enacted by the sophomores.

The pep fest opened with the school song, Hulver Brokke and John Lillevold leading and Mr. Harrison playing the accompaniment, sung by the sophomore class. Following this Nicky Christo, a seventh grade pupil from Central School, put "his vocal cords to work" by singing "Mountain Music" through once and leading the assembly through it on the second time. He then sang "One, Two, Button My Shoe", and as an encore, "Pennies From Heaven". Miss Dahlen then gave a pep talk telling how she had overheard a conversation in which Robert Du Champ asked James Borreson what he thought of the "breadball game". At this seemingly inexcusable mistake James was prompt to correct him by saying that he must mean "biscuitball game". She also stated that when she went to Lincoln High the students demanded a permanent defeat of the Green Wave. But now she finds that the cry is "a permanent for the Little Green Wave."

A hill-billy skit was then enacted, the scene taking place in a small country post-office, grocery store, and what-not. Milton Poppenhagen presiding as the store keeper, Clifford Lunke as the proud father who received a letter from his daughter who is away at school, and Perry Peterson as a participator in the glad news conveyed by the letter. Joan Dahlquist and Adeline Lorentson were innocent young maids of the mountains who wore short dresses and pig tails and were carefully watched over by their old maid aunt, Mary Mayor-Oakes. A mattress, which was for sale, was rolled out and up on this a wild scene of comedian tumbling took place. The mattress was then rolled up and Frances Weston, accompanied by Mr. Harrison, tap danced. A couple of yells were lead by Joan Dahlquist, Mary Mayor-Oakes and Adeline Lorentson after which the Master of Ceremonies Ralph Gustafson, dismissed the teams, the sophomores, and finally the rest of the student body.

The pep fest was very well put on and the stage, cleverly designed as a store with such signs as "Girl Wanted", "No Smoking", "Fish for Sale", etc., made it doubly attractive. We congratulate you, Sophomores.

WIND-CHILL

Sure lots of youngsters now acquiring "book-larnin" (as the Sophs would say) that patronize the skating rink nights.

It seems that Mr. Freed of the Frosh clan is quite a ladies man; And the skating rink attendants tried to chase him home at nine o'clock with the rest of the juveniles.

And Miss Amundsen and Mr. Hill seem to be getting along too.

We begin to wonder if some one else really sent Mick's letters to Mary from Bemidji. He may have done it himself.

A group of senior girls seem to have it in for a certain boy. We wonder why? (Can you guess the parties concerned?)

Flash! Hit of the week. News items. Did you see who were skating together Saturday evening? Milt and Lovey, well, well.

Blue and Gold honors to Joan Dahlquist who is said to be originator for the Sophs' pep theme.

During a recent discussion on the flood-stricken East and the trouble they are having with fire on the waters etc. Bruce remarked, "When these Cincinnati residents saw fire coming tearing down on the flood waters they should make up their minds to 'swear off!' the ideas there Bruce.

The Eng. VI classes would enjoy listening to Mr. Montague debating on "Single—Men—Making Better Husbands than Married Men". You oughta know.

Alma Hansen has a good (?) time at the skating rink too!

As early to bed as some Seniors on Sunday mornings. Add famous remarks: After the senior party Saturday P. M. and Sunday A. M., one miss's mother's question, "It's morning, isn't it?" Can some people "swing it"? Ed Bunnie?

Famous Finale: "2 to 1 on Crookston" then came the dawn!

As the Juniors have completed their library lessons, Miss Leavitt will begin teaching the Seniors next week.

Prowler "B" Quintet Downs Plummer 17-16

The Prowler "B" quintet staged a spectacular and timely finish to outpoint the Plummer Cardinals 17 to 16 in a wild and ragged contest on the latter's floor last Tuesday.

The Prowler reserves played like "the night after" in the first half which went at a snail's pace. At the end of the half the Prowlers trailed the boys in red by a 10 to 3 score. The Gold and Blue loosened up in the last half to score with amazing regularity after the fruitless first half.

Clarence Haug the perpetual motion forward, was the hero of the contest. With the count 14 to 13 in the closing moments of the game in Plummer's favor, he counted a bucket from the floor. Undaunted, the Cardinals fought back and Ripple scored on a push shot. The game appeared to be in the bag for Plummer, but the Prowlers gained possession of the ball and Haug scored on a long looping left handed shot from the corner to give the game its final aspect, 17 to 16 with the Prowlers on top. Plummer missed two setups in the last moments of the game, which showed the Leemen were indeed fortunate to cop the ball game.

The Cardinals appeared over anxious in the first quarter which was quite evenly contested. Rueben Mickelson counted a field goal and Haug a gift shot in the first quarter to remain in the race, 6 to 3. Plummer increased their advantage 10 to 3 in the second period which saw the Leemen go scoreless.

The Prowlers decreased the gap in the third stanza to run the score to 14 to 11 in that period. As the fourth period waned to its close the Prowlers cause appeared hopeless, but Prowlers made their belated spurt to turn the tide and win the ball game. Captain Jack Ripple, Plummers' shifty leader, led the scoring parade with ten points, forcing Clarence Haug to take the back seat with his total of nine tallies. Milfred Haugham was inserted in the Prowler reserve lineup to gain further experience and played excellent ball, especially in the last half.

L. H. S. BAND IN MIDST OF ACTIVE 1936-1937 SEASON

New Uniforms Being Made Under Supervision of Miss Dahlen

The Lincoln High School Band is in the midst of an extremely active season. The band has made three public appearances since January first, and is scheduled for a number of future events.

Last Thursday evening, the band entertained the audience present at the showing of the Golden Gophers football pictures. The next evening they provided snappy music for the basketball game between the Prowlers and East Grand Forks. The band is making a decided hit at these functions with its growing repertoire of novelties, songs and marches. The enthusiasm of the students in singing with the band is one of the interesting features of local basketball games.

The next appearance of the band will be at the basketball game Friday evening, in which we will battle Crookston. The band members are most anxious to make a good showing in the presence of visitors from our neighboring city, which is well known for its excellent high school band.

The new band uniforms will be finished in two more weeks. The capes will be of the "overseas" style, in the school colors of royal blue and gold with the letters T. R. F. on one side. The capes are of satin and are also of the school colors. The girls of the Home Economics II class, under the instruction of Miss Dahlen are making the capes, but the caps are being made by a uniform manufacturing company. The first appearance of the band in complete uniform, will be on February 15, at the next meeting of the P. T. A.

Two new groups have been organized within the band for playing chamber music. The clarinet ensemble made its first appearance at the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary on January 21. The members of this group are: Ileene Hoffseth, Archie Monsoi, Palma Jahr, Gordon Winger, Charles Gustafson, Thomas Carlisle, Margaret Jacobson, Mae Wilson and Beatrice Peterson. Their next appearance will be at the Declamation contest on February 1. The Brass Choir has not as yet made an appearance but is preparing to play at the Declamation Contest on February 15. Members of this group are: Ralph Gustafson and Lester Erickson, cornets; Vivian Havel and James Skarstad, French horns; Gloria Quist, trombone; and Elinor Erickson, baritone.

Several promising players from the Junior Band have been promoted to the High School band. Marion Olen, and Elaine Bessler, clarinets; and Claire Myhrum, C. soprano saxophone, are the definite additions. Barbara Jacobson, Maurine Rhodegard, Alice Buringrud, Marion Douville, and Virgil Lafalta were selected to try out for the three remaining places in the clarinet section.

Miss Steenerson's English II class has been writing letters to students in Sophomores English classes in other states, telling interesting things about our state.

LUND TEAM LEADS IN INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY CIRCUIT

Blackhawks and Thieves Tie for Lead in Junior League

With a record of four straight victories to date, the Lunds have a firm grasp on top position in the intermediate hockey schedule, while in the junior circuit the Blackhawks and Thieves are tied for first place with two victories each.

Junior league games scheduled for Saturday morning include Blackhawks vs. Thieves at 9:30; Maroons vs. Canadians, 10:30; and Rangers vs. Maple Leafs, 11:30. Intermediate league games will be played Saturday by the Lorentsons vs. Lunds, 6 o'clock; and Cosgroves vs. Eastsiders, 6:50.

During the week the Lund sextet swamped the Cosgrove club by a score of 5 to 1, John Jaranson accounting for all goals made by the winners. In a game with the Cosgroves, the Lorentson-Weflin combination of the Lorentson's netted four goals out of five, the fifth being credited to Lorentson and Jaranson.

In the junior circuit the league-leading Blackhawks and Thieves defeated the Maroons and Rangers respectively. The Canadiens advanced to third place by winning a close contest from the Maple Leafs, the feature being the Peterson-Liden passing attack.

League-Leading Emerson Aggregation Coming Next Wednesday

Next week's hockey program calls for two and possibly three games to be played here at the arena. The Grand Forks Cavaliers will make their final appearance on Sunday when they tangle with the Thieves in what may be an important game as these two teams will fight it out from now on to secure a place in the semi finals, Hallock, Emerson and Roseau being apparently safe in the three top positions. At present the Thieves have a toehold on fourth position by virtue of their win over the University team here Sunday while the Cavaliers were losing to Roseau by a close score. The Cavaliers have been materially strengthened since the last joust with the Thieves which ended in a tie after 70 minutes of hard hockey at Grand Forks.

Next Wednesday night the Thieves meet the classy Emerson aggregation which is leading the league. This will be the only appearance of the Canadians here this winter. Some of the best amateur players from Winnipeg hockey circles are included in the Emerson lineup and a real game is looked for. This game was scheduled for Friday, February 12, but the management is negotiating with St. Cloud Teachers College for a game on that date, final arrangements to be made in the next few days.

After losing to Hallock during the past week the Thieves downed the University team here Sunday in a game featured by the hard blocking of the University boys. Cameron opened the scoring for the University on a shot from far out that beat Tremontine, the period ending 1-0. In the second and third periods the play was for the most part in University territory with the Thieves showing power, Deagle scoring after a dash thru the "U" defense and Stanbridge scoring shortly after, R. Julien getting the assist. DePaul maneuvered the puck to the "U" net and passed to Stanbridge for the third counter, and Ledeux batted one in in a scramble in front of the net to end the scoring, the final being 4-1 for the Thieves.

Games played in States-Dominion League the past week resulted as follows: Jan. 26, Emerson 2, Roseau 0; Jan. 27, Hallock 5, Thieves 1; Jan. 30, Emerson 3, Hallock 2; Jan. 31, Thieves 4, U. of N. D. 1; Jan. 31, Roseau 5, Cavaliers 4.

HOUSE IS ASKED TO INVESTIGATE BRIBE CHARGES

Mill City Representative Says Liquor Dealers Are Raising Cash

HOUSE PASSES SEED GRAIN LOAN BILL

Quiz University President as to Salaries Being Paid Faculty

The house rules committee dominated by liberals, Tuesday recommended for passage a resolution, sponsored by three conservatives, demanding an investigation into charges of Rep. Roy Wier, Minneapolis, that legislators were bribed to influence their vote on the proposed state liquor dispensary plan.

Heated debate is promised when the amended resolution is considered for Rep. Rollin G. Johnson, Forest Lake, one of the three authors, announced he would oppose the rules committee amendment to delete the reference to Farmer-Labor members being involved in the alleged charges.

Rep. Carl R. Eastvold, Ortonville, will defend the rules committee's stand.

Rep. Wier, during debate a week ago of the anti-lobbyist bill which was subsequently passed by the house, charged that "barrels of money" were raised among liquor dealers to defeat the proposed dispensary bill and that "two years ago a senator paid off in a back room for votes on the North Forty (Hibbing) bill."

By vote of 103 to 1, the house passed the bill, authored by Rep. A. D. Crissey, Morris, to appropriate $1,000,000 to provide loans to farmers for seed grain.

Under the measure, farmers are required to give as security a first lien upon crops grown upon such seed, with $300 the maximum amount of the loan.

The house also passed a resolution memorializing congress to eliminate the federal tax on gasoline.

Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, Wednesday was asked to explain why faculty members in the higher salaried brackets were granted increases, and salaries of those in the lower brackets were slashed, when he appeared before the house appropriations committee to request $3,000,000 to operate the institution for the next two years. His requested appropriation represents an increase of $1,000,000 over the current biennium.

Dr. Coffman replied those in the lower brackets received smaller cuts in the general slash in salaries. He explained members of higher rank are permanent staff members and that reasonable salaries must be maintained.

Emphasizing that five members of the faculty already had been approached by other universities to leave Minnesota for higher salaries Dr. Coffman insisted "we must give them a better wage in order to keep them here."

N. was rejected on the ground that the premises did not provide the sanitary facilities called for in the ordinance governing the sale of beer.

G. Pederson. During the last four months of the year during which the lower rates were in effect, however, a decline in revenue of $1,349.35 was recorded as compared to the same period in 1935. Output of the local plant reached a new high mark of 2,794,250 kilowatts in 1936, an increase of ten per cent over the total production of 2,519,505 kilowatts in 1935.

Two Rooms in Ned Hanson Residence on Bridge St. Are Damaged

With subzero weather prevailing, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hanson and their large family of children were driven out of their home at the east end of Bridge st. when a fire broke out in the kitchen Saturday morning at 5:30. The family was cared for at the home of a neighbor.

Two rooms suffered considerable damage from the blaze, which was believed to have originated from the kitchen range. Firemen were handicapped by lack of water, no hose connections being available. A near-casualty resulted when the family dog ran back into the burning structure, but he was carried out by the firemen and revived.

Smoke damage resulted at the Tiny Tavern on East Third st. Monday morning following the flooding of a gasoline stove. The fire department was called out again Tuesday morning when a chimney fire developed in the house at the intersection of Arnold Ave. and Bakke st. No damage resulted.

LOCAL HOCKEY SIX WINNER AT ROSEAU WEDNESDAY 4 TO 3

Large Crowd of Local Fans Sees Thieves Avenge Former Defeats

Playing in Roseau Wednesday evening, the Thief River Falls league hockey team avenged previous defeats at the hands of the Cloverleafs by winning a rough-and-tumble contest 4 to 3.

The victory was achieved despite the fact that the game was played on a smaller rink than the local sextet is accustomed to. The Thieves led at all stages of the game, the score at the end of the first period being 1-0 and at the end of the second, 3-2.

A large delegation of Thief River Falls accompanied the team to Roseau to cheer it on to victory, testifying to the hold the sport has taken in this community since league play got under way in the Arena late in December.

NEW PRESIDENT TAKES OVER C. C. POST THURSDAY

Walter Jung Says Membership of Association Is at Peak

Membership in the Civic and Commerce association is now at its peak, said President Walter Jung on assuming his new post in the organization at last Thursday's luncheon meeting. Stating that he had been a member since first arriving in this city in the fall of 1916, Mr. Jung expressed appreciation for his election to the office of president.

Members of the Thief River Falls hockey team were guests at the luncheon and were introduced by Alex Campbell of the managing committee, who spoke of the large attendance being attracted to league games from thruout this section by the high quality of hockey exhibited.

Approval of the annual financial report of the association, submitted by Secretary Paul Lundgren, was voted following an audit by A. M. Senstad and George Werstlein. Mr. Lundgren stated that a deputy collector of internal revenue will be in the city February 24 to 26, and that he will be stationed in the Civic and Commerce association rooms to assist local residents in making out their income tax returns.

Mr. Lundgren also announced that arrangements had been made for two broadcasts by local talent over Radio Station KFJM in Grand Forks, the first to be given March 7 at 2:30 and the second August 8. The matter was referred to the program and industrial committees to work out the details.

Robert J. Lund, recently elected a member of the state fair board, spoke briefly of the duties in connection with his new office. Postmaster Andrew Anderson presented to the association a bulletin board to be used for posting notices and committee assignments.

Secretary Lundgren announced that the board of directors, at a recent meeting, had appropriated the sum of $75 to the local Boy Scout organization.

Headquarters of the Army are at 317 Main av. N.

PAUL A. HARRIS IS RENAMED HEAD OF F. L. ASSOCIATION

Elected at Annual Legislative Session in St. Paul Saturday

At the annual convention of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor association in the St. Paul Auditorium Saturday, Paul Harris of this city was unanimously re-elected state chairman of the organization. Representative Harold L. Peterson of Willmar was elected state secretary succeeding I. C. Strout, who was ousted in a factional struggle.

Control of the association will not be settled finally until congressional districts conclude election of new state committeemen next month.

In one of the numerous resolutions adopted at the convention, the association voted its approval of Governor Benson's proposal for a state liquor dispensary system—bone of contention within the party for some weeks.

Charges and countercharges, many of them personal and most of them concerning party organizational affairs, flew thick and fast during the row but left the real issues in the clash, as well as the identity of the opposing groups, still clouded.

The convention adopted scores of resolutions, ranging from support of the Spanish loyalists in the civil war to demands for immediate enactment of all of Governor Benson's extensive legislative program.

Highlights of this portion of the convention business was a disclosure that the state administration's civil service bill, which has not yet been introduced, would leave Governor Benson a year in which to make any personnel changes he wishes before it would become effective.

The factional fight centered on a series of amendments to the association's constitution providing for annual elections of officers and committeemen. The amendments were adopted.

COLORED QUINTET TO MEET JAYSEES SATURDAY NIGHT

Fast House of David Team to Meet Independents at Auditorium

Local basketball fans are looking forward to one of the most interesting games of the season Saturday evening when the Thief River Falls "Jaysees", sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will meet the Colored House of David aggregation at the Auditorium at 8:15.

The colored team, including in its lineup a seven-foot center and three former members of the Globetrotters, are expected to provide stiff competition for the local quintet, which has made an excellent record during the current season.

The Jaysees defeated Plummer last Thursday evening by the decisive score of 41 to 27. The team will journey to Strandquist for a game this evening, and will play at Greenbush Sunday afternoon.

FLOOD RELIEF IS GIVEN FINE SUPPORT HERE

County Quota of $300 Well Oversubscribed Wednesday Afternoon

TOTAL OF $477 HAS BEEN CONTRIBUTED

Additional Donations Will be Sent in Each Day of Coming Week

Despite the fact that there has been no solicitation of funds, citizens of all parts of Pennington county, in common with the rest of the nation, responded with open-handed generosity to a general appeal made last week by the county Red Cross chapter for funds to relieve distress in the flooded areas along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

As a result of the wholehearted response the Pennington county quota of $300 Wednesday afternoon had been more than fifty per cent oversubscribed, a total of $477 having been turned in to Fred Protz, treasurer of the local chapter. All of this amount had been sent in yesterday to Red Cross headquarters, and Mr. Protz stated that additional contributions will be sent in daily during the coming week.

It was announced that remittances may be made to Mr. Protz or any other officer of the Red Cross, or may be left at either of the local banks, the J. & B. drug store, the Thief River Pharmacy or at the Christianson store in Goodridge.

The St. Hilaire unit of the Red Cross distinguished itself by collecting and turning over to the county chapter the substantial sum of $120 contributed by residents of that community. A splendid response also was reported from other sections of the county, contributions from which are not segregated in the list published elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

The flood menace so long overhanging much of the country appeared lessening everywhere Wednesday night, inspiring hopes that the job ahead was mainly one of consolidating positions against the waters.

The Ohio, reaching its biggest crest of all time at Cairo, Ill., still was held back by that city's lofty levees and the persistence of the men who remained who remained at imminent peril to defend it.

Great danger continued, but hope was better grounded than fear.

The Mississippi was rising south to New Orleans. It was above flood stage as far as Vicksburg, Minn., but General Malin Craig, the army chief of staff, reassured the people: "Everything is holding all right in the lower river."

There was a forecast of rain in parts of the Mississippi and Ohio basins—and engineers had said too much of that on strategic tributary basins might be disastrous—but the weather man said the fall would not be heavy enough to work substantial harm.

The Cairo defenders, who like many another such group in the flood zone could not relax their vigilance, had personally-delivered assurance from Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins that WPA men would "stand by until the end."

Hopkins has made available thousands of WPA workers for cleanups in the flood areas; he has promised many thousands more.

PROWLERS DEFEAT CROOKSTON FRIDAY BY 28 TO 25 SCORE

Local Team to Seek Another Victory Over Warren Friday Night

The Lincoln high school basketball team remained undefeated in district play by downing Crookston 28 to 25 Friday evening at the Auditorium in one of the most exciting games of the season's schedule.

The two teams were tied 7-7 at the end of the first quarter and 11-11 at the half, while in the third period the Prowlers scored eleven points to four for Crookston, giving a lead which the visitors were unable to overcome in the final period. Stadum and Lee led in the scoring for the locals, each accounting for nine points, while Barnes, with twelve points, was high for Crookston.

Local fans are counting on the Prowlers to bring home another victory Friday evening when they journey to Warren for a contest with the Warren high school team. In a previous encounter, in which the locals were handicapped by the absence from the lineup of several regulars, the Prowlers won by a score of 28 to 20.

Growing With Your Child

When Your Child Must Stay in Bed

Many a mother is tempted to let her child get up and run about before it is safe for him to do so, because it is so very hard to keep a convalescent child in bed. But if the doctor's orders as to the length of time the child must stay in bed are observed, recovery may be more than proportionately hastened.

Of course a sick child's mother cannot be with him all the time, nor would it be desirable for him to become dependent on her. Occupations can be provided that will keep children absorbed and happy for long stretches, without unduly taxing them. For example, pictures hung on a screen or at the foot of the bed may be changed often, so that there is something new to look at. Old magazines can be used in a number of ways—an older child likes to clip and send away coupons, a younger one enjoys cutting out the pictures, or coloring those that are in black and white, and making a scrap-book, or using the fashion plates for paper dolls. Puzzles are good if they are simple enough not to require intensive concentration. Crayons, paints, plasticene and plastic wood can be kept from becoming too messy if an old sheet or piece of oilcloth is spread over the bed. Little children love to deck themselves out in mother's discarded beads and bracelets, to re-string beads, or make vari-colored ones of salt and flour paste. The family button box provides fun for an imaginative child. A mail-order catalogue lends itself to any number of schemes.

If a child's bed can be placed near a window, the passing cars and people make him feel less alone. Sometimes moving a child for part of the day to another room than the one he has become tired of will cheer him up. Company, in the person of goldfish, a canary, or a new stuffed animal, will make him feel less lonely.

A convalescent child should be carefully guarded from over-excitement, consequently the use of the radio must be closely watched and the type of program controlled. A phonograph has the advantage that, once suitable records have been chosen by the mother, the child can play them at will.

A harmonica, castanets, bells, and other simple musical instruments give a child the fun of producing his own music.

Many an older child has learned to knit or crochet while in bed, and has whiled away hours making something for her doll. An older boy may find pleasure in making a model airplane, in sorting and labelling a collection he has made, or in pasting the snapshots reminiscent of a summer outing into a scrap-book.

For work of this kind, some sort of table is necessary. The lid of an old-fashioned drop-head sewing machine, pushed up close to the bed, makes an acceptable one; while a box or crate, with sides cut out to fit over the child's legs, does very well for a child who doesn't jerk about much.

There are times when playthings pall, and a quiet game is in order. Even quite small children enjoy playing with mother or an older child the old rhyming game that goes, "I see something that rhymes with . . ." In guessing "Is it . . . ?" or ". . . ," a child's vocabulary is constantly being added to, and much interesting conversation is provoked. "Teakettle" and "The Minister's Cat" are other old favorites that still please little children.

It is a good idea to have rest periods, when the room is darkened and everything is quiet, at fairly frequent intervals, in the interest of preventing overstimulation and fatigue.

Two Music Clubs Are Organized During Week

Two music clubs, composed of pupils of Mrs. Harold Harrison, local piano instructor, were organized during the past week, one club consisting of kindergarten music class members and the other of senior students.

The kindergarten pupils assembled at the Harrison home Saturday evening and established what will be known as the "Music Makers Club". Members are Halvor Ekeren, Billy Harrison, Phyllis and Jimmy Steen, Lois and Evelyn Tommerdahl, Ramona Quist, Betty Ann Jacobson, Lois Ann Lund, Ralph Foster, Jr., and Robert Granum. Officers elected are Lois Ann Lund, president; Halvor Ekeren, vice-president; and Ramona Quist, secretary. The club decided to study the lives of various composers during the remainder of the year. Following the usual piano recital, games were played and refreshments were served by Mrs. Harrison.

The senior students, who include Daniel Gerstner, Lawrence Groven, Yvonne Anderson, Rachel Hanson, Margaret McKechie, Palma Jahr, Eileen Rolland, Vivian Skoglund, Elinor Erickson, Gloria Quist, Lorraine Quist, and Orlanda Kompelien, elected officers and made plans for the year Wednesday evening, when they met at the home of their instructor, Mrs. Harrison. Officers include Margaret McKechnie, president, Palma Jahr, vice-president; and Gloria Quist, secretary-treasurer. For study, the group chose four topics, composers, harmony, stories of selected piano numbers, and orchestral work. At the close of the evening luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Harrison.

Youth Administration Plans Girls Residence School for St. Paul

One hundred young women who are capable of profiting from a three months training course offered by the National Youth Administration at the Girls' Residence School in St. Paul will soon be on their way to that city. There, under the direction of Miss Adelia Prichard, they will embark on a course of practical studies designed to help them make better homes and become more responsible citizens.

The Girls' Residence School offers this chance to several unemployed young women from each Minnesota county, provided they are between the ages of 18 and 25, and fill the regular requirements for employment on the National Youth program.

The courses of study at the school include training in household management, sewing, modeling, music, practice typing, cooking, parliamentary procedure, dramatics and various types of handicrafts, health education, English, recreation and physical training.

Girls who are now working on local NYA projects or who can be certified for such work and would like to attend the Girls' Residence School, should make application to the district NYA office at Detroit Lakes, Minnesota.

Surviving relatives are her husband, one son Henry, both of Kratka township. Her mother Mrs. Tony Hakes of Northfield, Wisc., two sisters Mrs. Nellie Bunderson and Mrs. Olger Olson, both of Osseo, Wisc., and a brother Earl Hakes of Northfield, Wisc., also survive. Her father preceded her in death.

1,000 Pounds of Butter Stolen From Creamery

Nearly 1,000 pounds of butter were taken from the Beltrami Cooperative creamery in a robbery Tuesday night after entrance to the building was gained by breaking the glass in the weighing room door.

Theft of the butter from the creamery building was discovered at 7:30 A. M. when E. E. Denison, creamery manager, came to work. The creamery building is located about one-half mile north of the Polk county village, sufficiently far away from the town that no disturbance would be heard.

Value of the stolen butter, which included 13 tubs of 63 pounds each and 160 one-pound prints, is placed at about $280. An additional 47 tubs of butter and 1,000 pounds ready to be printed, was left untouched. No money was in the creamery at the time of the robbery.

Bjornaraa Reports on Activities of National Reemployment Service

The activities of the National Reemployment service in Minnesota in 1936 were marked by a decrease from 1935 in the number of applicants contacting employment offices for the first time requesting assistance in securing jobs, and by the fact that fewer people were seeking work during the year than in the year 1935, according to Dreng Bjornaraa, director for Minnesota.

During 1936 a total of 42,769 individuals, of which number 9,163 were women, placed applications with the Service for the first time. This was a decrease of 22.0% from the number of new applications received in 1935. During the year 448,718 additional contacts were made with individuals who had applications on file.

In 1936 a total of 98,681 individuals were referred to jobs. Eighty-one percent of the referrals resulted in jobs as compared to 78.7% in 1935. A total of 79,570 jobs were filled as a result of such referrals from which employers selected additional help. During 1936, 78.2% of the jobs secured were for periods in excess of one month while in 1935 only 59.8% of the placements were for a month or more. Of these placements 9,953 were of women; and of the men placed, 5,774 were veterans.

During the year 18,566 jobs in gainful private employment were filled through the efforts of the National Reemployment Service. In addition, 48,750 jobs on public work, such as public building construction, road building and repairing, and municipal improvements, at prevailing wages were filled. Of the men and women referred to these two classes of jobs, 22,232 were on public relief rolls at the time of referral. Assistance was furnished to WPA during the year in placing 12,254 individuals on WPA jobs at security wages.

Arrested at Duluth with 18 untagged beaver pelts in possession, Sidney Rosenburg of Green Bay, Wis., was fined $250, according to wardens' reports received by the state Division of Game and Fish. Rosenburg, who had no fur buyer's license, was arraigned in St. Louis county district court.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Judging by reports, the Farmer-Labor Association had a stormy session at its annual state convention last week. About the only thing they seemed to be unanimous about was the re-election of Paul Harris as state chairman. Which was a mighty fine tribute to the leadership of Paul Harris.

The theory of a sit-down strike is that the employee takes possession of the tools of the employer and by tieing up the use of those tools forces the employer to come to terms. For instance if a farmer hired a man to operate his tractor and the tractor operator decided to stage a sit-down strike for higher wages or more favorable working conditions, he would retain his position at the controls and refuse to work. If the farmer happened to be a progressive, he of course would immediately yield to the demands of his employee and work would be resumed. Some reactionary farmer, however, might tell the employee to get to work or get off the farm. And then harsh words would pass back and forth and the farmer would probably be told that he was putting property rights above human rights. Soon blows would be exchanged and then the constable would step in and the employee would soon find himself walking out of the township looking for another job. The picture is both ridiculous and tragic. Some day we may figure out a satisfactory way of settling the differences that inevitably arise between employee and employer. Certainly the present method is a barbarous procedure.

It is encouraging to know that Pennington County has already oversubscribed its quota for the relief of flood victims. In the course of a year many drives are conducted to raise funds for this, that or the other thing. In such drives it is difficult to arouse public enthusiasm. People give, but they give grudgingly. Which is not hard to understand. The need for such giving is not so apparent. But when a condition develops, such as the one we now have, and we know for a certainty that help is needed, then the public responds generously.

One of the reasons we have made so little progress in working out an intelligent plan for the settlement of labor disputes probably is due to the prevailing opinion that all business leadership is bad and that all labor leadership is good. There are racketeers of business. There are also racketeers of labor. Good business leadership suffers because of bad business leadership. And eventually it will be discovered that good labor organizations will suffer because of bad labor organizations. An emotional public reacts slowly to facts but it does react and every labor dispute is settled in the final reckoning by a force which neither capital nor labor can control. That force is the consumer. Any agreement which does not take into consideration the interests of the consumer is a short sighted agreement that in the long run will defeat its own purposes.

Earnings of the light and power department of the city increased eight thousand dollars last year in spite of the lower rates effective the last four months of the year, according to P. G. Pederson, city clerk. During the last four months production increased 132,680 kilowatts but, because of the reduced rates, resulted in a net loss in earnings of $1,349.35 as compared to the preceding year. In other words, during the first eight months earnings increased at the rate of about a thousand dollars a month. During the last four months of the year the increased demand nearly compensated for the decreased rates. Production figures for the year soared to new heights, reaching a total of 2,794,250 kilowatts, compared to 2,519,505 kilowatts for 1935, and net receipts for the first time reached the hundred thousand dollar mark. With demand continuing to increase it is reasonable to expect this year's figures to compare favorably with those of 1936. And all in all, considering the increasing value of the light plant, the city's financial prospects are decidedly bright.

BORAH SPEAKS AGAIN

Because it is so unusual for a man in public life today to defend the Supreme Court, we are glad to pass along a couple of paragraphs from a speech delivered by Senator Borah this week. Arguing that the government already has power "which in the hands of those with evil purpose could destroy the rights of the people," he declared,

> "It is not for us to urge, or connive, at the courts, through strained or doubtful construction, filching from the people power which the people have not granted.
> "If the people desire that the federal government shall have control over their local affairs, it is for the people to say so.
>
> "But any plan which undertakes to accomplish any redistribution of power between the state and the national government, without the full authority of the people, should be regarded as a mistake.
>
> "This purloining of constitutional power from the state by the federal government, beginning far back in the past, has passed beyond all reason, and before the final pillage takes place, those who are most deeply concerned should be heard."

Ground Hog day might have been a discouraging one for the ground hog but it was a mighty nice day for the rest of us. And what's six more weeks of winter with the kind of weather we are having this winter

HOME RULE IS BEST
(Minneapolis Journal)

Minnesota gets federal aid for old age pensions, amounting to one half of the payments up to a maximum of thirty dollars for each individual. Under the state act, state funds pay one third, and counties the remaining one sixth. Now it is proposed to relieve counties of all share in the cost, the State paying half the pensions.

This would be a serious error. Minnesota has the county system of management. Control is in the hands of county commissioners, which is far better than an expensive new governmental set up, either local or state in character. It works well for two reasons. One is that cases are best handled by local authorities familiar with the personnel. The other is that since some local tax money goes into the aid payments, the county authorities now have an incentive to check the allowances closely and hold costs down.

To relieve counties of any share in cost means a change from local to centralized administration. Otherwise there would be too strong a temptation for local boards to pad their allowances. Centralized administration means a cumbersome bureaucracy. By all means, management should stay where it is, in the hands of local boards, and counties should pay something toward their own old age pension allowances.

Governor Benson, in recommending change, made the point that some counties are not able financially to meet their share of the aid, and that failure to pay may cause the State to lose the federal aid. This difficulty is not insurmountable. It is possible for the Legislature to frame a rule or standard, by which counties with crippled finances would be relieved of their shares. This has been done with regard to school aid, and it can be done as to old age pensions.

The dire plight of the counties, so brought to public attention, is another illustration of the need for tax relief. This urgent need is another story, but it is a story that needs frequent repetition.

A RED RIVER PLAN
(St. Paul Dispatch)

The report of the interstate committee on the Red River drainage basin should receive the attention of the Legislature as the guide to establishment of a regional plan of great moment to this state and to North and South Dakota.

A water plan necessary to the best interests of the valley as a whole has been drafted. The first step should be an interstate agreement for the permanent development and operation of the plan. This should be accompanied by establishment of an interstate authority with power to receive and expend money in all three states. The need for interstate action is easily shown. The more important sources of the water to be distributed are in Minnesota. Flood storage in North Dakota is necessary to the complete plan. In general the purpose is to conserve, manage and distribute the available water supply in accordance with the best interests of the valley.

The committee has concluded that man-made changes in surface conditions have had only a small part in producing the reduced rainfall of the long dry cycle. This conclusion emphasizes the wisdom and practicability of adopting projects which will have a counter effect. The dry cycle will presumably end, but man-made conditions call for statesmanlike action. The program of the committee is comprehensive and involves moderate expense. Among the projects of outstanding importance may be mentioned the storage plans for Otter Tail basin, the Red Lake basin and the Sheyenne valley.

WHAT WILL HE FIRE WITH?
(Eveleth Clarion)

Every time the federal government initiates a new system of taxation the different states adopt many of the same measures. This imitating merely means overlapping taxation. Often this situation is reversed with the federal government stealing the ideas from the states. If this game of tag keeps going on too far, John Taxpayer is going to find out that he is "it" all the time. Then there is apt to be some very serious back-firing.

STRANGE BREAKDOWN—
(Norman County Index)

Seven per cent of the world's population is in the United States. This seven per cent consumes half the world's coffee, three-fourths of the world's silk, two-thirds of the world's crude oil and has more purchasing power than all the people of Europe. And yet our citizens are continually told that the American system has broken down. Strange breakdown!

TRUE TO SOME EXTENT—
(Owatonna Journal-Chronicle)

The Blooming Prairie Times maintains that "Better government will come when voters vote for the men who stand for the things the voters stand for rather than accepting the voting for the candidate merely because he bears the party label and regardless of what he stands for." Which may be true to some extent. But the Journal-Chronicle maintains that the arrival of the days of better government will not occur until such a time as the voters elect men on a basis of statesmanship and business-like management, rather than "how much can he get for me or my particular group?"

The proposition to return the members of the Legislature to the party ballot again received a setback in the House on Monday, when it was defeated by a vote of 65 to 50. This measure was especially favored by Governor Benson in his inaugural message. It was part of the platform of the Farmer-Labor majority which controls the House, and besides that, was favored in the platforms of the other political parties. Yet with all this pre-election and post-election endorsement, the measure could muster only 50 votes. The vote by which the measure was defeated offers the best kind of an argument against it: if political party pledges are no more reliable than they proved to be in this case, then how can the imposition of party responsibility be made of any value? Minnesota proposes to continue to elect its legislators without party designation, even though the present system tends to promote considerable ambiguity as to party principles.—Morris Tribune.

In North Dakota the legislature is asked to pass a relief bill of $500,000. In Minnesota where the population is about four times that of North Dakota, the legislature is asked to appropriate $17,000,000 which is thirty-four times as much as is asked in North Dakota, where half of the state is in the drought-stricken area. Some of the Gopher lawmakers are too optomistic about the ability of the state to pay.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

We always want what we don't have. Magazines circulating in New England advertise dandelion seeds for sale and in northern Minnesota settlers dig beautiful fir trees out of their front yards to plant boxelders. Farmers look forward to the day when they can leave the farm, move to town and take things easy. Office workers wish they had a chicken ranch so they could labor in the great out-of-doors. Fortunate is he who likes his work and his surroundings and makes the most of them.—Sleepy Eye Herald Dispatch.

Civilization has been doing and saying so much that is obviously erratic that there is inevitably a growing doubt as to whether it ought to be trusted with bombing planes.—Washington Star.

Maintain Horses in Good Flesh, Authority Urges

It is poor economy to bring horses through the winter in a thin condition and then attempt to put them in good flesh by feeding liberally after the working season has begun, says W. H. Peters, chief of the animal husbandry division at University Farm, St. Paul.

Horses should maintain their weight or be in a gaining condition throughout the winter, Mr. Peters states, so that they will enter the spring work season in shape to furnish efficient animal power. They may be brought through the winter satisfactorily on low grade roughages, but farmers should watch them carefully to see that they are maintaining their weight. If not, the roughages should be supplemented by 6 to 9 pounds of farm grains daily for each animal. If good roughages are available, the horses will remain in good condition with little or no grain—not over 4 pounds per horse daily.

As soon as the horses are put to work, the grain ration for each animal should be increased to about 1¼ pounds of grain per 100 pounds of live weight. Grains may consist of corn, oats, other farm grains, or a mixture of them. Molasses may be substituted for a portion of the grain, Mr. Peters says.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

I am one of the many who enjoy reading the many valuable letters as published in your good paper. However, there is something about this lobbying before our law makers that is not as yet clear to me. We have had our election and our people have duly elected our three good men, Tungseth, Melby and Day. They are our representatives and authorized to properly act for us. Still we have The Farm Bureau—they want us farmers to pay dues for lobbying. And then we also have the Farmers Union and they also want us to pay dues for about the same good cause. Mr. Lockrem and Company seem to believe that it is necessary and wise to send more men to work for the good of farmers and other people. If it's not exactly illegal to be a lobbyist, it must be close to the line. According to what I learn from a Minneapolis paper, our good Governor is against lobbying.

Feb. 1, 1937.

Dear Editor:

In the January 21st number of the Times appeared a well written article in regard to Rural Credit signed Taxpayer. At the time I read it I thought for sure it was written by my friend David Haugen, because he told me that he had written an article signed Taxpayer which appeared in the Times last year. I was just going to write complimenting him on his well written correspondence—and now I am surprised to find that he disagrees with it and furthermore he rakes down the other correspondent because he doesn't sign his name. Is Mr. Haugen jealous because the other correspondent uses the same pen name that Mr. Haugen had previously used?

In discussing Rural Credit as well as in discussing other things, I think we should do as our editor says: "Confine the argument to facts." In the January 28th number of the Times I notice that there are several correspondents who devote the greater part of their write ups to abusing, villifying and trying to browbeat the previous correspondent. Have they no facts to present and are their arguments so weak that they have no other answer but bad language and abuse?

I have no ideas as to who "Taxpayer" is but still I think that he has just as much right to express his opinions as any of the other correspondents as well as myself. I shall not at this time express myself either for or against a change in the Rural Credit Laws but shall leave it to those who think they know what should be done.

Let us have more discussion of Rural Credit and other things of public interest but let us present figures and facts and leave out vilification and abuse.

Yours for free and open discussion.

J. W. Erlandson.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

Because of bills pending before the Legislature which are certain to arouse desperate opposition on the part of certain special groups and interests, Governor Benson is anxious for early passage of the Administration lobby bill.

In a special message, delivered in person to a joint session of the House and Senate last week, he said: "The need of a bill to register and control lobbying is obvious. The anti-lobby bill is directed against the activities of those who seek to influence and to corrupt you and who seek to influence and to corrupt government itself. There is no use in denying that such lobby activities are carried on, and always have been carried on, not only in the state of Minnesota, but in every state of the nation. We must find some means of controlling lobbying in the interest of honest government and of the general good."

Within three hours after delivery of his message, the House by a vote of 117 to 9 passed the anti-lobby bill. The bill requires the registration of all persons engaged in influencing legislation together with a statement of salaries and monies spent for that purpose.

Senator Charles Orr's charge made before a luncheon club in which we declared that "the highway department right now has lobbyists running up and down the corridors of the state capitol" met a quick retort from Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg.

In a letter addressed to William Richardson, president of the Senate, and Representative Harold Barker, speaker of the House, Mr. Elsberg declared that no employes of the highway department are engaged in lobby activities; that any information which the Legislature may seek pertaining to highway matters will be submitted by him to the proper committees, and that there is a standing order in his department which forbids highway department employes going to the capitol while the Legislature is in session.

Senator Orr did not make it clear whether his remarks were directed against the administration's anti-lobby bill. One could be easily led to conclude so because he failed to say anything about the lobbyists of special interests. His long record in the Senate undoubtedly has made him acquainted with these lobby activities and their vicious influences.

Some 28,000 Minnesota employers last week received forms for the filing of their 1936 payroll tax under the new state unemployment compensation law.

The forms were mailed by the unemployment compensation division of the state industrial commission, which is administering the law, with Frank T. Starkey, chairman of the commission, in direct charge.

J. Fred Essary, Washington newspaper correspondent, told a group of teachers meeting in the national capitol that there are more important things to worry about "than the activities of 50,000 or 60,000 communists in this country". Said Mr. Essary: "After all the millions of unemployed find jobs, after the budget is balanced, after the farmers are contented, and after the old folks are satisfied with their pensions and none of us has any taxes to pay, then there will be plenty of time to worry about the 'reds.'"

A heated debate was precipitated in the state senate when Senator Fay Cravens, Milaca, opposed acceptance of an invitation of Swift Packing Co. to tour its plant. Cravens charged that the invitation from Swift's was meant to influence support of the bill, introduced this session, calling for stiff taxation on the manufacturing and sale of butter substitutes. The invitation was accepted.

Taking the first concrete step towards erection of a fitting memorial to the late Governor Floyd B. Olson, the House on Tuesday adopted, by unanimous vote, a concurrent resolution requesting Governor Elmer A. Benson to appoint a committee of five to study means of perpetuating the memory of the late governor.

Senator A. J. Rockne, chairman of the Senate Finance committee, and leader of the conservative majority in the upper house, not only opposes the granting of state aid to schools in full, but last week complained bitterly against the amount of money the state is spending on its public school system. "It seems to me," he told newspapermen, "We've gone crazy pouring money into the schools, and we're not far from the point where we'll have to stop." Senator Rockne proposes a per capita limitation for the schools under which state aid would be reduced.

A significant development in both houses was the introduction of three bills to repeal the now-famous Hibbing "North Forty" laws, and a fourth measure proposing the "Oklahoma" plan whereby the village of Hibbing would purchase the North Hibbing property damaged by the Oliver Iron Mining company. But under the new bills, the mining companies would not be granted a gift of millions of dollars in taxes saved with which to purchase the ruined and depreciated property.

General Pensions Not Requested by Legion

The American Legion will not ask for general pensions for World War veterans, says Harry W. Colmery, national commander of The American Legion, in a signed article appearing in the February issue of The American Legion Monthly official national publication of the organization. Through "The Monthly", National Commander Colmery speaks directly to every member of the Legion and in his article he discusses the subject at length, particularly from the standpoint of recent public discussions about World War veterans seeking such a gratuity from the government.

Current Wit and Humor

NOT MUSH-FAKERS THEN

"Yes" remarked the barber in a reminiscent tone to the man he was shaving "in the olden times we were almost classed as chirurgeons, practiced chiropody and prescribed simples for all ailments."

"Yes" replied his customer "and I notice you are still extremely proficient in one of your ancient accomplishments."

"To which do you refer sir?" asked the delighted barber eagerly.

"Blood-letting," replied his victim sadly as he watched the reflection in the mirror of the sanguinary corpuscles chasing each other down his cheek.

Sympathy

Herbert Morrison, English Labor M. P., was talking about sympathy. "Most of the sympathy you get," he said, "is like the story. A judge was sentencing a prisoner who looked about seventy.

"'I sentence you, prisoner,' he said, 'to 25 years penal servitude.'

"'I'll never live long enough to serve that sentence,' the prisoner muttered. The judge gave him a kindly look.

"'Don't worry,' he said. 'Serve what you can.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Fair Enough!

A lady who had employed a Chinaman as cook asked him his name.

"Me name San Toy Lee," he said.

"Ah, your name is too long," the lady replied. "I will call you John."

"All light," responded John. "What's your name?"

"Mrs. Charlotte Anne Hemingway," she told him.

"Your name too long," remarked John. "I call you Cholly."—The Mutual Magazine.

EASY PICKING

Harry—But you said I had locked your heart and had the key!

Kate—I know, but while you were away another fellow picked the lock.

Very Short

A couple of boys out in Iowa were discussing the recent drought. One fellow had some wheat which he managed to harvest.

"The drought sure has made the wheat short this year."

"Short? Say, I had to lather mine to mow it!"—Chaparral.

No Make-up

"How did you manage to evade the photographers who have taken so many pictures of you?"

"Easily," said Miss Cayenne. "I disguised myself."

"How?"

"I threw away my lipstick and washed my face."

No Bachelors

Prospective Tenant to Landlord—Nice place you have here. Is it free from cockroaches?

Landlord—There isn't a single one around.

Give Him Some Hay

The family and their guest had just seated themselves at the table.

"Susie," said Maw, "why didn't you put a knife and fork at Mr. McKlunk's place?"

"He don't need any, Maw," replied little Susie. "You said he eats like a horse."

The Last Laugh

"I like that puppy—I'll give you a pound for him."

"Sorry, sir, can't be done. 'E belongs to my wife, and she'll sob 'er 'eart out if I sell 'im. Tell yer wot, though. Make it another ten bob—and we'll let 'er sob."

FINAL PROOF

"You must be a woman hater."

"Why?"

"You've never married."

"Why should a man who has never married be a woman hater?"

Poor Little

"Do you believe the auto is the ruin of young men?"

"No; but I do know that most young fellows don't do an auto any good."

Miss Ardith Franzman and Miss Dorothy Holbrook were winners in their respective classes and will represent this part of the county at the contest held in Warren on the week end.

That a number of local people are becoming "Hockey-minded" was evident at the attendance at the game at Thief River Falls Sunday. Many have enjoyed "the fastest spot on earth" and doubtless many more will journey to future games played.

The North Star Farmers Club will, on the evening of Feb. 4th render another of their interesting programs at the local hall. Matters of importance are to be discussed and a large attendance is urged. A good time is assured.

Due to the inability of the light plant to carry the excessive load which it has been called upon, the local village fathers have purchased another 30 HP unit of the Feidel type. This motor has been slightly used but is guaranteed to give good service for a long time to come and should handle the "juice" output for the village very satisfactorily.

Due to the urgent appeal made by the Red Cross and other organizations for the relief of flood sufferers this little village and surrounding territory has done very well in contributing to the needy, all contributions coming of a voluntary nature. It was remembered that the Red Cross did so well to the settlers east of here after the fire a few years ago, and these things are not so easily forgotten.

38,500 Motor Vehicle Mishap Deaths in 1936

Motor vehicle accident deaths reached an all time record total of 38,500 in 1936, the national safety council said, exceeding the nation's previous mark of 37,000 set in 1935. Tornadoes, floods, excessive heat and increased employment helped push the 1936 total of accident deaths from all causes to 111,000 wiping out the 1934 record of 101,139. The council added that accidents permanently disabled about 380,000 persons and temporarily disabled 10,000,000 others.

In reviewing tax returns from the sale of beer throughout the nation, Mr. Charles pointed out that beer had paid well over one billion dollars in taxes to federal, state and municipal treasuries during the first eight months of 1936 for which actual figures are available.

CONSERVATION OF WATER IN RED LAKE RIVER DISCUSSED

Red River Drainage Basin Is Topic at Session in St. Paul

State officials and representatives of the Red Lake river improvement committee explained plans for conserving water of the Red river of the North drainage basin before a joint meeting of the house and senate drainage committee in St. Paul Tuesday.

M. M. Orfield, assistant attorney general outlined a proposed bill to create a tri-state waters commission, which would require concurrence by the legislatures of North and South Dakota.

Costs of construction and operation of a series of dams or any other means the committee may decide upon to control the waters of the area would be borne by the municipalities benefitted. The tri-state commission would consist of nine members, three from each state, appointed by the legislatures of the respective states.

Each state would appropriate funds for administrative expenses as fixed by the committee and on a basis of value to be received from activities of the commission.

Frederic Bass, chairman of the state board of health, said that the public health is endangered by the low water of the Red river and its tributaries. "Cities along this river contribute to its pollution so that those on the lower part of the stream have only very polluted water."

E. V. Willard, state conservation commissioner said, "the people of these towns have been saved from severe epidemics of disease only by the exceptional skill of water engineers who purified the polluted water to make it fairly palatable."

Lee R. Boyd, Crookston, secretary of the Red Lake river committee; W. W. Horner, chairman of the inter-state committee, and Dean Holm, executive secretary of the tri-state committee, also spoke. Others who upheld the plan were Representative Clifford Bouvette, Hallock; E. A. Fladland, mayor of Grand Forks, N. D., and Representative Ernest Gust, Wheaton.

LEGISLATURE IS GIVEN PROGRAM OF STATE EDUCATORS

Association Asks Equal Opportunity for All Children

"That every child everywhere may have an equal opportunity to learn" is the basis of the educational legislative program which the Minnesota Education association presented to the legislature for consideration at this session.

The five-point program sponsored by the M. E. A. asks: Continued support for education through state appropriations, retention of the income tax for schools; payment of state aids in full; enactment of a bill for continuing contracts for teachers; and a study of school law looking toward recodification.

In a letter to legislators, Walter E. Englund, M. E. A., field director, declared that since youth is America's greatest asset and must be developed, there can be no detrenchment in the support of education, that revenue now going to the support of our public schools must not be diverted to other purposes.

Mr. Englund pointed out that the continuing contract bill would take no power from the local board of education in the selection and retention of teachers, but that it does limit the power of dismissal by requiring majority action by that body in order to terminate a teacher's contractual relation with the school district. "Its effect will be to stabilize the school situation and to promote that quiet school-community atmosphere under which a child can best be educated."

WPA ASKS REPORT AS TO PENNINGTON DECORATIVE ART

Permanent Record Is Being Made of Old-Time Art Thruout U. S.

Residents of Pennington County who possess articles that represent unusual decorative art in this area, earlier than 1880, this week were invited to report them to the WPA federal art project in St. Paul. This work, known officially as the Minnesota branch of Index of American Design, is making a permanent record of such old-time art.

The Index, according to Miss Beatrice Mertens, Detroit Lakes, district supervisor of WPA women's and professional projects, already had traced and recorded a large number of interesting items, a notable one being a low seat, of cast iron and complicated design, the owner of which had all but forgotten its history and did not realize its historic value. The Index will consist of a series of drawings, in black and white, or color, or photographs of the main types of American decorative art and significant variations from type.

"We are not limiting ourselves to the material in museums and semi-public collections," Miss Jeanne Taylor, project supervisor, wrote Miss Mertens. "Such material always will be accessible," she pointed out. "What we want to locate and preserve in renderings or photographs are articles in private hands, particularly those that have never reached the collections —family heirlooms of furniture, household objects, costumes, wood or stone carving, pottery, textiles and floor coverings, hooked rugs and similar articles.

"We hope that residents of this county owning such articles will take this opportunity to have them recorded permanently," Miss Mertens said.

Persons wanting more information about the index should write to Miss Jeanne Taylor at 529 Portland Avenue, St. Paul.

Evangelist Delivers Lecture on Prophecies

"When the minute hand of God's great prophetic clock in heaven has moved to the point of fulfillment, with never failing certainty the event takes place on earth." So declared Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "A Message to All Nations" last Sunday night in the old Methodist Church. The lecturer gave many concrete illustrations to show how God calls human instrumentalities even in these times to give plain, pointed and testing messages to the world, as only the faith that is fully tested by the Word of God brings salvation to the individual. Many pictures were shown on the screen and some very interesting Bible questions were answered. Next week's Back to the Bible Lecture program is announced in this paper.

CO-OP. LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION WILL PAY BIG DIVIDEND

South St. Paul Group Announces Distribution of $107,859

Patronage refunds and dividends amounting to 25 per cent of commissions collected in 1936, and aggregating a total of $107,859.90, will be paid to members of the Central Co-operative Association. This was declared by the board of directors of this farmer-owned livestock selling agency, whose headquarters are at South St. Paul. This will make a total of $1,606,803.10, which has been paid in cash dividends to member patrons since the Central was organized in 1921.

In 1936 a total of 18,810 carloads of stock, or an increase of 46 per cent over 1935, was handled by the Central. This was equivalent to approximately 25 per cent of the total livestock marketed at South St. Paul. Including the business handled by the Central at West Fargo, the 1936 total was 20,179 car loads.

Details of the past year's business will be brought out at the 16th Annual Meeting of the stockholders of the Central to be held at the 16th Annual meeting of the stockholders of the Central to be held at the Hotel Lowry on February 9 and 10. Representatives of member shipping associations in the five Northwest states, and many individual members who are holders of preferred stock in the Central, will attend this two-day event. Total membership of this organization embraces 565 shipping associations with an average of around 175 to 200 members each, as well as 16,750 individual stockholders. This makes approximately 125,000 individuals who marketed their livestock co-operatively through the Central during the year.

AUTO VICTIM IS MARRIED IN BED

Luverne—A few trivial things, such as knocked-out teeth, a fractured jaw, cracked ribs, a broken nose and a badly fractured leg, as well as numerous cuts and bruises, can't keep a man from getting married. At least not a man like Leslie Nelson, Slayton funeral director, who was seriously injured New Year's eve in a head-on collision and has since that time been confined to the Slayton hospital. Original plans which Nelson and his fiance, Miss Mildred Brue, also of Slayton, had made for their marriage were altered, but nevertheless, there was a wedding. Instead of a home wedding, the ceremony took place at the bridegroom's bedside. And the wedding trip took the couple to Rochester where Nelson was to submit to surgery.

GREENBUSH MAN FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Grand Forks Jury Holds Him Responsible for Four Deaths in Mishap

Matt Barto was sentenced to nine months in the county jail by Judge P. G. Swenson in district court in Grand Forks Friday after the jury earlier returned a verdict finding the Greenbush youth guilty of manslaughter in the second degree. The sentence began at noon Friday.

The jurors fixed the sentence at nine months in the Grand Forks county jail for the youth whose three-day trial ended when the jury received the case at 3:32 P. M. Thursday. The verdict was read at 10:15 A. M. Friday. His attorneys stated the verdict will not be appealed.

Barto was tried on a charge of first degree manslaughter arising out of the deaths of Professor W. C. Stockfeld and three children of Dr. J. L. Sayre, head of the University political science department in a collision between cars driven by Barto and Dr. Sayre north of Manvel December 13.

SWEETHEART ORDERED BY MAIL IS JILTED

Detroit Lakes—A mail-order sweetheart, was jilted at a bus depot here, but she refused to believe that her love had been scorned by a local man who, she had been told, would make her a good husband. The man had sent her money for transportation, together with a letter which promised everything—perhaps even a little slice of the moon. The alleged lover wrote he was counting the minutes and seconds until she arrived. He told her he would be waiting for her at the bus station and from there, he vowed, they would rush without delay to a justice of the peace to be married. Enchanted by the letter and with its words tingling her imagination the girl lost little time in reaching Detroit Lakes. But when she stepped from the bus, no open-armed Romeo embraced her. No one greeted her. She re-read the letter with its beautiful assurances and banished the thought that the affectionate sentences were only sweet nothings. With $2.00 of the $3.00 which she had in her purse she registered at a hotel for one night and then, without eating, spent two days in the hotel lobby. With her last fifty cents she bought gas for the car of a stranger, whom she persuaded to help her search for the missing boy friend. The fourth day city officials bought her a railroad ticket back to her home, gave her a dollar for food and a patrolman took her to the station.

Industrial Commission Head Answers 15 Chief Questions About State Job Insurance

The purpose and operation of Minnesota's new unemployment compensation law were explained today in a statement released by Frank T. Starkey, chairman of the state industrial commission, under which department the law is being administered.

Pointing out that the new law is a part of the state's participation in the national social security program, Mr. Starkey cited the 15 most recurrent questions asked in conection with the law, and gave his answers.

The questions and answers are:

(1) When did Minnesota adopt its law?

Answer: The law was adopted at a special session of the state legislature in December, 1936, and approved by the federal Social Security Board on December 28.

(2) What is the purpose of the law?

Answer: The law provides for the "compulsory setting aside of unemployment reserves to be used for the benefit of persons unemployed." This is to be accomplished by taxing employers on the totals of their pay rolls, thereby establishing a fund out of which workers will receive benefits during periods of unemployment.

(3) Who pays the tax?

Answer: The employer pays the entire tax, employees not being required to pay anything. Contributions by employees are made only under the old-age annuity, or pension, program, a strictly federal function. This calls for payments into a common fund by both employer and employee, to provide pensions for workers, on the basis of their earnings, upon retirement at age 65.

(4) What is the rate of the tax under Minnesota's unemployment compensation law?

Answer: The tax for the year of 1936 is nine-tenths of one per cent of the total pay roll for the year for all employers who had eight or more employees. In addition, the federal unemployment compensation law imposes a one per cent tax on employers in this same classification. However, the federal government provides that employers who are subject to the Minnesota law may take credit for ninety per cent of the federal tax in their federal returns. That means that the 1936 rate for Minnesota employers under both laws will be only a total of one per cent on their pay rolls, nine-tenths of the total going to the state and one-tenth to the federal government.

(5) How are payments to be made?

Answer: Originally, the tax to both the state and federal government was payable by Jan. 31, 1937. However, both the state and government granted extensions, the state until Feb. 28, 1937, and the federal government to Mar. 31, 1937. Payment of the state tax must be made before credit may be claimed in the federal remittance.

(6) Must an employer have had eight or more full-time employees at all times during 1936 to be subject to the tax?

Answer: No. For instance, a grocer may employ five full-time clerks, but hires three extra helpers every Saturday. This would subject him to the tax, and payment would have to be made on the entire annual pay roll, that of the full-time workers as well as that of the extra help. Furthermore, the extra help, which would bring this employer's employee total to eight or more does not have to be on a year-round basis. If his pay roll included eight or more persons only on occasional days and those days occurred during at least 20 different weeks in the year he would be subject to the tax.

(7) Will an employer receive a reduction in his tax rate if he keeps his employees steadily employed?

Answer: This cannot be definitely answered at this time. The law provides that the Industrial Commission cannot grant any reduction under the law's so-called merit-rating clause until benefits have been paid for a three-year period, which means that no reductions can be granted until 1941.

(8) When will benefits be paid to unemployed persons?

Answer: The law provides that no payments can be made until after contributions have been paid in for two years, or after Jan. 1, 1938.

(9) Does that mean that anybody who becomes unemployed this year will not receive anything?

Answer. Yes. The reason for this is that the fund must become solvent before any payments are made from it.

(10) Will workers, beginning in 1938, receive benefits at all times that they are unemployed?

Answer: No. In all cases a two weeks' waiting period (for which no benefits will be paid) must pass before benefits can be granted. Furthermore, no person can receive benefits for more than 16 weeks in any one year.

(11) What amount of benefits will be paid?

Answer: Benefits will be paid on the basis of fifty per cent of regular wages received while at work, but not to exceed $15 per week. Where wages are extremely low, a minimum of $6 per week or three-fourths of the wages earned, whichever is less, will be paid. The reason for the $6 or three-fourths scale is to prevent payment of benefits of more than actual working wages to persons in the extremely low brackets.

(12) What must a worker do to receive benefits when unemployed?

Answer: He is required to register for employment at the state public employment office, where an effort will be made to find another job for him. After a two week's waiting period, if still unemployed, he applies at the same place for unemployment compensation, or benefits.

(13) Must an unemployed person accept any type of job offered him?

Answer: No. He does not have to accept a job which is substantially poorer in wages, hours and working conditions than his former job.

(14) Would he have to take a job where there is labor trouble?

Answer: No. The law specifically says that no employee is compelled to accept a job under such conditions.

(15) How will the state know how much in benefits an unemployed worker is entitled to?

Answer: Employers are required to report to the state unemployment compensation division every three months a record of their employees, the number of days and hours worked by each, and the earnings of each. Individual records of every worker will be kept by the state and a complete record of his earnings will always be had, even though he changes jobs.

State Tuberculosis Death Rate Is One of Ten Lowest in U. S.

Minnesota's death rate from tuberculosis is one of the ten lowest in the United States according to recently published figures. This comparison between the states and their relative immunity from tuberculosis is noted in a bulletin from the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association issued today.

Minnesota's rate for 1935, the last year for which complete figures are now available was 35.0. Wyoming and Nebraska showed the lowest ratings, 22.4 each. North Dakota's rate was 23.1 and Iowa, 26. Oregon came close to Minnesota with a 34.5 rate and New Hampshire was 36.5.

Other states ranged from rates of 40 upward, the states with the highest ratings being those where the tuberculous sick habitually congregate in search of health, Colorado, Arizona, California. The District of Columbia with its large negro population showed the astonishingly high rate of 102.2.

The states with the smallest amount of tuberculosis are those that are prevailingly rural with scattered populations. Minnesota with several large cities to bring down its rate still managed to show an excellent record, in the opinion of the physicians.

Excellent facilities for care of the tuberculous sick and a very thorough campaign of education about the infectiousness of the disease and the new means of discovering and treating it early are credited by the bulletin for this record. The importance of continuing without interruption the support of the Christmas Seal campaign of education was emphasized by the doctors.

MINNETONKA THEATERS AID FLOOD SUFFERERS

Wayzata—To assist in collecting money for flood rescue work, Lyle Carisch and Ray Lee, owners of the Wayzata, Mound and Lake theatres, have originated a plan which, if adopted by theatre owners throughout the state, would swell the Red Cross relief fund considerably. Their plan is an easy one to raise contributions from theatre patrons who wish to contribute. It does not arbitrarily raise admission prices, but asks that each person pay an extra nickel for each performance attended. In turn, the theatres will match this nickle, making a total donation of ten cents for each patron who donates a nickel. The money is turned over to Red Cross chapters in each town for use in the stricken areas for the purchase of food, clothing and medical supplies.

Plummer School Notes

Mr. Grimsrud again chartered a bus and took a larger group of boys and girls to the A. C. at Crookston for stock judging practice. This time all worked several hours in the forenoon and several hours in the afternoon. From this group one or more stock judging teams will be selected to compete at the winter shows in Crookston on February 8th

The sub district declamation tour contest this year comes to Plummer. It will be held some time during the week of February 24th. Watch for the exact date.

The scouts are meeting as regularly as the weather permits. Work in canvas and leather craft is done. Neckerchief slides, key holders and wallets are made of leather while knap sacks and dunnage bags are made of canvas. All scouts are also at work on the regular requirements which will admit them to camp in spring. Plans are being worked out which will make an extended trip for the scouts possible in spring. This will be with little or no cost to the scouts.

The response to the call made by the American Red Cross for aid to those in the flood area has been more than generous. The drive is practically completed.

During the last week an intensive drill of all entered in the declamatory contest was the order of the day. Before school, at the noon hour, and after school someone somewhat in the building was putting the finishing touches to his delivery. Much effort has been put forth by the coaches and contestants and the community is sure to hear a very good program of humorous and dramatic readings and oratory. The last all on timely topics of much interest.

More than half of the school year is now over. All students should now be doing their best work. The following made the honor roll for the third six weeks' period:

Twelfth Grade—Roy Hayden, Jack Ripple, Marian Gerardy.

Amid the oddest assortment of floor rules, ceiling rules, time out rules, and basket ball courts Alvarado eked out a victory over the hard driving Plummer team Friday night by a 22 to 23 score.

The only cheering part of the game was the passing of the Plummer team which on the "cracker box" floor was a feat in itself. Their inability to score was increased when one considers the low ceiling which cut off many average chances to shoot.

Plummer also suffered the loss of Karlstad for practically the entire second half when he was boosted to the balcony receiving a bad cut over the right eye in the bargain. Karlstad came back later and put the Plummer team on a last minute spurt to scare the Alvarado supporters.

The game also gave Haydon the new Plummer man a chance to work. He looked good. Hemly the regular starting forward was out with a sore foot and as yet we have no definite information as to when he will be back.

Already Plummer is looking ahead to the Alvarago game February 19th here. A warm reception and real competition is promised the visitors.

Red River Valley History

About Joseph DuChamp

When the writer was a boy there was an effective way to treat men who bragged overly much of deeds of darring-do. The scheme was to call the braggart from a crowd and motion him apart with a mysterious air and then say to him in a hoarse whisper, "I want you to help me dig up and rebury those two men I killed." Since the others generally knew of the scheme laughter invariably squelched the victim.

But we have a story today about a man who actually did dig up and re-bury not two but 113 persons. They were Indians, but a human body is a human body in spite of what some people may think.

This man, Joseph Duchamp, was a colorful pioneer figure. He removed the bodies under contract with the government at the time of the opening of the Eleven Towns. Naturally the story of the strange assignment spread and various tales were told.

From out of the north woods to all parts of the nation went the story about the man who was engaged in the gruesome task of removing human bodies on a wholesale scale. The bodies were exhumed in Indian cemeteries in the ceded lands and re-interred them elsewhere. This was in 1904. Naturally Joe had many interesting tales to relate on his return to Thief River Falls.

One story pertained to the finding of several perfectly petrified bodies and the gruesomeness of the situation is enhanced by the fact that one of these petrified bodies and the gruesomeness of the dies was used as a hitching post while another served as a cigar sign.

Eight men worked with Joe, digging up the bodies and Joe received $14.50 for each corpse, the government being a very business-like partner in the macaber transaction. Moonbeams, their mesmeric force long known to humans filtered through the pines one eerie night as Joe labored with pick and spade like one of the grave diggers in Hamlet. Joe worked alone, silently, the only sounds being his regular breathing, the ring of pick or spade on a stone or the subdued cries of wild creatures of the woods.

The story is that Joe, hardened by his experiences on the frontier and unconcerned by the sight of grinning skulls even in the sickly light of a gibbous moon, received a start that night. When he had dug to a depth of several feet he saw something white in the opening and there staring up at him was the face of a redman. It is said that Joe claimed the face and head rose above the opening, but it was natural that such an illusion should be produced by the conditions involved. Anyway, Joe seems to have had a change of heart. He ran for his associates and after some discussion the circumstance was properly diagnosed as a brief flight of fancy.

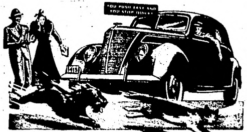
But the news spread to the Chippewa village and the chief grave-digger spent considerable time in councils with the village leaders. As a result the hitching post and the cigar store sign were given decent burial and there was no evidence thereafter of levity in connection with the removal of the bodies.

To carry the bodies to their new resting places Joe rented a motor boat, which bore the name, Dan Patch, suggestive in those days of real speed. The bodies were piled in boxes on a barge towed by the boat. Joe kept watch as the boat slid through the night through quiet waters. If he was familiar with English literature he must have been reminded of the funeral barge of the Lady of Shalott. But Joe's vigilance was prompted more by practical purposes than sentiment. He wished to prevent any bodies from dropping into the water, at $14.50 a drop, in case they could not be recovered. Even if they were fished out there would be cost and delay. But none was lost on the trip.

But something did happen. It was on the second night of the trip. As Joe sat in a reverie idly watching the banks of the Red Lake river move slowly past, all was quiet. But suddenly his keen ears heard a slight noise. Joe saw one of the boxes move. As he looked an Indian's head appeared above the bow of the boat. The Indian garbed in the regalia of a chief of his tribe boarded the launch and moved majestically toward Joe. A few paces from him he stopped and raised his right hand above his head and said solemnly:

"Out of the happy hunting grounds have I come this night to reckon with the white man who has dared to disturb the peaceful slumbers of my brothers. Were it not enough that our children should be forced back into the wilderness while the white man steals our hunting grounds and makes of them his fields. Why does my white brother still persist in disturbing the peace of the redmen who have done no harm?"

Frightened at last, he slumped to the bottom of the boat. He bumped his head and awoke to find he had been dreaming. We are told. The writer suspects that the dream was experienced by a feature writer on a Twin Cities newspaper staff.



YOU PUSH EASY AND YOU STOP QUICK!

FINEST AND SAFEST OF BRAKING SYSTEMS!

ON THE NEW FORD V-8

YOU'LL agree when you try the new Ford brakes, that you never felt "softer" or easier Ford brake pedal action, nor ever had any car stop smoother or quicker.

And you get the safety of strong steel cables from the pedal to each wheel. They always work. Weather can't affect them and even damage to one wheel wouldn't affect the other 3 brakes.

Also . . . Ford brakes give extra-long brake-lining life! Big 12-inch drums give more braking surface for car weight than any other car in America.

All in all, you'll find these brakes a good example of a great Ford principle. It's the principle that the usual way isn't always the best way in building a car . . . but that the best at the price is what makes value! YOUR FORD DEALER

LARGE STILLS AND SMALL

And They Said Repeal Would Stop Bootlegging

After three years of repeal the bootlegger is still active.

Between 15 and 60 per cent of the liquor consumed in this country is illegally sold.

Agents of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit last year seized 16,680 stills. Within six months there were 10,000 violations of the laws demanding registered stamps on liquor containers and forbidding the refilling of bottles.

Such were statements made recently by Luther Gulick, director of the Institute of Public Administration, an endowed, non-profit-making scientific research organization affiliated with Columbia University. He stated that the bootlegging business had been as highly organized since repeal as it was during prohibition.

When the maintenance of large stills becomes too hazardous, the investigators found, the bootlegger encourages both city dwellers and farmers to set up small stills and a collection system is inaugurated.

Widespread unemployment, it was remarked, "has contributed enormously to illicit distilling on a small scale by persons who can make a precarious living at it."

"Although a majority of licensed dealers are scrupulously observing the law, violators are known to be numerous. All dealers have to be watched," asserted the report.

"The legalization of liquor selling was in a way a great boon to the boot-legger. Formerly he had to deal with a great number of consumers and with speakeasies. He was exposed at many points and he had to pay large sums for the protection of his outlawed business. Now the business in which he is engaged is not outlawed; only his participation in it is illegal.

"Formerly all alcoholic beverages, except a negligible quantity of medicinal liquor, was seizable as contraband goods. Now untaxed liquor alone is contraband, and when it gets into the serving bottle of an on-sale licensee, or when it reaches the shelf of a package store dealer with its conterfeit strip stamp and label, it is lost amid the legal supplies."

Law enforcement officials concentrate on their successes and exclaim that they have the bootlegger on the run. It can be said with equal truth however, that the bootlegger has the law-enforcement officials on the run. So said Mr. Gulick, concluding that "the Alcohol Unit should have at least a thousand additional men."

HIGH PERCANTAGE OF STATE CITIZENS GIVEN OLD-AGE AID

Only Three States Lead in Proportion Getting Assistance

Minnesota has more persons on old age pensions in proportion to population than all other states except Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas, the Citizens' Tax Relief Association pointed out in a report received here today analyzing the growing cost of new governmental burdens in this state.

Latest records show that Minnesota has 222 persons on old age assistance for every 1,000 persons 65 years old, John F. Scott, president of the association, said, and the percentage is growing monthly. That is more than twice the number on the pension rolls in Iowa and nearly three times the number in Michigan, the report disclosed.

Wisconsin has only 152 persons on the pension rolls for every 1,000 persons 65 years old. Illinois has 153, and Indiana only 121.

The money paid out in old age pensions in Minnesota now is more than $1,068,000 a month, Mr. Scott said, or about 50 per cent more than in Michigan. Fully 56,696 persons in Minnesota now are receiving old age pensions or 34.3 per cent of those over 65 years of age, and at the present rate of increase the number soon will reach 80,000, with an annual cost of $15,000,000.

Mr. Scott said the association did not wish to oppose the granting of old age pensions or say that an undue number had been granted in Minnesota, but that it desired merely to present the facts and ask taxpayers to consider where the state is going with this and other new obligations it has undertaken.

University Scientist Studies Fish in State; Counts Age by Scales

A "fish story" that instead of merely providing entertainment for its listeners may prove extremely beneficial to the state in solving problems of conserving, planting and stocking Minnesota's 10,000 lakes, is being unfolded at the state university.

The partially completed research, which enables Dr. Samuel C. Eddy, University of Minnesota zoologist, to determine the length and age of fish from minute rings on their scales, is expected to aid in determining legal length and growth rate. Dr. Eddy has found that there is a definite correlation between the size of the scale and the length of the fish. He believes that a new system may be worked out from his data for determining the legal length of a fish, and how long it must grow to reach that length.

Scales from 12,000 fish in 100 representative Minnesota lakes were collected for the project by the National Youth Administration, the State Conservation Department, the U. S. Forest Service and the State Emergency Conservation Work.

The tiny rings on the fish scales, Dr. Eddy declares, correspond to the annual rings in trees and tell a somewhat similar story of growth. Differing from tree rings, however, those in the fish scale may number from a dozen to 16 or more annually. For example, the common sucker may have approximately 13 per year; the walleyed pike, 16.

NUDIST BRAVES ZERO WEATHER

Northfield—Most fascinating is the question whether the mid-winter nudist, who made his appearance here, wore shoes to protect his feet from the cold hard foot pedals of his car and whether his car had a heater. Persons who witnessed the incident, were amazed and frightened to see a man step from a car, which had pulled up at a curb, and stand on the running board arrayed in nothing but perhaps a heavy coat of gooseflesh. To enhance the effect this startling individual bathed himself in the rays of a flashlight which he held as a spotlight above his head.

DOG'S BARKING IS FIRE ALARM

Farmington — Awakened by a barking tramp dog, Mrs. James Crawford discovered a fire that was eating its way through the garage and machine shed at Westwood Farms four miles east of here at two o'clock one morning. About $5,000 damage was done to machinery and buildings. Sensing danger, the dog ran to Mrs. Crawford's bedroom door and barked until the farm manager's wife was aroused and found the building back of the house in flames, believed to have started from a short circuit. Two autos, expensive farm machinery, including a gravel loader, a double garage and a machine shed were destroyed. The dog, just an ordinary roving canine, came to the Westwood Farms last spring.

LOCALS TOPPLE CROOKSTON FROM UNBEATEN LIST

T. R. F. Hoopsters Cop Loop Cage Lead by 28-25 Win; B's Top Strandquist

The Lincoln high school prowlers ranked themselves as the number one team in District thirty-one last Friday evening by handing the Crookston Pirates a 28 to 25 defeat.

As is generally the custom in games between these two teams last Friday's contest was close and fast all the way through, the score being a deadlock at the end of the first and second quarters.

Crookston started the scoring with a fast break and soon had a lead of 6 to 1. Lee reduced this margin when he tallied on a try from under the basket and Helquist tied the score with one of his familiar long shots. Each team came through with one more apiece closing the first quarter at 7 to 7. The second period was just a seesaw, first with the Pirates counting and then the Prowlers tying the score. The first half was over at 11 to 11.

The third quarter saw the locals playing their best ball to outclass Crookston, scoring eleven points to four for the Pirates. Stadum started the ball rolling when he caged an attempt from deep center court. Lorentson soon followed with a beautiful hook-shot across the foul line, and Nelson came through when he intercepted a pass, dribbled into the basket and rippled the net on a close-in. Crookston came in at this moment to intercept this scoring spree and make two points for themselves. However, the Prowlers didn't stop for this, Lee making a shot from a considerable distance and a little later, a gift shot. Stadum climaxed the scoring for the locals in the third period with another field goal and the Pirates soon after this in their last attempt. This finished both the scoring and the third quarter at 22 to 18.

Crookston made ten points in the last period to outscore the Prowlers with their six. These ten points, however, were not enough to win the game and the final score stood at 28 to 25.

Stadum and Lee tied for high-point honors for the Prowlers with nine points each. Barnes was high for Crookston six field goals.

Class of '36 Represented at Eight Minn. Colleges

Several students of the graduating class of 1936 are attending various colleges and universities throughout the state.

Art Nelson, valedictorian of that class, is attending the University of Minnesota where he is reputed to be maintaining nearly as high a standard as he did here last year. Incidentally early this year, Art was elected as one of the outstanding members of his class. Also attending the University in the School of Music are Robert Douville and Vivian Ward.

Several of the prominent members of the class are attending St. Olaf. Included in this group are Helen Rice, Helen Granum, and Lois Nelson. James Nesse, a former star of the local gridiron, was one of the few members of the St. Olaf eleven from the freshman class.

Lincoln is represented very ably at Gustavus Adolphus by Stanley Mortensen and Oscar Bickley, Mortensen is a member of the band, and Bickley is one of the three debators leaving for an extended trip through Kansas.

Other '36 graduates attending school are: Ralph Nelson, Concordia; Jack Booren, Mayville State Teachers; Clayton Gunheim, Concordia; and Frances Engle, Hamline.

This and That and a Lot More

On January 27, 1937 (keep that date in mind—it'll go down in history) one Father L. entertained one George A. at one residence (Father's). What's more it turned out to be a foursome—the other half of the foursome consisting of none other than Leonard (Fish) C. and Father W.

Who says there's no talent in Thief River. We even have a "trucking team", Daigle and Dalley—Frank and Roberta, respectively. We spyed them over at Peggy P.'s party. It just ain't right the way these Seniors are competing with the Juniors in this business of giving parties.

Boy, oh boy, oh boy! These Juniors are without a doubt colossal decorators—not to speak of being masterful performers. Oh, those Juniors are rip-snorters. How about it all?-P. S.-You can tell this is a Junior columnist.

And we hear that Adeline L. was having a swell time after the Crookston game—in a pick-up too. Now, now, Adeline.

Still another bit concerning our lower classmen. They're really perking up as time goes on. That little fella, Kenneth E., is squiring Miss Mae M. Nice going!

After a whole week's research—or something—we've discovered whom Milton P. and Clifford V. have been courting. A Sophomore and a Freshman, Mae W. and Gladys J. (Editor's note—you don't capitalize the words freshman and sophomore) We did it on purpose—we're not as dumb as you think!

It's a blamed insult to the Junior class. Imagine anyone thinking that those intelligent Juniors didn't know that the sign "I wish I was a Junior" was grammatically incorrect. What's the matter, can't you folks take a remark from the sunny side of life?

When asked by Mr. Riggs to define the term "Economic Imperialism", Harold Neset was at a loss.

"Well, what does economic mean?" fired Mr. Riggs.

"Business and money stuff", came the answer.

Shrug of the shoulders.

"Well, what would it be if I took the suede jacket away from you", quoth Mr. Riggs, to which "Upstart" Neset replied promptly, "Robbery".

Women Attack Tigers

In the Khond country of India women wood-cutters form the tiger's chief fodder. The wonderful pluck with which these women will attack a man-eater with nothing but a stick of wood while he is carrying off one of their number is said to be a thing to marvel at.

COURT SESSION THEME FOR JR. PEP RALLY FRI.

Climax of Junior Class Day Is Reached at Pep Celebration

The Juniors presented a pep fest Friday afternoon prior to the basketball game Friday evening with the Crookston pirates.

The theme of the pep fest was a court in which various cases were tried and sentenced. Rueben Stock acted as bailiff and Robert Quale was the judge.

The first case was that of Bob Hanson and Melford Haugham who were accused of saying they were just as good directors as Mr. Riggs. They were found guilty and sentenced to lead the school in the singing of the school song. Mr. Harrison played the accompaniment.

Theodore Helle, sports writer for the Progress, was then brought in and charged with exaggeration of sports articles and large words. He pleaded "not guilty" and as evidence of his innocent character, Gordon Holte, council for the defense, showed the audience a picture of Theodore's parents, impersonated by Yvonne Anderson and Clarence Haug. In spite of the picture, Theodore was found guilty and sentenced to forecast the future which he did, giving us a sample of the type of words used in his sports articles.

Donald Lorentson and Clark Mickelson were then charged with making too many baskets and being a menace to other teams, and were found guilty. A picture of Clark's older brother, acted by Pumeroy Hill, was presented to the audience. Stanley Newland, the court artist, was then summoned to draw a portrait of the boys which was to be placed in the "Rogues Gallery."

The fourth case was the boy's double quartette which was accused of slaughtering our school song and singing Crookston's in perfect harmony. They were then sentenced to give up a specimen of what they had done and sang three selections, "Winter Song", "Starlight and Sunshine", "Anchors Aweigh". They were accompanied by Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Riggs was then brought in and accused of being an ex-pirate. Gordon Holte defended him and showed the audience a picture of Mr. Riggs and his younger brother Percy, taken when they were children. Wallace Tunberg represented Mr. Riggs as a child. Mr. Riggs then renounced all connections with Crookston and agreed to defend the Prowlers.

The sixth and final case was that of Lorraine Amundson and Mary Chommie who were charged with being the first cousins of Dr. Jeckell and disturbing the peace. They were sentenced to lead the school in some yells.

These class pep fests are a success. Each one of them put on by respective classes seem to get better and better. They are improving every week. This type of a rally seems to get far more enthusiasm than the old method of having the same few people perform every time. That was, perhaps, the biggest cause of the poor spirit of pupils in pep fests. Let's continue to have these fine showings of Lincoln spirit of pupils in pep fests. The Freshmen put on a fine show, the Sophomores were excellent, and the Juniors need bow down to no one in their efforts. Now great things are expected of the Seniors. If it is, at all possible, let's keep on with these rallys and keep the Prowler spirit high.

The Prowlers are now leading the district race. With only a month remaining of the regular schedule along with the fact that they seem to be improving with every start, it seems that they should remain in that coveted position right through the season. This will make the tournament schedule of the Prowlers limited to two games. According to the pre-season statistics, East Grand Forks was supposed to be the strongest team but now the Prowlers seem to be taking their place. So, barring unseen occurrences, the city of Thief River Falls should again be represented at a regional tournament. We don't want to seem too optimistic but our chances seem better than those of any other district team.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

"We'll really take this one to count— one —two— three, one— two—three." That's the way the very capable and very young instructors ably taught their green clad fellow gymnasts and the new student, Harriette, (Tish, such a beginning for your frivolous reporter).

Remedy for stiffening digits (fingers to the ignorant)—making those bright red pom poms for Junior Pep Day. Ah, straying again.

"Going to town" on a basketball—and some gym josies are surprising themselves by finding hidden talent for the hoop game. Yup, basketball puts an atom of zip even in the most listless students.

Thank heaven flu and such are almost trite excuses for laziness—most of the non-dress strikers are "wearing the green again." Hip! Hip!

Girls who earned 25 points for locker care are taking it with a vim—wonder if the little loving cup is any inducement?

The b. ball leagues are still in the practice stage—but coming up. The quintuplet infants are showing advancement—but rough? Oooh my — Warren— Prowler games have nothing on a tussle between the two girl squads. Oh to be before that auditorium game, by cracky! (Oh dear, still numbling sophomore slang on Junior Day—sorry.)

And with hats off to our Prowler Band and odds against the Pirates, here goes your reporter—to be—or not to be!

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

Bunnie Dahlen
Jerry Samuelson

Trying to par the water hole on the golf links is Bunnie's (Elizabeth Dahlen, to you people who aren't acquainted) hobby. (I must say it's a nice way to pass the time away). February 9, 1920 and Thief River Falls are the date and place of Bunnie's birth. Myrna Loy, William Powell, and the movie "Three Smart Girls" are the most appealing to cheer her on. There seems to be an argument about her favorite radio program, well any way it's Jello vs. One Love" played by Ted Weems is sporting to her ears. "Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell rates high in her estimation. English IV is her favorite subject. Her favorite dish is "butterscotch pie with loads of meringue." Elizabeth has vision of being very comfortably financially, within the future she hopes to hold one of the highest paid positions, at least a Woman can hold, that of Consular Service. If she sees her future ambition through she needs no longer worry about her pet peeve—hosiery runs. Anytime you hear some one calmly announce herself with "here I am" it will be Bunnie.

Just what she means I don't know, but she's definite when she says she doesn't like sneaky people. Avis Samuelson intends to devote her future to nursing. She was born August 2, 1918 in Thief River Falls. You find a satisfied expression on Avis's face while in English class, that being her favorite subject. She prefers Rochelle Hudson and Robert Kent to any other actor and actress and the movie "The Barretts of Wimpole Street". "East Wind, West Wind" by Buck is her favorite book. Here's proof that all girls don't watch their calories. Avis's favorite dishes are chocolate ice cream, chocolate cake, and chocolate malted milk. I wonder if she means all in one serving. Collecting souvenirs is her favorite hobby, basketball her favorite sport, and Philbert, her main news interest.

PROWLER B'S WIN AT STRANDQUIST

Reserves Score 17 to 11 Victory Tuesday Night

The Prowler "B" aggregation advanced another rung up the ladder in the direction of their goal by overpowering the Strandquist Maroons in a return engagement Tuesday on the latter's court by a 17 to 11 decision.

Coach Craig Johnson's five displayed a woeful lack of shooting skill and were indeed lucky to cage four field goals through the airtight Prowler defense. The local reserves did not cash in to the fullest extent of their scoring ability although their defense work was above par.

Clarence Haug, the wing footed speed merchant led the scoring parade with seven points, all of which were tallied in the last half.

The Maroons captured the lead in the first quarter on Bob Holmlunds gift conversion and held their advantage until the second period. Haugham counted a shot from the floor and Nicholson's free throw attempt was successful for the locals only scores in the first stanza. The erratic Maroons were kept well out of scoring territory in the second period in which both quints appeared a bit over ambitious. Nicholson dropped a push shot near the end of the half which ended with the score 5 to 5.

The Prowler reserves again acclaimed themselves a second half team as they became accustomed to the Lilliputian floor to snatch a 10 to 8 margin near the end of the third quarter.

The local reserves made their best showing in the last quarter when they scored seven points to Strandquist's three.

Clarence Haug, Melfred Haugham and Earl Nicholson accounted for all of the Prowler counters. Robert Quale and Lynn Booren were rendered nil in the scoring column, but were instrumental in feeding the ball down the court, besides acquitting themselves nobly on defense.

Tommy Myskowiski; behemoth guard, led the Maroon scoring with five points in addition to a stellar defensive game.

The present second team roster gave every evidence of being the most versatile and dependable assembled up to this time, and are better than even choices to go through the season without a defeat chalked up against them.

Members of the band are now rehearsing on the concert numbers which are to be played at the P. T. A. meeting on February 15. Two of the numbers are, "The First Norwegian Rhapsody" by Dr. F. M. Christiansen, and "Cabins" by J. R. Gillette. These numbers are also among the music contest selections.

The district music contest will be held in Thief River Falls, and in preparation of the contest, the band will rehearse on one of the other selections, "Larghetto" from the Second Symphony by Beethoven. This enables the band to play three of the contest selections during the course of the year.

A new member, Wendall Pope, has been added to the clarinet ensemble which now consists of ten members. The ensemble will make an appearance at the dramatic division of the declamation contest to be held on Monday, February 7.

PROWLERS WILL TEST PONIES IN NEXT CAGE TILT

Return Match to Fill Twin Bill Slated for Fri. Evening

The Prowlers, present favorites for the district 31 basketball crown, will hold their undefeated first place position at stake when they face a grim and determined squad Warren Ponies on the latter's floor tomorrow night.

The Ponies are definitely out of the championship race, as their conference record shows three reversals and no victories, but will attempt to pull a "Max Schmeling" by tripping the Leemen. The Prowlers exhibited distinct superiority over the Marshall county boys in their previous engagement which ended with Prowlers gaining a 28 to 20 triumph although Nelson, Caldis, Quale and Nesse graced the bleachers. Coach Lysocker's boys fell only one point shy of dropping the vaunted Crookston Pirates by the wayside, but suffered a relapse last week when "Chalky" Reed's hapless East Grand Forks five administered a 25 to 10 whipping to them.

The Warren squads' record is certainly not an imposing one but their all-around skill is far superior to the story indicated by their conference standing. Coach Lysocker has developed a closely knit defense which has been partially offset by the inability of his aggregation to hit the hoop consistently.

After a belated start the climbing Prowlers have gained momentum steadily to capture the lucrative first place position in the district rating. The locals have made excellent showings in their last two starts and, unless a letdown occurs, should win handily from their traditional foes.

The probably starting lineup for the Ponies is Rueben Carlson and Ralph Hjelle, forwards, Bob Wilson, center, and Art Rossman, and Bob Hirst, guards. Harry Hulls may be a last minute choice at one of the guard posts. Nelson, Lorentson, Stadum, Hellquist and Lee will be at their regular positions unless Coach Lee sees occasion to remove them.

The undefeated Prowler reserves will tangle with the Warren "B's" in the prelim. The local "B" aggregation won an easy victory over the Warrenites on the local court earlier this season, and are expected to repeat, although the Pony reserves may put up a stiffer fight on their home battlegrounds.

TO PLAY TWO MORE GAMES OUT OF CITY

Local Sextet Decisively Defeats Grand Forks Here Last Sunday

The last home game on the regular schedule of the Thief River Falls hockey team will be played with Roseau on the arena rink next Wednesday evening, and local fans are loking forward to witnessing a hard-fought contest.

Attendance at the game will be swelled by a delegation of members of the Roseau Commercial club, who will be dinner guests of the Civic and Commerce association. Representatives of a large number of Legion posts, who will be in the city to meet State Adjutant C. A. Zwiener will also attend.

The Thieves will play at Hallock next Sunday, while the following Sunday, February 21, the final game on the schedule will be played at Grand Forks. At present the local team is crowding Roseau for third place in the league standings, altho Grand Forks can tie the Thieves by defeating the University sextet this evening.

Before a packed arena last Sunday the Thieves downed Grand Forks 5 to 0. Showing abundant power the locals outskated and outplayed the Cavaliers in the first two periods and held them on even terms in the third.

In the opening period Taylor gave the fans a chance to cheer when he carried the puck the length of the ice and whipped it past Lawrence to open the scoring. Five minutes later LaDeux made it 2-0, banging in Deagle's passout from behind the net.

The Thieves increased their lead to four in the second period when Stanbridge converted Julien's pass and LaDeux soloed thru to give Lawrence no chance. Rube Julien wound up the scoring in the final period when he teamed up with DePaul for the fifth goal. Lawrence made a total of 39 stops and Tremontine 28.

Listings in Current Book Reach Highest Total in City's History

Thief River Falls' largest city directory is now being delivered to subscribers by R. L. Polk & Co. It is a volume of 199 pages, listing a total of 3,272 names, and is the twelfth of the series.

This city's recovery from depression is reflected in different ways by the new directory. The book grew thirty pages over its 1934 predecessor. Without any change in the minimum listing age of eighteen, it increased by 584 names and contains more names than any edition of the past. Showing the considerable diversity of the community, the classified department of the directory catalogues 154 varieties of commercial, industrial and professional enterprises.

Among other things, the city directory distinguishes between married and single persons, home-owners and renters, heads of families and roomers, and employers and employees. Special features are the one-line obituaries for adults deceased since last edition and the new places of residence of movers-out-of-the city during that period.

Alpha and omega on the new Thief River Falls roster are Gunder Aakhus and Mrs. Della B. Zeh. The Smiths, leaders in most cities, marshal only five here, and the Browns have ten representatives. The largest family in Thief River Falls is the Johnsons, with two pages in the directory. They are followed by the Larsons with one and one-half pages, and the Andersons, Carlsons, Ericksons, Nelsons, Olsons and Petersons, with approximately one page each.

THIEVES CONQUER LEAGUE LEADING EMERSON SEXTET

More Than 1,000 Fans See Locals Win 6-2 at Arena Wednesday

Local hockey fans, more than 1,000 strong, were fully convinced Wednesday night at the arena that Thief River Falls has a Class A hockey team when the Thieves took the league-leading Emerson sextet into camp by the decisive score of 6 to 2. It was the fourth victory for the local aggregation in as many starts, and marked the season's second defeat for Emerson.

The Thieves forward lines put on a powerful offensive early in the game to take the lead, R. Julien scoring on an assist from DePaul, LaDeux adding another on a solo. At this point Pellasier of Emerson scored on a penalty shot that had too much smoke for Tremontine to catch, ending the scoring for the first period.

In the second LaDeux and Deagle combined to score the third time for the Thieves. Emerson then turned on a power play with five men on the attack and managed to get another by Tremontine in a wild battle around the locals' net. Continuing their power tactics the Emerson men were caught off guard, Brooks Julien, DePaul and LaDeux scoring three more counters in the two final periods of wide open play.

The block checking of the Thieves forwards, together with their quick change from defensive to offensive hockey, and backed up by the strong defensive play of DePaul, Mike Foy and Tremontine in the nets threw the Canadians somewhat off their usual stride.

The victory increases the Thieves points in league standings to 17, and almost cinches their chance for a place in the semi-finals. They are now crowding Roseau for third place.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX ACTION PUT OFF

Both Banks to be City Depositories; Times Is Official Paper

Approval of the proposed sewage disposal plant project for Thief River Falls has been given by the state PWA office, and details of the proposal have been sent to Washington, D. C., for final action by federal authorities on the matter of a grant to aid in financing construction of the plant, the city council was advised at its regular meeting Tuesday evening in a letter from R. A. Radford, state PWA director.

Mr. Radford said his office was unable to predict what disposition of the matter would ultimately be made in Washington, this depending in large measure on funds for the work being available.

A group of local residents were present at the meeting to file applications for an adjustment of personal property tax assessments payable February 28, but they were informed that the applications will be disposed of at a special meeting next Tuesday.

Following a discussion of the failure of the city to receive any part of relief funds currently being allotted by the state to Pennington county, City Attorney Theodore Quale was instructed to secure a ruling on the matter from the attorney general's office in St. Paul.

A communication from the library board was read, asking the council to buy the lot adjoining the library on the north, pointing out that the building is located close to the north line of the present site. Mr. Quale was instructed to take up the matter with out-of-town owners of the lot.

Following the opening of bids, the Union State and Northern State banks were designated as official city depositories, each bank offering government or municipal bonds as security for deposits and charging no exchange on out-of-town checks included in deposits. City warrants will be payable at either bank. The Times was designated as official city paper, and its bond was fixed in the sum of $1,000.

Four applications for refreshment licenses and four for barber's licenses were granted, while the application of C. D. Daguerre and Photography

Louis Jacques Mande Daguerre perfected with Bouton, in 1822, the invention which is called after his name. The process was made famous by the announcement at the session of the Academy of Sciences, Paris, January, 1839, and from that time it began what may be termed its career. The introduction of photography to the public may be said to be about simultaneous with that of Daguerre's invention, and improvements since then have been continually made.

Book Value of Stock

Walter Edwards Lagerquist, in his book "Investment Analysis," says the total book value of stock is found by dividing the capital stock and surplus and appropriated reserves by the capital stock. To find the book value of one share divide the total book value by the number of shares. If more than one class of stock is outstanding, the various types must be given preference in the order of their priority. Preferred stock is counted.

Worrying About Poverty

We all suffer ourselves to be too much concerned about a little poverty; but such considerations should not move us in the choice of that which is to be the business and justification of so great a portion of our lives; and like the missionary, the patriot or the philosopher, we should all choose that poor and brave career in which we can do the most and best for mankind.

Pewter Toys Once Popular

Pewter toys including miniature soldiers, were highly popular with young America in Civil war days and for some years thereafter.

A Page for BUILDERS and HOME OWNERS!

Good Building Season Now in Prospect Here

Several Building Projects to be Announced in Near Future

Indications at this early stage of the year already are that Thief River Falls in 1937 will enjoy another active season of building construction, with the amount to be spent on new structures closely approaching the 1936 figure of nearly $250,000, the highest mark reached in many years.

The Oen Mercantile company building, scheduled to be completed within the next few weeks, will probably be the largest local project to be finished this year with the exception of the large new theatre announced for construction this spring by the Bachr interests, owners of the Avalon theatre.

A. M. Magnuson, proprietor of the Independent grocery, will shortly announce plans for a large addition to his present store on East Third st. to provide accommodations for his expanding business. Mr. Magnuson owns the property east from his present store to the Atlantic av. intersection.

Two other business blocks are in prospect for construction this year on East Third st., altho plans have not yet reached the announcement stage. Previously announced is the store to be erected on Main av. N. by Martin Bothun.

Officers of the local savings and loan association and other local loan agencies report having already received a considerable number of inquiries from prospective home builders, and it now appears not unlikely that residence construction this year will not be far below last year's total of thirty new homes.

PRESIDENT SEEKS MAJOR REFORMS IN SUPREME COURT

Proposal Would Have Effect of Forcing Justices Over 70 to Resign

President Roosevelt proposed to congress sweeping reform of the judiciary including the right to appoint as many as six new justices of the supreme court if present justices over 70 years old do not choose to retire.

The sensational proposal of the president was submitted after consultation at an emergency session of cabinet officers and congressional leaders.

The president's proposal for new legislation, submitted in a special message to congress, was immediately referred to judiciary committees of both house and senate for speedy consideration.

Mr. Roosevelt's plan, submitted on the eve of supreme court argument on the controversial Wagner labor act, brought the new Deal squarely to grips with the frequently discussed issue of constitutional change and supreme court reform.

Mr. Roosevelt asked authority to appoint additional federal court judges and justices in all cases where the sitting judge has reached the age of 70 and does not choose to retire.

The draft of proposed legislation submitted by Mr. Roosevelt contained a provision that the supreme court membership should not be increased to more than 15 justices under this program. Since six of the present high court justices have reached the age of 70, Mr. Roosevelt would be empowered to name six more justices under the proposal.

MANY TAX BILLS BEING SPONSORED BY STATE SOLONS

State Taxpayers Association Lists New Measures Introduced

Nearly a score of bills relating to taxation have already been introduced in the present session of the Minnesota legislature, with other tax bills coming in daily. The number and kind of bills indicates that taxation will offer one of the predominant problems for lawmakers this year.

In compiling a list of tax bills introduced up to this time, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association reports that: some proposed legislation would change administration of tax laws; some would alter rates; others call for definitions, exemptions, etc; while certain bills would give an extension of time to delinquent taxpayers and encourage payment of back taxes.

There are proposals to enable school districts to pay bonds before maturity, in order to take advantage of lower interest rates. There is a bill to define homesteads for taxation purposes. Another proposal would require that property owned by the rural credits department of the State would be subject to local taxation.

It is expected that bills will be offered to secure improved procedure in many phases of tax administration, in tax levies, budgets, and numerous other problems affecting the collection of revenues.

A bill offered would extend the time of payment of motor vehicle tax from Feb. 15 to April 15. There is a bill to abolish the township system of poor relief, establishing a county system in its place.

Chairman Hagen of the House Tax Committee has presented a bill to amend the income tax law, prescribing increased rates, changing exemptions, and includes certain industries previously exempt, particularly mining companies, and building and loan associations.

CHRISTGAU ARGUES RELIEF NEED WITH GOVERNOR BENSON

State Relief Head Charges Benson Misrepresented Situation

Victor Christgau, WPA administrator, Saturday charged Governor Elmer A. Benson with misrepresentation, after the chief executive had made public a long telegram to Harry L. Hopkins, national WPA administrator in which it was asserted that Christgau had "failed to correctly inform" Washington as to the number of employable persons in need of relief in the state.

Replying to the attack on the accuracy of his reports, the WPA administrator wrote the governor that "any one in the least familiar with the facts, would know that figures regarding employable relief cases in the state (which Governor Benson questioned) are supplied to WPA by state agencies, under your jurisdiction. Responsibility for any inaccuracies, Mr. Christgau wrote, therefore, are yours; not mine". Recent differences of opinion as to the amount the legislature should appropriate for direct relief between L. P. Zimmerman and Paul Rasmussen, both state officials, may indicate, Christgau told the Governor, a "divergence of information as that subject (number in need of relief) between state agencies."

Christgau wrote that he repeatedly has requested larger quotas, "but as you were told in Washington, the limitation of funds in the appropriation made it impossible for WPA to employ all certified and eligible cases in any state."

Mr. Christgau asserted his belief that Washington has allocated funds on a fair and equitable basis. "While these allocations have not covered all the needs, I do not believe that an effort to obtain additional funds by a misrepresentation of my position and the assertion that figures we have been supplying are inaccurate, is neither ethical or conducive to a proper understanding of our needs on the part of the authorities in Washington."

DEMOCRACY OR DICTATORSHIP?

From the date of his inauguration four years ago, President Roosevelt has exercised more authority than any President of our country, in peace or in war, has ever had. Because of the emergency that existed when he assumed office, broad powers were delegated to him. More money than was ever handled by any individual in the history of the world was placed at his disposal. Through his delegated authority and the influence of his personal power to control spending and patronage, he has been, to all practical purposes, a dictator of our country during the past four years.

Of the many indications that this great power has affected his thinking, much could be said. On numerous occasions he has conducted himself, not as the elected head of a free people but rather as a self-glorified ruler of a nation. There have been times, for instance when he advised Congress to ignore the Constitution, when his conduct has closely resembled the manners of a tyrant.

During these years only one power has restrained him. That power is the Supreme Court. Congress is a plaything in his hands but the Supreme Court has refused to bend to his will. The Supreme Court has steadfastly held that the Constitution of our country is the supreme will of our people and that only the people have the right to change it. The President, on the other hand, has, on several occasions, indicated his contempt for that document which he, too, is sworn to defend. His right to criticize the Constitution and suggest amendments which he believes are necessary, cannot be questioned. But when he insists that that Constitution be ignored, or be stretched this way or that way to suit his own particular purposes, without direct authority from the people, then he betrays his trust as President of the United States and proves himself not only unworthy of the high office he holds but an actual menace to the liberties of our people.

In the light of previous declarations, his request for powers that would bring the court under his control, made in a special message to Congress last week, is not surprising. To lend respectability to that request, he included several recommendations for changes in court procedures that have much merit. His main purpose, however, was obviously to gain control of the country's highest tribunal of justice and remove this one and only obstacle to his complete power. With the courts under his domination, as Congress already is, we would have one-man government, the Constitution would become merely a scrap of paper and personal liberty, instead of being an inherent right, would be enjoyed only at the will and pleasure of an autocrat.

The history of the human race is a record of liberties gained and lost. Unfortunately history places emphasis on the struggles by which liberties are gained. The story of lost liberties, while equally important, is largely ignored. The story follows pretty much the same pattern thruout the ages. There is an emergency. A leader appears on the scene. Events shape themselves favorably to him. He becomes a hero. It is at this stage of the process that the popular leader faces a dangerous temptation. If he is by nature vain and egotistical, the love of power may induce him to strive to perpetuate his power. The love becomes a lust and a popular hero becomes a tyrant. The pages of history tell many such a story. Nations are conquered from without by military strength. They are conquered from within by their popular heroes who first corrupt the people and then enslave them. The history of the Greeks and Romans provide many examples of this process.

Our country has been fortunate up to the present time. George Washington established a precedent that has been a wholesome influence in guiding our political leaders. He, too, enjoyed great popularity. Had he placed his own interests above the interests of his country, the history of our nation would have been different.

On one or two occasions we have been as near the brink of political disaster as we are today. The history of our country during the period following the Civil war is not pleasant reading. It should be more thoroughly read and studied. We have survived other crises. We may survive this one.

The unfortunate thing is that the average citizen does not appreciate the fact that there is a crisis. The average citizen does not appreciate the fact that the very foundation of our political organization, the right of the people to determine for themselves what our government shall be, is threatened. Our fundamental rights as American citizens are being usurped by a power-drunk popular hero and we sit back supinely and smile in abject unconcern.

One ray of hope filters through the dense fog of public indifference. It is a ray that may possibly dispel that fog. In the United States Senate there is a group of Liberals that has not been entirely corrupted by considerations of political patronage and power. The public still listens to them. They will speak and they will be heard. They will not say all that they want to say. A popular hero is still a popular hero and they respect popularity. But they will defend the Constitution and insist that if it is to be changed it will be changed only by the people and not by a court of yes-men who will sigh a fervent amen to whatever legislation a rubber-stamp Congress may enact at the behest of the President. Borah will speak and Norris will be heard from. These are old men, too old and too secure in their positions to be worried about questions of patronage and other considerations that influence younger and more ambitious politicians. On the power of their appeal depends to a large extent the fortunes of our government in this crisis.

THE RIGHT TO USE THE HIGHWAYS

(Long Prairie Leader)

Bills have been introduced in the legislature requiring all auto or truck owners to carry liability insurance. There is much merit in the idea, although if such a bill is passed it should contain proper supervision of insurance rates to protect the buyer of a policy.

Every little while, one hears of a traffic accident causing death, injury or property loss in which the party responsible for the accident "hasn't anything." Under the present law such a party is free to drive the highways, but the victim of his driving is helpless to recover damages.

The story was told in the city papers a few days ago of a man who bought a second-hand car for $5. He was able to pay down only $3. On his first trip on a highway, he crashed into a workman going to work and killed him. The widow, practically destitute, could recover nothing. The circumstance that the driver went to jail for a few months was not much of an aid to her as she began her struggle for a livelihood after the funeral of the family breadwinner.

There are too many things "free" in America. The highways are free and so is any man free to drive a car who can hold a steering wheel and step on the gas. There must be more intelligent recognition of the absolute fact that no man is entitled to a kind of freedom that interferes or is calculated to interfere with the freedom of others. Which means in the case of auto driving that no man has the freedom to drive a car unless he is able to provide for the consequences of his driving.

How to Catch a Whiffenpool

VISITORS to Florida are familiar with the whiffenpoof which is found in nearly all the lakes in that state. They can recognize it easily because it looks like a grampus, only it has pink feathers. Not all of them know how to catch one but Jack Worthington of the Lake Wales Highlander says this is the proper way:

The whiffenpoof is very fond of peanuts, so to catch one it is necessary to provide yourself with a big bag of peanuts first, then a piece of rope, a pail of mortar, a rowboat and a short piece of 2 by 4. Wait until a good windy day is kicking up the waves on the lake and then go out after the whiffenpoof.

Row out into the lake and wait until a big wave comes along. Lasso it with the piece of rope, pull it alongside and tie it firmly to the boat. Then prop the wave up with the 2 by 4 and tie the bag of peanuts to the 2 by 4. Place the pail of mortar on top of the wave and then sit down and wait patiently.

In a little while the whiffenpoof will smell the peanuts and will rush up for them. As he grabs the sack he will pull the 2 by 4 out from under the wave. The wave falls and spills the pail of mortar all over him. Then he dies of "mortarification" and you have your whiffenpoof.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Thief River Falls Times:

I wish to apologize to the Rural Credit workers and correct some of what I wrote in my former article. I wrote it in too much of a hurry without thinking and being tempted to believe that the so-called taxpayer could probably be a rural credit worker without being a taxpayer, but even so the rural credit workers are only doing their duty drawing the salary they are allowed which anyone would do.

We should not mix in personality in discussing the rural credit laws but it seems so that both others as well as myself are apt to get out of order.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

I will have to drop a line so our readers will know what we have to say on our New Sportsman's Club and the wild game of our county and the surrounding counties. I have lived here all my life and hunted and fished around here since I was able to shoot and hold a fish pole, or since 1872.

We are trying to have a sports Club here for the purpose of feeding our game birds, just the same as we have done before. We have lots of feeders to put out for this purpose, and I want to say that we are buying only clean grain, corn, barley and wheat. If there is any farmer around who knows of any birds that need feed I wish he would call us or phone me (647) or see our game warden (phone 723), or Mr. Kallher at the Union State Bank. We will try to get out with feed for them. This club is a home club and the money all goes for feed. We ask all to join our club, so just drop into the bank and ask for a card from Mr. Kallher.

I have seen a lot of game around here, and I can see now where it is fast going. We've got to do our part to keep them up, where we never thought of such a thing 25 years ago. Just like our timber and rivers they are going or gone.

I rode steamboats from Red Lake to Thief River Falls, and our boat landing was where our Elk's park is today. I have pushed logs down our river from Red Lake, and that's all gone. Today we have good roads to all lakes and hunting grounds, and fast cars to take us there. Is there any wonder our game needs taking care of and laws to stop us? Some think our state game and fish department should do all this feeding because we all buy licenses.

The state will furnish anyone seed to plant for the birds just for the asking, and I think our state game and fish department is doing all it can. It is using more money now than ever before and making or buying up land for game refuges and daming up our lakes and stocking them with fish. This calls for more game wardens and makes work for some one. And that's where our money goes as far as I know.

I see where we are going to dam up Mud Lake, the contract to be let this month. This used to be one of our best hunting places. I have seen hunters come from all over the country on train to Middle River and Thief River Falls and hire teams to go out to those places. It looks foolish to some people now to see all this being done but in the early days here when they started draining our country it was water wherever you looked and we wanted ditches, but they went too far.

And now in all these dry years we see it and now is the time to put in dams and hold back some of this water that is getting away and drying up our subsoil for the farmers. Anyway I ask everybody, young and old, to join our club and let us have a good Sportsman Club.

I want to thank all those who came to our first meeting of Jan. 28, and helped us organize and joined the Club, which was 21 members. Fifty more members were signed up at the meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 2.

All Bridges on State Highways to be Given Inspection This Year

A check of every highway bridge in Minnesota by special crews to paint, repair and recommend heavier improvements has been ordered by the Minnesota Highway department. In an order to all district maintenance engineers, H. J. Hoffman, state bridge engineer, instructed that special crews inspect every bridge on every trunk highway.

These crews will make temporary repairs at least twice annually, correcting such items as plugged drains, bent railings, rusty spots on steel, missing bolts and railings, loose nuts on railing bolts and loose expansion plates. The crews will also remove dirt and sand from bridge floors and truss members and from bridge seats around roller or rocker bearings, clean out channels under bridges, and cut all brush and trees under or adjacent to bridges, correct excess washing or cutting of banks under bridges and do spot coat painting where necessary.

The crews will report bridges which should be painted, repaired or widened during the season, note condition of steel as to per cent of rusty surfaces, and report bridges that require repairing, strengthening, new floor systems and replacements. The state has a heavy investment in its highway bridges and intends to protect it.

GROUND HOG AND ROBIN DISAGREE

Lanesboro—There seems to be some dispute here about winter and spring. According to the ground hog, who picked one of the coldest days of winter to make his appearance, there will be six more weeks of winter. But according to Mrs. James Galligan spring is definitely on the way. She backs up her statement with the fact that a robin is visiting in her back yard.

Minnesota School Board Group Elects Officers

J. S. Siewert, Windom last week succeeded Edgar E. Sharp, Moorhead, as president of the Minnesota School Board association. He was elected at the closing meeting of the group's annual convention in St. Paul. Other officers elected or scheduled for reappointment by the newly elected board of directors include J. B. Johnson of Cambridge, vice-president, John E. Palmer of Fergus Falls, secretary treasurer, and members of the board, Otto W. Kolsborn, Red Wing, David G. Fast, Mountain Lake, John S. Finlan, St. P[illegible] Lynn Thompson, Minneapolis, Dr. H. D. Clark, St. Cloud, Mrs. Maurine Allen, Canby, Edwin C. Jones, Ely and Dr. F. J. Bogstad, Detroit Lakes.

Expert Workmen Trained at Dunwoody Institute

Many of our readers or their sons are interested in printing, automobile work, electrical work, machine shop, sheet metal, carpentry, drafting, farm mechanics, tractor work or similar lines. They would like to get special training to help them secure jobs, hold jobs or secure promotions in these lines.

Right here in our own home community we want the best workmen. They do the best job and give the greatest satisfaction. The home town shop with properly trained men can do the job. We may have to send away for some special tool or supply, but there is no reason why our workmen should not be able to do the job itself. On the farm and in the town trained workmen are needed.

"Five million dollars were given to the resident of the State for trade and industrial training" to help realize the above ideal conditions.

Dunwoody Institute at Minneapolis is conducted without a profit to help train boys and men to enter and to hold jobs, and to secure promotion.

AAA Egg Purchase Program Approved to Support Market

A federal egg purchase program, designed to remove surplus eggs from the market and to distribute them through relief channels, and also to encourage the hatching of a normal number of chickens for the current season, has been approved by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A Wallace, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced today. The purchases will be made by the Commodities Purchase Section of the AAA, with distribution to be made by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. The program will be financed with surplus removal funds available under Section 32 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act which makes 30 per cent of the customs receipts available for agricultural programs. The purchase program has been inaugurated because of an unusually sharp drop in recent weeks in the wholesale and farm price of eggs. The wholesale price of eggs at New York City dropped from a high point of 41 cents a dozen in November to about 28 cents a dozen in early January, and it is estimated that there has been a similar decline in farm prices of eggs.

ACCIDENT WITNESS IS NEVER INJURED

Shaska—A local public school instructor, James Gladhill, is fast developing the knack of appearing at scenes of accidents without suffering injuries, but his interest in driving is fast dropping to a low notch. He narrowly escaped injury when a bus crashed into a car directly before him, killing two persons. The Gladhill car was forced into a deep ditch. Practically recovered from that experience, Mr. Gladhill, a week later drove to Knapp, Wisconsin to visit his sick grandfather. On his return trip a [illegible] from Hersey smashed into his car, sending it somersaulting down an embankment.

Travelogue For Life

By MARTHA B. THOMAS

"I'VE just had a thought," said Marcia, "and it's a grand one."

They were tucked cozily beneath a bear rug in an old-fashioned sleigh, gliding along under the stars to the silvery jungle of bells.

"Tell me at once," commanded Jerry, "I collect grand thoughts as a hobby."

Marcia laughed. "Tonight is New Year's eve, and if," she sat up straighter in her eagerness, "the sun were shining, and we were going with it, just as fast, I mean—we could yell down Happy New Year to the whole world as we rolled along!"

Jerry was amused and indulgent.

"Don't you see," continued the girl "we're all so used to thinking of events happening just where we are, and not following them on and on . . . The idea rather gets you."

"Around the world in 24 hours at New Year's. A zippy travelogue?"

But she was serious. "See here, Jerry, you and I are going to be married soon, and I sort of hope we can, well, keep our thoughts up and off the ground."

"What an odd idea. Usually coming brides are chattering of linen and silver."

She pressed her hand on his arm. "Stop the horse a minute, please. There—let's both lean back and look up at the sky, and fill our eyes with stars, and space . . . and time-going-on. Maybe, if we drink deep enough," her voice was husky with feeling, "we won't get all tangled up with trifles. I'm a little afraid sometimes, of our days ahead, Jerry."

"Afraid?" The man's voice sounded hurt.

"Only that I'll get a habit of low-visibility."

"You mean," Jerry leaned over to take her hands "you want always to remember that new happiness, new ways of thought, and New Years, go ringing around the world with the sun; that time does not circle around one small set of people or circumstances?"

"Yes, yes, Jerry! Let's make a pact together, now. Not to think little thoughts about little events that happen to our little selves."

"Fine. I'm with you!"

"And to remind each other now and then, to stop, and get the true sense of time and space and world-bigness going on and on."

"Done, darling! New Year's resolution for a happy life: KEEP THE SUN, MOON AND STARS IN YOUR THOUGHTS . . . and you'll never be narrow-minded!"

Jerry kissed her.

"Hear the bells ringing in town? Aren't they far and sweet?" whispered Marcia. "Midnight circling the world. New Year's in a minute!"

Just a Little Smile

AT THE BALL GAME

He took his bride to see her first ball game.

Young Husband (explaining in answer to her 50th question)—That is the umpire, dear.

The Bride—And why does he wear that funny looking wire thing over his face?

Young Husband wondered if she would never stop. Then again:

The Bride—I say, why does he wear that funny—

Young Husband—O, just to keep from biting the ball players, precious.—Chelsea Record.

Letting Them Know

Sandy joined a golf club, and was told by the professional that if his name was on his golfballs and they were lost they would be returned to him when found.

"Good," said the Scot, "put my name on this ball."

The pro did so.

"Would you also put M. D. after it?" said the new member. "I'm a doctor." The pro obeyed.

"There's just one more thing, can ye squeeze 'Hours 10 to 3' on as well?"—Bee Hive.

Making It Easy

A Cockney rang up the L. P. T. B. to inquire the fare from his home to Ealing, but the man at the other end of the line couldn't catch the name of the station.

In desperation he asked the inquirer to spell it.

The reply came as follows: "E for 'Erbert, A wot the 'orses 'eat, L w'ere yer goes when yer dies, I wot yer sees wif, N wot lays a 'eg. G (long pause) gee whiz!"—Birmingham Post.

Cross-Word Puzzles

"Are you wearing spectacles, old man?"

"Yes. Through cross-word puzzles I've contracted an optical defect. One eye travels vertically and the other horizontally!"

THEN AND NOW

"Pa, how much money did Croesus have?"

"Oh, I don't know. About enough to live in what is at present middle-class style, I guess."

Excusable

"Do you understand all the political arguments?"

"No," answered Farmer Corntossel, "but I don't feel so much to blame when I hear the speakers accusin' one another of not knowin' what they're talkin' about."

She Could Quit

Henpeck (who has just overheard his wife scolding maid)—You and I both seem to be in the same unfortunate position.

Maid (indignantly)—Not likely! I'm giving her a week's notice tomorrow!

Time Will Tell

Brown—"What are the Christian names of that young couple who have come to live next door?"

Wife—"We won't be able to find out for a week or so. They've just been married and he calls her Birdie and she calls him Pettie."

Pod Shot

"Suppose," queried the C M T C. officer, "the enemy were gathered over yonder as thick as peas. What would you do?"

"Shell 'em, sir," replied the recruit.

Best Seller

"The post office is putting out a list of best sellers, and my name heads the list."

"Really?"

"Yes, my manuscripts have sold more postage stamps than any manuscript ever written."

THAT'S THAT

"Hunter tells me he's going to marry an heiress. I asked what her age was and he couldn't say."

"My boy, it isn't her age Hunter is interested in; it's her heritage."

Confusing

Jimmy—But why do you keep on calling me Charlie? Didn't I tell you my name was Jimmy?

Elsie—Of course; how stupid of me! But I keep on thinking this is Wednesday night.—Cash Year.

Beauty Named Formosa

"Ilha Formosa" means "beautiful isle." Its Malayan name was Pakando prior to its discovery by the Portuguese in 1590.

JUST WHAT HE WANTED

A Scot arrived in London without having arranged accommodation for the night, and was put up by a friendly Englishman whom he met at the station.

Next morning, after breakfast, the host said: "I hope your bed was comfortable? Did you sleep well?"

"Aye, like a top," said the Scot.

"Did you enjoy your supper last night?"

"It was grand."

"Was your breakfast to your liking?"

"Yes, it was a fine breakfast."

"Well - er - how about ten shillings?"

"Mon," beamed the delighted Scot, "it would be a godsend."—Birmingham Post.

Took the Cake

She had given the tramp some of her newly-made cake, and was surprised to find him knocking at the back door five minutes later.

"Well, aren't you satisfied with what I've given you?" she asked. "What have you come back for?"

"I've just called to tell you that two of your ducks have drowned and two more are sinking," replied the tramp.

OH, AH, JUST SO

"You're light on your feet, little one."

"I'm sure that's better than being light in the head like you."

What Neighbors Are For

Mrs. Vaneere—There's the truck with the piano we bought today. You go right out and tell them to take it back.

Vaneere—Have you changed your mind about wanting a piano?

Mrs. Vaneere—No; but what's the use of buying a $600 piano and having it delivered at night when the neighbors can't see it? Tell the men to bring it back in the morning.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Missed Her

The conductor came through the car collecting fares.

"He's only five years old," remarked a mother when the official looked at her boy.

When the conductor reached the far end of the car it occurred to the boy that an important bit of information had been overlooked.

"Mother is thirty-six!" he shouted.

Masked Ball

"What is a masked ball?" asked an old gentleman from the country of his niece who was both a beauty and a wit.

"A masked ball," she replied, "is an institution for the benefit of ladies of homely features."—Ireland's Own.

Forgotten

Waiter—Haven't you forgotten something, sir?

Professor—Why, I thought I gave you the customary tip.

Waiter—You did, sir, but you forgot to eat.—Chelsea Record.

Erudite Cop

"You can't leave your car here, miss."

"But, constable, it's a cul de sac."

I don't care if it's a Rolls-Royce, you'll have to move it."

ON THE CONCRETE

"When I hold up my hand," thundered the traffic cop, "you stop! Don't you know that?"

"Yes," returned the motorist, meekly, "but this pesky machine doesn't."

Doesn't Cost Anything

Joyner—That man Finch certainly believes in giving till it hurts.

Bygg—Is he that generous with his money?

Ouch!

Chesapeake Cy—How can you teach your mule so many new tricks? I can't teach mine anything.

Harden Ore—That's easy to explain. You have to know more than the mule.—Universal News.

Attention Guaranteed

Man—Have you ever speculated on why you are so popular in your neighborhood?

Neighbor—No, except that I told my neighbors that I always played the saxophone when I got lonely.

Appropriate Color

Hubby—What possessed you to choose lemon color for your new dress?

Holy Fish Stock Lake

An angler's dream of paradise is the few scattered lakes and streams of semi-arid Inner Mongolia, owing to a religious taboo on the catching of fish. The lamas (priests) also teach that great merit is acquired when fish which have been taken are returned to the water. This gave rise to a curious trade at a certain lake in eastern Inner Mongolia. Thrifty Chinese, unhampered by superstitious prohibitions, catch large numbers of fish, which they keep alive and sell to merit-seeking Mongols, who then throw them back into the lake.

Old Hitching Post Law

An ancient Detroit hitching-post ordinance provided that every owner or occupant of a lot "may erect in front of the same a hitching post, or a substantial ring in lieu thereof: provided that said hitching posts are firmly fixed inside the curb, and provided further that said hitching posts shall not exceed in dimensions four inches square and be not less than three nor more than four feet in height, the top of the post not to be pointed or sharp in any case."

Spider Webs As Bait

Webs spun by huge spiders on the Tobriand Islands off the New Guinea Coast have been used as bait by the native fishermen for centuries, says Popular Mechanics. These spiders weave extraordinary tough webs in which small birds are trapped. When they go fishing, the natives collect the webs, wind them into a ball on a small wooden frame and cast off their long twine lines. Any fish that bites into that bait becomes entangled in the strands of the web.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH IN FERTILE BLAZE ON FRIDAY

Mrs. Zeno Grantham Victim in $15,000 Fire in Business Block

Trapped as she rushed back into her blazing apartment for clothing, Mrs. Zeno Grantham, 48, was burned to death in Fertile early Friday as flames destroyed a two-story business structure, causing a loss estimated at $15,000.

Her charred body was found by volunteer firemen in the ashes of the Grantham restaurant and apartment building, a frame structure, which was burned to the ground.

The fire, believed to have started from an overheated furnace, was discovered between 5 and 6 a. m. when it awakened Mrs. Grantham, her husband and her sister, Minnie Nordheim, who occupied the apartment above the restaurant. The building was a mass of flames and the occupants rushed to safety in their night clothing. Mrs. Grantham returned to the blazing structure hoping to obtain other clothing but, apparently overcome by smoke, was unable to make her way out again.

Men and Women Turning to God, Says Evangelist

With the great unrest among the nations of the world, the uncertainty in the financial world, the social insecurity, the increase of hideous crimes, calamities and disasters on land and sea and in the air, and the war clouds hanging like a night-mare over Europe, many thinking men and women are turning to the Word of God in general and to the Promises of Christ's return in particular to find a haven of rest for their troubled minds, a solace and balm for their aching hearts." So declared Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "Silence in Heaven for Half an Hour" last Sunday night in the old Methodist church. The back to the Bible lecture program for next week is announced in this paper.

CREAMERY PLANT AT ST. HILAIRE ENJOYS GOOD YEAR

Churns 299,467 Pounds of Butter During the Past Year

The St. Hilaire cooperative creamery barely missed the 300,000 pound mark for butter production in 1936, the output totaling exactly 299,467 pounds for the year, it was revealed at the annual meeting of stockholders held early last week.

That butter prices were at a profitable level last year is indicated by the fact that the average net price paid for all deliveries of butterfat was 35.31 cents a pound. The total manufacturing and general expense per pound of butter was shown to be 2.59 cents per pound. The percentage of overrun was 23.78.

Officers named in the annual election include Emil Larson, president; Anton Johnson, vice president; Fred Erdman, secretary; Lloyd Johnson, treasurer; and C. O. Swanson, director.

Badger School District Retires $25,000 Bonds

Cancelled refunding bonds totaling $25,000, issued 15 years ago by Badger Consolidated school, were returned last week to Treasurer Peter Sjoberg. The bonds were issued Dec. 1, 1921 to the Metropolitan National Bank, Minneapolis, and bore 7 per cent interest. The total interest paid during these 15 years amounted to more than the value of the bonds in the first place, namely, $26,850, making a total of $51,850, contributed by the taxpayers of the district during this time.

Hunters Again Urged to File Game Reports

In a statement made last week, A. C. Hanson, director of the division of game and fish, again urged hunters to co-operate with the division by sending in reports of game taken in 1936. To date, only a small percentage of sportsmen have returned their licence reports.

"With about 225,000 resident small game hunting licenses sold and 70,000 big game licenses," Mr. Hanson said, "it is vital to try to secure as nearly as possible an accurate estimate of how much game was taken in 1936.

"The coperation of sportsmen in this matter will mean much in the conservation of our wild life resources."

THE 25-MILLIONTH
FORD
HAS JUST BEEN BUILT

It has never occurred before in automobile history that 25 million cars of one make, bearing one name, have been manufactured under one management. The 25,000,000th Ford car rolled off the Ford Rouge Plant production line on January 18, 1937.

25 million cars since 1903 . . . more than one-third of all the cars ever built . . . enough cars to transport the entire population of the United States.

The figures represent a remarkable contribution to the social welfare, the industrial stability and the general progress of our country.

People respect Ford efficiency. They know Ford uses fine materials, the best workmanship at good wages, the most exact precision measurements. They know these things are passed along to purchasers in the form of extra value. Naturally, they like to do business with such a company. That is the only reason it has been required to produce 25 million cars.

Naturally, too, they expect more of a Ford car, more this year than last year — more each year than the year before. They have every right to. The experience gained in building 25,000,000 cars enables Ford to produce today a really superb motor car at a really low price — with the Beauty, Comfort, Safety and Performance of much more expensive cars.

The 1937 Ford V-8 combines advanced design, all-steel construction, extra body room, and brilliant brakes with a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines — the most modern type of power-plant on land, sea, or in the air.

The 85-horsepower engine provides top performance with unusually good economy for its high power.

The 60-horsepower engine gives good performance with the greatest gasoline mileage ever built into a Ford car — and wears the lowest Ford price tag in years.

People expect more of a Ford car because it's a Ford — and they get more, for the same reason. It is undeniably the quality car in the low-price field.

1,700 MILL CITY MEN ORGANIZE TO FEED GAME BIRDS

Sportsmen Co-operate With Game Wardens in the Rural Areas

Approximately 1,700 members of the Downtown Outdoor Sportsmen's Club, recently organized in Minneapolis, are doing more than their bit to feed game birds in Minnesota this winter. The plan for the club was developed several weeks ago by Jimmy Robinson, trapshooting and skeet editor of Sports Afield and outdoor editor of the Minneapolis Star.

Members of the club pay an annual fee of $1. Funds collected are used to purchase feed for game birds. The club cooperates with game wardens and sportsmen's organizations throughout the state, sending money for grain to areas where the need is greatest. Feed has already been sent to several game wardens.

The club is growing very rapidly, according to Mr. Robinson. Although the present membership is concentrated chiefly in Minneapolis, sportsmen throughout the state are invited to join the club by contributing the $1 fee.

NEGLECTS "CRIME DOES NOT PAY" MOVIE SHORT

Staples—Apparently unimpressed by the movie short, "Crime Does Not Pay", a light-fingered man stole a typewriter from the theater after the show. It is thought that he waited in the house until it was locked and then ransacked the place, but he made no attempt to break into the time locked safe which contained $200 at the time. A reward of $200 is offered by the theater manager for apprehension of the prowler, since this is the third time that a burglary has been committed.

Social Security Taxes Should be Forwarded to the Revenue Collector

All tax payments and wage deductions in conection with the old-age benefit system under the social security act should be sent to the bureau of internal revenue and should be mailed to the office of the bureau nearest the business address of the employer, it was announced this week. The office of the Collector for the State is in St. Paul. All remittances should be made payable to the Collector of Internal Revenue, and not to any individual nor to the social security board. These taxes and wage deductions are to be returned to the bureau monthly, on or before the last day of the succeeding month. In other words, the taxes for January must be paid on or before the last day of February; the taxes for February are payable on or before the last day of March and so on. In making the monthly tax returns, it is not required that the employer give the benefit account number of each of his employees. At present it is not necessary for the employer to give his own "identification number." These employer numbers have not yet been assigned, but will be issued later.

DUCKS PHEASANT RUNS INTO TRUCK

Fairmont — Applying brakes suddenly to avoid hitting a pheasant, Mrs. Lea Emerson of Elmore was injured when her car went into a spin in the path of an approaching truck with which it collided. Her daughter was thrown from the car, striking head downward on the concrete. The truck driver suffered torn ligaments in his right leg, but his wife and infant child, riding with him, were uninjured. The collision occurred on an icy highway about two miles north of Elmore. The sedan stopped near a fence with all doors open and both occupants outside.

COST PER MILE TO MAINTAIN ROADS IS LESS FOR 1936

N. W. Elsberg Denies Padding of Department Payroll

Studies of maintenance costs completed this week under direction of N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, completely exploded critical statements of payroll costs made to the press recently by a representative of the Petroleum Industries.

This oil company lobbyist charged that the highway department payroll has jumped from 2,200 persons in 1931 to 4,474 in 1936. He did not explain that increase in number of employes was due to efforts of the department to stagger or rotate employment wherever possible, in compliance with federal government efforts to spread employment over as wide a range as possible.

The studies completed by Commissioner Elsberg this week show that, in spite of these efforts to spread employment, the actual cost of maintaining the state trunk highway system in figures of man hours of labor per month per mile dropped from 41.7 in 1932 in 1932 to 34.9 man hours per month per mile in 1936.

In 1935 the record shows 31.3 man hours per month per mile of maintenance. While the 1936 figure was slightly higher, this was because of extreme snow conditions encountered, the department spending approximately $1,500,000 on snow removal, more than a half million more than in 1935. In February, 1936, snow removal cost approximately $800,000 for a new highmonthly departmental record.

Maintenance costs in 1936 approximated $8,000,000, or slightly more than $400,000 more than in 1935 but the record of time spent on roads, as shown in the man hours per month per mile record shows a lower figure per mile, as compared with 1932. After the trunk highway mileage was increased January 1 1934, it was necessary to add a large number of maintenance employes but these were so spread out over the enlarged system that the cost per mile was materially reduced the report said.

The peak load of maintenance men carried by the report was in February, 1936, when 4,392 men appeared on the department's payrolls, although some of them were on a temporary, or part time, basis to man snow removal equipment.

CHILD WALKS HOME IN SNOW WITHOUT SHOES

St. Charles—Walking stockingfooted to her home from school in ten below zero weather, Jean Pfell, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pfell, froze her foot from toe to ankle. Because the teacher, who usually took Jean to the home of her grandparents, could not start her car, Jean set out on foot, not willing to wait until the car was started. She stepped into a heavy snow drift, and in pulling out her feet, her overshoe and shoe remained in the snow. She got out her shoe and overshoe, but instead of putting them on walked the rest of the way home in her stocking feet. With prompt first aid given by her uncles and grandparents, it is expected that her foot will be saved.

CONCRETE

DOLLARS WASTED ON UPKEEP CAN'T BUY NEW ROADS

Inferior roads seem cheap and easy to build. They stretch a paving fund so that it covers a lot of territory. But after a year or two, the trouble begins! Maintenance costs go up and up. Soon all your paving money is spent on upkeep . . . and no more new roads are built.

That's why it's wise—and economical—to build concrete roads. Concrete lasts! It requires almost no upkeep. Each year, the paving fund builds more miles of concrete until the whole job is done—for keeps.

Concrete's smooth, non-skid surface is safe and satisfactory to drive on. It speeds up traffic . . . reduces accidents . . . saves gas, tires and repairs.

Get concrete. Insist on it—for safety, comfort and economy.

Maintenance budget for Minnesota trunk highways for 1937 is $4,500,000. Very little of this is needed for the 2,700 miles of concrete, nearly all of it for the unpaved highways.

Paving all heavy traffic routes with CONCRETE is the most effective way to cut maintenance costs and provide all-weather, safe, dependable highways.

Concrete is the real low cost road

Over a Million Miles On Pharis Tires!

William Grigsby, pictured above, has driven over a million miles on Pharis Tires and states that he's got a good start towards his second million. Like Mr. Grigsby, thousands of other Pharis users have found that they get many added miles of safe, economical driving with their Pharis tires, and our prices offer considerable savings. Another Pharis tire user writes us "I would just like to express my satisfaction with the Pharis tire I purchased from Gamble's 3 years ago. This tire has never been off the rim and has never been flat. During this period it was driven 35,000 miles."

ST CLOUD MAN IN HERO ROLE

St. Cloud—Risking his own life, Henry Scollard recently rescued an eight-year old girl who would have plunged down a 200 foot precipice had he not dove down an icy hillside in pursuit. Mr. Scollard was enroute home from California and was visiting his sister in Dubuque, Iowa when the accident occurred. Two eight-year old girls were passing an embankment and one dropped her purse. The purse slid down the icy hill which ends in a steep precipice and in her attempt to retrieve it, the girl hurtled 70 feet to where she caught and clung onto a small tree. When her companion saw this, she attempted a rescue but lost her footing and was sliding toward the ledge when Scollard attracted by their cries. He dove to her rescue and carried her to safety while police and firemen were called to the assistance of the other girl clinging below the bluff.

CO. COMMISSIONER AT RED LAKE FALLS FORCED TO RESIGN

Frand Freund Found Guilty of Grand Larceny in Second Degree

County Commissioner Frans F. Freund of Red Lake Falls entered a plea of guilty when arraigned on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree at special session of the Red Lake County district court before Judge James E. Montague here Tuesday morning, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette. Sheriff Carl A. Kankel signed the complaint.

The defendant pleaded guilty to stealing 102 feet of electrical conduit, five junction boxes and one switch box valued in all at $20 from the potato warehouse on the Northern Pacific tracks Sept. 27, 1936. The warehouse is owned by the Peoples Auto Co., and was purchased from the county which had acquired it by tax forfeiture.

Freund was first arraigned before Justice V. M. Healy and upon evincing a desire to plead guilty was taken before Judge Montague at Crookston January 23, but the case was adjourned until Feb. 2.

Judge Montague imposed a sentence of from one to five years in a penal institution but suspended sentence pending good behavior and upon Freund's agreeing to resign as county commissioner and to agree that he would neither seek nor hold public office for five years.

Freund accordingly signed his resignation which was presented to the board of Red Lake county commissioners at their monthly session Wednesday.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Absent-Minded Carpenter

WHEN Charles G. Grant, former Ohio newspaper man, was a boy in Columbus he knew a carpenter named J. Elmer Putterbaugh who was just about the best in the business. No job was ever too big for him to tackle, according to Mr. Grant. When J. Elmer took the contract to build a big church over near Washington Court House, he got so interested in his work that he forgot to stop. So the main aisle was so long that they had to have two preachers—one to stand at the altar and marry folks and the other to stand at the front door and christen their first baby as they came out.

Another time J. Elmer's absentmindedness got him in trouble. He was shingling the roof on a barn when a thick fog came sweeping up the valley from the Ohio river. J. Elmer kept right on shingling and without noticing what he was doing shingled 20 feet of fog before he noticed his mistake.

This turned out to be pretty serious because he fell and broke one of his legs off clean when he tried to get down. As a result he had to have a wooden leg, but when Elmer reached down to scratch his knee cap he'd get a splinter in his finger. That made him so angry that he'd grab his saw and saw his wooden leg right off. It broke him up buying new wooden legs. At last he went to a pauper's grave.

"But they had a hard time keeping him in it," declares Mr. Grant. "You see, J. Elmer was something of a crossroads philosopher—just full of wise saws. His ghost used one of these to saw his way out of the pine box in which they buried him. Folks got pretty tired of having his ghost chasing around at night. So they finally captured it, enclosed it in a box of chilled steel, and from that time on there has been nothing but frozen silence out of J. Elmer Putterbaugh."

BEAR HUNTING IS GOOD IN FAIRMONT

Fairmont—Bear steaks will soon be available here, for bear hunting in Fairmont is good. Frank Santee went gunning for bear and got three with three shots from a modest .22 calibre rifle, kerplunk between the eyes every time. He went on a bear safari and bore down on Lenny Burton's ranch in the Lake George wilds, on Lenny's orders to kill the animals, because proper care of them during the winter could not be arranged. Two yearling female bears were routed from hibernation in a den three or four feet deep, and dispatched—bang, bang—as they came out. The other, a two-year old female, was shot a minute or two later. The carcasses of two yearlings were taken to a cafe and a meat market has the other.

Biblical Diet of Milk and Honey Is Practical, Say State Physicians

The biblical description of a land of plenty was a land flowing with "milk and honey." Today, members of the Minnesota State Medical Association's public health education committee call attention to an interesting experiment showing that the biblical description is not solely a poetic figure.

Recent studies made at University Farm have shown that it is possible for a man to live, maintain his weight and remain actively at his work for several weeks on a diet of milk and honey.

The doctors do not recommend such a diet but cite the experiment to show that the Old Testament chroniclers were right in naming milk and honey as important foods now as well as in ancient times.

The best honey, according to the University experimenters, is the dark honey because it provides more minerals than the light honey. Either honey contributes important elements to the diet, however, as well as charm to the appetite.

A note of warning is added by the doctors to the effect that no one food or no two or three foods are sufficient for a normal, healthy diet. Nutritional deficiency is much more apt to be found among faddists who mistakenly pin their faith to a limited special diet than among people who give no thought to the food they eat beyond getting plenty of a pleasing variety to satisfy their appetites.

HOLDING SPEAR IS GOOD EXCUSE FOR NO LICENSE

Belle Plaine— "Holding the spear for the other fellow" is a good alibi for not having a fishing license. One of the residents who was observing fishing operation at Belle Plaine's horseshoe lake recently, approached two men on the ice, one having a spear poised over the water. Being questioned about a fishing license, the fisher, who was from out of town replied that he had none as he wasn't fishing— "I'm just holding the spear for the other fellow."

In spite of the extreme cold a capacity crowd was in attendance at the RNW hall Thursday at the regular meeting of the Farmers club. Mr. Taylor, the Beltrami Co. agent was present and gave a very interesting talk. Cooperative trucking seemed to be the theme for the evening its merits being explained by Mr. Magnuson, operator of the local creamery and then elaborated on by Mr. Taylor. A committee very likely will be appointed to see what can be done relative to organizing. After this discussion a short program was rendered followed by the usual lunch and dance.

Martin Sandsmark and son, Ole Tollefson were F. R. Falls shoppers last Saturday.

MOYLAN

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman received word Monday that Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bakke of Emerado, N. D. are the proud parents of a little daughter that arrived Feb. 5. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Shoppers in Thief River Falls Saturday were Elmer Johnson, Leonard Tenold, Tom and John Cullen, W. E. Chapman and sons, Earl Erwin and Lester.

Death has taken one of the oldest residents of Moylan township. James Cullen passed away Friday evening. He has been in poor health for a long time. Mr. Cullen was one of the first men to homestead when the reservation was opened for settlement and built a house on his farm which has been his home ever since. He was married to Maggie Pittman in 1901. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Margaret at home and Mrs. Mary Kelsow, living in Moylan, and four sons, Tom of Moylan, John, George and Pete at home. One son James preceded him in death. Funeral services were conducted in Goodridge at the Catholic church of which Mr. Cullen was a member, Tuesday and burial was made in Poplar Grove cemetery near his home.

BOYS' TRIP TO TEXAS ENDS IN ALBERT LEA

Albert Lea—Plans of three Litchfield youths were vanquished when a trip which was to take them south to sunny Texas ended at Albert Lea. The boys, aged 16 to 18, planned to hitch-hike to Texas, but police picked them up in the railroad yards at Albert Lea and sent them back to their homes. The youngsters' ardor for travel was cooled when they heard a lecture by the chief of police about running away from home. He told them of the grief they were causing their parents and advised them to forget the "wanderlust".

Minnesota Farm Gains Shown by Credit Use, Yearly Review Shows

Gains in agricultural conditions for Minnesota farmers and decline in the burden of their pressing debts are indicated by the uses to which they have been putting farm credit during the past year. When the outlook for earnings is bright conservative, thrifty farmers are apt to seek credit, counting on the turnover in business to help them repay it within the time limit of the loan.

This wholesome situation is revealed in figures released this week by the Farm Credit Administration of St. Paul for the state of Minnesota. They show that from Jan. 1 to Nov. 1 this year short-term loans to Minnesota farmers through production credit associations increased more than $837,000 over those made during the corresponding period of 1935. These loans are made for a wide variety of purposes, nearly all of which are bound up in farm operations, such as purchase of new equipment, additional livestock, or farm supplies, making of repairs and farm improvements. Only a very small amount has been obtained for refinancing purposes.

On the other hand there has been a decrease of $10,333,000 in the volume of credit obtained by Minnesota farmers on land bank mortgages, and a decrease of $7,495,000 in land bank commissioner loans. There has also been a decrease of over $2,394,000 in volume of emergency crop and feed loans made by the Farm Administration.

"BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE" PRACTISED ON WILD DUCK

Stillwater—Some men buy expensive guns and sports togs when they go into the woods to find out whether a bird in the hand really is worth two in the bush, but Fred Mechelke believes in the Frank Buck "Bring 'Em Back Alive" school of thought. And Mr. Mechelke is entitled to membership in Frank Buck's classes after his recent feat. With nothing but his hands and a grim determination to succeed he caught a wild Mallard duck on Stillwater's main street in broad daylight. The duck was turned over to conservation leaders and will have a good home through the remainder of the winter.

On Tuesday night about 150 people attended the local declamatory contest held at the hall. Great interest was shown and from all reports everyone enjoyed the program very much. In the oratorical division first honors were awarded to Jack Ripple who gave "We Call Them Radicals". Roy Haydon with "The War Prayer" was placed second. In the dramatic division Carol Hovland with "The Rose Arbor" placed first. Margaret Baum with "The Cremona" ranked second in the judge's opinion.

The six humorous selections aroused much merriment and broke the tension which the dramatic selections had created.

Myrtle Karlstad with one of the newer selections, "Exit the Big Bad Wolf" won first while Virginia Anderson with "A Pleasant Half Hour on the Beach" was placed second.

The sub district contest will be held in Plummer sometime during the week of February 22. The best of all competing schools will be presented then. Watch for the date and plan to attend.

The local stock judging team which is to compete in Crookston at the winter shows has been only tentatively chosen. Last minute changes may be necessary. There is considerable interest in this work the most of the members of the agricultural classes envy those who are to make the trip.

In a close contest two evenly matched basketball teams fought it out on the Plummer floor Thursday. Fosston came here with a rangy outfit, several members of which were good shots. Plummer took the lead with a snappy shot but was soon tied by a fine bit of teamwork on the part of Fosston. The score was tied several times during the game and Fosston even took the lead in the last minute of play. A basket by Plummer with only seconds left won the game by a score of 17 to 16.

Some of the boys are at present varnishing the woodwork in the kitchen and dining hall of the municipal auditorium, while the girls are assisting at the school by doing many things which save time for teachers and allow them more time for their classes and class preparation.

Three buses loaded with basket ball rooters and the Cardinals made the trip to Red Lake Falls Friday night.

Red Lake Falls took the lead in the first minute of play but lost it to the more experienced Red and White shortly after. The Red Lake Falls Five has become a strong basket ball team and is giving its opponents a real battle even now. Next year they will have to be seriously reckoned with.

After the game the Plummer squad and rooters enjoyed the hospitality of LaFayette high school. All report having had a very enjoyable evening, and all express their appreciation for the courtesies shown, and the hospitality extended to them by the High school of Red Lake Falls.

Mr. Ohnstad and Miss Albrecht together with two members from each of the four upper classes constitute the publicity committee for the Warren game to be played Feb. 12th. Interest in that game is high and it always is because of the intense rivalry that exists between the two schools. The committee has many original stunts in mind and everyone is waiting for them and the game.

Scheduled for Friday's assembly is a talk on wild life and conservation by a member of the conservation department of the state of Minnesota. This is a timely subject and one in which there ought to be more general interest shown.

Mr. Ripple has inaugurated a new feature for the Friday assembly programs. Each faculty member in turn is expected to give a talk on some subject of general interest.

PROWLERS NOSE OUT PONIES IN OVER TIME 32-27

Gold and Blue Wage Up Hill Battle to Overcome Opponents

Clark Mickelson, the doughty bench warmer who plays second fiddle to the regular forwards, performed the hero's role by paving the road to victory for the Prowler eagers who vanquished a gallant Warren five, 32 to 27, in an overtime conflict last Friday on the pony floor. The Leemen were already smarting in the throes of defeat when "Mick" took the floor in the crucial point of the contest, late in the final quarter. He buoyed the Prowler booster from the depths of despair to the heights of hilarity by scoring three points in the closing minutes to knot the score at 23-all and force the fray into overtime. The Ponies cracked under the terrific strain in the extra three-minute session and the Leemen went on to win handily.

Lany Helquist was back in top-shooting stride to keep the Prowlers within hailing distance throughout the varying contest by tallying six field goals and a gift toss to snatch scoring honors.

Carlson and Bossman indurated the contest by whipping in field goals. Helquist scored the Prowlers lone field goal in the first quarter which found Coach Lysacker's boys holding a 4 to 2 lead. Both quints were tense and jittery as the first stanza was marred by constant fumbling.

Lee found the meshes but Wilson hooped a duo of free throws to equalize his shot. Nelson and Lorentson counted donation shots, but Hulls looped in a distant try and Bossman converted from the free throw marker. The Prowlers forged ahead for the initial time as Helquist dropped in three points and Caldis a field goal. Carlson evaded his assailant and scored under the basket. Helquist pivoted in the center hole to drop in a push shot, and Coach Lee's five led, 13 to 11, at the half.

The action-crammed third quarter found the Prowlers on the short end of a 19 to 17 count as the lead again changed hands. As Warren shots popped in, the Leemen lost their poise. The Prowlers, instead of steadying to gain control of the situation, joined in the mad scramble, and the Ponies proved to be superior in this mode of play. Helquist counted two field goals and Nelson in this period, while Carlson added two markers from the floor and Wilson and Bossman tallied one each.

From a five point disadvantage late in the final period, the Prowlers came back to knot the score as the regular game ended 23—all. The fireworks followed in one flash after another that kept the highly partisan spectators bobbing up and down in the final uproarious quarter. Carlson and Bossman kept the Warren lead intact by hooping two short shots before Helquist put in a long bucket and Lee converted from the free throw line. Mickelson went into the game and was successful on a free throw attempt. On the next play he snatched the tipoff and arched in his memorable long try which knotted the score. Lorentson had the ball game in his hands after being fouled by Bossman, but his free shot fell short.

Mickelson went on another rampage in the overtime to score two field goals and a single pointer, while Helquist and Stadum duplicated long shots. Bossman and Hulls gave Warren four more points but the deed was done.

There was much in basketball polish lacking in the furious melee, but the season can hardly be expected to furnish as many see-saw thrills. The Prowlers proved their ability to take it on the chin and come back fighting in a brusque reversal of form.

Red-haired, Art Bossman, a cool fellow with floor finesse played a superlative all-around game for the Orange and Black, but it was Rusher Carlson who was most effective in the scoring column.

The Prowler "B's" registered their eighth victory in a row by trouncing the Warren Reserves, 22 to 15, in a preliminary tussle. Earl Nicholson led the scoring parade with eight points. Milfred Haughom, the artful ball juggler, counted six tallies and played an effective floor game. Lynn Booren ended his scoring drouth with two consecutive field goals after going scoreless in four previous games.

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

Gordy—Nesset

Here's another mystery, Lois Morell's future ambition is to be an organist but when asked what her inspiration is she replies "please, I don't want—to tell!" What do you make of it, Watson? Lois was born September 15, 1919 at Verndale Minnesota, her pet peeve is going to bed, (how about getting up?) and her hobby is driving the car. Simone Simon, Charles Butterworth, and the movie "Girls Dormitory" make up her cinema world. "With Plenty of Money and You" played by Benny Goodman, rates tops with Lois. "One Man's Family" is her favorite radio program and Jack Benny her favorite star. Here it is again —English IV is her favorite subject! Bring Lois a dish of strawberry torte and she might go to bed with less noise. Lois has taken part in many outside activities during her four years of high school —including: chorus '34 and '36, band '36 and '37, interclass sports, Progress, Senior class vice pres. and is a member of the Prowler staff.

Would you believe it, they call him Gordy! Who—none other than Gordon Nesset who was born April 17, 1919, in Thief River Falls. You really would expect Gordon to be an Atlas or another Sandow for his hobby is eating more—and still more. Do you eat your vegetables Gordon? Here's the reason his favorite dish is Angel food pie with lots of cherries and when Popeye needs spinach. I doubt if Angel food pie would do much for Gordon.

Gordon seems to have the wanderlust, he wants to see the world and his inspiration is Lincoln High —now is that being appreciative my boy?

Here's a tip to you Harold, (the kid brother) if there's anything that gets Gordon down, it's to have the electric razor going while he is all settled enjoying the "First Nighter" or the "Lux Radio Theater".

Charles Laughton and Louise Rainer are his favorite stars and the movie "Three Smart Girls" (I wonder which one) appealed to him.

Gordon's not the least bit fussy about orchestras, he says the "Lucky Strike orchestra will do. Here's the answer to the main interest in "Three Smart Girls". It's Deanna Durbin, his favorite radio star too.

Gordon is a rather inactive element, he said he preferred watching the others do their part in the extra activities that take part himself. Maybe he has an inferiority complex!

Tidbits from the Warren Highway: We ain't agonna commit ourselves but we do think Wally T. and Clifford V. are rather timid souls. How about it Jerome S.

Put yourselves in the place of a high school student of the flood stricken area. What would you do if you had no place to call home? Where could you go if your only shelter was being carried away or submerged beneath several feet of water? Consider these students who are now unable to attend school. They would very likely be only too glad to spend years of their lives in prison if they could have a safe place to eat and sleep without fear of being awakened and warned to move on to higher ground. Many are separated from their families; would you not be glad to get aid in these cases? Students of our school should be thankful they are not in the pitiful condition and should be only too glad to give whatever aid they can to the sufferers. Our school campaign for funds is over. A fair amount has already been contributed but more is needed. Give your aid and send a contribution, however small it may be, to the Red Cross.

WIND-CHILL

Has our senior "I'm Popeye the sailor man" gone sophomore? Indications seem to point that way, i. e. Joyce enjoyed Warren over the week-end.

Many of our friends including a number of heroes of the B. B. courts did themselves proud at parties in Warren after the game. Were they playing the conquering hero?

R. L. Falls seems to be increasing in popularity—it being agreed that they have the best orchestra nearest home.

But if you're broke, just go to the skating rink. That's where you'll find most of us!

Mr. Harrison's face was actually red when a little unsuspecting fifth-graded stuck her head in the door, during an Agr. IV class and asked if he had had his milk today!

The Seniors seem to be carrying off the honors for the biggest enjoyment gotten out of the skating rink.

A treat for the eyes—Lenny and Brunell together again.

Did you notice at a newsreel not long ago they showed pictures of the flooded areas and the music introducing the next was "Pennies from Heaven".

How time does fly—the school year is more than half over. Nearly time for the Seniors to start wondering about other schools or jobs.

Surprise of the century—Coach Lee missing a set up in the independent game Saturday. Why Coach! (a free throw too.)

Are all our manly specimens becoming more gallant? They were giving all the young ladies a spin around the ice Saturday and Sunday.

Seems as if everyone is just waiting for this overshoe dance. Should be a lot of fun. Lots of sore spots too.

Seven of our girls went "dramatic" Monday night. 'Twas a bit of all right too—(You know the dramatic Declamation Contest.)

Famous Finales—" and Milt said to Lovey—."

PROWLIN' 'ROUND

When the Prowlers defeated Crookston ideas of district—and possible regional honors for the Prowlers flamed anew. he Leemen are now undoubtedly the best team in the district, although Crookston rates a close second. The Pirates have been known to spring surprises to dishearten Prowler hopes before and they must be reckoned with again before tournament time. The local quint seems to have the Wave of East Grand Forks subdued but here again a reminder must be made that Coach Reed's teams are always stronger in tournament play than they are during the season. Warren has been victims of Prowler fury twice this season—even though one of these games went over time. The Ponies should be well taken care of. With all of these questionable observations in mind, and though we may be going a bit too far out on the limb, we will risk the prediction—that Prowlers will wear the district crown for 1937.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

Hi Folks—tish, a comparatively quiet Friday, this—with the juniors back in their rightful places. Oh well, juniors will play—These "kids in the 3-cornered pants."

Hmmm—looked at the calendar today, and before we know it, the basketball we now "diddle" with will turn into a kittenball— and we without a bat! Be prepared—sez I! From now on I'm a-carrin' my club.

Just warn you my lassies, to attend those last basketball practices —the Two League Tourneys are in the offing—one more week of practice and then cometh the week of reckoning—February 15-19. After that, class practices—and then—be still my jittery heart, the auditorium tourney in conjunction with the Gabrielson gew-gaws.

Did you-uns know you could skate off those "heavy-hangs-over-thy-head" make-ups? Try it but report 'em.

This week affairs start to percolate for a big G. A. A. meeting. Watch for and exercise those appendages on each side of your cranium (ears, punks!)

"Grab Day" in gym last week—everything from nursery games to basketball on lil' yellow slips reposing in Coach Lee's battered baseball cap—(and three classes found tumbling—wonder if there was anything else in the old headgears. No, not mutiny!) But we did find some uprising discoveries —Janie Lee has a stiff neck— Fran Weston is better'n average and Fae B. bullies the rest of the palsies into rolls, forth and back— or else! We wonder—will those junior prowlerettes still think kindly of tumbling?

What happened to our Pep Prowlerette's last appearance? The Crx. lads must have been handsome! But boy we put them on the ice.

See you on Senior day—coming up.

LINCOLN SQUAD WINS SEASON'S FIRST DEBATE

Locals Win 3-0 Over Karlstad Here Feb. 2

The first district debate of the season took place in the high school assembly Tuesday evening, February second at eight o'clock. The question debated was: "Resolved, that all electric utilities be governmentally owned and operated." The Lincoln team composed of Marjorie Matheson and Vernon Wedul upheld the affirmative against Marian Olson and Ruth Sharp of Karlstad who debated the negative.

Two-men teams have been organized this year, contrary to the traditional three-men team.

A three to nothing decision was handed down in favor of the affirmative by the three judges: Mr. T. M. McCall, professor at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston; D. C. Streeter, also of the Northwest School; and H. H. Kohl, principal of the Crookston high School. Mr. Claffy acted as presiding officers at the debate.

On Wednesday, February tenth, the debate team went to Warren to uphold the negative against Warren's affirmative. Warren was the only team to defeat the Lincoln debate team last winter.

THE SCREAMER

L. S. U. Lincoln Skating Union. There—that ought to give the federal government a bit of competition. But if it doesn't offer any competition, it at least tires the female gliders to say the least. You don't understand? Well, just you try a night at the local arena and see for yourself what it is all about. P. S. Peggy P. objects.

What do you think you're pulling off, Ardythe M? Too tired for work but when Harold Brown calls: 'Of course—I'd love to go to the dance!"

This item is kind of Sherlock Holmsey. But, nevertheless, it all amounts up to the same total. Little Jimmy B. isn't what he's cracked up to be. He's a regular darn Lochinvar.

We're practically crying all over everybody, Esther L. But, honestly, we didn't mean to attach you to the wrong fella. We're sorry about you too, George.

Who says our teachers don't like us any more. Why one of said individuals is truly worried on account of we might get wicked ideas from witnessing the clubbing croakers (the hockey team to you).

Well, Warren H! Have you finally made up your mind and is it Doris H. the victim?

T. R. F. TO MEET EAST-SIDERS ON CENTRAL FLOOR

Green Wave Out to Avenge Early Season Set-Back

After having defeated Warren for the second time this season to maintain their position as top-ranking team in District thirty-one, the Prowlers will meet another obstacle in their path when they face the Little Green Wave on East Grand Forks Central's gymnasium floor.

Although the Prowlers hold one victory over the Wave, the latter since has gained a second victory over a strong Central quint, the same team that handed the locals a very decisive defeat earlier in the season, which all goes to prove that East Grand Forks has improved considerably since the Prowlers last encounter with them.

In spite of improvement shown by the Wave a victory is anticipated for the Prowlers and when the game is over the locals should be still at the top of the list.

MUSIC NOTES

The Lincoln high school band will make its first appearance in complete uniform at the P. T. A. meeting on Monday, February 15. Included in the program are the following concert numbers:

"Goin' Home" by Dvorak, a famous "Largo" from the New World Symphony by Devorah For this number, the band will use an arrangement by Fisher.

"Cabins"— Gillete—a tone poem which is based on negro spirituals. This was written by Professor James R. Gillette, a nationally known composer, organist, and bandmaster. Mr. Gillette is the present director of the Carleton Symphony Band.

"Eleanor"— Deppin —A well known melody written by Jesse L. Deppen. It is a familiar tune and is used as a theme song to introduce the radio program of "Lum and Abner."

"First Norwegian Rhapsody"— Christiansen. This is an unusual composition composed by Dr. P. Melius Christiansen, the world famous director of the St. Olaf Lutheran Choir. Dr. Christiansen has written numerous compositions for chorus groups, but this number is one of his few instrumental compositions.

In this program the band is including two of the selections required in the contest of the Minnesota Public School Music League. "Cabins" and the "First Norwegian Rhapsody" are included in the five listed musical numbers for the music contest.

The clarinet ensemble played two selections at the Dramatic division of the Declamation Contest, held on Monday, February 8th. Numbers performed by this group of ten clarinetists were: "Sweet and Low" by Barnby and "Lullaby" by Brahms.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

18,000 ATTEND WINTER SHOWS AT CROOKSTON

Favorable Weather Greets Final Days of Valley Exposition

V. E. COPP IS WINNER WITH BARRED ROCKS

Makes Virtually Clean Sweep of Division in Annual Poultry Show

The twenty-seventh annual Red River Valley Winter Shows closed Friday at Crookston, with an attendance mark of 18,000 for the week announced by officials. Favorable weather greeted the closing days of the event.

As a closing feature, a male chorus of 125 vocalists from 10 northwestern Minnesota communities presented several numbers in the exposition's sixteenth yearly song festival.

This year's patronage was surpassed only by silver jubilee crowds of two years ago, when 2,000 more clocked through the turnstiles for the all-time record.

Displays by several 4-H groups and a parade of "bridal gowns," representing the evolution of marital raiment during the last half century, marked concluding features of the regular program.

The board of managers of the show set Feb. 7-11, 1938, as the dates for the next exposition.

R. S. Dunham, superintendent of the show, said more exhibits were shown this year than ever before, despite last summer's drouth.

V. E. Copp of this community, with his pen of Barred Plymouth Rocks was awarded the championship for the best pen in the poultry department of the Winter Shows, and also won first and second honors in the Barred Rock division with cocks; first to fourth with hens; first to fifth with cockerels; first to fifth with pullets; first with young pen; first and second with old pens; as well as best display.

A high light of Thursday's program was the livestock sale at which 49 animals came into the hands of new owners. Cream of the Red River Valley livestock, the animals were sold over the auctioneer's block for approximately $2,700.

The animal which brought the highest price was a Hereford bull for which Gilman Brothers, of Forest River, N. D., paid $155 to the managers of Schermerhorn Farms at Mahnomen. The bull weighed about 1,000 pounds. The hog which brought the most was a Chester White bred sow sold by A. F. Giese of Crookston to Archie Lambert of Hallock. The sow brought $41. The high-priced cow was an Aberdeen-Angus, a two-year old, sold by C. C. Chase of Mahnomen to Knutson Brothers of Thief River Falls at a price of $82.50. The high-priced sheep was a Shropshire ewe sold to Andrew Johnstad and Son of Beltrami by Ray Short of Angus.

TIME TO PAY AUTO FEES IS EXTENDED BY LEGISLATURE

Takes Action Monday to Extend License Period to March 15

The state legislature—both house and senate—rushed through a bill Monday extending the deadline in license plates another 30 days—until March 15—and late in the afternoon Governor Benson signed the bill.

Senator Victor Lawson, Willmar, chief sponsor in the senate, and Representative Harold L. Peterson, Willmar, and J. H. Nordin Columbia Heights, who brought about swift action in the house, pleaded for the extension of time, which under the law was to have expired at midnight Monday, on the grounds that many rural sections are snowbound, with the result rural mail service has been abandoned.

The vote in the senate was unanimous, 48 to 0, while in the lower branch the vote was 105 to 6.

Alex Campbell, deputy registrar in this city, announced that up to the original deadline Monday, nearly 4,000 licenses had been issued from the local office.

Splendid Talent for Arena Ice Show Feb. 27

Galoshes to be in Style at Overshoe Dance on the Arena Rink Friday Night

Instead of wearing dainty dancing slippers, local ladies and their escorts Friday evening will experience the novelty of dancing on ice in galoshes when an overshoe dance, the first of its kind in this community, will be staged on the ice sheet in the winter sports arena. Dancing will begin following the conclusion of the Bemidji-Thief River Falls high school basketball game in the Auditorium. The affair, for which a small admission fee will be charged, will be in the nature of a benefit for the Thief River Falls hockey team and the Legion auxiliary drum corps. The novelty of the event is expected by its sponsors to attract a large attendance to the arena.

Junior Chamber Arranges for Winnipeg and Grand Forks Performers

Well known skating stars from Winnipeg and Grand Forks will join forces to present an outstanding ice show at the winter sports arena in this city Saturday, February 27, under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

A matinee performance will be given at 3 o'clock, followed by the evening show at 8. Bleachers will be erected in both ends of the arena, with rows of seats along the sides of the rink, affording accommodations for approximately 1,500 winter sports-minded residents of this section of the state.

In charge of the Winnipeg performers will be R. A. Purves, who accompanied the Canadian skating team to the Olympic games in Garmisch, Germany, last winter; while the master of ceremonies will be E. J. Hawlf, one of the founders of the Winnipeg Winter club.

A. D. Duncan, one of the premier ice dancers of Canada, will dance a tango on the ice with Miss Cecilia Dysart, Winnipeg tango champion, and L. Elkin, former Canadian junior fancy skating champion, also will perform. Rupert Whitehead, just retuned from an appearance at the Edmonton, Alberta, winter carnival, will bring the Whitehead Four Carnival Performers, each of them a star in his or her own right. Among the dances to be presented by the group are the waltz, the formation ten step, the tango and the fox trot, as well as solos and pairs.

The Winnipeg party will also be accompanied by Arthur L. Dysart, a figure skater of note and a member of the board of governors of the North American Fancy Skating association.

The Grand Forks contributions to the show will include Joe Brossart in jumps, spins and whirls; Francis Hagen and Helen Wagner in acrobatic stunt skating; Wallace Holger in spins, dips and dives; Miss Wagner and Dorothy Kennedy in figure skating and the waltz; and Al Purpur and Adam Feist in a comedy skit, "Ole and Lena".

With talent of such outstanding quality secured by the Junior Chamber, the coming event, the first of its kind in this section of the state, is expected to have strong appeal for Northwest citizens, who this winter have definitely demonstrated their keen interest in winter sports.

JAYSEES TANGLE WITH CROOKSTON GUNNERS TONIGHT

Roy Oen, Former Gopher Football Star Is Added to Lineup

With Roy Oen, former captain of the University of Minnesota football team, added to the lineup, the Thief River Falls Jaysees, independent basketball team, are all set to avenge a recent defeat at the hands of the Crookston Gunners when they meet the Crookston aggregation at the Auditorium this evening at 8:15.

That a battle royal is in prospect is indicated by the fact that the Gunners have bolstered their lineup by the addition of Elmer Johnson, six foot four inch center, formerly of the Dakota Millers. Johnson at one time starred at Northwestern university, where he was all-Big Ten forward.

The local quintet Sunday afternoon had no trouble taking the Warren independent team into camp by the one-sided score of 42 to 9. The count at the half was 15 to 2.

The Jaysees will journey to Crookston Saturday evening to take part in an invitation tournament scheduled to be held during the two coming week-ends. If the locals win Saturday they will play again the following afternoon.

PTA WILL SPONSOR PRESCHOOL CLINIC AGAIN THIS SPRING

Band Concert and Talk by Dr. Archer Feature Program Monday Evening

The Parent-Teacher association at its February meeting Monday evening in the Lincoln high school assembly room voted to sponsor a pre-school clinic this spring for children planning to enter the local schools for the first time next fall. The project was outlined by Mrs. Clara Paulson, school nurse, who suggested that follow-up visits be made after the clinic to insure that as many remediable defects as possible are corrected.

The Lincoln high school band presented a half-hour concert at the opening of the program under the direction of Ronald G. Riggs, making a splendid impression not only with its musicianship but with the attractive appearance of the members, who made their debut in costumes of white with new capes of blue satin lined with gold and with blue and gold caps. When march selections were played, two seventh grade pupils served proficiently as drum majors.

Behavior problems of children was the topic discussed by Dr. C. P. Archer of the faculty of Moorhead State Teachers College. Pointing out that some parents abuse their authority, he stated that there is a difference between blind obedience and intelligent obedience, and said parents should be prepared to give reasons for their orders. It is necessary, he added, to recognize the child's viewpoint.

C. E. Hellquist, following a discussion of a bill in the state legislature providing for a continuing contract for teachers, asked the association to endorse the measure, but, his motion to that effect not receiving a second, no action was taken.

C. W. Pope, president of the organization, was in charge of the program, following which lunch was served by a committee of members.

Francis Burns of Hawley motored to this city last Thursday morning to attend the funeral rites for M. T. McFarland. He also visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Burns.

THIEVES DOWN ROSEAU SEXTET BY SCORE OF 4-2

Capacity Crowd of 1,500 Witnesses Contest on Arena Rink

THIEVES NOW OCCUPY 3D PLACE IN LEAGUE

Plan to Play One Game of Semi-Finals at Arena Next Week

The largest crowd of the season, more than 1,500 strong, packed the arena Wednesday night to see the Thief River Falls hockey team chalk up their sixth consecutive victory and move into third place in the league standings by defeating the Roseau Cloverleafs 4 to 2.

The Thieves took the lead in the first period, scoring twice, and were never headed during the game, altho Roseau threatened in the second and third periods, scoring one goal in each. Two more scores by the Thieves in the final period settled the outcome.

The soft condition of the ice due to the prevailing mild weather did much to slow up the passing attack of both teams, but the efforts of the individual players kept the crowd in an uproar. In the four games played during the season by the two teams, each has won two.

The Thieves play the last game of their league schedule Sunday at Grand Forks when they meet the Cavaliers. Arrangements are now being made for the semi-finals, which are scheduled to be played late next week, with one game to be played in the Thief River Falls arena.

The league standings follow:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Emerson	8	2	0	52
Hallock	11	2	1	29
T. R. Falls	7	7	1	21
Roseau	7	6	1	19
Grand Forks	3	8	3	13

County Commissioners Group Endorses WPA

The administration of WPA in Minnesota was endorsed at the 1937 annual convention of the state Association of County Commissioners, held last week in St. Paul. The resolution of endorsement was passed unanimously. It also urged the continuation of the federal work relief program and demanded that quotas for the state be reduced no faster than the workers are able to find employment in private industry.

Income Tax Payers Will Get Aid Here Next Week

A deputy collector of internal revenue will be stationed in the Civic and Commerce association rooms next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, February 24, 25, and 26, to assist taxpayers in preparing their federal income tax returns. No charge will be made for the service it was announced.

LEGISLATURE GETS PROTEST ON INCOME TAX

Businessmen at Hearing Object to Provisions of New Bill

SALARIES OF HIGHWAY PATROLMEN RAISED

Senate Passes Bill to Hold Primary Elections in September

Curtailment of the drastic provisions of the administration income tax measure appeared likely this week following a public hearing on the bill at the state capitol Monday night in which more than 500 persons from throughout the state jammed into the senate chamber to register their protest.

Veteran legislative observers termed the mass protest the strongest in their memories. The entire senate chamber was jammed including the gallery, even before the hearing started. The crowd still remained when the hearing was adjourned shortly before midnight.

The business men protested nearly every phase of the bill which would levy increased taxes against incomes ranging from 100 per cent upward.

The hearing became so unruly at times that Representative Edward Hagen, Milan, chairman of the house taxes and tax laws committee, which has already recommended passage of the bill, was booed when he attempted to question speakers.

One of the larger businesses represented at the hearing was the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company. Through Herbert Buetow, it was revealed that a proposed $750,000 new building in St. Paul for the company may be abandoned if the measure is passed as it now is drafted.

The senate passed a bill Tuesday which would change the date of the primary elections in the state from the third Monday in June to the second Monday in September. Although the senators have approved the measure it still hangs fire because of an indefinite postponement of its consideration by a house committee.

The senate passed, with only one dissenting vote, a measure to increase highway patrolmen's pay. The measure, already approved by the house, raises the maximum pay from $150 to $180 a month and makes the minimum $150. The revision would be accomplished through yearly increases in wages of $5 a month.

The pending civil service bill was held up in a postponement of a hearing before the senate general legislation committee. Senator James Carley, chairman, called the postponement.

BUCKLER BILL PROPOSES $100,000 FISH HATCHERY

Rep. Richard T. Buckler, Crookston, introduced Tuesday a bill calling for a $100,000 appropriation for establishment of a fish hatchery in northern Minnesota. Warroad and Baudette are two locations considered.

Local Men See Red Cross in Action in the Flooded Region

Bringing with them the good news that spring is on its way north, a quartet of local men including Mayor W. W. Prichard, Stanton R. Dahlen, Harry R. Lund and C. W. Mattson returned Tuesday evening from a twelve-day sojourn, in the course of which they spent four days at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and returning, passed thru a portion of the flood area.

The trip down was uneventful except that in Iowa the party passed thru the aftermath of a sleet storm that covered highways with a glaring sheet of ice. Stopping overnight at Kansas City, they drove from there thru the beautiful Ozark mountain scenery in Arkansas.

Arriving at Hot Springs they first visited the Chamber of Commerce, where they were shown every possible courtesy, a trait they found characteristic of the southern people. They took some of the famous baths, which are operated under government supervision the mineral water coming out of the ground at a temperature of 140 degrees.

While in the city the local men, all of them Rotarians, attended a meeting of the Hot Springs Rotary club. Mayor Prichard was one of the principal speakers at the luncheon, extolling the hospitality of the south, as well as calling attention to the advantages of Northwestern Minnesota. In Hot Springs the group visited with V. C. Noper and Hamilton Mathews, father of Mrs. T. C. Orme of this city. Both reported receiving much benefit from the baths.

Leaving Hot Springs the tourists entered the flood region at Greenville, Mississippi, where the crest of the floodwaters was expected to arrive the following day. Water was being held back in the low lands away from the river by means of gates, and in many places the water was nearly over the highway.

Arriving at Memphis, Tennessee, which stands on high land they found the Mississippi river to be nearly 20 miles wide. They saw the Red Cross engaged in relief work there, among other activities being the loading of a large vessel with hundreds of small boats equipped with outboard motors for emergency use farther down the river. When the local men arrived, they found the last of 50,000 refugees from up the river leaving the city for their homes.

Highways to Paducah, Kentucky, being barred, with the city still under water, the local men went next to Cairo, Illinois, at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. They saw the water in the river still standing nearly fifteen feet above the level of the streets in the city, being kept out only by the levees which had been built up several feet above their normal height. The city was still under martial law, and women and children refugees were just beginning to return to their homes.

From there the men went on to St. Louis, where they spent a day before proceeding on their way home. During the twelve days they were gone they traveled over 3,800 miles.

STATE HIGH COURT RULES ON POOR AID REIMBURSEMENT

Officials Seek Information as to Whether Ruling Applies Here

The Minnesota supreme court Saturday ruled unconstitutional the 1927 law requiring counties having the town system of poor relief to reimburse townships, villages and cities of the third and fourth class for 75 per cent of their poor relief expenditures in excess of one mill of the taxable value of property in such communities.

Officials of Pennington county, where the township system of poor relief is in effect, are obtaining a ruling from the attorney general as to whether or not the decision applies to this county. If it does, the effect will be to transfer the major portion of poor relief expenditures from the county to the city of Thief River Falls.

The supreme court decision, which affirms a district court judgment for Hennepin county in a suit brought by the village of Robbinsdale, holds that the statute is discriminatory and a violation of the uniformity clause of the state constitution, which provides that taxes shall be uniform on the same class of subjects.

Two Local Boys Winners of Trips to Washington

As a result of their sales promotion efforts, in which they were assisted by Ronald Sculthorpe, local agent, two Thief River Falls carriers have been awarded educational trips to Washington, D. C., by the Minneapolis Journal. The boys are Clayton Berg, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Berg, and Austin Shanahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Shanahan. They will leave Minneapolis for the national capital next Monday evening and among other features will visit Congress while that body is in session.

TWO COUNTY MEN NAMED ON BOARD OF POTATO GROUP

V. C. Noper and R. M. Douglass Elected at Crookston Last Week

County Agent R. M. Douglass and V. C. Noper last week at Crookston were named directors of the Red River Valley Potato Improvement association at its organization meeting. Representatives of twelve Northwestern Minnesota counties were elected to the board, among them being R. A. Reierson and Andy Morkassel of Warren and E. A. Palmer of Red Lake Falls.

Before election of the directors was effected the group of potato growers, numbering about 50, heard addresses by A. G. Tolaas of the state seed certification department, Herman Skyberg, Polk county grower; T. M. McCall of the Northwest school and R. C. Hannigan of the Rural Credits department, St. Paul.

The speakers stressed the need of a definitely planned program to improve the quality of Red River valley potatoes and to coordinate activities in the valley.

STOCKHOLDERS OF CREAMERY HOLD MEETING

Large Attendance Monday Receives Encouraging Reports

JOHN FUNNESDAHL IS RETAINED ON BOARD

Net Set of By-Laws Acted on Favorably at Annual Meeting

With a butter production of 896,917 pounds, the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery in 1936 paid for butterfat a total of $293,677.18, it was revealed in the annual report of G. S. Bergland, manager, submitted at the annual meeting of stockholders Monday afternoon. This is the largest output ever recorded in the history of the plant.

John Funnesdahl, president of the board, was in charge of the meeting, which was held in the Civic and Commerce association room. The gathering of shareholders and patrons of the thriving institution more than filled the large room.

In the annual election Mr. Funnesdahl was named to succeed himself as director, receiving 57 votes to 21 for L. O. Stenseth. The organization meeting of the board held Tuesday afternoon resulted in the naming of the present officers, including Mr. Funnesdahl, president; Hans Anton, vice president; and J. M. Thelge, secretary.

A new set of by-laws was read by Paul Lundgren, attorney for the association, and duly adopted. The revised by-laws provide, among other features, for the acquisition by the creamery association of shares of stock now held by persons who have left this community or by others who have not patronized the creamery for an extended period.

L. O. Stenseth again brought up the matter of ending the affiliation of the local plant with Land O' Lakes Creameries, but Mr. Lundgren pointed out that the question should properly be brought before the board of directors, and a motion was adopted advising Mr. Stenseth to take up the matter with the board.

Of the butter shipped in 1936, aggregating 664,500 pounds, 552,889 pounds were of the Land O' Lakes grade, while 111,272 pounds were sold locally. An average net price of 35.80 cents was paid for all butterfat received during the year, while the total manufacturing and general expense per pound of butter was shown to be 2.509 cents. With a gross income of $8,450.74 from sales of buttermilk powder, this department of the business showed a net income of $3,715.80.

Total assets of the association at the end of the year were $50,498.52, against which there were total current liabilities of $11,421.89, leaving a net worth figure of $39,076.63.

The steady rise in volume of business handled by the local plant is revealed in figures on butter output the past four years: 1933, 316,049 pounds; 1934, 417,642 pounds; 1935, 481,607 pounds; and 1936, 896,917 pounds.

PROWLERS MEET BEMIDJI QUINTET FRIDAY EVENING

Locals Defeat East Grand Forks for Fifth Victory in Row

Scoring its fifth victory in a row over East Grand Forks in the latter city Saturday evening, the Lincoln high school basketball team, in the opinion of local fans, can be depended on to give a good account of itself when the quintet meets the Bemidji team, last year's state champions, at the Auditorium Friday evening.

In a contest earlier in the season Bemidji defeated the Prowlers by the close score of 32 to 26. The Prowler B team will meet St. Hilaire in a preliminary event at 7:15.

The local team journeyed to East Grand Forks Saturday evening and took the Eastsiders into camp by a count of 22 to 18. The Prowlers led throut the game, the score at the half being 14 to 9 and at the end of the third period, 18 to 11. Helquist led the scoring for the locals, accounting for a total of twelve points.

The Grand Forks Central high school quintet will meet the Prowlers in their second contest of the season next Wednesday evening at the Auditorium. Grand Forks is one of the few teams that have defeated the Lincoln high school aggregation this season, and the local boys are out for revenge. A preliminary event will be played between Red Lake Falls and the Prowler B team.

Evangelist Lectures on Condition in Church

Evangelist James A Ward, lecturing Sunday in the old Methodist church spoke on the condition in the Christian church under the caption, "Seven Women after One Man." The text for the sermon was found in Isaiah 4: 1 "And in that day seven women shall take hold of one man saying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel, only let us be called by thy name to take away our reproach." Mr. Ward declared that the text was one of the many symbolic prophecies to be found in the Bible. Using other texts to support his statements Mr. Ward interpreted the seven women to be the Christian church as a whole, the "one Man" to be Christ. The Back to the Bible Lectures continue through the coming week. Announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Kratka, also an early-day resident of this city, "She was quite delighted, as it was the first hometown paper she had seen since leaving Minnesota, and we feel certain it contributed to her recovery."

Local Church Members Endorse Resolution to Promote Temperance

The following resolution adopted by the district Women's Missionary Federation, meeting at Karlstad, was recently endorsed by the Ladies' Aid and Dorcas society of Trinity Lutheran church:

"Whereas, One of the most flagrant evils of our day, and one which is a source of anxiety to the hearts of all Christian mothers is the alarming increase in the use of intoxicating beverages among our people both old and young; and

"Whereas, The result of this curse effects all our communities, threatening the youth at our Christian schools, and is responsible also for the needs in the charities and Houses of Mercy toward which our Federation directs its activities;

"We the District Board of the Northern Minnesota District, W. M. F. resolve to place the weight of our influence, individually and collectively AGAINST this dreadful menace, and urge every member of our Federation to do the same.

"We recommend to the members of our Ladies' Aids of our district to make use of local papers and any literature at their disposal in placing before our Christian womanhood the duty of helping further this cause.

"We further recommend to the daughters of the L. D. R. that they place the combatting of the evils of intemperance on their program.

"We also appeal to other organizations within our church, such as the Lutheran Brotherhood, and the Luther League, as well as to the superintendents of our Sunday Schools and to Christian Teachers everywhere, that they cooperate with us in furthering these aims.

"First and last we pray our Heavenly Father that He imbue us all with a sense of individual responsibility in this matter, and that He grant us His continued help and guidance in these efforts to safeguard our homes and to protect our boys and girls."

Parents Warned to Keep Toboggans Off Highways

Because of a large number of accidents so far this winter on state highways, John P. Arnoldy, chief of the state Highway patrol, urges Minnesota parents to cooperate by seeing that their children keep toboggans off the trunk system and prevent them hitching toboggans to automobiles and other vehicles.

"These accidents have occurred particularly around small towns," Mr. Arnoldy said. "No person shall hitch a toboggan, hand sled or bicycle, or similar vehicle, onto any motor vehicle," according to the Uniform Highway Traffic act, and Mr. Arnoldy has instructed his patrolmen to see this law is enforced, for the protection of child lives.

6868 Drivers Licenses Revoked in January

Sixty-eight drivers licenses were revoked in Minnesota in January, as compared to 60 a year ago, and 51 licenses were suspended, as compared to 41 a year ago, according to a report by Gil Carmichael, director of the state Drivers License Bureau, to N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways.

Sixty-six of the revocations were for driving while intoxicated, the other two being for incompetency. The suspensions followed convictions for speeding, reckless and careless driving and unsatisfied judgments, as required by law, Mr. Carmichael said. Suspensions are temporary. Since the Drivers License division of the state Highway department was organized in May, 1931, there have been 2,420 license revocations, the report shows, of which 2,313 were for drunken driving.

CATCHES RABBITS BY "CAVE MAN" METHODS

Graceville.—A new method of catching cotton tail and the so-called bush rabbits, of which there are plenty in the park grounds, where the soft snow is deep in sheltered places, is described by Wayne Pullis, a WPA worker in Toqua Lakes State Park. In sighting a rabbit, he simply starts after it and the rabbit makes a few bounds and disappears. Mr. Pullis "marks it down" and then goes to the spot where he last saw it. He sticks his arm down into the snow and brings forth the rabbits, as many as half a dozen in one afternoon. Pullis' neighbors are appreciative of the rabbits they receive.

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By State Senator V. J. Weber

Sometimes one has to pinch himself in the State Senate to find out if what is happening is really true. On Monday we had one such example when one of the self appointed guardians of the "common people", for that is what the Administration adherents set themselves up to be, attempted to pass to the Calendar a supposedly non-controversial bill. The bill would permit Independent School Districts to go into business—to regiment, as so many classes are trying to do today. The bill would permit such school districts to sell pencils, paper, books and in fact, all school supplies to the student body. A few of us, who are still old-fashioned enough to believe that our little country merchants should have some protection against regimentation, and who are entitled to the little profit they might get out of selling penny pencils opposed the bill and it died an ignominous death on General Orders.

In every session of the legislature we hear much about taxation and perhaps more than any other form of taxation, that on the mining companies doing business in Minnesota. People generally know little about the amount of monies paid by the larger industries and far less about the taxes paid by the mining companies. This writer got some real surprises this week when he glanced over the annual report of the State Auditor, that he might vote intelligently on the proposed tax legislation. The figures are authentic and for the years 1935 and 1936. However, a comparison of any other year would show the same results. In 1935, the report shows the combined tax payments of all the Railroad Companies, all the Insurance companies, all the telegraph companies, all the telephone companies, all the express companies, all the sleeping car companies, all the freight line companies, all the inheritance taxes collected, all the chain store taxes collected, all the money and credit taxes collected and all of the state income taxes collected in 1935 amounted to $15,414,456.43. The same collections in 1936 amounted to $14,808,008.35. Now, dear reader, hold your breath. In 1935 and 1936 the mining companies in Minnesota paid more taxes than all these agencies combined. In 1935 this goose that lays the golden eggs paid into the Minnesota treasury $19,268,667.00 and in 1936, $19,171,326.00. Put that in your pipe and smoke it and then ask yourselves if the mining companies are being undertaxed?

House File No. 5 is causing stirring debates in the House committee and loud voices resound through the corridors when the bill is up for consideration. The bill purports to co-ordinate, consolidate, and in some respects amend an existing law covering the subject of acquisition, ownership and operation of various public utilities and certain additional lines of business which the law does not now authorize the utilities to engage in. The previous acts which authorized municipalities to extend electric service 30 miles beyond their corporate limits, by a majority vote of the electors, except in villages where a 5-8 vote is required, covers the whole subject of the acquisition, ownership, leasing and operation. The new bill is another one of the regimentation bills, since it seeks to advance the philosophy and practice of government ownership. It is the most drastic measure one could hope for since it provides that the judgment of condemnation shall fix and determine the amount to be paid and shall vest in the city all the right, title and estate of the parties to the action, in and to all the property taken. The most drastic provision is that the city may immediately enter upon and take the property. Thus in one swoop the fundamental rights of a property owner are destroyed. And still worse, the voter has no say in the matter. The law is amended so that a majority of the city council may place the plan in effect. It appears that the taxpayer will never have a day in court, for the council could spend an unlimited amount of money on such a utility.

The sixth week of the legislature ends, with adjournment taken until Monday, that due respect might be paid that man of men, Abraham Lincoln. Were that he were here today to remind us that "if there is anything that is the duty of the whole people to never entrust to hands but their own, that thing is the preservation and perpetuity of their own liberties and institutions."

FACTORY WORKERS IN AUTO INDUSTRY NOW BACK AT JOBS

Protracted General Motors Strike Brought to End Thursday

Michigan automotive plants reopened Saturday to the vanguard of more than 100,000 General Motors employees summoned back to their jobs since settlement of the six-week strike.

Factory whistles blew for 1,800 men in Flint, Mich., key city in the deadlock. Thirty thousand more resumed work there Monday, with thousands more following through the week.

Preparations for a return to capacity production were pushed in the far flung factories of the corporation which turns out nearly half of the nation's automobiles.

In dozens of cities auto workers were going to their jobs at higher pay. General Motors announced a 5-cent-an-hour increase almost as the agreement which ended its dispute with the United Automobile Workers was signed Thursday.

The Chrysler Corporation announced a pay hike averaging 10 per cent two days before the strike was settled. The Packard Motorcar Company followed with a 5-cent-an-hour boost yesterday.

The three raises will put an additional $40,000,000 a year into pay envelopes of approximately 300,000 wage earners.

PUBLIC OPINION

Mr. Editor:

In your paper of Feb. 4th, Mr. N. K. Anderson writes that he would "like to get clear" whether it is right and legal to be lobbying at the legislative sessions. He thinks it must be "next to illegal". Permit me then to do a little explaining. A "lobby" is the name for the assembly-hall in a hotel and in front of the legislative chambers. Those halls are built for the free use of free people. When we elect our representatives to our legislature they are not only "supposed to do the work for us" (as Mr. Anderson states), but they are also supposed to know what to do. Now there are nearly 170 members in the House besides the senators, (I do not remember the exact number). About a dozen of these are from our northern part of the state and all the others are south of us. All bills have to have a majority of votes to be adopted. Altho the men we elect are good and intelligent men they do not know everything, and they do not want to vote yes to anything they do not know much about. So there we are. That is the cause for what we call lobbying. Those from the southern part cannot fully know what we in the northern part need, and vice versa.

And then comes in the very important factor that we are a democracy. The word "democracy" is derived from the Greek words "demos", meaning people, and "kraten" to rule. Our government begins with townships, village and city councils, counties, state, and ends with United States. All these divisions are democracies seperately and a union collectively. The intent of the framers of our government in all its branches was: rule by the people- democracy. All our elected officials then, are, and should be, the servants of the people who tell them what they need and what kind of laws to make. If we cut out the so-called lobbying we have no longer a democracy but dictatorship. But lobbying must be controlled so that it does not tolerate persons in the lobby who use money for arguments. Everybody knows that certain kinds of business concerns, which seek unjust profits from the people, are willing to spend money as bribes in our legislative lobbies, and it is that kind of lobbying Governor Benson has advised our present legislature to make laws for stopping. There are now some such laws, but there are loopholes thru which the dishonest rascals can escape detection.

Lobbying honest lobbying can not be abolished in a democracy. It may become necessary to forbid such activity in the legislative lobby, but it will be continued at some other meeting place outside the capitol building. The people must be heard, and they must have opportunity to inform their representatives not only those in their own district but all the others who need to have the details in connection with what people from different parts of the state ask for. Our representatives and senators are men who have their own business or occupations in the districts where they live; in other words, they are busy men (or at least ought to be busy men), and consequently they cannot know all the details about hundreds of things which they are called on to pass honest and correct judgment upon, and to form into laws. Hence they got to let the people come and explain why they want such and such a law. Such lobbying cannot be stopped nor be made illegal.

Mr. Anderson—as he writes himself—must be hard pressed for contributions as not less than three different organizations are after him for contributions to "lobby funds. As for me, I have not been bothered by any of them. The organization I have joined in with do not bother anyone. It is all free will contributions from good and honest people. From now on our organization will be watching doings at the State Capitol.

A. K. Lockrem.

By Wm V. Werking

Forty-five Years Ago

It is probable that if there had been a strong organization of the Knights of Columbus in Thief River Falls in 1892 the city's name might have been changed to Columbus. The early records which we have been consulting tell us that in October of 1892 a movement was launched to change the name of the city to Columbus because the Great Northern railway entered the city on the anniversary of Columbus' discovery of America.

However we are informed by the early chronicler that nothing came of the move. In view of recent developments the following paragraph may be of interest: "On Sept. 15, 1892, Rasmus Oen, the village tinsmith, decided to have bigger quarters and commenced the erection of a two-story building on the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue, now replaced by his splendid brick structure."

We also find that the city was considered old enough in 1892 to have a history worth recording and the Thief River Falls Press on Sept. 22, 1892, published its first booster edition which contained 12 pages "filled with a comprehensive writeup of the city and a number of the old-style wood etchings and line drawings showing men and scenes of the city."

Other facts recorded for 1892 are the grading of the first road leading into the city. It was the Tweet road later known as the North road entering from the west. The first express office was opened by the Great Northern November 24. Telegraph connection with the outside world was not effected until Jan. 12, 1893. Additional events of 1893 included establishment of Greenwood cemetery February 20, the fire March 1, when a small building owned by John LaBree, occupied by Sam Heasley and located at the west end of the bridge caught fire from a defective chimney, inauguration of train mail service April 24, selection of site of Central school June 10, voting of bonds for fire protection at special election June 17, opening of Red Lake Rapids school December 8 and dedication of Methodist church December 10.

There were 28 buildings in the city under construction May 19, including residences and store buildings.

The Business Men's Club, an organization similar to the later Commercial club, was active in 1893. Of the next year we read:

"With the beginning of the year 1894 Thief River Falls began to stretch itself and reach out for more territory. J. H. Sanders, then a prominent figure in the commercial life of the city, had become interested in the Roseau country and had founded the townsite of Roseau. At his instigation steps were taken providing for a combined effort to secure the trade of that section. The farmers of Rocksbury were also looking for improvements and began an agitation for drainage which resulted finally in the construction of a number of small ditches which were later replaced by large drainage systems.

On Jan. 8, 1894, the Central school building, a four-room structure, was occupied by the 150 pupils then enrolled. "The event", we are told, "was one of much rejoicing on the part of pupils, teachers and parents." Next we learn:

"At a meeting on January 9 the Business Men's union was dissolved and a new organization created with L. P. Johnson as president and F. J. Stebbins as secretary. A committee consisting of F. H. Kratka and Ira C. Richardson was appointed to go to Washington and take up with the proper officials the matter of improving the Red Lake river. The committee conferred in New York with the directors of the Duluth & Winnipeg railway regarding the route of the road which it was expected would be built into this section."

That the village was growing was evidenced by the necessity of providing more postoffice room. In the latter part of January more boxes and a money order window were installed by Postmaster W. T. Mullarky. January 29 the site for the city hall was purchased from J. W. Schafer and J. H. Kroke for $600, the property being that on which the court house was later built. On February 9 the city purchased from the Watrous Engine Co., of St. Paul a fire engine and other apparatus, the city already owning a hook and latter truck and chemicals. On February 12 A. C. Hanson was awarded the contract for digging two reservoirs, one to be under the city hall and the other on Fourth street between Main and LaBree avenues.

Wit and Humor

PRETTY BAD

A certain popular footballer had—as all players do—an off day, when he could do nothing right.

The crowd demonstrated its displeasure, and his fellow players looked at him askance, but bore it all stoically.

The final blow fell, however, when he left the ground at the end of the game. A grubby urchin, who had been hanging round the players' entrance, sidled up to him and thrust a piece of paper into his hand.

"'Ere, mister," he said sadly, "There's your blinkin' autograf back."—London Answers Magazine.

Silenced

For nearly an hour the talkative man had bored his fellow-passengers in the railway carriage with accounts of his dog Caesar.

"Sir," said the old gentleman, who had been vainly trying to snatch forty winks, "suppose you took Caesar into a shop and bought him a muzzle, and then asked the assistant to put it on for you and he refused, what would you do?"

"Why," said the talkative man, "put it on myself!"

"Quite so!" was the reply, "and I think all here will agree with me that you would look jolly well with it on."—Birmingham Post.

"Simple" Arithmetic

Old Gentleman—And have you any brothers and sisters, my boy?

Jimmy—Sure! One sister, one and a half brothers.

Old Gentleman—What-a-at?

Jimmy—Figure it out for yourself—two half-sisters and three half-brothers.

Properties

"Do you think politicians have a moral right to listen in on telephone conversations?" asked the conscientious constituent.

"Certainly not," answered Senator Sorghum. "A politician should mind his own affairs and not waste time on dates that do not pertain to public interest."

NO COMFORTS

"Gee, I'm sorry I landed in this bum jug."

"Yer right, bo. Why, they don't even serve four o'clock tea here!"

In Sea Terms

"Good morning, parson. Haven't seen you lately."

"No, captain, I've been busy. Only this morning I married three couples in 15 minutes."

"Smart going, parson! That's 12 knots an hour!"—Outspan.

A Wreck

Jones—I have come to the conclusion that my car's a wreck.

Bill—A wreck?

Jones—Yes; every time I leave it anywhere, policemen come up and ask me if I have reported the accident.

Rather Superfluous

"So Brown took a course in first aid. Is he good at it?"

"A little hasty sometimes. A man was nearly drowned yesterday, and the first thing Brown did was to throw a glass of water in his face."

THE VERY NERVE

Hubby—We'll spend every vacation here.

Wifey—Goodness! you don't expect I intend to have the same husband all my life, do you?

The Well-Dressed Man

"Aye, that's ma night cap," said the Aberdonian.—Bystander Magazine.

Conscientous Effort

"What's that book you're studying so faithfully?"

"Collection of rube stories," replied Farmer Corntossel. "Mother thinks I ought to talk a little dialect to amuse the summer boarders."

Bill's Last Stand

William—I shall have to give up smoking. The doctor says that one lung is nearly gone.

Wife—Oh, Bill! Couldn't you hold out a little longer until we get enough coupons for the new rug?—Our Sun.

Extra Safe

A city chap was crossing a pasture. "Say there," he shouted to a farmer, "is this bull safe?"

"Well," said the farmer, "I reckon he's a lot safer than you are just now."—Our Paper.

Why She Didn't Hear

Mistress—"Minnie, I rang for you. Didn't you hear?"

Maid—"No, ma'am. A lorry must have been passing."

"But I rang five times."

"Well, then, ma'am, it looks as if five lorries must have been passing."

Monoxide an Odorless Gas

Carbon monoxide, an odorless gas, issues from the exhaust of every motor car, and the dangers of running a motor in a small garage or confined quarters with poor ventilation are extreme, according to a writer in the Chicago Tribune. Regardless of the constant warnings, there are many fatalities. Some are under the false impression that the deadly gas is easily detectable by its odor and a feeling of dizziness, which would allow time for the opening of doors and the gaining of fresh air, but carbon monoxide is an invisible and odorless gas.

The G.O.P.'s future is a matter of concern to the thoughtful. Some see it going the way of the Whigs, but there is always the hope that Life Begins in '40.—Barron's.

Women on the Stage

It was not until after the Restoration that women were permitted to appear on the stage. Charles II, in 1662, granted a license for a theater in Dorset gardens, London. One of the clauses was as follows: "Whereas, the women's parts in plays have hitherto been acted by men in the habits of women, at which some have taken offense, we do permit and give leave for the time to come, that all women's parts be acted by women." Mrs. Coleman, who played Ianthe in Davenant's "Siege of Rhodes," in 1656, probably was the first English actress.

You can tell when a woman isn't afraid of her husband. She doesn't mind showing him the fender she crushed on his new car.—Atlanta Georgian.

Highway Department Spends $615,000 During Past Four Months

Fighting heavier snows than in 1935-1936, the state highway department has had to spend $615,000 battling snow on trunk roads the first four months of the winter, October, November, December and January, according to an announcement by N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways. This sum is equivalent to the cost of bituminous surfacing approximately 341 miles of trunk highway.

With Northwestern, Western and Southwestern Minnesota hardest hit, Virginia having a record of 84 inches (seven feet) of snow, the department has kept the main highways open for all but a few hours and secondary roads have not been tied up more than two days in any instance, Mr. Elsberg said. The state, due to the heavy snow, has been forced to go to the assistance of several counties, extending the work of the regular highway crews.

Stretching across the state is approximately 6,000,000 feet of snow fence, the erecting, maintenance and removal of which will cost approximately $225,000. While the snow has been heavier this year, fortunately there hasn't been as much wind as last season, when $800,000 was spent in snow removal in a single month, February, and approximately $1,500,000 was needed for snow removal for the year, a part of the $8,000,000 maintenance expense.

Snow removal expense so far in 1936-1937 is running about the same as in 1935-1936, Mr. Elsberg said, but highway crews have been able to do a better job in keeping the highways open, due to lower drifts. In numerous cases highway plows have preceded doctors and ambulances in their work of mercy in the rural districts. County highways have been opened up when county equipment, heavily overtaxed, was unable to do the job, and state equipment was available.

Requests from local governmental units for such state departmental assistance, made possible on a contract basis by the 1935 legislature, have been far greater this year than ever before.

Particularly bad spots this year have been near Marshall, Pipestone, Slayton and Windom, practically the same places that caused the most trouble last year.

U. S. Sportsmen Spend Huge Sum for Licenses

Sportsmen in the United States and Alaska paid nearly $10,000,000 for hunting licenses and Federal migratory bird hunting stamps in 1935, the latest year for which figures are available, says the U. S. Biological Survey. They spent $9,256,758.94 for hunting licenses and $446,919 for the Federal stamps, which sell for one dollar each and are required of waterfowl hunters in addition to state licenses. A total of 5,988,064 resident and non-resident licenses were issued in 1935, approximately 70,000 more than in the previous year, when 5,918,045 hunters paid a total of $9,068,881.65. Sales of the 1935 Federal hunting stamp by the Post Office Department were 188,425 less than in the previous year.

Itasca Co. Has Had 86 Inches of Snow to Date

Not since records of snowfalls have been kept in Itasca county has there been so great a precipitation of snow by the tenth of February as has fallen this winter, says the Grand Rapids Herald-Review. Up to the present time, since the first storm of November, there has been a total fall of 86.2 inches, or more than seven feet. These records have been kept by John Logue at Pokegama Dam, and are accurate for this section. The heavy storm of Sunday and Monday of last week, brought down 12.9 inches of snow, blocking all roads and holding up traffic for some time. The snow has settled somewhat in the woods, but a careful measurement by Mr. Logue on Monday afternoon indicated a dept of 58 inches where it has not drifted at all.

2 YOUNG BOYS ARE ACCLAIMED HEROES

Wirt—Two small boys, who trudged barefoot through half a mile of snow to carry their youngest sister and a baby to safety, have been acclaimed heroes. The boys, 7 and 9-year old sons of Mrs. Verne Anker, carried the younger children to the protection of a neighbor's home after fire had destroyed the dwelling in which they lived with their blind mother. The boys were unable to save any of their clothing, but did manage to save blankets in which they wrapped the younger children for the trip through the bitter cold.

Echoes as Alarm Clocks

MODERN Americans who have to invest in alarm clocks in order to be certain of waking up in time for work each morning may well envy the good fortune of Jim Bridger, famous frontiersman, who was able to draft Mother Nature into service to assure early rising.

Near Bridger's ranch in Wyoming were some obsidian cliffs. Frequently he heard the sharp crack of a rifle which puzzled him, because he knew there was no one within 147 miles of his home. Finally it dawned on him that these reports were the echoes of the rifle shots which he had fired the previous day when he was getting his daily supply of fresh meat. These obsidian cliffs had caught the report of his rifle, held it overnight and then sent it back to him each day to remind him that it was time to go out hunting again.

Next it occurred to Jim that he might just as well make use of the echoes in other ways. So every time he knew that he had to get up early the next morning, he would step outside the door, face the cliffs and shout: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!" And, sure enough, the next morning he would be awakened by the echo shouting in his ear: "Hey, Jim, it's time to get up!"

BIG INCOMES HIT HARD BY PROPOSED NEW LEGISLATION

State Levy Would be Larger in Top Brackets Than Any Other State

If the proposed administration income tax bill now pending before the state legislature is enacted into law without change, Minnesota will have the highest income levy in the upper brackets of any state.

This was the conclusion reached in an analysis of the proposal by the Minnesota institute of governmental research, issued Saturday.

The personal income tax rates reach the highest maximum of the 30 states with income taxes, the report said, and study of the effect on various sample incomes indicates Minnesota's tax would be well above that of any other state.

The report also declares that the proposed corporation rates would give the state by far the highest levy against corporations with large incomes and result in a substantial increase in the tax on the smaller corporations.

Taking individual incomes, the report says that the personal rates would jump the Minnesota rates on a single man with $5,000 income so that instead of being 7th from the lowest among the states, the ranking would be 27th.

The income tax measure has already been recommended for passage by the house taxes and tax laws committee with several changes being made from the original draft.

There have been candidates who would rather be right than be President, but there have been just as many who would rather be wrong than not be.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

LIBERTY WILL NO LONGER EXIST

Roosevelt excuses his attempt to amend the Constitution by packing the Supreme Court by explaining that the usual procedure of amendment is too slow. Strange reasoning. It certainly didn't take him long to restore liquor to a legal status a few years ago, and he accomplished his purpose at that time by a constitutional amendment. But that method is now too slow, he says.

Just to refresh our memories on how long it did take to legalize liquor, we checked through the old files. Realizing that Roosevelt did not assume office until the spring of 1933, we looked through the 1934 files for information as to the date prohibition ended. Nothing there. So we went back into 1933. There we discovered that legal liquor was flowing in December of that year. Now from the month of March to the month of December isn't a long time. In other words, in the space of about nine months the Constitution was amended and the purposes of that amendment put into effect. At that rate the President could have had the Constitution amended several times since the Supreme Court turned thumbs down on some of his New Deal ideas.

In other words, the facts justify only one conclusion and that is that the President, already the ruler of Congress, now feels that he is strong enough to ignore the constitutional rights of even the people themselves, and that instead of submitting the question of changes in the Constitution to the people, he will effect such changes in that document as he desires by packing the Supreme Court.

In unmistakable terms he has served notice on the country that the people are no longer to have the right to determine for themselves what the constitutional law of the country shall be. He has demanded of a rubber-stamp Congress the right to subject the judgment of the Supreme Court to his will. With a subservient court, as he already has a subservient Congress, constitutional government, a government of checks and balances, will remain in name only. We will have a dictatorship. One man will be the supreme law maker. One man will be the supreme judge. He already is the Commander in Chief of our army. With his assumed powers he will have unlimited authority.

Then it will be too late to protest. The voice of the opposition will then be silenced. Liberty will no longer exist. We may still enjoy a few privileges but we will enjoy them as concessions from a dictator and not as the rights of free citizens.

OPPOSITION WITHIN THE RANKS

During the entire life of our country, Congress has enacted 24,000 laws. All of these laws, except 73, have been approved by the Supreme Court. Of the 73 that have been rejected by the Court in whole or in part, 57 were referred back to Congress for technical reasons. Only 16 were rejected because they violated constitutional rights of citizens.

Twelve of the 73 rejected laws were New Deal Acts. Most of these rejected New Deal acts would have extended greatly the powers of the Federal government. The Constitution places definite limitations on the powers of the Federal government. In passing judgment on these laws, the Supreme Court did not attempt to determine whether or not these laws were good or bad. The Court merely held that they overstepped the delegated powers of the Federal government and that if such powers were to be exercised by the Federal government the people would first have to give their consent by proper amendments to the Constitution.

President Roosevelt objects to amending the Constitution in the manner prescribed by the Constitution itself. That method is too slow, he says. In other words, the Constitution, in his opinion, is merely another relic of the "horse and buggy days", as antiquated as the judges who interpret it. He would put new ideas into the Constitution by putting new Justices on the Supreme Court bench. That, he argues, is a far more modern method of making amendments than the silly old idea of submitting them to the people.

President Roosevelt does not seem to appreciate the fact that what he does today might be done again by some later President. Giving him the benefit of the doubt and assuming that he is now motivated by a desire to make the government better, there will be other leaders in the years to come who will not be inspired by entirely altruistic motives. Broad powers may enable a good leader to accomplish much good. But those broad powers in the hands of a bad leader would also increase the power of evil.

It is for this reason that so much opposition to Roosevelt's court plan has developed among those who think well personally of Roosevelt and his ideas. When Senator Wheeler of Montana opposes a White House command you can take for granted that the order is an extreme one. Such opposition is not posed for dramatic effect. Attempts of the administration to classify critics of the [illegible] does not have the desired appeal when in that group are included some of its own staunchest supporters.

That the "Torry" press of the country opposes this scheme is not strange. It is interesting to note, however, that many of the papers that supported Roosevelt in the last campaign, are now "holding their noses." Following are the comments of a few such papers:

"It is when Mr. Roosevelt asks power to remake the Supreme Court itself that his message creates grave doubts as to the wisdom of his proposal. For, despite demands for more liberal legislation, Americans hold for the Supreme Court a deeply rooted confidence that it is their strongest protection against a public majority running out of bounds. It is true that the structure of the Court is not, and should not be, immune from amendment. Congress has changed the number of its members from time to time. But at no time has Congress given the Executive the power to appoint new members in number sufficient to 'pack' the bench."—Chattanooga Times.

"His action leaves him fairly open to the charge that he is endeavoring to do by indirection what he cannot do directly. Cleverness and adroitness in dealing with the Supreme Court are not qualities which sober-minded citizens will approve.

"Nor will the fact fail to be emphasized that Mr. Roosevelt gave not a single hint of such a scheme in any of his speeches during the campaign. If he was then meditating it, when seeking a mandate from the people, it would have been only proper for him to make public some hint of his intentions.

"They will now, however, have the opportunity to express their opinion. And the voice of lawyers in particular will and should be heard in no uncertain sound.

"Congress may make haste to prostrate itself before the President's will, but fortunately there are in that body enough good lawyers to make sure that the bill will have full and searching discussion.

"The closest scrutiny will be given those parts of it dealing with the personnel of judges. Therein lies the greatest danger of political sharp practice, a thing which Americans are not yet ready to condone under name of judicial reform."—New York Times.

"Of the lesser items in the President's proposal more may be said on the merit side of the ledger.

"As to the major purpose, however—that of bending the Supreme Court to the will of a popular executive, backed by a Congress inclined to subserviency—it is of quite another character.

"This legislation should certainly be defeated."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"He is seeking, in effect, a Constitutional amendment by indirection. As yet, it seems to have occurred to few New Dealers that if Congress sanctions this course to further the aims of a liberal regime, a reactionary Congress would have an excellent precedent for increasing the size of the court in order to win judicial approval of Fascist rule. In government, it never is wise to employ obstructive new weapons that may be used against you when conditions are reversed. Bruening unhappily demonstrated that in Germany when he suspended constitutional guarantees."—Richmond News-Leader.

"We are living in a changing era and we are making many experiments in an attempt to meet unprecedented conditions. Yet tomorrow may demonstrate that the innovations which are considered sound today are totally unsound. The Supreme Court is the balance-wheel of our form of government. Before we tamper with it we should analyze its past record and at the same time take into account the potential dangers of a drastic change."—Newport News Daily Press.

"Yet it is not Scarbonian to interpose the hope that the task of bringing about larger harmony between constitutional principles and the people's desires and needs shall not be left entirely to the votes of Senators and Representatives, some of whom seem to know and care little about the landmarks of human freedom which the Supreme Court has established. A wise people will not destroy a barrier erected by their own hands against hasty and emotional action."—Asheville Times.

"Nevertheless, we hope there are men in both Houses who will see the danger of the [illegible] and will stand firmly against tampering with the Supreme Court. To us, it seems the President is inviting very serious trouble, perhaps disaster."—Shreveport Journal.

INSECURE EMPLOYERS

(Redwood Falls Gazette)

The four o'clock coffee addicts have a seemingly inexhaustible subject for conversation in social security legislation with its old age pension or annuities, unemployment insurance, percentages, deductions, bookkeeping methods, who pays, how, when, where and why.

Like so many enterprises of the government, the explanations have had perfectly willing employers. [illegible] involved in technical language and the records to be kept present such an awe inspiring appearance that the mere business man is inclined to throw up his hands in holy horror.

If as an employer, one could sit down with a government official and say here, I want the lowdown on this thing with the least possible extra [illegible] and [illegible] the why and wherefore, the whole thing would become ridiculously simple. An encouraging note at the Minnesota Editorial association convention recently was the advice of a federal tax man who told the editors frankly that his department expects some mistakes and isn't going to be unreasonable with those of us who at first are somewhat [illegible] about the whole [illegible].

President Roosevelt terms his proposal a simple "reorganization" of the federal judiciary. It is well for Congress and the people of the United States not to cherish any illusions about that "reorganization." It is a step, and a long step, toward dictatorship. Perhaps Congress and the people prefer that form of government to the American system of checks and balances. The people will have little chance to express themselves on this matter, but whatever is the choice of Congress they should face the proposal fully conscious of its dangers. They should remember that all change is not progress, and that it is better to stand still than to proceed in the wrong direction.—Minnesota Mascot.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

Your editorial entitled "Democracy or Dictatorship" has in it some mental suggestions to which people should give heed and more thought. To the indifference of the people must be blamed the rise of dictatorship and the process is so subtle that unless vigilantly on guard they will find their rights as citizens more and more imperceptibly slipping away from them. Rights lost are hard to regain. Such rights have often been won at frightful costs. It rests as a duty upon our present generation to see to it that the labor, the sacrifice and devotion of past social minded people be not lost by such indifference. "The history of the human race is a record of liberties gained and lost" is truly said.

In the complexities, diversions, struggles and conflicting interests of a super industrial civilization, we are apt to be so occupied and our mental view point so perverted that we may lose sight of our public duty to ourselves and posterity to ever guard and advance the interests of the people that there need be no danger of our subjection by the mercenary few who lack all concepts of the interests of the people. When people have fallen into such a lethargy, that they no longer interest themselves in nor seek to promote the well being and interests of the many, then we shall be ripe for resetting of the stage ushering in the dictatorship by the few.

Any country wherein its peoples take no interest in their government, do not espouse measures to promote the well being of the many nor constantly stir with the emotions of "This is my own country—my native land" cannot rate itself as a Democracy which presumes it to be a government "of the people, by the people and for the people". When mercenary or selfish motives guide instead of social minded purposes, then, if such a feeling becomes predominant over the country, we are ready to let the scepter of government out of our hands into the hands of those who can and do take advantage of a condition to enhance themselves. The future of a Democracy is yet in your hands if you but protect it.

Gilbert A. Brattland.

Editor Times:

Now a days it is quite popular to classify one's self as a "progressive", but what a travesty on the meaning of progressive it is to stand for going back hundreds of years, by fostering dictatorial tendencies in government.

Take for instance the present national administration, with its rubber-stamp congress. Every major act, clear from the infamous "Economy Act" down to the 1935 banking acts, giving the Federal Reserve Board power over trading organizations, has been for the purpose of protecting the usury system, and yet there are thousands of voters calling themselves "Progressives" who would like to see the president make another rubber-stamp out of the Supreme court, so he would become a full-fledged dictator, like Hitler!

These "progressives" better look up history and see how hard and long a fight it took for the people to establish constitutional, parliamentary government, before they plug for a dictator.

Our constitution provides for its own amendment, but the big idea is to "break" the constitution so as to establish a precedent.

According to the Revelation of our Lord, Jesus Christ a dictator is the worst possible form of government. (See Rev. 13-7 to 9)

Editor Times:

There has been much publicity given the state dispensary plan as mentioned by the Governor of our state in his inaugural address and also in a later address to the State Legislature at this 1937 session. Some of this publicity has not been as fair as it should have been. Therefore, the public opinion is not being based upon actual facts and sound principles.

There are two major points of view with reference to any system for the control of liquor sales. The emphasis may be placed on revenue, so that our laws are constructed so that the business might provide as much revenue as possible to the state or to local communities. The other point of view is that of control of the traffic regardless of any reduction of revenue. At this time it might be proper to reclassify the so-called "Wets" and the so-called "Drys" by considering as "Wets" those who emphasize revenue at the expense of control, and "Dry" as those who emphasize control first, last and always. There is no doubt in my mind but that the people of Minnesota, by a very substantial majority, are in favor of such legislation as emphasizes control regardless of what the revenues might be.

In the February issue of the Northwest Liquor Trade Journal, which is a journal that promotes the interests of the liquor traffic in the Northwest, the following statistics are found:

Revenue for Iowa, 1935, $1,224,592.62.

The population of these two states are very much the same, there being less than 100,000 difference in favor of Minnesota. Iowa has a system known as "State Monopoly". Minnesota is a licensed state. The amount of sales are not reported here, but it is at least safe to estimate that liquor sales in Minnesota, based upon the amount of revenue derived therefrom, must be at least twice that of the State of Iowa. This is a very good argument in favor of a state dispensary, that the state must not enter into the liquor business and that politics and liquor will not mix. To those who may be serious with these arguments, I only ask the question "How can it be possible to get a worse mixture of liquor and politics than what we have had in Minnesota since 1933?" And further "What is the moral difference between selling the liquor yourself or permitting somebody else to sell it?" The people of Minnesota are in the liquor business at the present time having licensed its sale; and the conditions under which our state has suffered since repeal have been in fact so desperate that wherever we go from here will necessarily be a step toward improvement.

I appreciate the several problems which any change in the present law might create. I also am confident that our people appreciate the many problems that actually now exist under our present law, and that something remedial must be done to insure the moral welfare of our people. It is to be expected that any interest which has derived revenue from the sale of intoxicating liquor in our state will oppose any attempt of change. To all such parties as are engaged in the business, I wish to make this appeal: that your first consideration be the greatest good for the greatest number and that any personal sacrifice might be made in favor of common welfare. After all, moneys gained by the sale of liquor which can only be destructive in your neighbor's life is not a revenue of which to be proud even though it might be legal. The introduction of liquor after prohibition in our country has not in the least helped to solve the employment situation. Figures used with reference to employment by liquor interests are so glaringly false and misleading that it is quite unnecessary to mention them here. When all is said and done on this matter, I am certain the people of Minnesota will not permit the powers of evil to be let loose even though they would guarantee the employment of every individual in our state.

It, therefore, becomes imperative that the whole problem be weighed on the scale of human welfare. It must not at any time come under the concept of personal profit. The state dispensary plan may be carried through down the line to the local stores. It may be referred to the wholesale only. It will retain the county option privilege, and under the county option may give the people the choice between having state stores and municipal stores. Speaking now of revenue, it cannot be construed as fair that any small community shall harvest revenue from a large community. The revenues that are of any local store do not fairly belong to a small community. Such revenue should be for the equal advantage of all taxpayers of the state. The state dispensary system would therefore provide equal benefits to rural communities as to cities and villages which now have municipal stores. There are arguments worthy to be considered against a state dispensary, but when all arguments are carefully analyzed and the sum totals are arrived at, the arguments in favor of a state dispensary act for liquor control are more numerous and weighty than the arguments against it.

E. L. TUNGSETH.

His Unlucky Day

"YES, sir, I believe in that superstition about Friday, the 13th, bein' an unlucky day," said the old Ranger in Yellowstone park. "I recollect one of 'em in particular.

"I was out on patrol and discovered I didn't have a bite of food in my grub bag and only one shell left in my trusty ol' gun. Well, I sneaked through the woods till I saw a brace of quail sittin' on a bush so I maneuvered aroun' so as to be sure of gettin' both of 'em with one shot.

"I let 'er go an' by golly, when I went to pick up them two birds I found that I'd killed six more that was sittin' on the other side of the bush. Just then I heard a big commotion out in a little lake nearby. There was a big buck deer that had been skeered by my shot and had run out and got hisself mired down.

"I run out to help him but before I could get to him he drowned. As I was carryin' him to shore, I sunk down in the mud an' water up over the tops of my boots. So I took 'em off to pour out the water and derned if there didn't flop out of 'em a dozen of the finest trout you ever did see.

"Well, I strung the quail an' the deer an' the trout on a pole so I could carry 'em easier. But my struggles to get the load up on my shoulders was just too much of a strain on my suspender buttons. Derned if one didn't fly off with such force that it killed a rabbit 100 yards away.

"When that happened, I jest decided it wasn't no use to try to do any more huntin'. Seemed like it was my unlucky day, it being Friday, the 13th."

THIEVES DEFEAT HALLOCK 1-0 FOR 5TH STRAIGHT WIN

Crowd of 100 Local Fans Accompany Team Sunday to Hallock

Before a capacity crowd of nearly 1,000 people at Hallock Sunday including 100 Thief River Falls fans, the local hockey team scored its fifth successive victory by winning a clean, hardfought game from Hallock 1 to 0.

The two teams battled thru the first two periods without scoring, altho Hallock had a slight edge and had several excellent opportunities to score, only to be shut out by the brilliant goal tending of Tremontine of the Thieves.

With fifteen minutes of the last period gone, Stanbridge sank what proved to be the winning goal by grabbing the puck in front of the net after an assist by Julien. Swanson had no chance to make a save as a swarm of players were jammed in front of him.

Figures show that Tremontine turned aside 21 Hallock drives, while Swanson, Hallock Goalie, had only nine stops. The local goalie stopped twelve shots in the first period, six in the second and three in the third.

Rube Julien played his usual excellent game despite the fact that Sunday morning he drove more than 200 miles from International Falls to Hallock, battling snowdrifts on the way.

GOODRIDGE CO-OP. MAKES 185,678 LBS. BUTTER DURING '36

Production for Year Shows Gain Over 1935, Operator Nelson Shows

A gain in butter production of 8,086 pounds compared to 1935 was reported for last year's output of the Goodridge cooperative creamery at the annual meeting of stockholders of the institution Saturday afternoon, the total production for the year having been 185,678 pounds compared to 177,592 pounds in 1935 and 152,350 pounds in 1934.

With unfavorable weather keeping many shareholders away from the meeting, the matter of erecting a new creamery building was deferred for consideration at a special meeting to be called later. Three members of the board of directors were unanimously reelected, including C. A. Lehlberg, vice president; J. H. Claussen, secretary-treasurer; and O. Uglem.

W. E. Hole of the Minneapolis office of Land O'Lakes Creameries spoke on the work of his organization, and short talks were given also by Lloyd Nelson, operator, and by Carl Brahs of the local Land O'Lakes plant. Violin and banjo selections were provided by Selmer Ramsey and Floyd Haon, and following the program a group of women served lunch.

January, '37, Almost as Cold as January, 1936

January was one of the cold months in the history of Grand Forks, University weather bureau statistics show, with a difference of only .31 in the mean temperature of last month and a year ago. The -10.01 mean in January 1936 was the lowest ever recorded until February of the same year came along with -15. The January mean this year is -9.7. The coldest day in January a year ago, and in January this year occurred the same date the twenty-second—but it was three degrees warmer in 1937, when -36 was recorded, in comparison to the -39 in 1936.

Teacher Training Bill Is Advanced in House

The House education committee Friday recommended for passage a bill restoring special state aid payments for teachers' training departments in high schools. The measure would provide $1,500 a year for each high school with a teachers' training department, and this would be in addition to all other state aid payments. MAN DIES IN HAY BALER ACCIDENT EAST OF WARREN

Hans Rud Meets Death in Tragic Mishap Friday Afternoon

Hans Rud, well known Marshall county tractor and automobile mechanic, was killed instantly last Friday afternoon while oiling the hay baler of Carl Brink, says the Warren Sheaf.

Mr. Rud was employed with a baling crew working on the meadow lands south of the Thief River Falls road ten miles east of Warren. The rig was stopped for a few moments, giving Mr. Rud a chance to oil it. His foot slipped and his whole body was thrust into the powerful machinery. He was caught by the shoulder, crushing his right shoulder, back and chest. Most of the crew was standing by when the accident occurred. They rushed to his aid, reversing the machinery, but when released, he breathed but a few moments, and died instantly.

Sheriff O. C. Toftner and Coroner Dr. H. M. Ilegen were called to the scene, and pronounced death by accident. Mr. Rud was a mechanic at the Roger's garage last winter. He was well known as a tractor mechanic around Warren and in the Helgeland territory.

Hans Christian Rud was the son of the late Andrew L. Rud and Mrs. Christina Rud, who were pioneer settlers in Helgeland. He was born in that community August 1, 1897.

C. & C. Gets Reports of Committee Chairmen at Meeting Last Thursday

At the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday Frank Rinkel, chairman of the road committee, reported on a recent conference with State Highway Commissioner N. W. Secretary Paul Lundgren stated that he had attended a meeting in St. Paul relative to bill before the state legislature providing a tri-state joint commission to deal with Red River valley water conservation. The association went on record in favor of the passage by congress of the Pettengill bill, providing for cross-country rail freight rates as low as via the Panama canal, and providing that no higher rates be charged from either coast to intermediate points.

J. B. Conley, vice president of the organization, Dave Wellman of Wadena, and Miles Rowe, Wadena county agent, who attended the meeting said plans are to maintain an assembling point at Wabasha, which had been the previous location of the association's headquarters, and at Thief River Falls. The wool then will be shipped to Wadena where it will be inspected by a government grader.

The association has rented the accessory room in Elmer's garage for headquarters and Alex Huddleston, manager, plans to move to Wadena around the first of May.

COUNTY DAIRYMEN HEAR DISCUSSION BY "U" FARM MAN

Get Tips on Feeding at Meetings in St. Hilaire and Goodridge

Dairymen in the Goodridge and St. Hilaire communities met Tuesday and Wednesday to hear a discussion of dairy problems by Ed Hanson, extension dairy specialist from University Farm St. Paul. The topics receiving most consideration were, the dairy outlook, and feeding problems.

The dairy outlook, said Mr. Hanson is favorable for 1937 because the number of milch cows on farms January 1, is lower by about 2,000,000 head than it was in 1934. It is not likely that any marked increase in milch cows population will take place for several years because the number of heifers on farms under two years of age is at the lowest point since 1930.

Prices of dairy products are likely to hold at present levels and may rise in the next few months. It is not likely that summer prices of butterfat will fall to the usual low levels as many herds of cattle have been underfed throughout the winter.

"Any herd", said Mr. Hanson, "can usually be divided into two groups so far as production and feeding are concerned. First, cows that have calved recently and are still milking heavily; and second, cows that have dropped in milk flow to low levels." The first group of cows should receive the best hay available and some grain until pasture time. It is these cows that will make the most income and profit for the balance of the winter and thru the summer months. The grain mixture fed should be fitted to the quality of hay and other roughage available. With good alfalfa hay, a mixture of equal parts ground oats and barley will be satisfactory for production up to a pound of butterfat daily.

When low grade hay is fed a richer grain mixture is required. Such high protein feeds as linseed oil meal, or skimmilk will supply protein in the ration where alfalfa hay is absent. One gallon of skimmilk is equal to one pound of linseed or soybean meal. If cows refuse to drink skimmilk it may be mixed with grain feed and fed as a mash.

Alfalfa hay at present prices makes a cheaper source of food material for milk production than grain feeds.

ELSBERG TALKS AT COMMISSIONERS' MEET IN ST. PAUL

Says Department Now Has Requests for $45,000,000 in Projects

Requests from local and county governments and citizens groups for highway construction, which the Highway department lacks funds to perform, total more than $45,000,000, but roads cost money and the public can only enjoy the benefits of what it is willing to pay for.

At the same time the average urban motorist, especially in the larger cities and towns, pays more each year for garage rent and parking lot space, in other words pays more for a few square feet of cindered ground on which to let his car stand still, than he pays to construct, maintain and police 11,000 miles of state highway over which to drive.

These were two of the major points made by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, in an address before the state convention of the Minnesota association of County Commissioners in St. Paul.

Commissioner Elsberg charged that a deliberate campaign of misrepresentation of highway facts has been under way for some time. He also discussed with the county commissioners, who, he said, would understand the highway problems better than any other class of people, several instances which he said were not misrepresentation but mis-statements of fact, made in perfectly good faith because of mis-understanding.

He urged the county commissioners to take advantage of any assistance the state department is able to give them, at any time, and expressed the hope that county boards and the state could work in closer cooperation toward the solution of a common problem, how to build the most good roads with the least expense to the taxpayers.

Every county in the state, Commissioner Elsberg said, is seeking highway construction. These requests, he said, are mostly meritorious, but the state simply has not the funds to carry them out. They include:

Requests for grading and gravel surfacing of about 1,000 miles to cost $12,500,000.

Bituminous surfacing for 400 miles, at $2,000,000.

Paving for 500 miles, to cost $17,500,000.

Bridges and grade crossing projects totaling $10,000,000.

General betterment projects totaling $3,000,000.

Dog Provides Master With Free Taxi Service

Little Johnny Sopewinik of Northcote is the envy of all his schoolmates these days when he arrives at the school bus depot with his pet dog hitched to the sleigh. The remarkable animal faithfully pulls his little master a distance of ¾-mile to meet the morning bus bound for Hallock and then very dutifully returns home. About 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the faithful animal sets up quite a fuss until he is again harnessed to the sled and dispatched to meet his little 6-year-old master. He goes directly to the bus stop and waits patiently for Johnny to arrive and then brings him home again.

Central Co-op. Group Sold 25% So. St. Paul Livestock During 1936

Undismayed by one of the most severe blizzards of the winter, 1000 farmers and livestock producers of the five Northwest states trekked into St. Paul early last week to attend the 16th annual convention of the Central Cooperative Association stockholders on February 9 and 10.

In his report on the 1936 business of the Central Co-operative Association, N. K. Carnes, general manager, pointed out that the Central handled 18,810 carloads of livestock during the year, an increase of nearly 6,000 cars or 46 per cent over the previous year. This total was 25 per cent of South St. Paul receipts, of which practically 70 per cent arrived by truck and 30 per cent by rail.

"It is interesting to note," said Mr. Carnes, "that with only $36,775 worth of stock issued and outstanding at this time, the Central handled a business of $26,202,837.22. The board of directors of the Central declared a 25 per cent patronage refund based on commissions collected. This refund is equivalent to $107,259.93. This makes a total of $1,606,803.10 refunded to patrons since the organization started 15 years ago."

FARM GIRL HURT PLAYING IN LOFT

Windom—Seriously injured by an unusual accident, little nine year old Mariann Soleta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Soleta, farmers, living northwest of Windom, lies in a hospital in Mountain Lake with over fifty stitches in her hip. Mariann had climbed to the top of a pile of hay in her father's haymow when the loose hay began slipping down into an open space on the haymow floor. A sharp hay knife had been thrust into the hay, and in her descent her clothing caught on the knife carrying it down with her. She fell on it and cut a deep gash in the fleshy part of the body back of the hip, running nearly to the spine. She was rushed to the hospital where it was found necessary to take over fifty stitches in the wound.

INTERNAL REVENUE COLLECTOR GIVES RULES ON NEW TAX

Old-Age Annuity Taxes for January Due Not Later Than Feb. 28th

Employers of one or more individuals are reminded, according to a statement of J. R. Landy, collector of internal revenue, that returns under Title VIII of the social security act must be filed for the month of January not later than February 28. These returns must be filed each month.

"Tax form SS-1", said Mr. Landy, "which is to be used for payment of the commonly called 'old age annuity taxes', must be filed by employers of one or more within the prescribed time in order to avoid the penalties provided by law."

Attention of employers was also directed to the fact that the names, account numbers, and information regarding the wages paid to employees should not accompany Form SS-1 when filed. "Above all things", said Mr. Landy, "do not delay filing social security tax returns because you, as an employer, do not have an identification number and because each of your employees do not have account numbers. These numbers will not be used by employers until July 1937, when the first information returns must be filed."

Employers who have not been furnished blank Form SS-1 should immediately apply to the collector of Internal Revenue, St. Paul, Minnesota. Failure to receive a form does not relieve the employer of the penalty for delinquency in filing the return.

FEEDS PHEASANTS $25 IN ICE CREAM CONES

Breckenridge—With $25 some boy or girl could buy 500 ice cream cones, and what child would not be thrilled at the mere thought of having an ice cream cone every day for almost a year and a half? The local game warden is accustomed to many strange things, but when Art Jenson, Barnesville cafe proprietor offered him $25.00 worth of ice cream cones to use as feed for the pheasants it was something new to him. The cones were placed along the railroad tracks and a few days later the game warden arrived at the spot just in time to see a large cock pheasant strutting down the track with a large cone in its mouth.

TEAM OF HORSES FINDS WAY SAFELY BACK HOME

Elbow Lake—A team of horses belonging to Leighton Mann of near Wendell believes that the shortest way home is the best way, regardless of obstacles. When Mr. Mann was driving to town recently one evening, his horses broke away from the sled and started home. They passed under the railroad bridge two miles west of Wendell and took a road that has not been used since the heavy snows. The horses plowed through the snow and arrived safely home.

In the State Senate

By Sen. B. L. Tungseth

It is now several weeks since my last letter of this kind and, no doubt, the many folks at home are wondering just what is being done in the State Legislature at this time. However, our newspapers carry a fairly full line of information from our law making body so that information of general character is unnecessary.

The purpose of this letter is to call the attention of the people, both farmers and city folks, to new Rural Credit legislation which will be attempted at this session. We have in our legislative district an average number of Rural Credit farms-loans on which have become delinquent and titles of which have reverted back to the state. This matter is of serious loss, not only to the farmers but to all our taxpayers, as any loss which the state must incur will be spread out upon all of our taxpayers. All of these farms should be sold so that they again go back on the tax list in their respective communities because the state pays no taxes on its own lands.

Many of these loans are highly inflated and do not represent the true loan value of the farms at the time the loans were made. The state will, therefore, be forced to accept a loss, possibly in average of about twenty-five percent, on this investment, and the sooner the state accepts this loss the less the loss will be.

Our new legislation will create Boards of Appraisal and Arbitration in the several counties throughout the state in which the state, through its Rural Credits Department, has any interest in and to lands. Such a responsible board, two of which must be rural resident freeholders in their respective counties, will greatly expedite the problems relative to resale.

The rate of interest, if this bill is passed, will be three percent instead of the present four and one-fourth on all renewed loans as well as on loans already under contract.

Since the overhead expenses of the Rural Credit Department are very excessive on account of the crop payment on rentals our new bill will place all rentals, which temporarily might be necessary, on cash basis.

Many counties throughout the state have already organized themselves for the support of this legislation, and in order to be present at a public hearing on this bill in the near future, anyone interested in this legislation and who desires additional information, may write to me at the State Capitol. I have accepted leadership in the Senate for this legislation which is so vital to large sections of our state. With reference to membership in the organization contact either Messrs. T. H. Bjerk or Gilbert Brattland, both of Thief River Falls. A new organization has now been formed which will be known as the Minnesota—Farmers Legislative Council. All farmers should be active in this organization which can mean so much in the support of constructive rural legislation.

DANGER! ICE CHISEL IS DANGEROUS TO MR. DANGERS

Howard Lake—An ice chisel has become a danger to Mr. Dangers, for it is dangerous for him to chop ice. When Leo Dangers was assisting fishermen on Lake Ann chop ice with a heavy ice chisel, he chopped more than ice. He accidentally chopped his foot. Ice on his mittens caused the chisel to slip, so that two toes of his right foot were cut off. Mr. Dangers was rushed from the dangerous place to a physician's office, where the severed members were sewed on.

Plummer School Notes

The assembly period Friday was one of the most enjoyable ones this year. Mr. Borchert of the Game and Fish Department gave an interesting talk on wild life and conservation. He spoke informally to the students and made many new friends among their number.

We appreciate Mr. Borchert's efforts to build the right attitude towards conservation, his friendliness and his willingness to come again.

Last Thursday evening Mr. Denning met with a small group to discuss co-operatives. All interested in the co-operative movement are urged to join this group and take part in the discussion. —Play practice for Juniors is under way. They have started rehearsing Act I of that delightful comedy, "Bashful Bobby". This will be given the fore part of March.

The sub-district declam contest has been definitely set for Wednesday, Feb. 24. The competing teams are: Goodridge, St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls and Plummer. This means that four selections in each division will be given and all who attend will hear an excellent program. A small admission charge will be made.

The pep fest for the Warren game was quite an elaborate one. The school led by the band and cheerleaders marched down town and staged it on main street. It attracted a lot of attention and certainly centered the interest on the Warren game.

One of the largest crowds this season watched the "nip and tuck" struggle between the Warren quint and the Cardinals here last Friday. It was anybody's game all the way and was only won in the last seconds of play by a long field goal from the center of the floor and then only by one point, the score being 16 to 17 in favor of Warren.

In spite of the close score, the fast play and the keen interest both teams exhibited fine sportsmanship at all times and took the breaks of the game as they came.

WPA WORK WILL CONTINUE UNTIL THE END OF JUNE

Christgau in Chicago Discussing Program for Next 4 Months

With Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, in Chicago attending a conference of federal work relief executive, M. J. Webb, supervising engineer for Pennington county, this week was momentarily expecting word from J. B. Kovarik, district director, with offices at Detroit Lakes, as to the details of local WPA work from now until the end of June.

Last week, Congress passed and President Roosevelt signed, a deficiency appropriation bill which assures operation of the program until the end of the current fiscal year—July 1, 1937. Mr. Christgau was called to Chicago by Harry L. Hopkins, national administrator, to discuss details of the program for the next four months.

Whether the program will continue beyond July will depend on what further action Congress takes.

Mr. Christgau, before leaving for Chicago, said that he would renew his request to Mr. Hopkins for a larger quota for Minnesota, which he feels is justified because of the distress which came to so many communities of the state in the wake of the drought last year. He said that he also would ask for authority, under the new appropriation, to make wage adjustments to correct injustices which have been found in the practical application of present federal regulations.

Railroad and Warehouse Commission Rules Wide Field, Says Statement

That transportation by motor carriers is a growing industry in Minnesota is proven by statistics given out by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission.

In 1936, according to the commission, there were 3535 trucks under permit in the state, an increase of 180 over 1935. Most of these trucks are operated by contract carriers, who haul for a limited number of patrons.

At the present time there are fifty-seven companies that operate as common carriers, with permits from the railroad and warehouse commission to do intrastate hauling.

Fifty-four companies operating as common carriers in Minnesota do a purely interstate business, and are licensed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, though many of them are Minnesota concerns. Some of the 57 intrastate common carriers also do an interstate business and hold permits from the federal as well as the state government.

The intrastate and interstate common carriers operate 760 trucks, which is a slight increase since 1935.

In 1936 there were 35 bus companies using the highways of Minnesota, practically all of them crossing the state line into adjacent states. They make use of 341 busses, which is a much larger number than was operated in 1935, when there were 25 different companies doing both an interstate and intrastate business.

MARSHALL COUNTY TAX LEVY FOR 1936 TOTALS $589,759

Taxes Payable This Year Reveal Gain of $37,780 Over Last Year

Marshall county's tax levy for 1936, levied against all property and payable during 1937 totals $589,759.89, an increase of $37,780.61 over the 1935 levy which totaled $551,979.28, the abstract of taxes compiled and completed in the office of Levi G. Johnson this week, reveals, according to the Warren Sheaf.

The original copies of the abstracts will be sent to Stafford King, state auditor for compilation of state figures. The tax levy against real estate and personal property for the entire county totals $552,197.21 whereas a year ago this levy totaled $512,953.71, a comparison of the abstracts for the two years reveals.

Townships in the county bear the biggest portion of the tax burden, the levy against farm property totaling $416,781.91 in comparison to $386,309.89 last year. The villages and city taxes will total $135,415.30 in comparison with $126,643.82 a year ago.

While there was a general increase in the total levy for 1936, the valuations in the county decreased from $5,935,316 in 1935 to $5,560,941 in 1936. The valuations in the townships total $4,700,319 and in the villages and city $860,622.

EXAMPLE OF EARLY ARCHITECTURE FOUND

Stillwater—A stone highway bridge, a Stillwater landmark, has been selected by the architects of the Historic American Building Survey as an outstanding example of early American architecture, it was revealed in a study of the unique architectural volume, which when finally completed, will give this country a work similar to the impressive, many-volumed inventory of the English Royal Commission on Historical Monuments. Specifications of the Stillwater landmark are to be preserved for posterity in the archives of the Department of Interior at Washington."

GRYGLA

RITES HELD FOR MRS. GUST ERICKSON

Mrs. Gust Erickson passed away at her home in Waukegan, Ill., on Feb. 9th, at the age of 69 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Erickson were very early settlers in this vicinity being among the first to come. Through much hard work and perseverance they built themselves a home here, cleared up all the land and their farm is one of the show places of this community. The last few years they have lived at Waukegan, to be closer in touch with their children living there, but their memories of Grygla were never forgotten.

The following relatives from out of town were here for the funeral which was held at the Valle church on Tuesday, with Rev. S. T. Anderson officiating: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Erickson and two children of Waukegan, Ill., Mrs. Ernest Carlson and three children of Connorsville, Ind., Mrs. Signe Alvarez of Evanston, Illinois, and Gust Erickson, husband of the deceased.

Edith Engelbert resumed her duties as cook at the Grovum Cafe after a weeks illness. She spent Saturday and Sunday visiting at the Roy Brown home at Thief River Falls. —Nearly 50 people from here were in attendance at the hockey game at Thief River Falls last week when the Thieves defeated Emerson. Much enthusiasm is shown locally for the game and doubtless another large gathering will attend the Roseau game.

Miss Dorothy Hanson teaching in the Howland district east of town went to Thief River Falls on Saturday. While there she made the purchase of an auto, returning to her duties on Sunday. —Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Sandberg, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Maney and Mr and Mrs. Miller went to Thief River Falls Sunday where they enjoyed the picture show, "One in a Million". After the show they were entertained at the Brown home. On their return home they were accompanied by Edith Engelbert and Miss Gertrude.

Due to the severe snow storm the carnival dance to be given at the hall last Saturday evening was postponed until this coming Saturday, Feb. 20th. The hall has been beautifully decorated for the occasion, novelties and confetti will be disposed of, and a good time is assured everybody. Come out and help break the monotony of a long winter. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hylland, Mrs. Alfred Rasmussen and Ole and Arthur Hylland were shoppers in Thief River Falls last Wednesday. The ladies enjoyed the movies during the evening, the men went to the hockey games.

Erling Gilthvedt and Mrs. A. F. Gasch motored to Drayton, N. D. last Monday. Mrs. Gasch was entered in the hospital for an operation which was performed Monday and is reported doing splendidly. She intends to return to her home here in about a week.

The local creamery held their annual stockholders meeting at the hall Monday. The meeting was a very harmonious affair, a very satisfactory report of the business of the past year was given followed by the election of directors. Altho the weather was somewhat stormy a good sized crowd was in attendance.

Mrs. Thronson of Clifford, N. D. a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Boman is visiting at her parental home. It is reported that Mr. Boman is not at the present time enjoying the best of health.

Oscar Schott of Franklin accompanied by Albert Johnson of Redwood Falls came on Sunday on a business and a pleasure trip to visit with friends and relatives. Mr. Schott recently shipped in one hundred head of white-face cattle which he is feeding and getting ready for market. He has rented the old Otto Haack farm. If conditions look favorable he may bring up that many more cattle. Mr. and Mrs. Einar Johnson spent last Saturday and Sunday visiting in the Midland vicinity. Due to the storm they did not return here until Monday. Miss Emma Johnson who while attending school is staying at the Grovum Home, [illegible] Sunday with her mother near Goodridge.

Mrs. Alice Norlaly and brother Harold and Gilman Hylland were entertained at the Sidney Flodeland home last Thursday evening.

COUNTERFEIT COINS APPEARING IN STATE

Counterfeit coins have appeared during the last week in several places. In Marshall county several counterfeit fifty-cent pieces have been passed and lead nickels are making their appearance in Sauk Center. The nickels are perfect on one side and flat on the other. The supposition is that they have been cast for use in slot and pin ball machines.

FISHERMAN'S LUNCH ENJOYED BY FISH

Grand Rapids—A member of the local high school faculty, Cecil Stenerud, lost a part of his lunch while fishing through the ice one day recently, but at least he had the satisfaction of seeing the lunch eaten. Mr. Stenerud had gone to a lake some distance from Grand Rapids to spear northern pike in a fish house. No fish had appeared for some time, so he brought forth his lunch to eat while waiting for fish. Just as he was raising a juicy fried pork chop to his mouth, a large northern pike darted in after the decoy hanging down in the water. Startled, the fisherman reached for the spear, at the same time dropping his pork chop, which fell into the water. He looked after it, only to see the big fish turn from the wooden decoy, seize the pork chop, and swim away as he swallowed what was probably the most appetizing morsel he had found this winter.

LOCAL CAGERS DOWN E. G. F. 22-18 SATURDAY

Prowlers Repeat Early Season Triumph Over Green Wave

The Prowlers defeated the Little Green Wave of East Grand Forks for the second time this season when they played on Central's floor last Saturday evening. The local boys led throughout the game and the closest the Wave could get was within two points in the second quarter when the score crept up to 9 to 7. The final score was 22 to 18.

Play in the first quarter was comparatively slow and all on the side of the Prowlers. East Grand Forks had to be satisfied with one free throw and it looked as if the game would turn out to be a runaway. Helquist again proved to be the locals greatest scoring threat making seven out of the eight points to the Prowlers credit at the end of the opening quarter. In the second period the Wave came up to within two points of the locals score and threatened a tie but couldn't quite make it when the Prowlers put on another short scoring sprint to pull out ahead again. The score at the end of the first half was 14 to 9.

The third period of the game was extremely slow and saw the least scoring on the part of both teams, the Prowlers gaining four points to their opponents two. Again in the fourth quarter the locals made an increase of only four points to their score while East Grand Forks outscored them nearly two to one, making seven points and bringing the final score to 22 to 18.

Helquist carried off high point honors with five field goals and two free throws for a total of twelve points, with Raymond receiving similar honors for the opponents having seven points to his credit.

The Prowlers had no trouble in handling the Wave and should have built up a much higher score but missed a good percentage of their close-in shots. However, if the teams should meet in the district tournament, the Prowlers are still on top and should have no trouble in winning a third victory.

The box score of the game follows:

Prowlers	fg	ft	ftm	pf	tp
Lorentson	2	0	1	0	5

KENNEDY DEBATE SET FOR TUESDAY

Thief River Falls Loses to Warren Last Week

The Lincoln high school debate team will meet Kennedy in the Lincoln high school assembly Tuesday, February 23, on the question—Resolved: That all Electric Utilities Should be Governmentally Owned and Operated. They will uphold the affirmative, and Kennedy the negative side.

Last Wednesday the debate team met Warren at Warren, on the Negative. The decision was 3-0 in favor of Warren. The judges were Messrs. Scharf and Thomson of Grand Forks Central High School, and Mr. McClellan of the University of North Dakota Debate team.

Standings of the teams in this district are as follows at the present time:

Team	W	L	Pts.
Thief River Falls	1	1	3
Warren	1	1	3
Kennedy	2	0	5
Karlstad	0	2	1

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

"Just Imagine"—Miss Helquist under a lace dolly on the bulletin board—or can't you? Nevertheless she was, on Friday, the "Josies'" valentine which was placed on exhibition by the Bulletin Board Committee. Seems as though they'd bribed Midge for a picture of her and then set to work. Sweet valentine, the "Josies" say although their teacher said, "Really, I didn't know what to do."

Just on account of because there's too much "coming on" right now, our Valentine G. A. A. Meeting is postponed for about a week. It promises though to be good so watch for announcements—'cuz you won't want to miss it.

Big League Tournament has started—there's some real tussles in there. Final results next week.

Class work pertains too, now, Hit-Pin Baseball. How well we know it—the screaming and occasional "boom" when the ball hits the ceiling won't let the rest of us forget it. It shows one though that the "Josies" don't lack spirit, anyhow.

Oh, and that Bemidji game—will the Prowlers ever show them, we hope; That same day is Senior Pep Day too so we'll see you then.

DECLAM FINALS HELD TUESDAY

Winning Contestants Enter Subdistrict Meet

The final declamation and oratory contest was held in the Lincoln High School assembly Tuesday, February 16. The three winners from the humorous and dramatic divisions and the six going out for oratory gave their selections. Following are the contestants and their selections:

Dramatic:
The Lord's Prayer—Marion Oden
Honey—Anne Hillyer
Strongheart—Ragna Folkedahl
Oratory:
Shall We Commit Suicide—Clifford Oleson.
We Must Fight—Robert Du Champ.
Restoring the Altar in the Home—Robert Smith.
The Big Parade—Robert Quale
Master or Victim—Reuben Stock
If We Break Faith—Herbert Schroeder.
Humorous:
Talkative Tilly—Margaret McKechnie.
His Pa Goes Skating—Lorraine Amundson
Rufus Buys a Pair of Pink Mules—Fae Belcher.

The judges were Mrs. H. O. Chommie, Miss Helen Margaret Olson, and Miss Agnes Tandberg. They selected a first and second in each class who will represent Thief River Falls at the sub-district contest which will be held at Warren Wednesday, February 24. In the dramatic division, Anne Hillyer and Ragna Folkedahl placed first and second respectively. In the oratory first and second places were given to Robert Smith and Robert Quale. Lorraine Amundson and Fae Belcher were accorded first and second places in the humorous division. The second prize winners will be alternates to the sub-district contest. Winners from Warren will return here for the district contest.

While the judges were making their decisions, a brass choir provided a musical selection. The choir was composed of Eleanor Erickson, Gloria Quist, James Skarstad, Vivian Havel, Ernest Erickson, and Ralph Gustafson.

BAND NOTES

The high school band made it's first concert appearance Monday evening at the P. T. A. meeting.

The personnel of the band, attired in white, with blue and gold capes and overseas caps, presented a striking appearance.

Twirlers of the drum major batons were Lois Ann Peterson and Bernice Larson, Junior High school students. The band had a special rehearsal with the student body after school on Monday.

The Brass choir played at the declamation contest on February 16. The number played was Marche Pontificale by Gounod.

The debate team consisting of Vernon Wedul and Marjorie Matheson has lost only one start. The team lost its second start to Warren after defeating Karlstad 3-0. These two students are spending considerable time and effort to give the school as good a representative in debate as it has in other extra-curricular activities. The only thing lacking is student support. When Karlstad made the journey here their team was supported by more people than were in attendance from our own school. There is no reason that with the excellent coaching, enterprising participants supported by the public that the Prowler representatives can be the best in the district.

Fifteen weeks of school, this sounds like a lot but in reality it is only a short while. Now the Seniors are beginning to hear of college aptitude tests and already advertising phamphlets for various schools have been received by some. This naturally turns thoughts towards schools to be selected by those with aspirations towards higher learning. We are not in a position to suggest any certain school but it might be well to give a few suggestions. When making a choice keep several schools in mind and compare them, one against the other, for all the things you want in the school you attend. The one most important fact to remember is to choose a school that offers the best in the training you need for your planned vacation.

PROWLIN' 'ROUND

After looking at prospects of the Prowlers' district hopes and finding them very good, we might go as far as surveying their possibilities in the regional tournament. The regional, held at Ada this year for the first time in several seasons, will bring together four teams that represent the best Northern Minnesota can offer. Region Eight supplied last year's state champions in the form of Coach Robbins' Lumber-Jacks from the Bemidji lakes and woods. This year the Jacks have a fine chance of coming through again in their district. Cass Lake the other region favorite seems to be "Bemidji Jinxed" but they may break that this year.

Ada's diminutive but determined quint seems to have far outclassed any other aggregation in that district and will likely rate as region favorites if they come through their district. The district north of us is not usually regarded as very strong contenders but surprises rate as the life of the game and one team may come through at any time.

The Prowlers who lead this district and in our eyes are, or will be the new district champions seem to be in for a tough week end if they do come through the district. They have been defeated on the local floor by Ada and lost to Cass Lake and Bemidji at those cities. The Cass Lake defeat is offset somewhat by the fact that the Indians were defeated here. But, in the short time following the Bemidji and Ada defeats, the Prowlers seem to have so greatly improved that we would rate them at least, even with any opposing fives. Crookston, the alternate favorite with the Prowlers, have defeated Ada and were beaten by Bemidji.

All in all, your guess is as good as ours in this mad basketball scramble for regional favors.

LOCAL P. T. A. HEARS DR. ARCHER MONDAY EVENING

Newly Uniformed H. S. Band Renders ~~First Class~~ Concert

The third meeting of the Thief River Falls Parent-Teachers Association was held in the Lincoln High School assembly, Monday, February 15, at eighth o'clock.

The meeting was opened with a concert by the Lincoln High School band under the direction of Mr. Riggs. This marked the first public appearance of the band in the new band uniforms, recently completed by Miss Dahlen's Home Economics II classes. The uniforms consist of blue and gold satin capes with matching caps. Five numbers were presented. Lois Ann Peterson and Bernice Larson of the seventh grade, twirled the drum major batons for the last two numbers.

Mr. Pope, president of the Parent-Teachers Association, presided during the business meeting which followed.

Mrs. Clara Paulson, school nurse presented a short talk on the Summer Round-Up Clinic and action was taken to continue this project next summer, under the sponsorship of the P. T. A. It was decided to also vote in favor of a bill pertaining to teachers' contracts, as introduced in the state legislature this year.

Dr. C. P. Archer of Moorhead State Teachers' College then spoke on "Child Behavior." Parents and teachers grasped the opportunity of asking Dr. Archer questions on subjects relative to Child Behavior such as temper, obedience and misbehavior.

After the meeting lunch was served by the teachers of Northrop, Knox, and Washington schools headed by a committee composed of the Misses Olga Bloomsness, chairman, Viola Bredeson, Lenore Jorgenson and Orpha Gabrielson.

WIND-CHILL

A little more enthusiasm should be shown for our very deserving basketball team. Show them as much spirit as is shown at the hockey games.

How many of you boys and girls have seen the new Rifle Club rooms? After you see them you'll all want to take up rifling. Every convenience of home is going to be installed and the grand floors for dancing!!! Oh My!

We bet all the kids will be decked out with mufflers and earmuffs for the "Overshoe dance" comin' up. It should be a gala affair—anyway something new for our town. What will our overshoes look like after Friday night? Rather thin on the soles we should say.

There are a certain crowd of people that enjoy a secluded rendezvous in a certain place on a certain corner—the name beginning with K. We wonder what it is? Some people have big imaginations.

Did you people see Sonja Heinie Sunday—or rather, who didn't. We're going to start practicing right now so we can enter the olympics next year. It probably looks easy—but just try it. (Be sure to have a pillow along.

Too bad all these basket-ball boys can't skate any more, still it will be worth it to win all these tournaments coming up.

Milt says he pushed the bus all the way from E. G. F. and then walked back and pushed Mr. Rigg's car.)

What was the big argument about that skating toboggan episode last Friday. (After all Peg P.'s effort).

Blackhawks Share Lead with Panthers

Six very snappy intra-mural basketball games were played last week upsetting the previous standings. In the first game the Hawkeyes trounced the Gophers with a score of twenty-one to eight. The Badgers followed up by beating the Trojans twenty-five to seventeen. Then the Blackhawks, one of the highest rating teams, beat the Billikens, the lowest rating team, by a score of thirty to six. Following these games were three closely-contested and hard-fought battles. Earl Nicholson of the Panthers made six of their eighteen points in the first half and two in the second while Jack Adkins followed him by scoring six points in the second half. All of the Hawkeyes helped make their fifteen points. In the next game the Cornhuskers lost to the Wildcats by the close score of eighteen to twenty. Then the Gophers, tenth in the list, upset the Boilermakers, who had third place, by a score of twenty to sixteen. Clarence Haug of the Boilermakers and Bob Hanson of the Gophers each made half of their team's points. These games changed the standings to the ones below:

Teams	W	L	Pct.
Panthers	7	1	.875
Blackhawks	7	1	.875
Boilermakers	5	2	.714
Wildcats	5	3	.625
Cornhuskers	4	4	.500

LUMBERJACKS ARE CARDED FOR NEXT CAGE TILT FRIDAY

Loop Pacing Prowlers to Seek Win Over State Champions

The Prowlers will endeavor to even the Bemidji series when they face "Buck" Robbins state champion Lumberjacks in a basketball skirmish at the local auditorium Friday evening.

The boys from the Paul Bunyan city will tangle with the Prowlers perennial foes, the Crookston Pirates, tomorrow on the latters floor and will end their two-day journey here Saturday. Although the Lumberjacks are favored to cop a victory at Crookston, it can be vouched for that the keen edge will be taken off the Bemidji team's play for the Pirates are nobody's setup and thus the Prowlers have an excellent chance to knock off the Bemidji five.

The locals came out second best by a score of 32 to 26 in an earlier game at Bemidji, but the Prowler squad has improved measurably since that meeting. Bill Bruggeman, Vic Olson, and Bob Bush, three returning lettermen, form the spearhead of vaunted visitors attack which has brought them victory in a great majority of their games. The present visiting aggregation is rated a shade lower than last year's wonder team which entered the state tournament as the "dark horse" only to go on and win the coveted laurels. The tentative starting lineup for the Lumberjacks is Olson and Bruggeman at forwards, Tweten at center, Bush and Krohn at guards. Getchel and Swale will be inserted in their ranks as subs if they are not in the starting lineup.

The lineup for the Lemen is uncertain. The usual lineup of Lorentson, Nelson, Stadum, Lee, and Helquist may take the floor, although Stadum may be benched for Mickelson, who will take Nelson's forward post, while "Bud" will shift to center. There is also a possibility that Gordon Caldis may get the nod at the center assignment. One of the Prowler guards will face the almost superhuman task of stopping Vic Olson who tallied nineteen points in the last meeting between these inter-district leaders.

The Prowlers "B" squad will again come into action by battling the St. Hilaire quint in the "curtain raiser." The opening tipoff is scheduled for 7:15 p. m.

JOHN BRANDT TO GIVE PRINCIPAL ADDRESS

Reports Will be Submitted on 1936 Operations of Huge Co-op.

A large gathering of creamery operators and dairymen from thruout this section of the state will assemble at the Auditorium in this city next Wednesday, March 3, for the annual meeting of District 17, Land O'Lakes Creameries. Stuart McLeod, district chairman, will be in charge of the sessions, which will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue thru the afternoon.

The principal address on the afternoon program will be delivered by John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries with headquarters in Minneapolis. He will submit a report on the past year's operations of the huge cooperative organization. Details of the business handled in 1936 by the Thief River Falls branch will be given by H. O. Norby, manager.

Wednesday morning will be devoted to a business session, in which reports will be submitted by Peter Engelstad, secretary; and E. D. Rydeen of Clearbrook, treasurer. John Lager, Land O'Lakes fieldman in this district, will give a detailed report on operations of the thirty creameries that are members of the district organization.

Lunch will be served during the noon hour by employes of the local Land O'Lakes plant, and a concert will be given by the Lincoln high school band under the direction of Ronald G. Riggs. In addition to which there will be community singing and other musical selections.

In the course of the afternoon a demonstration of quality cream grading will be given by a team from Norman county. The session will close with the election of officers for the ensuing year. Patrons of all creameries in the district are invited to attend the meeting.

LINCOLN QUINTET WINS FROM GRAND FORKS HERE 30-27

Contest Wednesday Night Went Into Three Overtime Periods

The Lincoln high school basketball team Wednesday night at the Auditorium wound up its schedule with a 30-27 victory over the strong Grand Forks Central quintet in a contest that had a thrilling windup, going into three extra periods before Stadum's field goal and Helquist's free throw decided the battle.

While the earlier part of the contest was rather slow, the Prowlers maintained a steady lead throughout, the score at the quarter being 9-2, at the half 15-10 and at the end of the third quarter 17-12. At the end of the fourth period the game was tied 25-25, neither team scoring in the first overtime period and each making a basket in the second. Leading in the scoring were Lee with six points and Nelson and Stadum with five each.

In a preliminary contest the Prowler B team trounced Red Lake Falls by a score of 34 to 7. The high school tumbling team gave an excellent demonstration between the halves under the direction of B. W. Gabrielson, revealing acrobatic ability of near professional caliber.

The Lincoln team sustained its first defeat in several weeks at the Auditorium Friday evening when the Bemidji quintet won from the Prowlers by a score of 32 to 31 in an inter-district game.

The contest was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way thru, Bemidji leading 8 to 6 at the end of the first quarter, while the Prowlers led 21 to 16 at the half and 26 to 24 at the end of the third period. Bud Nelson was high scorer for the locals, accounting for eleven points, while Helquist piled up ten.

Local Sextet Wins Seven Straight Games

Historical Society

Due to lack of practice resulting from belated access to the ice in the arena rink, the local sextet started the season with a handicap, winning one game and tying one out of the first nine games played. Since then, however, the aggregation has made up for its slow start with the following string of consecutive victories: University of North Dakota, 4-1; Roseau, 4-3; Grand Forks, 5-0; Emerson, 6-2; Hallock, 1-0; Roseau, 4-2; and Grand Forks, 5-0.

The team ended its schedule in third place in the league standings, and the playoff, arrangements for which were made Wednesday evening, will close a highly successful season.

A crowd of 400 dancers and spectators turned out for the overshoe dance held last Friday evening on the arena skating rink, and the event proved to be most enjoyable novelty. Net proceeds of the affair, which reached a substantial sum, were divided between the auxiliary drum corps and the hockey team, joint sponsors of the dance.

EAST MARSHALL WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH FRIDAY

Mrs. Nicholas Kast of Moylan Township Meets Tragic Death

Mrs. Nicholas Kast of Moylan township, Marshall county, north of Goodridge, met a tragic death last Friday while starting a fire in a small smokehouse on the farm where she lived with her husband.

She was enveloped in flames, which were spread apparently by an explosion resulting from the use of gasoline in starting the fire, and had expired by the time her husband, who was on another part of the farm at the time, had reached the scene. Dr. H. M. Blegen, Marshall county coroner, visited the scene, but an inquest was not deemed necessary.

Funeral rites were conducted from St. Bernards church in this city Wednesday morning, Rev. A. I. Merth officiating, and interment was in St. Bernards cemetery.

Mrs. Kast, who was 44 years old at the time of her death, was born in Halbturn, Austria, September 21, 1892, and was married at Vienna, Austria, to Nicholas Kast in March, 1936, coming in the following month to Moylan township, where she had since lived.

Surviving are her husband; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Kaill and Mrs. Kathi Zebinka of Budapest, Hungary; and Miss Teresa Bauer of Halbturn, Austria; and four brothers, Michael, Joseph, George and Carl, all of Halbturn.

Locals Meet Emerson Sunday in Semi-finals

Thief River Falls Arena to be Scene of "Battle of the Century"

The Thief River Falls hockey team will meet Emerson on the arena rink Sunday afternoon in the first contest of a two-game playoff, the second to be played at Emerson Tuesday evening. Hallock and Roseau, the other two contenders for the league title, will play at Roseau Sunday and at Hallock Wednesday.

If the Thieves register the highest total score in the two-game series, they will meet the survivor of the Hallock-Roseau games for the league championship in a three-game series. A trophy to be known as the States-Dominion hockey trophy will be presented to the league champion.

All of the Thief River Falls players are in perfect physical condition, and are prepared to use their full strength in what promises to be a thrilling battle with the Canadians Sunday. Arrangements are being made for a special train to carry the Thief River Falls fans to the contest at Emerson Tuesday, and indications are that several hundred local hockey enthusiasts will take advantage of the arrangement.

Representatives of the four teams that will enter the semi-finals met at Warren Wednesday evening to complete arrangements for the play-off schedule. This city was represented by A. B. Stenberg, A. M. Campbell and Alvin Christofferson.

THIEVES DEFEAT GRAND FORKS SIX 5-0 LAST SUNDAY

Score Decisive Victory in Final Game of Season's Schedule

Thief River Falls continued its victorious parade through the States-Dominion Hockey league by handing the Grand Forks Cavaliers a 5-0 shutout in a fast, rough battle at the winter sports building in Grand Forks Sunday. A large delegation of local fans accompanied the team.

The Cavaliers couldn't cope with the faster skating and better team play of the Thieves, who had a big margin in play nearly all the way.

Play was rough from the outset, although few penalties were called and open warfare was declared in the third period. Johnny Feist of the Cavaliers and Clayton Taylor of Thief River tangled near the goal after the two had crashed to the ice near the boards. They were penalized but play had hardly got underway again before a group of spectators, arguing the case at the penalty box, started settling the dispute with fists.

Players and officials contrived to quell the uprising but the remainder of the session was marked by slashing, tripping and boarding, keeping the fans entertained to the finish despite the one-sided score.

Snooks Julien and Rube Julien scored for Thief River Falls in the first period, LaBeux and Deagle in the second and Mike Foy in the third. The fourth goal came after a brilliant two-man rush, the two forwards passing right through to the goal mouth where LaBeux cashed in on a perfect pass for the best scoring effort of the day.

DISTRICT CAGE TOURNEY OPENS HERE MARCH 3D

Eight High School Quintets Will Compete at the Auditorium

TOURNAMENT WILL CONTINUE 3 DAYS

Winner Will Take Part in Regional Tourney at Ada March 11-12

The District 31 high school basketball tournament will be conducted in the Thief River Falls Auditorium next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 3, 4 and 5, it was announced today by W. G. Claffy, tournament manager and chairman of the district committee. Four games will be played Wednesday evening, with two each scheduled for Thursday and Friday.

The schedule of Wednesday games includes Red Lake Falls vs. East Grand Forks or Warren at 7 o'clock; Climax vs. Crookston, 8 o'clock; Warren or East Grand Forks vs. Plummer, 9 o'clock; and Thief River Falls vs. the winner of the subdistrict contest at Warren, 10 o'clock. Included in the subdistrict tourney Friday evening of this week are St. Hilaire, Fisher, Oslo and Alvarado.

Pre-tourney calculations indicate that barring upsets the four Class C schools, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Thief River Falls and Warren, should win in the first round without too much difficulty. If the dope runs true to form, the second round starting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock will present two closely contested games with no team having a decided edge. The four teams have played each other twice during the season, and the outcomes have all been close except for Crookston's defeat of Warren Friday 24 to 6.

The championship game will be played at 9 o'clock Friday evening, March 5, and will be preceded by a consolation game at 8 o'clock between the losing teams of the second round. Referees will be Harold Grunningen of Fertile and R. Laing of Milton, N. D. Mr. Claffy stated that high school students may obtain their tickets at his office, while adults may get their tickets in advance at the J. & B. drug store or at the Thief River Pharmacy.

The regional tournament will be conducted in Ada Thursday and Friday, March 11 and 12. Ada is conceded the best chance to win in District 30, with Mahnomen rated as a dark horse, while in District 31 Thief River Falls, Crookston and East Grand Forks are favorites, altho the Prowlers seem to have the edge on the basis of their season's record. Hallock is the outstanding team in District 29 as the result of 18 straight victories, and Bemidji, 1936 state champion, is slated to come thru in District 32 and make a strong bid for the regional title.

JAYSEES WIN IN FIRST ROUND OF VALLEY TOURNEY

George Lee Stars in 47-39 Victory Sunday Over Rowesmont

D., quintet in a hard fought game by a score of 47 to 39. The score at the half was tied 17 to 17.

In its account of the game the Crookston Times says, "George Lee played a whale of a game for Thief River Falls. He scored the most points for his club, played a fine game on defense and directed the play of his teammates in a masterly manner. Gabrielson also performed splendidly." Lee accounted for 13 points and Gabrielson for 10, while Dahl scored eight.

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vin Weber

St. Paul, Special to the Times: "Time marches on!" and in the vanguard of that other army—Politicians—is the group always looking out for its own selfish interests. Out of the great mass of bills that are flooding the legislature I find another beautiful example of what the minds of men will make them do to regiment their own business or profession, a nicely titled bill and one which the sponsors glibly say would "prevent the perpetration of fraud upon the public." The bill I refer to is H. F. 267, which would "require the registration and technical examination for fitness of contracting painters, decorators and paper-hangers, also of the journeyman painters and paper-hangers employed by them, and imposing license fees upon such employers and employees."

Now all that sounds very nice, but of the more than 8500 painters, decorators and paper-hangers in the state, I find there are only 136 of such registered. It would just be another case of the "tail wagging the dog".

The glorified reason for the bill as given in the above quotes, is a poor disguise for the bill, which in reality would dictate to consumers, home-owners, farmers, dairymen and industries as to the protection of their property, and in my mind, would eventually dictate, if not control, the distribution of paints, varnishes and other property protective products which are so essential to the preservation of the State's standing wealth.

While it is generally conceded that it requires no unusual skill to paint a house or a barn, the bill requires that if a home-owner or farmer employs a carpenter or roofer to make even minor repairs, the owner cannot paint them, but must employ a "registered" or licensed painting contractor to finish the job, no matter how small the job might be. Oh, it would be a great thing for the 136.

Will the bill pass? Not with my vote, but Minnesota has seen some funny things of recent years and may see more in the future.

Rural members are putting up a fight for enactment of a State Seed Loan bill and a big hearing was held Tuesday evening. The Federal government has appropriated $50,000,000 for seed and feed loans, but the average farmer who has delved into the intricacies of federal red tape is not willing to take a chance on procuring a federal loan. It will be remembered that two years ago the federal government agreed to appropriate some ninety millions for relief purposes in Minnesota, if the State would appropriate ten million. This the state did, but the federal government forgot its promise and fell far short of the amount promised. The Minnesota farmer needing seed would not be in a very happy position if he depended on the federal government for seed, only to have some rule or regulation deny him the seed loan when seeding time arrived. Minnesota has appropriated millions for the relief of the unemployed, the poor, the aged, and others, and it seems only fair that those upon whom we all depend for our business and our sustenance, should be granted this very necessary aid.

At no session in the memory of this writer has the future of our great School Trust fund been so keenly considered. At the present time this fund totals nearly $90,000,000, and from the interest received on loans made from the fund, appropriations are made to our schools. In time this fund will be enlarged to $200,000,000 and when that time arrives there will be sufficient returns to operate our schools without any state appropriation whatsoever. There is only one "nigger in the wood pile," and that is "killing the goose that lays the golden eggs". That goose is the mining company. Not one but many of them. If present proposed legislation is enacted into law, we are told, the taxes will be so high that mining will be unprofitable and the operators will cease activities. There are two trains of thought in the legislature apparently, those from the north who seem to feel that the mines are theirs and that the operators should be taxed out of existence, and those in the southern section of the state where the villagers pay their own taxes and get along with average school buildings and other public institutions, and who believe that this great heritage is one that should be preserved to posterity. So far those of the latter group have been able to hold down excessive taxation on the operators with the result that the mines are being operated and millions added to the state treasury.

Since the administration tax measure has been introduced, people of the state have become unusually tax conscious. Letters and telegrams are pouring in to every legislator, the great majority of them rebellious against the proposed increases, the reason being that not only are corporation taxes raised from 100 to 500 percent, but the income tax on the little fellow is also raised tremendously. In fact, so drastic are the taxes that in many instances that they would exceed the income taxes in any state in the union. Opponents gave vent to their feelings in no uncertain way at a public hearing held on Tuesday night. The Senate chamber was far too small to accommodate the crowd. Out of the hearing came many facts, but a few of which we can give here because of lack of space. In the main, objection is made to the new bill because it grants practically no exemptions, even to medical bills; prohibits carrying business losses forward from year to year for purpose of credit reductions; gives arbitrary powers to the tax commission. A study of personal income tax schedules shows that under the proposed law a married man with two dependents and an income of $4,800, would have to pay a tax of $77.00, or the second highest in the nation. Under the present law he pays out $16.25.

The House heard many flights of oratory Wednesday, when a resolution decrying the President's demand for legislation to retire Supreme Courts over 70 years of age and to enlarge the courts to 15 members, came up for final vote. The battle became so hot that even Mr. Speaker gave up the gavel to take the floor in opposition. The action of the House was in reality a draw. The resolution was amended so that it upheld the president. This lost by a vote of 65 to 59. The original resolution was then voted down 77 to 49. It would be news to know just how the House feels in the matter.

By Sen. E. L. Tungseth

On Monday evening, February 15, the senate committee on taxes and tax laws held a public hearing on the income tax bill. It was, indeed, a field day for the big industries of our state, which gathered en masse for a well-planned and organized attack on income taxation. Representatives from cities throughout our commonwealth spoke eloquently about the evils of additional taxation. All of them struck the "keynote" of despair, declaring that business in Minnesota could carry no additional tax burdens, because business in this state is not making money. It was decidedly a one-way crowd and the senate chamber and galleries were well filled with sympathetic listeners, who applauded loud and long at every burst of eloquence against such taxation. The stage had been well set for them by the chairman, Senator F. J. Miller, of the senate tax committee. The senior and wealthy Senator Orr was given a prominent place on the platform, where he could advantageously reveal his approval to the attacks that were made. The old philosophy, that business is the goose that lays the golden egg, was the accepted doctrine. The state employees and the farmers were all supposed to be dependent upon business for their prosperity, and would prosper only as business prospered. Yet every argument was entirely beyond the point, because if business in Minnesota does not earn money, it will pay no taxes under the income tax bill.

There is no doubt but that business in Minnesota finds itself at times handicapped in competition because of its distance from available markets. If that is the case, then business should get busy and remove some of these difficulties, such as high freight rates under the "short and long" freight haul bill. No one dared openly attack the philosophy "pay according to ability." That philosophy is too well established in the minds of our people as entirely fair. No one would admit the real fact involved, that business is dependent upon the farming industry and labor for its support. The great mass of common people on the farms and in the shops which, collectively, is the goose that lays the golden egg.

No one would wish the industries of Minnesota out of business. In order to remain in business, industry must make money, but when industry earns profits by virtue of privileges which our state provides, the people of the state have the right to share in such profits by means of taxation. Income tax is the only tax that business or individuals cannot directly pass on. I believe that when industry will wash from its records watered stock and reduce the wages of its officials so that such wages compare with the wages of labor, that the books, in most cases, will show a neat profit.

At present we have the oleomargarine bill, H. F. 78, on our General Orders. This bill passed the house by a very neat majority, but will likely meet with very stiff opposition, if not defeat, in the hands of the reactionary senate, leaders who think more in terms of profit for the packing industry than they think in terms of profit for the farmer. By the time this article is read this bill has met either with victory or defeat in the senate. Senator Cravens is sponsoring the measure. Opposition comes from senators like Cashman, Orr, Nelson and others.

In my next article I will discuss my new rural credit bill.

LOWER HOUSE PASSES RELIEF BILL TUESDAY

Provides Funds for Emergency Relief up to July 1st

BUTTER SUBSTITUTES CAUSE SENATE BATTLE

House Turns Down Proposed State Water Power Amendment

The house of representatives Tuesday passed the $2,000,000 deficiency relief bill after voting down an amendment by Rep. G. H. Dalen, Hayfield, to trim the appropriation to $1,500,000.

The appropriation is for state emergency relief from January 1 to July 1, 1937, and represents a deficiency from the original biennium appropriation two years ago. Certificates of indebtedness would be issued to take care of the appropriation.

The house also passed a resolution memorializing congress to ratify the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway compact between the United States and Canada. The senate already has adopted the resolution.

The fight to pass legislation which would virtually prohibit the sale of butter substitutes in the state was renewed in the senate of the legislature Friday.

As the measure now stands it would levy high license fees on manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and consumers in addition to a tax of 15 cents per pound on all butter substitutes. A bill carrying these provisions already has been adopted by the house.

The house Thursday administered the second slap of the day to Governor Elmer Benson. The senate in the morning had confirmed, over the governor's opposition, the appointment of Frances E. Nystrom to the state board of hairdressers.

Later the house defeated, 53 to 67, one of the bills proposed by the governor. It was a measure authored by Representative S. A. Stockwell, Minneapolis, providing for submission of a constitutional amendment for the purpose of allowing the state to spend up to $50,000,000 on development of water projects for generation of electrical power.

SUBJECTS OR CITIZENS?

It is only a hundred and forty years ago since the first President of our country retired from public office. On that occasion George Washington delivered his memorable Farewell Address. In that address he spoke, not as a politician concerned with the fortune of his personal affairs, but as a statesman who, retiring from public life, and appreciating the many difficulties succeeding generations would experience in perpetuating that liberal government he had helped to organize, cautioned the people to be ever vigilant in the defense of the liberties guaranteed to them by that government.

George Washington is dead, but his Farewell Address still lives. Had it been spoken today it could not have cried out more clearly against the danger that threatens our liberties at the present time. In language that all can understand, he said,

> "If, in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the Constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this, in one instance, may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed."

President Roosevelt has demanded of Congress the right to usurp the powers of the Supreme Court. He states clearly that his purpose in seeking to control the Supreme Court is to amend the Constitution by interpretation. In other words he wants a court that will approve whatever legislation he may force a rubber-stamp Congress to enact. Which can mean only one thing and that is that our Constitutional form of government will be replaced by the personal government of one man, which is a dictatorship.

President Roosevelt claims this right to rule by virtue of his overwhelming victory at the polls. But in his campaign for re-election Roosevelt declared:

> "We have sought and will continue to seek to meet these problems through legislation within the constitution. If these problems cannot be solved effectively through legislation within the constitution, we shall seek such clarifying amendment as will assure to the legislatures of the several states and the congress of the United States, each within its proper jurisdiction, the power to enact such laws which the state and federal legislatures, within their respective spheres, shall find necessary, in order adequately to regulate commerce, protect public health and safety, and safeguard economic security."

By this declaration Roosevelt pledged himself and his administration to submit specific Constitutional amendments to the people "if these problems cannot be solved effectively through legislation within the Constitution." Not once during the campaign did he suggest that he in any way would tamper with the Supreme Court or attempt to "pack" it. Not once during the campaign did he suggest that the prescribed method for amending the Constitution was too slow. Other administration leaders, speaking for Roosevelt in that campaign, denied emphatically that the President would propose changes in the court if he were elected.

There is absolutely no merit, therefore, in the argument that, by virtue of his victory at the polls he has gained the consent of the people to effect the changes in our form of government he now proposes. He clearly seeks to usurp a power that has not been granted to him and by his attitude toward the prescribed methods of amending the Constitution he betrays his contempt for that document which he is sworn to defend.

The merit of any particular legislation that may be an issue in the country at this or any future time is not involved in the present controversy. The people may have any kind of legislation they want. The people may change the form of our government if they wish. The people have this right. But Congress does not have the right to legislate as it pleases. Nor are the rights of the President unlimited. The Constitution which is the law of the people, prescribes very definite limits on the powers of both Congress and the President. The Supreme Court is the umpire whose duty it is to pass judgment on questions of law as they are brought before it. In its decisions it must respect the Constitutional rights of Congress, the executive, and all citizens. In its judgment the Constitutional rights of the most humble citizen must be held just as sacred as the Constitutional rights of the President or any other individual or group. Its one and only guide, its book of rules, in deciding questions of Constitutional rights, is the Constitution itself, and only the people have the right to change those rules.

When a President seeks to usurp the powers of the Supreme Court, and attempts to make himself the umpire who will pass judgment on his own actions, then government of and by the people no longer exists. That the ultimate purposes of such a usurpation of power may be either good or bad is not a valid argument in the controversy. The purposes may be good today. Tomorrow they may be bad. Whether they are good or bad, they destroy liberty and convert a self-governing people to a mere mass of "subjects of the crown."

ONE OUNCE OF RADIUM

(St. Cloud Sentinel)

The Governor General and the Prime Minister of Canada have just ceremonialized a "notable increase" in the production of radium in Canada during the past three years. Total production: one ounce. Market value, $1,000,000.

With this addition, the world's supply of radium is now about twenty-five ounces, not enough to make up a two-inch cube. It is scattered widely, but the whereabouts, the ownership and the pedigree of almost every particle are on record. There is a possible secret store in the hands of the Belgians, who held a world monopoly until 1922, when Gilbert LaBine discovered the Eldorado mine on Great Bear Lake.

Radium is a pure element in a violent state of disintegration. Its atoms are constantly exploding with frightful force, but their number is so great that scientists compute it will take 19,000 years before every atom of any given particle of radium has exploded.

A billionth of an ounce of radium injected into a human body is enough to cause death by the disintegration of the tissues. Yet it is this ability to destroy living tissues which makes radium valuable in fighting cancer. If radium can be focussed upon malignant growths, the cancer is demolished.

About one out of ten persons who reach the age of thirty-five will die of cancer. Because there is so little radium, very few cancer victims will be able to receive radium treatment. Every new radium unit, therefore, promises relief for thousands. Hence the extraordinary importance of the discovery of radium in Canada, and the official celebration of the mining and refining of the first ounce.

A COUNTY SNOW PLOW POLICY

(Long Prairie Leader)

The extended review of the snow removal problem in Todd county which The Leader published last week called attention to a situation to which citizens will have to give attention.

Clearing the roads has become so necessary and the demand that the roads be kept open has become so insistent that it is evident a county road plowing policy for the winter season must be worked out and adopted. The county fathers are now attempting to keep open 1,300 miles of road and in winters like the present one when snows are frequent and heavy, the job is a big one.

Several things are necessary in considering a permanent policy. They are: (1) how is the cost to be apportioned, (2) how about the townships that do not properly co-operate, (3) what is to be the test for including in the general road clearing system a road that is on the border line of importance, (4) what is to be the township as well as the county policy of building roads that can be plowed in winter time with reasonable effort and the least damage to the machinery and (5) how far ought the county to go in buying expensive equipment needed to plow out so considerable a mileage?

These are all factors to consider carefully and with deliberation. The program should not be determined by the insistence of pressure groups whose objective is to have a particular road opened. A broad policy affecting the county as a whole is one that should be worked out for the permanent program.

I GOT BY LUCKY—I DIED

(Briggs County Sentinel)

Like to speed? Gives you a thrill doesn't it. We all think so.

I liked to speed, too, once, but look at me now, a ghost of the past.

I think I'll tell you my story.

Autumn's gay colors were flashing around us and the brisk wind was a challenge. It whistled "Step on the gas"—I did.

I vividly remember how beautiful life was as I tried to round that curve. The four of us were joyfully singing happy-go-lucky tunes. . . .

That was the last happy moment I had. It was then that I realized that the course of my car was due over a hill straight ahead.

With my nerves paralyzed, eyes tightly shut, screams surrounding me, we plunged, and struck!

The suffering of my three companions!

Latest reports say that one girl will never be able to use her arms or legs and for the rest of her life will have to live in a cast because of her broken back. The other one cannot live. Her chest is crushed and her collar-bone broken. The third was blinded because of shattered glass. And this because of speeding!

I got by lucky—I died.

SIT DOWN STRIKE ON STATE TAXES

(Owatonna Journal Chronicle)

It had to come: and the lads that staged a sit-down strike in General Motors plants may have furnished the idea, but the latest sit-down strike will be a different sort of a one—farmers and other citizens staging it on their own property and planning to let the state go taxless as they sit in protest against the lavishness with which the politicians are planning the spending of their money.

Representative George Cutting of Eyota went home to Olmsted county for a week end from his legislative duties in St. Paul. He found the revolt already fanned to a high flame. And so he told his buddies in the Legislature about it as he returned to the capitol.

"Farmers in my home county are planning a sit-down strike of no mean proportions unless the state ceases its spending spree," he advised them. "There seems to be a spontaneous uprising among the people of Olmsted county, and other parts of southern Minnesota, demanding that the Legislature stop this tremendous state spending spree or they will go on strike—a sit down strike—and refuse to plant crops, milk cows, or pay taxes."

Steele county hasn't reached the organization stage yet. But it won't take much, perhaps nothing but the suggestion.

In addition to the numerous holidays celebrated in February there is one which is not on the calendar, but is celebrated in all cities of the nation where there are Chinese residents. February 11 is the Chinese New Year and last week, Chinamen of New York celebrated the year 4634 with a gala parade which lasted four hours. Firecrackers added to the din caused by the countless tom-toms pounded by tongmen, who went through the streets paying old debts. The Chinese believe in starting the New Year free of debt. In addition they make this an occasion to contribute to charity, and money wrapped in bright red paper is hung from each house and collected in large cloth bags by guarded tongmen. There is some dispute among the Chinese as to which year they are celebrating. The majority say it is 4634, but others call it the year 4[illegible] and still others 4624.—Fergus Falls Journal.

A poll shows the favored dish at CCC camps to be pork and applesauce. Except for their uniforms, the boys could scarcely be told from congressmen.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Let us beware of losing our enthusiasm. Let us ever glory in something, and strive to retain our admiration for all that would ennoble, and our interest in all that would enrich and beautify our life.—Phillips Brooks.

The term freshwater college is an American colloquial term for a small or insignificant college, so called because the first large American colleges were located on the seaboard.

PUBLIC OPINION

My dear Mr. Editor:

Being discipled of the many-millioned-Mellon, the old-drenched Harding, and the bumbling Hoover it was to be expected that the editors of the Times would give tongue and lip to howls of disapproval at President Roosevelt's judicial reform program. But it was only reasonably right for us to expect that these editors—and they are honorable men—would give us more than the usual drooling drivel which is the brand-mark of reactionarianism. But what did they give us? The same old constitutional pap which has caused this nation of ours to suffer from capitalistic constipation for, lo, these many years!

Amendments! Amendments! People desire jobs, and an annual living wage, and a fuller and surer life, and social justice—and we are offered Amendments! Amendments which are about as fattening and nourishing as the "watered" stock and bogus bonds which the Republican administrations gladly allowed the fatty financiers to hoist upon the long and even suffering public! It would truly be funny if it weren't for the fact that times such as these don't harmonize very easily and readily with wit and humor.

What objection have we to the amendment form of judicial remedy? Simply this: We believe that organized reactionary minorities would quickly chloroform and hogtie such an amendment. For example we can cite for you the Child Labor Amendment—it is commonly agreed that this amendment is a virtuous amendment, and yet this act has been dribbled about the country for twenty odd years and still needs the ratification of nine states to cause it to become law. We are afraid that an amendment, such as the Wheeler-Bone amendment, would be subject to the same type of legislative shadow-boxing.

What a sad and sobering surprise it was to read that that fine old battler Mr. Trovatten had gotten into bed with the gentlemen from the Times. What strange bedfellows a common hatred for President Roosevelt does produce! And stranger still will be the political offspring of this union!

Andrew, don't you know that the path of the Times will lead you to the bottomless pit?

Before the carping critics find fault with my anonymity I will hasten to say that circumstances beyond my control make it necessary to merely sign myself as

Editor Thief River Falls Times:

We are supposed to be governed by three branches of government, the Executive, Legislative and Judicial. The legislative branch appear to have abdicated, and its functions are already largely of the Rubber Stamp variety. Now President Roosevelt is asking for powers to "PACK" the Supreme Court. Why? That HE may be in position to circumvent the constitution of the United States of America, or invalidate its protective powers, that He and his "Brain Trusters" may be in position to crack down on the American people and force upon us laws and regulations contrary to American principles, traditions and future welfare. If this is not a "dictator's" tactics we are sorely mistaken. If not, why demand powers never before asked by any former President in our land!

If congress grant this last request, they do not represent American ideals and sentiments, and should forthwith pack their Duffle bags and come home, that we at least could save the salary they draw for sitting around the Capitol Dome looking wise and doing nothing, because the most of them will never go back to misrepresent the American people.

In his speech, on the eve of the last election Roosevelt said: "I should like to have it said of my first administration that in it the forces of selfishness and lust for power met their match. I should like to have it said of my second administration that in it these forces met their Master."

If it is "Selfishness" to fight for American principles, our government is tottering, for the "Master" is calling for powers, which indicate that we are sliding into a state of coma, and when we awake we may find a "dictator" on the throne at Washington, governing with machine guns, in places of ballots given by a peace loving nation.

We do not say that F. D. Roosevelt will be this figure, but he has taken his "son" into training for what may come!

The "packing" of any court or jury is one of the most damnable, insidious, contemptible and dangerous methods to undermine and destroy justice loving men can call for, and should be promptly condemned by all liberty loving people, regardless of party, creed or color!

The American people voted the Democratic party into power to represent us as Americans, not to nullify the constitution of the United States of America!

Albert Anderson.

U. S. Department Seeks Stabilized Egg Prices

A total of 4,498,710 dozen eggs has been bought by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in its emergency surplus removal program, put into effect January 15, to prevent a continuation of the abnormally sharp decline in winter farm egg prices resulting from extremely mild winter weather conditions, it was announced today.

The purchases of surplus eggs made during the period January 15 to February 9 involved an expenditure slightly in excess of one million dollars. Eggs bought by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in connection with the surplus removal program are turned over to the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for distribution to the States for the use of the needy and unemployed.

According to the Poultry Section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, wholesale egg prices during the last two weeks have been maintained at a relatively constant level.

Governor Benson Will be at Democratic Dinner

Governor Elmer Benson will head the list of Farmer-Laborites who will attend the state-wide Democratic victory dinner March 4 at the St. Paul Auditorium, it was announced today by George W. Jansen, dinner chairman.

Much interest has been aroused over the announcement that Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania will be the principal speaker. He has been mentioned as a Democratic presidential possibility for 1940. Volunteer workers throughout the state are striving for more than 3,000 subscriptions to the dinner. The price of the tickets has been set at ten dollars by the national committee in order that all party members can assist in building up a reserve fund for the 1938 campaign, Jansen stated.

ANGLING SEASON CLOSES MARCH 1st

With the exception of rough fish, which may be taken by spearing at any time, the season for all species of fish will remain closed during March and April.

Polk Commissioners Ask Webb Resignation

Charging inefficiency and lack of co-operation a resolution was approved by the Polk county commissioners at their meeting Wednesday of last week demanding resignation of Mearle Webb, area engineer supervisor for the WPA. Webb is engineer supervisor for the area comprising Polk, Pennington, Red Lake and Norman counties. The resolution charged in general that Webb handled his work inefficiently and disregarded city and county officers' requests. Several detailed complaints were included.

Farm and Implement News

SEEDING TIME

It will be Seeding time. Not tomorrow, but when spring comes and that will be in a few short weeks. The first essential for a good crop in the fall is proper seeding and planting. The old drill will probably do the job, but how. It is a proven fact that better seeding means greater returns to the extent that your investment in a new and the proper kind of Grain drill will be paid for on a very limited number of acres in increased crop returns. We guarantee that a New McCormick-Deering Grain Drill will do just that. Now is the time to plan your grain drill investment. There is every indication of a great shortage in farm machines for spring.

TILLAGE TOOLS

Disc Harrows, Field Cultivators and smoothening harrows are very essential tools for proper preparation of the seed bed and we are actually proud of the equipment we have to offer you. The McCormick-Deering field tools have proven their great and substantial values for many years and the improved machines for 1937 are far ahead of anything ever offered before. We invite you to come and see them on our sample floor and learn why they are actually outstanding.

SUNNY DAYS AND BALMY

How inviting, and what an inspiration when the warm days come along and the snow and cold disappears. Not alone do we think of the joy of getting out in the fields to prepare the seed bed and do the seeding. But how thrilling it is to get out on the highways for a tour in the car and to improve this pleasure we have just the kind of automobile to offer you that will give you the greater satisfaction. In new automobiles from the high priced bracket down to the lowest. In used automobile values we have bargains to offer greater than ever before. It's a fact and we invite your check up. Come on in and see.

A WINTER EVENT

There is scheduled for next Saturday afternoon and evening at the Sports Arena an event of great interest, the ice carnival. Every promise is the most interesting ice exhibition of fancy skating ever staged in the city. You will miss something if you fail to be there.

YES-AND HAVE YOU NOTICED HOW THE CROWD IS CALLING FOR HAMM'S BEER

Have you noticed, lately, how men and women are turning to beer as a beverage, at home as well as away from home?

Fine beer is a wholesome, sensible drink.

And at Hamm's this trend is very noticeable, because Hamm's Beer is growing more popular every day.

In fact Hamm's Beer is now nationally famous for its smooth, mellow flavor — a flavor that comes only with finest barley, choice hops, and careful aging.

Try Hamm's, next time, and judge for yourself — on draught, in sparkling clean bottles, or in handy cans. HAMM, ST. PAUL.

★ Beer paid $1,981,577 in direct taxes, in Minnesota, in 1936. This is 23% more than was paid in taxes for 1935.

★ Last year Hamm purchased over a million bushels of fine Northwest-grown barley.

Mrs. A. R. Johnsrud, a member, now residing at T. R. Falls was also present.—Mrs. Thronson returned to her home at Clifford, N. D., after spending a short time visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Roman. She was accompanied by Mr. A. Roman and Oliver Peterson.

Nine of the local boys who are in attendance at the various CCC camps in the vicinity of Cass Lake and Bemidji spent the week end visiting at their various homes. The severe snow storm of Sunday night and all day Monday made it a hardship for the boys on their return trip and our guess is that the trip was not too enjoyable for the lads who rode in the rear of the "pick-ups."—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elton and daughter of Mavie are spending a few days visiting at the H. T. Peterson home.—Mrs. O. J. Johnson pleasantly entertained the members of her sewing club on Tuesday. As usual a good program will be rendered and lunch served. Why not everybody turn out to these community affairs.—Due to the bad snowstorm on Tuesday the meeting of the [illegible] vation Committee did not materialize as the county agent from Beltrami Co. was unable to get here due to blocked roads. Mr. Reierson from Marshall Co. was also due to be here to distribute checks but on account of the storm was also forced to cancel his appearance. A general call over the telephone advised that checks would be mailed out instead and no doubt, as this is being read many will have profited by this program.

Miss Lockwood teaching school in the Gilthvedt district, returned late on Tuesday after spending a few days at her home at [illegible]. The afternoon was spent in making container crepe paper baskets in two tone effects, after which a sumptuous lunch was served by Mrs. John on who acted as hostess for the afternoon. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, March 17. Attractive cake or bread boards will be made at this meeting, at the Oscar Gilbertson home in Silverton. FIGHT SNOWDRIFTS TO HELP SICK MAN

Lamont Sylvan Larson, 24-year-old East Chain township farmer, is convalescing satisfactorily in a Fairmont hospital, apparently out of danger from a burst appendix, because his family and neighbors fought snowdrifts to bring him to medical aid. More than 12 hours elapsed following the appendicitis attack, before the young man went under the knife. His brother, Edwin Larson, who operates an oil tank truck out of Fairmont, started for East Chain at two o'clock in the morning, ran into a blockade of snow, and reached the farm home, nine miles away at seven o'clock. Knowing that a doctor could not get through in time and that his brother must be carried to help, Edwin called on the county highway patrol plow station at Granada which promptly set out. In the meantime farmers along the way and East Chain [illegible], 15 to 20 men in all, turned out to shovel in stretches where the plow had trouble, and a team of horses was hitched to the car in which the sick man was placed.

OLD AGE ANNUITY TAXES COMING IN FAST, SAYS LANDY

Revenue Collector Reminds of Payments Falling Due in February

Federal tax returns required by Title VIII of the social security act, which relates to the commonly called old age annuity taxes, are being filed at a satisfactory rate in Minnesota, according to James R. Landy, collector of internal revenue. The collector calls attention to the fact, however, that there are still a great number of employers who have not filed returns. These employers will be subject to penalties provided by the act if returns for January on Form SS-1 are not received in the office of the collector on or before February 28, 1937.

Because of misunderstanding existing in the minds of some employers, Mr. Landy calls attention to the fact that employers of one or more and their employees are subject to the taxes imposed by Title VIII. Certain exceptions are provided, however, as in the case of farm employment, domestic service in the home and others. "The tax imposed by Title IX, commonly called the unemployment compensation tax", said Mr. Landy, "affects, generally speaking, employers of eight or more. The taxes imposed by Title VIII are independent of the unemployment compensation taxes and taxpayers are reminded that the State of Minnesota has no part in the tax plan provided in Title VIII relating to old age annuity taxes."

Employers and employees are advised that even though numbers have not been furnished to them by the Social Security Board, the liability for tax edits and returns for the month of January must be filed within the prescribed time in order to avoid the penalties provided by law. The employer is required to pay taxes upon the wages paid to his employees during January even though deductions were not made from employees' wages.

Form SS-1, together with remittance of the full amount of the tax, should be forwarded to the Collector of Internal Revenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

DRIVING IN RURAL SECTIONS CAUSES MOST ACCIDENTS

453 Fatalities Occurred Outside of Cities in Past Year

Driving an automobile in rural Minnesota is far more dangerous than driving in cities, according to the annual report of A. V. Rohweder, chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety committee.

Mr. Rohweder today made public part of the report which he will present at the third annual award dinner of the committee at the Nicollet Hotel in Minneapolis on March 2 when winners of the Governor's Trophies emblematic of state championship in traffic safety are to be presented. More than 1,000 persons from all parts of the state are expected to attend the dinner.

Of a total of 649 traffic deaths in Minnesota during the past year, 453 occurred in rural areas and 196 in cities of more than 5,000 population.

Traffic fatalities in Minnesota are still far below the national average. During 1936 a total of 649 persons were killed on streets and highways in Minnesota. In 1935 a total of 592 were killed and in 1934 the total reached 641.

Because of a great increase in driving and the number of motor vehicles registered last year, Minnesota's rate of fatalities per ten million gallons of gasoline consumed, which is the national method of figuring death rates, was 13.9 compared with a rate of 13.8 in 1935 and 15.8 in 1934. The rate for the entire United States is 21.4.

Defective vehicles caused but a small percentage of the traffic accident fatalities. Defective brakes were responsible for 1.7 per cent of the fatalities, improper lights for 5.6 per cent; defective steering mechanism for 1.1 per cent and all other defects for only 2.8 per cent. Of the 738 cars involved in fatal accidents, 634 were reported to have no defects.

Curves are dangerous, but according to Mr. Rohweder's statistics, 84.6 per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were "going straight ahead."

Neither, according to Mr. Rohweder, do lawbreakers cause all the fatal accidents. Of the 738 drivers involved in fatal accidents 450 were reported as not guilty of illegal driving. However, the "in a hurry" driver was present in 15.6 per cent of the accidents. Driving on the wrong side of the road was the second largest contributing cause of accidents being present in 10.6 per cent of the fatal accidents.

Volunteers Sought to Aid Drive for Disabled

An appeal for volunteer workers to help the physically disabled was made today by Arthur E. Nelson former mayor of Saint Paul and campaign director of the statewide drive to raise $50,000 for the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children and Disabled Adults. Volunteers were urged to send in their enrollments to either 302 Hodgson building, Minneapolis, or 1606 Pioneer building, Saint Paul. "I am sure", Nelson said, "that the people of Minnesota will gladly open their purses to help crippled persons to help themselves once the facts are known but we must have volunteer workers to aid us in presenting these facts. "The Lone Craftsman division of the association is doing a marvelous piece of work in teaching shut-in cripples to become self-supporting by doing handicraft work in their own homes. This work must go on and must be expanded further."

Census by State Game and Fish Commission Shows Deer Increase

Minnesota's deer herds are showing a gradual and healthy increase, according to census carried on by the state division of game and fish and CCC camps. This is the conclusion of Gordon Fredine, game and fish biologist, who has just completed compilation of deer-counts made before the 1936 deer season was opened.

In 1936, 51 deer drives were made in representative areas in the Superior and Chippewa national forests and eight state forests. A total of 1175 deer were counted in the 70 square miles covered by the drives. The count showed a sex rate of 68 does to 32 bucks, an ideal proportion according to Fredine, and an average deer population of 17.9 per section.

The 45 deer drives taken in 1935 over 75 square miles showed a total of 1256 deer with an average of 16.6 deer per section and a sex ratio of 63 does to 37 bucks.

TOBOGGAN RESCUES PNEUMONIA PATIENT

Pillager—With his home in Cass county isolated by mountainous snowdrifts, a group of local men brought Donald Benson, who was stricken with pneumonia, to Pillager on a toboggan so that he might be rushed to Brainerd for medical attention. When word reached Pillager that Benson was ill and that help could not reach him after giving up attempts to go to his home with a snow plow, two men left on skis in the evening for the Benson farm. They returned the following noon with the message that the sick man could be brought out only by toboggan. Six men volunteered immediately to make the trip on skis and a toboggan.

WPA WAGE QUIZ CONDUCTED LAST WEEK IN ST. PAUL

Average Monthly Payments in This State Called Above Average

Average monthly earnings of WPA workers in Minnesota are $2.00 higher than in the second highest state in this region, which comprises seven neighboring states. This was shown at a hearing on WPA wage rates, held last week in St. Paul. The hearing was conducted by R. G. Jacobson, special representative of the Chicago regional office of Howard O. Hunter, assistant administrator to Harry L. Hopkins, Federal administrator.

Mr. Jacobson was sent to Minnesota after Victor Christgau, state administrator, had transmitted to regional and national officers demands coming from second-class cities for a monthly wage rate of $60.60, as now is being paid in the metropolitan areas, instead of $44.40.

Mr. Jacobson pointed out that wage areas and rates are established by executive order and federal regulations and apply uniformly to regions. The inquiry was ordered after the Minnesota administrator has requested authority to adjust differentials in these wage rates affecting second-class cities and the drought area. Mr. Jacobson explained that while Mr. Christgau has exercised all of the authority given him to adjust rates upward, his office could not act with respect to differentials because these differentials apply to regions rather than states and any adjustment that might be made would have to apply to all of the area within the region.

During the conference, it was developed that Minnesota is the only state in this region in which workers in rural areas had been granted all of the 10 per cent increase which the state administrator is impowered to make.

It was announced definitely that there will be a gradual reduction in WPA quotas beginning in March and continuing until June.

Bill Would Pay Auto Mishap Hospital Costs

Hospital bills for persons injured in automobile accidents on the state highways will be paid from automobile license tax funds if a bill is adopted as it is soon to be presented in the state legislature, it was announced today by A. G. Stasel, superintendent of Eitel Hospital, Minneapolis and chairman of the legislative committee of the Minnesota Hospital association. But don't think you can have an accident for yourself and the state is going to foot the bill, Mr. Stasel warned motorists as he worked with other hospital officials in preparing the bill which will be presented within a week. The bill is aimed to protect the hospitals against the losses they now stand every month by caring to injured persons who cannot possibly pay the hospital. But those who can pay will have to do the same as previously, Mr. Stasel warned.

Road Patrol Increases Its Effectiveness on State Highways 30 Pct.

The Minnesota highway patrol increased its activities and effectiveness more than 30 per cent in January, 1937, as compared with January, 1936, according to a report by John P. Arnoldy, chief patrol officer, to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. There were 6,758 violators warned for various traffic code violations in January, 1937, as compared to 4,122 in the same month of 1936; 1,165 tags issued for illegal equipment and 2,240 improper license plates corrected last month. This January, 306 violators were arrested in all classes, as compared to 264 a year ago, and $5,652 was collected in fines as against $3,362 for January, 1936. The patrol was responsible for the collection of $13,781 in license corrections in January, 1937.

The report shows the patrol traveled 368,661 miles in January, 1937, as compared to 281,475 the same month last year, an increase of 87,129 miles. Patrol hours also increased from 14,108 in January, 1936, to 21,065 in January, 1937, indicating the number of hours the men were actually on the road. The patrol mileage was all by automobile so far this year, because of winter conditions. At the same rate, the patrol would travel 4,423,248 miles for the entire year of 1937. This mileage average is expected to be increased when the patrol puts its motorcycles on the road.

In January, 1937, there were 791 trucks stopped and weighed for suspected violations, 1,247 lights were tested, 137 brake tests were conducted, 3,334 drivers licenses checked and 84 motor vehicles inspected for suspected illegal equipment. This makes a total for these five items of 6,593 vehicles stopped, as compared to 2,663 in the same period a year ago. Nine cars were taken into custody for various reasons this year. There were two a year ago.

The patrol attended 70 accidents in January, 1937, and gave first aid to injured in nine cases. Road information was given to 2,542 motorists. 1,161 drivers were assisted with minor adjustments or repairs. 541 cars were removed from ditches, gasoline was delivered to stalled cars in 109 cases, garages were called for 112 drivers and 266 obstacles were removed from the highways.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Organized labor came to the support of the Administration liquor dispensary bill from two quarters last week. The St. Paul Trades and Labor Assembly and the Hennepin County Trade Union Political Committee consisting of 19 unions both gave strong backing to the bill in resolutions endorsed by the two organizations.

Meyer Lewis, head of the Minneapolis office of the A. F. of L. and representative of William Green in Minnesota, who had previously opposed the bill reversed his stand and stated that the A. F. of L. "would have to take a stand in favor of it."

More than twice as many persons are eligible for employment on WPA as are actually employed, figures made public by Administrator Harry Hopkins reveal. Out of a total of 6,402,000 eligible, only a little more than 3,000,000 have jobs on the works projects. The figures showed that the United States has some 840,000 individuals entirely without experience, having been unable to find any work since leaving school.

Governor Benson asked investigation of labor spying activities and hiring of thugs in labor disputes by the old Minneapolis Citizens Alliance, in a telegram sent last week to Senator Robert M. LaFollette, chairman of the Senate committee investigating civil liberties.

The Citizens Alliance recently changed its name to Associated Industries of Minneapolis. Whether under the new name the labor-baiting activities of the Alliance will continue is not yet known, although the personnel of the present organization is virtually the same as of the old one.

The Administration's public welfare bill, which sets up a new department of public welfare, is in conformity with the most advanced social thought of the day. The unemployed person in need of relief is no longer treated as one requiring special social care, but rather is considered a victim of a faulty social order. He or she is cared for in a separate department which approaches the problem from the standpoint of need resulting from unemployment; special case work and meddlesome investigations into the unemployed person's private life are thus eliminated.

The people of this state now have an opportunity of studying the Republican tax program. This has been submitted to the Legislature in the form of another omnibus bill, under the authorship of Senator Wm. L. Roepke, one of the conservative leaders of the Senate. This program is interesting, especially in the light of the last campaign when the Republican spokesmen at great length told the voters that they do not intend to foist a sales tax upon this state.

As the Republican tax program came to light in the omnibus bill, a most vicious, concerted attack was in full swing against the Administration's plan to increase the net income tax in the upper brackets. The attack got under way last week at a packed meeting before the Senate Tax Committee. It was attended by the old gang that wants a sales tax, so that the wealthy would escape their just contribution to a society in which they are the chief beneficiaries.

Attempts were made to frighten people with threats that industry would be forced to leave the state. A granite company said it was ready to do so. Imagine moving the granite out of St. Cloud! They complained bitterly about poor companies just struggling along trying to break even, when the fact of the matter is that the high rate of 12½ per cent applies to corporations only when their net profits reach the $112,000-a-year mark. The corporation is even allowed to deduct salaries for owners, interest on all outstanding indebtedness and depreciation of plant, machinery and building. If the farmer could do that, he would never have to pay a penny in taxes.

TRUCK DRIVER CHASES WOLF FROM HIS DOOR

Walker—The truth, "He who in haste chases the wolf from his door may repent at leisure," was established by Charles Hurd, driver of a Brainerd laundry truck who collected a $15 bounty for overtaking a wolf. While Hurd was driving west on the highway between Hackensack and Walker, a wolf, alarmed by the palisades of snow, refused to attempt to scramble over the high snow banks. Mr. Wolf's life ended then and there.

LUMBERJACKS WIN FAST GAME OVER PROWLERS FRIDAY

Last Period Spurt Defeats Local Quint By 33-31 Score

Last Friday evening the Prowlers swallowed their first defeat in several weeks at the hands of the Bemidji High school state championship basketball team before a near capacity crowd in the city auditorium.

It can be said without much contradiction that the game was a toss-up from start to finish with first one team and then the other holding the advantage. However, the factor that won the game for the out-of-town boys was their superiority over the Prowlers in making free throws count on the scoreboard.

Play in the first quarter went to the favor of Bemidji with three field goals and two free throws after the Prowlers had tied the score twice. Neither team seemed to have much of an advantage over the other and the score at the end of the opening period was 8 to 6. The second quarter of the contest went to the locals as it has in most of their games to date. That second quarter seems to hold some inspiration for the Prowlers and so it was in this game. They outscored Bemidji by seven points bringing the tally to 21-16. Bud Nelson and Lee were the principal scoring threat for the locals, Nelson making six points and Lee four. Perhaps its Roy's left hand that makes up for his brevity in height.

Bemidji reduced the Prowlers five point lead to two by the end of the third quarter with the score standing at 26 to 24. It was in the last period that Bemidji won the ball game by making ten points to the locals five making the final score 33-31. The Lumberjacks proved their superiority in throwing gift shots making twelve out of a total of nineteen while the Prowlers made seven out of fourteen, while the locals made twelve field goals to Bemidji's ten.

Bud Nelson was high point man for the Prowlers with four field shots and two free throws for a total of ten points with Olson high for the Lumberjacks with twelve points.

Bemidji is given credit for having one of the best teams in the state again this year and they had a hard time to pull out of the game with the Prowlers retaining their clean slate. When asked what he thought of the game, Erickson, the Bemidji coach, replied "too close". His attitude expressed very well that he wasn't exactly anxious for another meeting with the locals.

On a decision made by the referee late in the fourth quarter the crowd booed very vigorously. This is extremely inadvisable. It not only displays poor sportsmanship on the part of the home crowd but also in a position such as that it could decide the game one way or the other, by a technical foul. Let's all cooperate to eradicate this practice in the district tournament. The Prowlers will need all extra points. One or two more for the opposing team may be the cause of a loss in the tournament.

UNIFORMED BAND APPEARS FRIDAY AT BEMIDJI GAME

All Members of H. S. Band Now Receiving Group Lessons

The Lincoln High School Band made its second appearance in their new blue and gold uniforms at the basket ball game with Bemidji Friday night. This was the first opportunity the students have had to see the band in uniform and everyone was very enthusiastic in their praise both of the appearance and of the performance of the band Friday night. The uniforms, consisting of blue and gold satin capes, and matching blue and gold caps, will not be worn at the Grand Forks game Wednesday night, but will be worn again at the district basketball tournament next week.

Thirty members of the total fifty in the band played several numbers at the pep fest last Friday afternoon. As the seniors paraded into the assembly, the band played "Loyalty March," and followed that by "Drums and Bugles." Then the Skyrocket Yell was given by students with the band playing each time after the yell was completed. This novelty number was also used at the game Friday with the students and cheer-leaders cooperating with the band. And last but not least, the band accompanied the students in the school song as a fitting close for the pep fest.

Each member of the band is taking weekly lessons from Mr. Riggs, using the Prescott system of lessons devised by the director of the Minnesota University band. As the player progresses he is given credit for a certain number of weeks of work. Ralph Gustafson, the solo cornetist, has progressed the farthest with sixteen weeks to his credit. Irene Hoffseth is next highest with 14 weeks finished. Vernon Ostrum, Tommy Carlisle, Charles Gustafson, Palma Juhr, Archie Monson, Margaret Jacobson, Gloria Quist have completed twelve weeks' work.

It seems that Mr. Claffy's lecture given over the mike about the person who took two new band caps from the band room last Monday had a good effect on someone for the caps were returned the following day. We hope nothing like this will happen again.

Panthers Retain Lead by Defeating Boilermakers

Last week saw a comparative let down in intramural basket ball, with only two games being played. Both resulted as expected, the league leading Panthers strengthening their hold on first place by virtue of their win over the Boilermakers and the Wildcats taking the Badgers in their stride. Nicholson, pace setting Panther center, who amassed a total of 11 points, nosed out Jack Adkins for high scoring honors. The fast stepping Wildcats pulled up into fourth place at the expense of the Badger hoopsters, who couldn't seem to find their range Thursday.

The changed standings are given below:

Teams	W	L	Pct
Panthers	8	1	.888
Boilermakers	7	2	.777
Wildcats	6	3	.666
Cornhuskers	4	4	.500
Giants	3	4	.428
Eels	2	3	.400
Badgers	3	5	.375
Gophers	3	5	.375

PROWLERS DOWN PIRATES 32-21 ON ROAD TRIP

Helquist Gives Locals An Early Lead Which Was Held Throughout

The Prowlers removed their last barrier in the path to the undisputed district leadership by bowling over the slipping Crookston Pirates by a 32 to 21 count, in a renewed basketball feud on the Buccaneer's court, Wednesday, February 17.

The rejuvinated Leemen performed like champions to rout the once highly rated Pirates, who were unable to cope with the versatile Prowlers attack. It must be said, however, that the Crookston five played a commendable game but were outclassed by the Prowlers who were out for a decisive victory. The visitors' game was probably at the highest magnitude of perfection that it has attained this season which was an upset to the "hot stove leaguers" who regarded the Prowlers as just another team before the season got under way.

This triumph gave the Prowlers the undisputed district 31 crown with six wins and no losses and placed them as favorites in the district tournament to be held here in March.

Leonard Helquist proved to be the big gun in the Prowler offense for the upsteenth time by garnering his usual quota of twelve points. Captain Floyd Barnes did almost as well with eleven markers for the Red and Black.

Crookston took the lead for the first and only time in the contest when Barnes broke away to score shortly after the opening whistle. Helquist countered with five tallies and Lee with three before Barnes again scored under the hoop. Nelson and Nesse looped in gift shots to give the Prowlers a 10 to 4 lead at the quarter.

The second quarter was chiefly a defensive skirmish with the Prowlers displaying an edge in this department. Wheelhouse's "long" try was good, while Lee and Helquist teamed for six points as the Prowler margin increased 16 to 6 at the end of the half.

The battle was salted away for the Prowlers in the third stanza when the Prowlers ran up ten more points, Morlan and Wheelhouse gave the Pirates five points as they trailed 25 to 11.

Coach Lee removed his first stringers in the final quarter to give the subs additional experience under fire. Crookston made its best showing in the stanza as the local reserves were unable to keep the Buccaneers well in check.

Roy Lee and "Bud" Nelson gathered in seven points each besides acquitting themselves nobly on defense. Glen Morlan, Russ Wheelhouse and Roger Panzer played dependable ball for the Pirate quint.

The Crookston fans were given a novelty in entertainment during the half in the form of Mr Gabrielson's tumbling troupe. They were accorded great applause by the appreciative audience, which held the acrobats in high state. The tumblers making the trip were: Pomeroy Hill, Clarence Freed, James Aaltu, Roy Aaltu, Jack Adkins, Hjalmer Ausaby, Dick Battelson, Cliff Lanke, Leonard Furuseth, Billy Claffy, Delmar Hovie and Milt Poppenhagen.

The newly organized Red Lake Falls yearlings, future Prowler "B" opponents, humbled the Crookston "B" team, 21 to 10, in a preliminary engagement.

Starting next Wednesday the local high school will be playing the role of host for the district 31 basketball tournament. During the course of the three day meet the school and students will be under the scrutiny of people from several other schools and residents of many neighboring cities. While we are in this position we have a chance to show them the type of people Lincoln High produces. Remember the saying, "the first impression lasts the longest." We want to see our team win and should encourage them in every way, but we should remember to do this by living up to the Code of Sportsmanship. This Code is published in the official handbook of the Minnesota State High School League and reads as follows: (1) Play fair. (2) Show no "yellow streak". (3) Hold your temper. (4) Give the opponent a square deal (5) Let all true courtesies in relation to Lost and guest prevail. (6) Respect for officials at all times. (7) Don't alibi on "crab" in defeat and don't boast in victory. We think the sixth item mentioned above is the best of all to remember. Remember the officials are doing their best to make the games interesting as well as keeping them fair. Both Mr. Groningen and Mr. Laing, the officials who work the games are on the list of state approved officials and therefore know more about the game than you. So don't "crab". Again I say, "We want to win, but if we don't, follow this poem by A. A. Stagg:

"Here's to the fellows who went down with banners flying,
To the boys who took defeat bravely after they played hard to win.
To the first class sportsmen who make no fuss about not winning.
Here's to the Great, Unwhimpering".

THE SCREAMER

Oh, I say now, Mick? How was the show Sunday night? Of course, you wouldn't be an authority on the matter because, after all, you can't hold Mary O. O.'s hand and really enjoy the show at the same time. Or do you prefer that sort of enjoyment to a common ordinary movie.

And now a nose-dive clear down from the juniors to the meager sophs. Did you know what? Those blamed youngsters stand around on street corners—after supper, too!

Betcha don't know who the popular young girl was over at Nesse's the other night! Well we do— it was none other than Ellen O. (another junior!)

That's all right Hettie we know how it is! Yeh, we mean your little spree to the show with the new boy friend the other night!

We know you're all sick of these so-called "new couples", but this one is too good to keep out. May we introduce the latest of all? Buddy B. and Clarice B.

Just try and imagine our friend and Senior playing "second fiddle" to any one. But that's just what happened and it was all concerned with a certain out of town girl!

Somebody told us it was slippery down at the overshoe dance but we don't believe everything we hear— It couldn't have been very slippery cause we only saw a hundred or so people fall!

"While the cat is away, the mice will play." What do you think of that little ditty, Bob B? In the opinion of us-uns, you think it's tops!

Now to wind up with a morsel from the little brick school house. As if the weather wasn't drippy enough anyway, the water from the faucet in the chemistry room meandered down to the home ec room and then down to Coach's own private abode (during school hour). Blame it anyway, we must be doomed to get sopped you know, like at Wednesday's hockey game for instance!

"Thumbnails of Seniors"

Herb Schroeder

"I'm something like a goat", Herbert Schroeder confesses, "I eat everything." He was born Nov. 17, 1919. His favorite hobby is the radio, not what issues from it but the sport of seeing it in pieces and wondering how it will look and act when together again. He hopes to make his hobby pay someday and his inspiration is Stienmetz.

The late Will Rogers was his favorite actor and the "The Count of Monte Cristo" deserves all the A's they give in his estimation. Ask me is he loyal, his favorite song is the Lincoln High School song and his favorite band none other than the school band with Mr. Riggs as director. (Try and beat that, you juniors.) Herb prefers Fibber Magee and Molly to any other radio program, but as to a radio star he will show no favoritism. He likes biking as a subject and tennis is his favorite sport. His pet peeve is laziness.

WIND-CHILL

What was the idea of all the booing at the game Friday night? Don't you know better than that! Tisk! Tisk!

I hear that the boys are planning to win the district crown. Let's hope so.

There seemed to be a bit of a free for all in a house way down LaBree avenue Sunday.

And were L. H. and Erick the Red, disappointed the earlier part of Sunday evening. Later?

Who was the young man squiring Betty G. around last weekend?

Who called the Seniors dignified and reserved? We thought there was a law against bill-boards too!

Notice where some of our old pals were in town Sunday, Glenn Matson and Johnnie Bowers.

And now Micky proves to be another Lochinvar, Hurray for him! (thats the way to show all those "wisenheims" Mick.)

Going to be a hard weekend during the tournament, Jimmy Johnson's swell band every night.

Only thirteen more weeks of school—and then only thirteen more till it starts again.

You have to admit that we've been rather discreet about not saying anything about the way some of you kids come home from B. B. games, etc. But the way some of our fairer sex looked and acted when they came back from Crx. last Wednesday well—'twas just too much!

Famous Finales: As emphatic as Coach attempting to stifle the "Boo-ers" Friday night.

Fur of the Marmoset

The soft fur of the marmoset is a mixture of black, gray and brown, with longer tufts of white on his ears. A halo of longer hair circles the head. The body is about seven inches long and the tail twelve inches. It is not considered as having the same degree of intelligence as some of the larger species.

POLITICAL RALLY IS THEME FOR SENIOR PEP FEST

Pep Program Is Held Prior Bemidji Game

On Friday, February 19, the seniors sponsored the pep fest prior to the Bemidji basketball game. This pep fest was the grand climax to the four pepfests originated by the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors respectively.

After the three lower classes were seated in the assembly the seniors, en masse, marched into the assembly waving banners which praised the gallant Prowlers and degraded the Lumberjacks, and shouting as loudly they put up strong competition to the pep band which was already seated on the stage. After the seniors were settled in the front of the assembly the pep band, under the direction of Mr. Riggs played three marches entitled "Loyalty", "Drums and Bugles" and a "Yea Team" in which the student body joined in with the yell, "The Skyrocket".

Don Olson, president of senior class, who acted as master of ceremonies, explained that the pep fest was in the nature of a political rally—people would represent the two parties, namely, the minor party (Lumberjacks) and Major party (Prowlers).

Juben Provencher on Eb alto saxophone played "Down Town Strutter's Ball" in true Prowler fashion. To a very poor reception he played the same song in the Bemidji fashion.

The minor party represented by the Boys Double Quartet started to sing "Anchors Aweigh". Strange to say the flustered "Lumberjacks" couldn't get started. After Don had persuaded these boys to join the major party "Anchors Aweigh" was sung with great zip.

The dashing senior, Clifford Vevea then tapped his way to fame spurred on by enthusiastic cheers from the Seniors.

Mr. Harrison expressed his feelings by "tickling the ivories" as Don Olson said, to the tune "Tickled to Death." As an encore Mr. Harrison told a musical story.

Mr. Montague, in the role of judge, gave the pep fest talk which climaxed the pep fest. Mr. Montague said he could give the decision to neither the minor or major party, but the game, itself, would decide— Mr. Montague elaborated on his unfavorable connections with the Prowlers, but now everything was all right since the team had pulled him and Mr. Riggs out of snowdrifts on the way home after the Grand Forks game.

The pep fest was the climax to the Senior day. All afternoon the seniors had been wearing placards with very original slogans telling the Prowlers to sink Bemidji.

MUSIC NOTES

The boys' double quartette sang at the American Legion Auxiliary, Thursday evening, February 18. The places of Stanley Newland and Wendell Olson, who are ill, were filled by Lawrence Swanson and Eugene Nelson. The boys sang four selections:

"On to the Desert"—Strickland
"Bells of St. Mary"—Adams
"Anchors Aweigh"—
"I Love A Parade"—

At the pep fest given by the seniors last Friday the double quartette also sang the selection "Anchors Aweigh".

Speaking of speed, ever notice how a fish grows an inch in length every time a man describes the big one he caught.

KENNEDY WINS DEBATE HONORS

Wins District Title From Lincoln High Tuesday

Tuesday, February 23, marked the end of the district debates. The Lincoln High School debate team met Kennedy in the Lincoln High School assembly. The national high school debate question—Resolved: That All Electric Utilities Should be Governmentally Owned and Operated was discussed, with Lincoln high school upholding the affirmative side and Kennedy the negative. Marjorie Matheson and Vernon Wedul represented Lincoln high school and Demarris Anderson and Ruby Sundberg represented Kennedy. The decision by the judges was 2-1 for the negative.

This debate makes Kennedy the district champion and they will debate against Mahnomen in the regional contest. The district is composed of Warren, Thief River Falls and Kennedy. Warren has won two debates— against Karlstad and against Thief River Falls; Thief River Falls has won one debate against Karlstad; and Kennedy has won all three debates—against Warren, Karlstad, and Thief River Falls.

The debate Tuesday night was a very close one and the best perhaps of the season.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

Tush and Pooph! Plenty exercise sprinting after those Senior Sirens and endeavoring to read for a giggle. Such nonchalance and with such ease they modeled the glaring captains! (Result of three years concentrated effort in gym-Green-eyes! (Green for jealousy this time freshettes.)

Oooh—My! With such tooth and nail fighting for the Big Six championship, I marvel that casualties only numbered one and that a minor injury—but major scratch. Pinafores might well have been changed to rompers, so much of the game was played on the floor. A score of 7—6, however, concedes the highest place to "Black Legion", captained by Ragna Folkedahl—and very closely second comes Evie Tungseth's "Centipedes"

Quintuplet League is lorded over by the Silver Streaks who eked out a 5-4 win over the Rainbow Aces.

Put the two best teams together and what happens? Find out next week. Are you with us? Tally-ho!

Umm—got the jiters! That Bemidji game tonight means so much and Grand Forks looming darkly for Wednesday. Skating and after math of dunking noses onto "marshmallowed" hot chocolates was in order for all G. A. A. girls Tuesday night.

Funny—but fun can be had—at a low price—Oh—just thinking. Woops! and the connection is broken—so, Happy Weekend.

PROWLERS ENTER DISTRICT TOURNEY NEXT WEDNESDAY

District 31 Three-Day Tournament to be Held at Auditorium

Starting Wednesday the Prowlers will be fighting for the district championship on the local floor. The tournament will continue for three days consisting of eight games, four to be played Wednesday, two Thursday and two Friday. The pre-season dope has Thief River as favorite with Crookston close behind. One game is yet to be played that might effect the pairings. This game, scheduled for this evening, brings Warren and East Grand Forks together. If Warren wins this mix, these two will be tied for third and a coin will be flipped to determine the standing. A Sub-district tournament will be held tomorrow with the winner entering the district. St. Hilaire, Fisher, Oslo, and Alvarado will compete in this with Fisher favored.

In the first game the third place team, either Warren or East Grand Forks meets Red Lake Falls. At 8 o'clock Climax meets Crookston in the game that should be the toughest of the evening. At 9 o'clock the fourth place team meets Plummer and at 10 o'clock the finale will bring the Prowlers against the winner of the sub-district game.

Thursday the semi-finals bring the four winners together with the winner of game one meeting the winner of game two. The nine o'clock game brings the winners of games three and four together.

Friday evening's activities start with a consolation game between the two losers of Thursday games at eight o'clock. The District 31 championship will be decided between the winners of Thursdays games in a nine o'clock game.

Tickets will go on sale for adults at the J. and B. Drug Store and the Thief River Pharmacy. Students tickets will be sold in Mr. Claffy's office. Local fans should procure tickets at either of these stands to lessen the congestion at the doors. Officials for the games will be Groningen of Fertile and Laing of Milton, North Dakota. The tournament manager is Mr. Claffy.

Present standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Thief River Falls	6	0	1000
Crookston	4	2	667
East Grand Forks	1	4	200
Warren	0	5	000

The regular meeting of the Plummer P. T. A. was held last Thursday. Mrs. Gilbertson presided over the meeting. The program committee had made arrangements with the Bemidji State Teachers college to send a speaker and other entertainers for the evening.

Due to the illness of Dr. Elliot, Mr. Deputy, the president of the college, came in person. He brought with him four students of the college who appeared on the program.

Mr. Deputy spoke both to the young folks and to the parents and teachers. He emphasized the fact that young folks are 100 per cent— if they make the most of their abilities and opportunities.

In addressing the older members of the P. T. A. he stressed the responsibilities parents and teachers have in the development of the child and the satisfaction that goes with a job well done.

The mixed quartet was generous with its numbers. Miss Paul recited a group of Riley's poems for the young folks and favored all with several vocal solos. Miss Vink played a group of cornet solos which delighted all.

The community is grateful to Mr. Deputy and these young people of the Bemidji State Teachers College for the fine program they brought us.

Last Friday the Cardinals defeated Alvarado by a score of 27 to 11. The Cardinals failed to "click" and the game was not as interesting as the one with Warren.

After the game the two teams, the referee, and other out of town visitors were entertained by a short program in charge of Mr. Ohnstad after which a lunch was served to all by the faculty.

Jefferson's Idea

In 1800 Jefferson, in a letter to Burr, assumed that the vice presidency, being connected with the legislature should be excluded from the cabinet.

Attaining Ideal Goal

Humanity is fortified i- its belief that the ideal goal is unattainable by the very longing for it.

Salt Held Sacred

Salt was sacred in the eyes of primitive races. They used it in their sacrifices, and it became a symbol of purity, everlastingness and virtue. The Germans, the Greeks, and the Chinese all looked upon salt springs or wells as something holy. Salt was used, together with bread, in many countries as a symbol of unbreakable friendship, and this is the origin of the belief that it is unlucky to spill salt.

Straw Vote, Unofficial Poll

The dictionary says that a straw, besides being a stalk or stem of grain, may be "a thing of smallest worth; a mere trifle" or "a fact considered as an indication." "Straws show which way the wind blows," according to the proverb, and a straw vote is an unofficial poll which, of no value in itself, may give an indication as to how the real vote will go.

Basel Swiss by Choice

Basel became Swiss by choice, although geography would have permitted a French or German alliance just as conveniently, and joined the Swiss Confederation in 1501. Previously, to maintain its position as a free state, constant vigilance was necessary against invaders. The Huns had sacked it in 917. Thereafter Basel adopted the peace-is-the-best-policy attitude and remained aloof from all neighborhood quarrels. The aloofness was even guaranteed by a section of wood in the Rhine bridge, which could be burned quickly to block passage and insure privacy.

STATE $6,675,000 SHORT ON REDUCED HIGHWAY PROGRAM

N. W. Elsberg Submits His Biennial Analysis to Legislature

N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, on Tuesday of this week submitted to the state legislature a complete analysis of Minnesota's highway financial situation. The analysis showed that, on a basis of present highway department revenues, the state will be $6,675,000 short of the financial needs required to carry out even 60 per cent of the construction program that would be possible under available federal funds. The report was given committees which are studying the state's highway needs and methods of meeting them.

In view of economic conditions, Commissioner Elsberg set a new precedent by recommending that efforts be made this year to meet only 60 per cent of the allotted regular federal aid funds and 75 per cent of the secondary and feeder road funds just what could be competently constructed during the coming season. The balance would be permitted to carry over to the following year.

On this 60 per cent basis, his report to the senate and house motor vehicle committees showed that Minnesota can have and carry out, in the 1937-38 biennium, a construction and employment program of $13,475,000 for roads and $2,362,000 for grade separations, if highway department revenues are provided which will enable the state to match federal funds and supply $1,862,500 that will be required for such non-reimbursable expenditures as right-of-way purchase, property damage, preliminary engineering, and administration.

This program, however, large as it might seem, would meet only 30 per cent of the highway improvement projects that have been requested of the state department by local organizations and units of government.

If the gasoline tax is increased one cent, as has been proposed in the legislature, Minnesota would still lack $987,500 of the necessary funds to carry out the proposed 60 per cent construction program this year, and would be $1,187,500 short in 1938, the financial statement showed.

Commissioner Elsberg made no recommendations, in line with his position taken some time ago that department will take no campaign for added revenues. He only submitted verified figures to show what can be done in the way of constructing and improving roads, and in providing jobs for the unemployed, and what the cost to the state would be in carrying out the program of matching 60 per cent instead of 100 per cent of the federal aid funds.

The analysis estimated highway department revenues for 1937 at $15,875,000 and for 1938 at $16,150,000 on a basis of normal increases in motor vehicle and gasoline tax income at the present rates.

TRANSIENT ADOPTS NEW WAY TO COVER TERRITORY

Fergus Falls—Finding hitchhiking in this kind of weather rather unpleasant, Guy Pearsons, a transient who spent a night in the local jail, concocted a new scheme to go places for nothing. Parsons, according to authorities, had stopped at Evansville and represented himself as an advance man for a show. He arranged to rent the village hall for his plays and then hired a man with a truck to drive to Fergus Falls for the trunks containing the scenery and costumes. Incidentally, he accompanied the truck driver, borrowing $1.50 from him on the road. "Wait here," he told the trucker after parking in the Fergus Falls business section. The trucker waited and waited, but when Parsons failed to return he decided that probably Parsons was just a plain, every-day bad actor instead of a show man. Policemen were notified, who located him under a bed in a local hotel. After investigation and a night in jail, he was ordered to leave town.

Recent Publications of University Farm Listed

The use of reed canary grass, how to plan the farm business, and how to test concrete sand for impurities are subjects discussed in three publications available at University Farm.

Special Bulletin 157, "Reed Canary grass for Meadows and Pastures," written by A. C. Arny of the division of agronomy and plant genetics, tells of the adaptability of the grass of Minnesota farming conditions. The growing of reed canary grass, as to how to secure a stand, the rate method and depth of seeding and the care of it after seeding are discussed along with its use as a pasture, hay and seed crop.

"A Well Planned Farm Business" is Special Bulletin 155, written by S. B. Cleland, extension farm management specialist. How a Rice county farmer increased his farm earnings through better organization and management is discussed in the bulletin. How rotation increased his crop yields and feed supplies, and how other good management practices aided his business are among the other phases discussed.

BOY HAS "WANDERLUST" IN SUB-ZERO WEATHER

Long Prairie—For no other reason than that given his father, "I wanted to travel", Daniel Marsh, 13 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Marsh in Leslie township, left home at seven o'clock one evening, stopped at a neighbor's and then wandered on in 20 below zero weather until he came to Little Sauk at three o'clock the following morning. As result of his night's tramp, he is receiving treatment in the Long Prairie hospital for badly frost bitten feet.

NRS PLACES 2,624 AT WORK IN STATE DURING JANUARY

Employers Making Greater Use of Facilities, Says Bjornaras

More than 2,600 placements were made in Minnesota during January by the National Reemployment Service, according to Dreng Bjornaras of St. Paul, state director. The territory under the jurisdiction of this service includes all of Minnesota with the exception of Ramsey and Hennepin counties and the City of Duluth.

Of the 2,624 jobs filled, 1,880 were for men, 744 for women; and of the men placed, 144 were veterans. Included in the total figure were 1,752 placements with private employers, representing a 6.7% increase over the number made in December, 1936, and an 83.8% increase over the number made in January last year.

The increase in private placements, Mr. Bjornaras said, resulted partly from the fact that employers throughout the state are becoming better acquainted with the public employment service and are taking advantage of the facilities offered. A total of 4,671 employer visits were made by personnel in National reemployment offices. He explains that clearance procedure makes possible the placement in the territory served by one employment office, of qualified applicants registered in other offices. The clearance facilities are not only state-wide, he says, but are operative between states as well. Under this system a qualified applicant who registers in any public employment office may be considered for openings anywhere in the United States where a shortage in his occupation develops. That is one of the reasons why applicants are encouraged to register with the employment service.

The service is furnished without charge to either applicants or employers. The local office is located in the auditorium and is in charge of Elmer Stangbelle.

GETS PAIR OF OLD SPANISH LEG-IRONS

Bemidji—The Beltrami county sheriff, Andrew Johnson, has received a pair of slave leg-irons from a former Bemidji man, who served several months as federal judge in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. The judge found the irons in one of St. Thomas' ancient buildings—one that 100 years ago was a thriving slave market when blackamoors from Africa were sold to the plantation owners of the island. In those days St. Thomas was the cross-roads of the seas and most of the trade between the New World and the Old went through its port. One hundred years of rust has nearly obliterated the hinges and the locks on the leg-irons, but on close examination it is possible to see where they once were. The irons weigh about two pounds and are connected with a short length of chain.

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

This Section in Early '80's

While Times readers generally are familiar with the genesis of Thief River Falls there are, of course, features of the early settlement activities with which some are not familiar. First, we offer this paragraph from an early account:

"Previous to 1879 that section of northwestern Minnesota east of the Pembina trail, the old tote road between St. Paul and Winnipeg, and north of the present (1915) Duluth-Grand Forks line of the Great Northern railway, with the exception of a short triangular strip which terminated at St. Hilaire and extended from Red Lake Falls to the Trail, was a wild, uninhabited section known only to the Indians of the Red Lake reservation band of Chippewa. From St. Hilaire, running in a northeasterly direction toward the Red lakes was an Indian Trail which connected the lumber camps of the north woods with their supply station at Crookston."

Assuming that this paragraph is adequate for the series of statistical sketches of the city's history, we shall hurdle further introduction and introduce our first statistical notes:

We know that Frank Russell had learned from the Indians of the wonderful hunting, fishing and trapping grounds where "two rivers meet", came from Dakota in 1879 with his Cree wife and settled on Squaw Point. We know also that when he erected a log cabin in the grove just south of the iron bridge the Chippewas drove him away and he returned to Dakota. Then we are familiar with the facts about the advent of John Baptiste LaBree who arrived in January, 1881, and bought Russell's squatter's right for $60 cash, a cow, a light platform wagon and a small strip of land now lot property on Horace avenue between Third and Fourth streets.

We know about the LaBree store and Joe Gudo's trading post. But perhaps the facts in the following are not as well known:

"Section 33, township 154, range 43, soon was taken up as homestead land by George Maxfield, John LaBree, John Hemmingson and Charles Anderson and comprises what now is known as Porter's Addition. This addition derives its name from the man who platted it. William Porter, who contested the Maxfield section and later sold an interest to Phillip Zeh. Mr. Maxfield filed on his land on November 15, 1881, the official description being NE¼, SE¼ and lots 2-3-4 of section 33-154-43 and containing 155.75 acres. Mr. Porter contested the claim in 1883 and a bitter struggle followed for two years and a half; gunpowder was poured down Porter's stovepipe and his stove blown to atoms. His brother Chris received serious burns, carrying the scars to this day (1915). In 1886 Porter was permitted to enter the land and in July 1888, he platted lots 2 and 3 of this claim as Porter's Addition.

"On Nov. 17, 1882, John LaBree made final proof on his land and deeded the property of Carl Kretzschmar. Mr. Kretzschmar platted the tract and the plat was recorded on Aug. 21, 1883, and that date marks the official birth of Thief River Falls.

"In 1882 James Warner filed a pre-emption on government lots in sections 33 and 34 just across the Red Lake river from the LaBree cabin and in 1888 sold the tract to Wiley Tindolph who platted the land and called it Red Lake Rapids. Four years later C. J. Knox bought 80 acres adjoining Red Lake Rapids and platted it as Knox's Addition. Dennis Connelly settled on land in section 34 in 1883 and later platted Connelly's First, Second and Third Additions to Red Lake Rapids.

"Another of the pioneer settlers is M. C. Burns, who is proud of the distinction of being the oldest settler in this section, excepting only the LaBree family, of whom W. J. LaBree, the present sheriff (1915) is the only local representative. Mr. Burns filed on land in section 31 in 1880, later selling his land to other parties and investing the proceeds in city property.

"In September, 1883, J. W. Wallin bought six acres of land from Otto Buse of Red Lake Falls, the land in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 33 and built on it a house which was also used as a store. This building was a dugout located in the extreme southwestern corner of the present city. The nearest postoffice at that time was located at the farm home of Charles Johnson, a brother of Martin Rockstad, who still (1915) resides on his farm at the old location."

TWO STEERS JUMP FROM TRUCK, CAUSE WRECK

Winnebago— Jumping from a load of cattle being transported by truck to the So. St. Paul stock markets, two loose steers caused the wreck of an auto driven by R. O. Westley of Fairmont. No doubt, the truck gate became unfastened and the absence of the steers was not noted by the driver.

NEW CAR DEMOLISHED FIRST HOUR ON ROAD

Hector—A new 1937 automobile was demolished an hour and a half after it had been driven from the showroom of a local garage. Its driver who had come from the Twin Cities to take out the car for the company he represents, was sent to the Hector hospital with serious injuries. Outstanding Values in Allis-Chalmers Tractors
Best Adapted to This Territory

Model "WC"
The Ace of Two-Plow Tractors

THE Model "WC" is the ideal farm power unit. It has the power to handle any full two-plow farm job, yet it is light enough to go anywhere horses can be worked. It is adapted to every field operation from plowing to harvesting, and is equally efficient in operating belt and power take-off driven machinery.

Mounted on air tires, the Model "WC" is truly a year 'round tractor. It is master of adverse field and weather conditions. It works with equal ease in field, road, belt, barnyard, or farm buildings. It eliminates the need for horses and, because of its speed, may even take the place of a farm truck for hauling.

Model "U"
The World's Most Famous Tractors

EVERY farmer wants a tractor that can "take it"—not once in a while, but all day—a tractor with plenty of reserve power for peak loads. The Model "U" is that kind of a tractor! Strong, rugged and compact, it carries no excess poundage. Useless weight has been eliminated. Yet every axle and shaft, the transmission and final drive housings, the crankcase and motor block are of exceptional strength, made of quality materials, each of which is specially selected and treated for the load it must carry and the work it must do.

Economy is assured by the modern design of the big, four-cylinder Allis-Chalmers engine which, with certain simple adjustments, operates on either gasoline, kerosene or distillate. This important feature enables the owner to select the fuel which is more economical, most readily available, and best suited to the locality, condition or work in which the tractor is to be used. The absence of excess weight, the fact that all important drives are supported on high grade anti-friction bearings, and the fine balance of the tractor also contribute to its economy.

BIG GATHERING ATTENDS DIST. 17 L. O'L. MEET

Auditorium Is Well Filled for Annual Meeting Wednesday

PRESIDENT J. BRANDT PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Urges Fuller Appreciation of Cooperative Institutions

A gathering of creamery operators and dairymen that completely filled the main floor of the Auditorium assembled Wednesday for the annual meeting of Land O' Lakes District 17. Representatives of the thirty member creameries in the district were in attendance.

John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, was the principal speaker on the afternoon program. He urged fuller appreciation and support of cooperative institutions, and warned against rumormongers attempting to destroy them. He declared that the organization headed by him is in sound financial condition and has never defaulted on an obligation. In the course of his talk he presented charts illustrating the beneficial effect on butter markets exerted by Land O'Lakes Creameries, and told of the efforts made to build up a national market for its products.

At the morning session John Lager, District 17 field man, presented his annual report to the members, discussing the record made by the creameries in 1936, and B. O. Norby reported on business transacted by the local Land O'Lakes plant in 1936. Peter Engelstad, secretary and E. D. Rydeen of Clearbrook, treasurer, also presented their reports.

Following the serving of lunch during the noon hour, a much appreciated concert was given by the Lincoln high school band under the direction of Ronald G. Riggs, followed by community singing led by Robert J. Lund. W. E. Dahlquist extended a welcome to the visitors in behalf of local businessmen, and Mr. Lund outlined the facilities of the local Production Credit association. The Lincoln high school boys double quartet supplied two selections accompanied at the piano by Harold F. Harrison. P. L. Anderson of Crookston, field man in Land O' Lakes District 14, also spoke briefly.

In the annual election of district officers Stuart McLeod was again named chairman; F. S. Erdmann, Red Lake Falls, first vice chairman; Ellis Grahn, Roseau, second, vice chairman; and E. D. Rydeen, Clearbrook, treasurer. E. Lee of Clearbrook was elected secretary suceeding Peter Engelstad of this community, who has served for many years in that capacity.

Manager Norby's report revealed that the local Land O'Lakes plant last year handled a volume of business totaling $265,308. Included in the commodities handled in 1936 were 24.34 carloads of eggs, 26.22 carloads of poultry, 341.96 carloads of feed and flour, 48.19 carloads of turkeys, 1,855,681 pounds of seeds, 204,456 pounds of cheese, 14,958 gallons of ice cream, and 155,000 chicks.

enter of Winter Sports Activities in City

Above is pictured the Thief River Falls winter sports arena, one of the outstanding projects in the state to be carried to completion during the past year in cooperation with the Works Progress administration. Community sports and social activities have largely been centered in the arena since the building was opened during the Christmas holidays. The large ice rink not only has been the scene of a series of highly exciting hockey games participated in by the Thief River Falls entry in the States-Dominion league, but young and old skaters of the community have made steady use of the facilities, demonstrating that the arena fills a genuine local need. Mayor W. W. Prichard Saturday formally accepted the building for the city from Deputy State WPA Director Kulish.

FIRST ICE SHOW SATURDAY NIGHT WAS BIG SUCCESS

Winnipeg and Grand Forks Skaters Entertain Large Crowd

A near-capacity audience at the arena Saturday evening enjoyed two hours of outstanding entertainment in the form of the first ice-skating show presented under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. A matinee performance also was given in the afternoon.

The majority of the numbers were supplied by a group of 25 or more highly proficient skaters, members of the Winnipeg Winter club, while also appearing on the program were a group of Grand Forks skaters, together with Bud Severson and Pete Stensgaard in a donkey act which inspired much laughter from the onlookers.

Numbers winning the most applause were given by the Whitehead Four; Rupert Whitehead in a solo; Jack Abra and Betty Holden in a pair; Michael Kirby, nine-year-old soloist; and the entire Winnipeg company dancing the waltz, tango and formation ten step with much grace.

Clarence Sande, general chairman in charge of the program, presided efficiently at the microphone and announced the various numbers. In the course of the evening representatives of the Works Progress administration formally turned the arena building over to Mayor W. W. Prichard, who accepted it in behalf of the city.

30 Plants Ship 6,375,617 lbs. Butter in Year, Lager Report Shows

The thirty creameries in Land O'Lakes District 17, embracing eight Northwestern Minnesota counties, in 1936 shipped a total of 6,375,617 pounds of butter, representing a slight decline from the total of 6,440,323 pounds shipped in 1935, it was revealed in the annual report of John Lager, field man in this district, submitted Wednesday at the district Land O'Lakes annual meeting in the auditorium.

Shipments, however, of the top Land O'Lakes grade of butter from District 17 creameries increased from 3,065,929 pounds in 1935 to 4,131,575 pounds in 1936, the report showed. The Goodridge creamery made the largest gain in quality, increasing its percentage of Land O'Lakes grade of butter from 22.6 in 1935 to 57.8 in 1936.

The Thief River Falls creamery led the district with total churnings of 696,917 pounds in 1936, followed by Roseau with 612,661 pounds; Greenbush, 397,066 pounds; Middle River, [illegible] pounds; Plummer, 370,710 pounds; and Warren, 348,346 pounds.

Commenting on the cream grading report, Mr. Lager said, "The average cream grading score of 89.45 is 2.15 per cent over the previous year when the score averaged 87.30 per cent. Much credit for this increase can be given to the patrons for the cooperation they have shown by delivering their cream on regular cream days and as early in the day as possible. This means that cream can be handled more quickly and efficiently, thereby increasing the quality of the butter and resulting in a higher score for the creameries."

Mr. Lager announced that the 1936 operators' efficiency contest resulted in the winning of first place by Peter W. Kotkowski of Gully, followed by Raymond C. Gordon of the River Valley creamery, second; O. B. Stamnes, Halstad creamery third; and Lester F. Olson, St. Hilaire; Hugo Lundmark, Gatzke; and Victor Nelson, Lancaster, tied for fourth. The efficiency rating for the district averaged [illegible] in 1936, compared to 98.41 in 1935, 98.14 in 1934 and 97.95 in 1933.

HOUSE PASSES HIGHER INCOME LEVY MEASURE

DRIVERS LICENSE BILL CONSIDERED

Tax on Individual Incomes Ranges as High as 25 Per Cent

The Farmer-Labor administration's income tax bill, designed to raise $6,000,000 additional revenue for the state, cleared its first hurdle Monday, but a still higher one awaited it. The measure passed the house by a vote of 74 to 37 and now goes to the senate.

As passed, after amendments cut the tax on corporations earning over $100,000, the bill would allow deductions of $30 for married persons, $10 for unmarried persons and $5 for each dependant. Taxes on private incomes would be assessed on the following sliding scale:

First $1,000—1 per cent.
Second $1,000—2 per cent.
Third $1,000—3 per cent.
$3,000 to $5,000—5 per cent.
$5,000 to $7,000—7 per cent.
$7,000 to $10,000—9 per cent.
$10,000 to $15,000—11 per cent.
$15,000 to $20,000—13 per cent.
$20,000 to $50,000—15 per cent.
$50,000 to $100,000—20 per cent.
Over $100,000—25 per cent.

Corporation taxes would also be assessed on a graduated scale:

First $5,000—5 per cent.
$5,000 to $10,000—7 per cent.
$10,000 to $100,000—10 per cent.
$100,000 to $150,000—12½ per cent.
Over $150,000, 16 per cent.

The house Tuesday devoted most of its time to consideration of a bill providing for issuance of a drivers' license every two years. An amendment to provide a payment of 35 cents every two years instead of 50 cents as proposed in the bill was adopted after considerable debate.

The 35 cent charge includes a ten cent fee to the clerk registering the license. The house adjourned without acting on the bill.

Formation of county agricultural and educational associations which would be accepted as the co-operating agency in the promotion of county extension work instead of the county farm bureau association, is provided in a bill recommended for passage by the house cooperatives committee.

The senate reapportionment committee began study of two proposals to change the present state legislative setup. One is a bill to cut the membership of the senate from 67 to 44 and the house from 131 to 88 by the medium of redistricting the state into 44 districts, with one senator and two representatives from each district. The other would abolish the present two house arrangement and create a unicameral body.

The senate dealt a crushing blow to labor's hopes for a 44 hour week for women in industry when it upheld a majority committee report recommending the proposal to be rejected. The house passed the bill a month ago.

Emerson Noses Out Thieves in Playoff

Emerson Takes First Game 5-3 While Locals Win Second 1-0

Playing a big-league brand of hockey, the Thief River Falls team Tuesday evening at Emerson climaxed a highly successful season by defeating the fast Emerson team 1 to 0 in the first round of the States-Dominion league playoff. By virtue, however, of a 5 to 3 victory over the Thieves in the arena here Sunday, Emerson won the two-game series on total points, and therefore will participate in the finals scheduled for this week-end.

The local sextet was supported at Emerson by a delegation of approximately 330 Thief River Falls fans who made the trip on a special Soo Line train. Before the game a band played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "Oh Canada," while the mayor of Emerson greeted the visitors and H. H. Wright, a member of the Manitoba Parliament, put the puck into play.

Both teams played outstanding hockey, the game remaining scoreless for the first 55 minutes of play, after which Stanbridge scored the winning counter on an assist from Julien. Then followed a bombardment by both teams on the opposing goals, but no further scoring resulted. The game was exceptionally clean, only four scattered penalties being invoked.

In last Sunday's game at the arena, the local defense efforts proved to be not up to their usual standard in the opening portion of the game, Emerson driving in four scores in the first period to two for the Thieves. The locals scored one more in the second period, holding Emerson without a counter, but in the final period the visitors tallied again while Taylor was out of the game on a penalty.

Playing Wednesday evening at Roseau, Hallock won the right to participate in the finals with Emerson by defeating the Roseau sextet 4 to 2. In the first contest of the two-game series the teams tied 2-2. The first contest in the finals between Hallock and Emerson will be played at Hallock Sunday afternoon, and the second at Emerson either Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

The Thief River Falls hockey team is now breaking up following the completion of the season's playing schedule, Manager Alex Campbell said this morning.

TOWNSHIPS WILL HOLD ELECTIONS TUESDAY, MARCH 9

To Elect Local Officers and Approve Tax Levies for Coming Year

Townships and villages in Pennington county, in common with others thruout the state, will hold their annual elections next Tuesday, March 9, and at the same time will act on tax levies for local purposes for the ensuing year.

In St. Hilaire and Goodridge villages will be elected a president, trustee, assessor, clerk, treasurer, constable and justice of the peace, while the township units will name supervisors for three-year terms together with clerks, assessors, constables and justices of the peace.

In electing their officers, it is important that taxpayers watch their tax levies this year more than ever, says the Minnesota Taxpayers association in a statement this week. Because of improved conditions there is a tendency in some sections to neglect these levies, and the result has been that many tax demands are skyrocketing again to the old pre-depression mark, according to the statement.

Soo Line Special Brings 300 Rooters to Emerson

More than 300 loyal fans, the largest number of enthusiasts ever to go from this city to witness a hockey game, journeyed to Emerson on a seven-car Soo Line special train Tuesday evening to see the Thief River Falls sextet defeat Emerson 1-0 in an exciting contest. The train left this city promptly at 6 o'clock, and pulled out of Emerson for the return trip shortly after midnight. Light refreshments were served en route, and the members of the party amused themselves by visiting with friends in the various cars, singing and other diversions.

EMERGENCY CROP, SEED LOANS NOW BEING MADE HERE

Representative of Federal Agency Is in County Agent's Office

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1937 are now being received at the office of County Agent R. M. Douglass, by O. T. Johnson, field supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the Farm Credit administration.

These loans will be made only to farmers who cannot obtain credit from any other source, as provided by regulations issued by the Governor of the Farm Credit administration. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1937 crops or for the purchase of feed for livestock and in no instance may exceed $400.

Farmers are not eligible for these loans if they can borrow from an individual, production credit association, bank, or other concern. Emergency crop and feed loans will not be made by the Farm Credit administration to standard rehabilitation clients of the resettlement administration whose current needs are provided for by resettlement.

As in the past, the security for these loans will consist of a first lien on the crop financed if the loan is for the production of crops, and if for the purchase of feed for livestock, then a first lien on the livestock to be fed. Landlords, or others having an interest in the crops or the livestock to be fed, will be required to waive their claims in favor of the lien to the governor of the Farm Credit administration until the loan is repaid.

Checks in payment of the approved loans will be issued by the regional emergency crop and feed loan office at St. Paul.

NO UPSETS IN 1ST ROUND OF CAGE TOURNEY

Thief River Falls to Meet Warren This Evening in Semi-finals

EAST GRAND FORKS PLAYS CROOKSTON

Prowlers Swamp Oslo 60-17 in First Round Wednesday Evening

No upsets marked the first round of the District 31 high school basketball tournament in the Auditorium Wednesday evening, and as a result of their victories East Grand Forks will meet Crookston this evening in the semi-finals at 8 o'clock, while Thief River Falls will meet Warren at 9.

The East Siders are favored slightly to win over Crookston, while on the basis of the season's record the Prowlers have the edge on the Marshall county team. The losers of these two games will play Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the consolation game, while the winners will play at 9 o'clock to decide which team will represent District 31 in the regional tournament at Ada next Thursday and Friday, March 11 and 12.

East Grand Forks staged a runaway against Red Lake Falls in the opening contest Wednesday, winning by a score of 64 to 12, while in the second game Crookston topped Climax 33 to 12. The closest and most interesting game of the evening was between Warren and Plummer, the former team having a hard time squeezing out a five-point victory 21 to 16.

Thief River Falls was too strong for Oslo and had no trouble racking up a 60-17 victory, putting on the pressure in the last half after leading 20-10 at the intermission. It was 10-5 at the quarter. The Prowlers threw in 21 points in the third frame and 10 more in the last quarter to complete the slaughter. Every man on the Prowlers bench got into the game and only Helquist failed to score at least two field goals.

Oslo high school's basketball team Friday night earned the right to enter the district tournament by emerging as victor in the second annual Class A tourney for District 31, conducted at Warren.

Fisher defeated St. Hilaire in the morning game, 22 to 13 and Oslo beat Alvarado, 31 to 16. In the consolation, Alvarado whipped St. Hilaire, 20 to 13.

The championship nightcap found Oslo administering a 27 to 17 drubbing to Fisher.

Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid Denounces Liquor

The women of the Ladies aid of the Zion Lutheran church of Thief River Falls adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas one of the worst evils of our day is the increasing use of intoxicating beverages among our people, and whereas the result of this awful curse is affecting all communities that menace the youth of our land and being the cause of much of the crime committed in our country, we the women of our aid go on record as denouncing the use of all beverages containing alcohol. We further resolve to place the weight of our influence both individually and collectively against this dreadful menace to society.

We also appeal to the other organizations within our church, such as the Luther League sewing circle, Sunday school and Christian teachers that they cooperate with us in furthering the temperance cause.

First and last we pray our Heavenly father to imbue us with a sense of responsibility and guidance in our efforts to safeguard our homes and protect our young people from this terrible evil.

28 LOCAL WOMEN MAKING GARMENTS IN CITY FOR WPA

Workers on County Project Make 432 Garments in February

A total of 432 garments was made for needy persons on direct relief of Pennington county this past month by local women employed on WPA sewing projects.

This production figure was released today by Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator. The work is directed locally by Beatrice E. Motens, women's director, in the office of J. R. Kovarik, district director, located at Detroit Lakes.

Garments made for the needy of the county included: 31 items of infants' wear, 10 items of girls' wear, 70 items of women's wear, 127 items of boys' wear, 76 items of men's wear, and 86 miscellaneous articles.

WPA sewing gave employment to 28 women in the county last month. There are 94 sewing projects in operation in Minnesota. Considered one of the most serviceable women's projects of the WPA, they are giving much-needed employment to 3,882 women, the breadwinners of their families. These women, who otherwise would be on direct relief, are constructing well made, warm garments which are distributed to other relief clients through the local surplus commodity offices.

Bell Company Now Has 14 Million Telephones in Operation in U. S.

A gain of 881,000 telephones in the Bell System last year, making a total of 14,453,000 telephones in the system, is reported by the American Telephone and Telegraph company in its annual report for 1936 which has just been released. This company is the parent company of the Bell System, of which the Northwestern Bell Telephone company and its subsidiaries, the Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph company and the Dakota Central Telephone company, are a part.

A wider use of telephone service was indicated by increases of more than 7 per cent in local and 12 per cent in long distance conversations. At the same time the cost to telephone users was reduced on an annual basis by about [illegible] through reductions in Bell System rates made during 1936 and through a reduction in long distance rates which became effective January 15, 1937, the eighth reduction in long distance rates in the last 10 years. The average daily number of telephone conversations for the system during the year was 65,000,000.

Red River Valley History

By Win V. Working

Local Prospects in 1915

A glowing future for the Thief River Falls community was painted back in 1915 by J. S. Murphy, immigration agent for the Soo Line:

"The census showed," Murphy wrote, "that there were 6,679 farmers in Beltrami, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties; and the area of those counties is 4,298,400 acres—over 710 acres for every farmer. The average farm in the United States contains 138 acres.

"If enough farmers could be induced within a reasonable time to come to those counties so there would be a farmer and his family for every 138 acres, think of what it would mean to the country.

1. Thief River Falls would undoubtedly become a city of from 20,000 to 40,000 people, possibly more; other cities and villages would spring up in the surrounding country.

2. The manufacturing industry would undoubtedly increase materially in Thief River Falls as well as in other cities and villages.

3. All city property would rapidly increase in value, probably many times the present value.

4. Better markets would be established, farmers would get into the 20th century step and become business men, as all farmers should be. Co-operation, up to date co-operation that would cheapen the cost of production and distribution, would be manifest along all lines.

5. Merchants would increase their stock and their business and with increased patronage could lessen the margin of commission charged.

6. There would be increased business for wholesalers, jobbers and retail merchants, for manufacturers, the railways and even the common laboring men.

7. Good roads would be constructed everywhere; a perfect drainage system would be established; all "scrub-brush" would be removed, all groves around the buildings would be the only reminders of the old-time forests.

8. The burden of taxation for public improvements would be divided among nearly six times as many people and therefore lessened in spite of public improvements.

9. Creameries and cheese factories would be changed (there is apparently an error of reckoning here and it was perhaps intended to say that marketing losses would be cut down and all inferior grains and screenings fed to stock on the farm.

10. Potatoes and root crops would become important staple products of the farms; small fruits of all kinds would be grown abundantly.

11. Every farm would be thoroughly and scientifically cultivated, the farmers would be the leaders in all social and economic movements.

12. Every neighborhood would have its consolidated school with high school education, also farmers' clubs. Rural mail routes and telephones and branch lines of railways would be constructed. Others would be lengthened and their efficiency increased.

13. The land, which was worth $30,456,543 when the census was taken, would be worth from $100 to $200 per acre, at $100 per acre the total value of the land would be $429,840,000 or about 14 times its present value."

The number 13 doesn't not appear to have troubled Mr. Murphy. Certainly many conditions predicted have materialized, although a few still are to be attained. However, it is likely that conservatives who scouted the immigration agent's prophecies 21 years ago now realize that his vision was true in a general way.

Of course, Mr. Murphy's duty was to procure new settlers for the counties involved and he sought the aid of farmers and others in the region.

"When you see strangers in the country, do what you can to make them feel that they will be welcome," he urged. "If they are strangers, do not try to divert them to your own neighborhood if they have a particular friend in another neighborhood. The stranger is apt to feel somewhat suspicious if you try to offer him something and tell him that it is better than a proposition coming from his own friend.

Remember that every man who comes to that territory adds to your wealth by increasing the value of your property. Trying to collect a commission for the sale of a piece of land has caused many a stranger to return to his home for good. Better lose a commission than lose a new settler by trying to take a commission."

This was sound advice that still holds good and actually is followed in some parts of Minnesota.

4,000 MILES STATE ROADS AFFECTED BY FEDERAL ORDER

Will Permit Little Work on Recent Additions to Trunk System

A combination of state highway finances and new federal rulings has operated to leave Minnesota with over 4,000 miles of "orphan" highways on its hands.

N. W. Elsberg, State Highway Commissioner, disclosed the predicament to members of the House Motor Vehicle Committee this week. The mileage which has been left "orphaned" is about 4,000 of the approximately 4,500 miles that was taken out of the county class and added to the state trunk highway system in 1933, at the same time that the Legislature affected a cut in motor vehicle license fees and reduced the revenues of the trunk system by approximately $4,000,000.

Of this 4,500 miles, less than 500 has been approved by the federal government for inclusion in that part of the state's trunk system known as the federal aid system. Federal regulations require that all federal aid money allotted to the Minnesota State Highway department be spent on roads which have been accepted as a part of the federal aid system. Thus, these 4,000 miles of Legislative additions to the state's trunk system are not eligible for any construction or improvement work to be paid for with federal money.

In the past, federal funds that were made available for work on secondary and feeder roads, could be used on this state trunk system mileage which was outside the federal aid system.

Last week, however, a new ruling was received from Washington decreeing that this money, all but approximately $100,000 of the $650,000 annual allotment, would be paid to the counties when matched by them, and must be used on county roads. This, the state highway commissioner pointed out, will leave the 4,000 miles of Legislative additions to the trunk system stranded in a "no-man's-land" between the federal aid system and the county roads. Since the state lacks sufficient funds anyway to match available federal aid money, it would be unwise to use any considerable part of these available state funds for this system because, to do so would mean to lose that much federal aid money and pass up an opportunity to do twice as much work on roads which are included in the "approved" federal aid system. Under present regulations, therefore, these "orphaned" highways face a prospect which offers hope for little more than mere maintenance until such time as the state's revenues for highway purposes are brought up to a point where they exceed the amount required to pay fixed charges, to maintain the 11,200 mile system, and to match federal aid allotments.

BASKETBALL COACH GIVEN COLD SHOWER

Clinton—The local basketball coach's promise, made in a moment of despair, materialized in a cold shower bath. When his team lost game after game, he told the boys, "If you fellows win one game this season, I will let you give me a cold shower bath." The words cut deep into the pride of the team members and although they put forth their best efforts to win, the losing streak continued. When one day the tide turned, the coach received his shower.

Day of Miracles Not Past, Says Evangelist Sunday

"The language of Christ in the gospels reveals the fact that the performing of miracles is a part of the divine plan. It was so in the days of Christ when by a word or touch, either by the Saviour or by His apostles, the dumb spoke, the deaf heard, the blind saw, the lame walked, and diseases, incurable as far as human skill is concerned were instantly healed in the name of Lord Jesus. Not only for apostolic days was this power intended, as Christ placed no limits on the manifestations of it, but it was to continue in the true church of Christ till the end of time." So declared Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "Divine Healing" last Sunday night at the old Methodist church.

YOUTH'S ARM STUMP MUTILATED IN SAW

Detroit Lakes—Gust Haaland, 23 of Rochert, who three years ago lost the lower part of his right forearm in an accidental shooting mishap, recently had the remaining portion of the arm destroyed when his sleeve caught in a buzz saw. Although it was thought possible to save the badly mutilated arm stump, it became necessary several days later to amputate just below the shoulder.

Capitol News Review

We in Minnesota are in the habit of thinking of farm tenancy as a condition confined to the southern states. Yet a committee of the State Planning Board has found that virtually 50 per cent of the farm land in Minnesota is cultivated by tenants, and, contrary to popular impressions, farm tenancy reaches its highest peak of approximately 70 per cent in those counties which have the best farm land—Traverse, Rock and Pipestone.

A few of the other significant findings of the survey are:

Acreage operated by tenants increased from 35.86 per cent in 1930 to 47.17 per cent in 1935—11.31 per cent in 15 years. Number of farms occupied by tenants grew from 24.73 per cent in 1920 to 33.65 per cent in 1935.

Mortgages in 43 out of 87 counties reporting were foreclosed on an average of 27.7 per cent of the farms in the last 12 years, the percentage in some counties running as high as 53.9 (Marshall county). Total value of foreclosed farms in the 43 counties amounted to $219,535,959.

Average sale value of land in Minnesota was $40 in 1910, $104 in 1930, and $44 in 1935. At the peak of land values in 1920, the average sale value of an acre of land in Rock county was $189; Carver, $187; Martin, $185; Nobles, $179; Faribault, $174; and Pipestone, $153.

Insurance companies hold mortgages on a total farm valuation of $26,222,720.

Value of insurance companies holdings increased from $2,093,571 in 1925 to $52,833,669 in 1935.

These figures paint a dark picture for the future of American farmers. The terrific pace at which tenancy is increasing points toward a completely landless tenant class in the not so distant future unless we take positive steps at once to put farming on a sound economic basis.

The newly-formed National Lawyers Guild, national organization of liberal lawyers, elected John P. Devaney, former chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court, as its first president. Oddly enough, the national president of the American Bar Association, the conservative legal group, is also a Minnesotan, Frederick Stinchfield of Minneapolis. This makes Minnesota one of the hottest spots in the fight to liberalize the legal profession. The Guild at its recent convention in Washington adopted a program calling for Supreme Court reform, liberal legislation, and new protection for civil liberties.

Among the 4,500 youth who gathered in Washington last week to urge Congress to pass the American Youth Act were six young people from Minnesota. Leader of the delegation was the youthful member of the state legislature, Harold Peterson, who represented Governor Benson at the conference. Peterson read a message from the governor in which he stated that he was in hearty accord with youth's struggle for recognition. Governor Benson was one of the original sponsors of the American Youth Act which would provide work and vocational training for needy youth.

Arthur Nordstrom was appointed by Commissioner of Insurance, Frank Yetka, as deputy commissioner last week to take the place vacated by Dewey Johnson who became congressman from the fifth district. Nordstrom is a former official of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

A breach between two sections of the Farmers Union in Minnesota which has lasted four years may be healed in the near future. A recent decision of the Cooperative Union Activities, which controls the Farmers Union Livestock Commission and the Central Exchange of South St. Paul, indicates that it will rejoin the Minnesota Farmers Union in an effort to unite progressive farm groups.

Legislators who attempt to wield the axe on progressive measures may find the folks back home giving voice to their opinions, according to present indications. Concern over the defeat of the Stockwell water power amendment has already started repercussions in certain quarters. The eighth district Farmer-Labor convention last week asked that "the bill be reconsidered and that it be adopted in the House".

In ordering a five-day week for all employees in administrative departments, Governor Benson is making government conform to modern social and economic trends which economists tell us will tend increasingly in the direction of the shorter work week. A survey conducted by the Commission of Administration and Finance at the request of the governor before he made his decision, showed that a five-day week "would not impair the efficiency of the various state departments, nor would any public inconvenience result therefrom."

PROPOSALS FOR STATE SPENDING HIT $116,642,000

Legislative Requests Are Nearly Double Current Biennium

Pointing out that spending proposals before the Minnesota legislature already have reached $116,642,015, or almost double the amount authorized for the last biennium, the Minnesota Federation for Tax Reform in a communication received here today warned that property owners must rise in a mass and demand economy if they are to avoid a huge increase in state taxes.

Constant Larson of Alexandria, president of the federation, declared that revenue measures now before the legislature will raise only a small portion of the expenditures contemplated and that if drastic cuts are not made in the spending proposals under consideration state taxes on farms and other general property easily may be doubled and trebled.

The federation has been carrying on a fight for a readjustment of the tax system which will reduce the tax burden on property and sees in the present scramble for additional revenue measures that will block all hope for relief for property owners for years to come.

Analyzing budget recommendations of the budget commissioner and all other spending proposals that have so far been advanced, Mr. Larson showed that the total now has reached $116,642,015 for the fiscal years of 1938 and 1939. For the two years of the current biennium, the legislature authorized expenditures totaling $65,365,855.

State Calls for Bids on $677,000 Highway Jobs

Bids aggregating approximately $677,000 for highway work in four counties, Beltrami, Carlton, Cook and Goodhue, have been called for March 19 by N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways. The work will include 9.6 miles of grading, 9.7 miles of grading and gravel base, 8.4 miles of grading, stabilized gravel base and gravel surfacing and 11.4 miles of aggregate base and bituminous surfacing. The Beltrami county project calls for grading on T. H. 32 for a distance of ten miles north from Brookparidge.

In the State Senate

By Sen. E. L. Tungseth

In my letter of last week I promised for this letter a brief review of my Rural Credit legislation which may be referred to as S. F. 820. This bill is a liquidation act for the loans, mortgages and other contracts held by the Department of Rural Credit. It creates boards of appraisal and arbitration for every county in which the state, through the operation of its Rural Credit Department, has any title to or interest in lands and it reduces the rate of interest on new and old loans to 3%.

These said boards are to consist of three members, one appointed by the Conservator, one by the County Commissioners and who must not be a county officer but a rural resident freeholder of the respective county, and the third member to be appointed by said two appointees and who will be known as the "township member" selected from the supervisors of the township in which he is to serve. I believe that such a board will be able to cover the territory with expedition and arrive at a fair market value of these farms. The bill also provides for some protection for the original owner who has the first opportunity to repurchase these lands, if he so chooses. The original owner will be the only person qualified to enter into any sale contract with the state. Any other purchaser must provide his own credit elsewhere. Under the provisions of the bill, lands which are, because of location or nature, unsuited for agriculture will be withheld from sale and the disposal of such unagricultural lands will be left to the legislature. The bill provides for the appraisal (1) of all of such lands to which the state has acquired title, (2) of lands on which mortgages or loans have become delinquent, and (3) of farms on which loans may be of good standing but which possibly should be re-appraised. In the two latter instances, appraisal will not be made except on request by the owner who pays a fee of $15 for the appraisal and who will then repurchase, if he desires, on the appraisal value.

Another important feature of the bill is the reduction in the rate of interest. This is set at 3%, not only for the new loans but also for the old loans which still are on the books of the department. I believe that the rate of interest is of great importance in this legislation, and perhaps no other one factor will be as beneficial to our farmers as the interest rate on these mortgages. It does not provide for any crop payment plan, but places all mortgage contracts, as well as rental contracts, on a cash basis, the rental contracts to be based on the state realizing 5% of the appraised value. This is only a brief summary of the contents of the bill, and I am certain that our constituents are all intensely interested, not only those who are owners or tenants of Rural Credit lands, but all other taxpayers and freeholders as well.

I believe that the state is far better off to accept its inevitable loss on these farms now, so that these farms may be placed back on the tax list and those desirous of owning the farms may have the opportunity to purchase the farm and a home for themselves.

Farm and Implement News

The evening of March 3rd, Mr. Lingenfelter, factory representative for International Harvester Co., together with Mr. Fred Bjornson, company local Block-Man and Branch Manager, Mr. Moro, of Grand Forks, held a meeting in our store for about fifty dealers and salesmen of this territory to acquaint the dealers with the McCormick-Deering 1937 grain drill and, to say the least, every one present was greatly pleased as well as surprised to learn in detail the very outstanding quality construction and very special value features built into this new grain drill. We dealers are convinced there has never before been manufactured a greater value in grain drills.

We are advised that even today the Harvester Company is more than 9,000 behind in their manufacture of the improved "F20" Farmall tractor and orders are coming in faster than their full capacity production can keep up to. We know that we are not going to be able to fill late orders this spring on this outstanding tractor value. IT'S NEW, IT IS IMPROVED and so much that it is an outstanding performance surprise. The increased power without adding weight is unbelievable, besides many other improvements.

Nash LaFayette "400" is the automobile name and the model which in 1937 already means so much to many and fast gaining public preference. First it's a combination of two 1936 models with greater value and improvements than the best of 1936 at a cost reduction of more than $100.00 to the best of the two in 1936. What's more, this 1937 automobile value is in the low priced bracket and still compares with the automobiles that sell for $200.00 greater price. Without exception, they all make strong claims when checking this automobile value and even more than we. Nash claims, "Out to win America on value alone". That's the reason.

Our stock of used automobiles are outstanding, and our reconditioning cost has been reduced because now during winter months we have been able to do all this reconditioning as fill in work by our mechanics. That's why our used car values are greater bargains now.

Another round of cheers to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the nice handling of the Ice Skating Show. It was beautiful entertainment and well staged. Such a presentation of skating talent each year will do much to stimulate our own skaters to greater application and in the course of a few years we undoubtedly will develop some very presentable talent of our own.

Now that the hockey season has ended they can bring on the summer any time. And when the mornings start getting a little frosty next fall there are a lot of people around here who are going to look forward quite eagerly again to the coming of another winter, and more hockey.

By a vote of about four to one, lawyers of Minnesota have turned thumbs down on Roosevelt's plan to pack the Supreme Court. Only one out of every five lawyers favor the plan. We will now be told that only one out of five lawyers are honest. It is easier to believe, however, that that is about the proportion of lawyers who are more interested in their own political advancement than they are in the welfare of the country.

ABERHART ADMITS FAILURE

Up in Alberta, Canada, Premier Aberhart's new deal under the name of Social Credit, has fizzed out. Mr. Aberhart himself admitted it to be a failure in a talk to his people Sunday.

It is less than two years ago that the citizens of Alberta, by an overwhelming majority, elected Aberhart and authorized him to put his Social Credit plan into operation. He had offered them a short cut to happiness and prosperity. The following extracts from official statements and documents of that campaign give some idea what the good people of that province were promised in that campaign:

Social Credit at once removes the demoralizing effect of unemployment . . . .

The distribution of purchasing power to bona fide citizens of basic dividends sufficient to secure the bare necessities of food, clothing and shelter . . . .

Basic dividends should be $25 a month for every bona fide citizen, male or female, 21 years or more. Children of bona fide citizens 16 years old will receive $5 a month. Those 17 or 18 years old will receive $10 a month . .

The Social Credit guarantee to pay every bona fide citizen a monthly dividend of $25 will be a particular boon to the farmers. What a boon a monthly income of $50 to the farmer and his wife would be at the present time! . .

Establishment of a just-price on all goods and services . . . .

Social Credit would at once increase employment . . . .

Considering how hopeful the people must have been, their disappointment now in learning from their leader himself that the plan is not workable must be very great. They are fortunate, however, in having learned their lesson in so short a time and at so low a cost. They are more fortunate than we. When we finally awaken from our beautiful dream we are going to find ourselves loaded down with a huge burden of debt.

GOING OUT FOR A RECORD
(Hennepin County Review)

We are informed by the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research that if Minnesota passes the income tax law now being considered by the legislature, she will thereby give to the other 47 states something really good to shoot at. As proposed the bill, if passed, will set up the highest state income tax structure in the whole of the nation.

The sad thing is that if and when such becomes the fact, it will be found the state still will be hopelessly at a loss to make any headway in cutting down its huge indebtedness.

As has been said so many times that it becomes the sorriest commonplace, the sales tax in Minnesota is inevitable if the state is really eventually to pay its debts. Of course, we wouldn't like it—admittedly it would be a nuisance—but we would learn to get along with it as other states have. With the proper exemptions for necessities, so that those who must spend their whole incomes for absolute needs won't be penalized, it is entirely fair. Supplementing fair income and property taxes, and with some sort of reasonable restrictions placed upon the apportioning proclivities of the spending bodies, it would start the state down the happy road to solvency once again.

But perhaps the sales tax is too much to hope for. Politicians of all parties are interested principally in getting votes. They seldom turn in their [illegible] to [illegible] up the public accounts. When they shout No, in righteous wrath, to the mere mention of a sales tax, they are applauded by a large majority of the electorate as great saviors of the people. The people pretty generally want what they want when they want it, in the way of endless appropriations for countless improvements. And they are pretty generally willing to let George, if anyone, go gray over the perplexing problem of how to pay the fiddler. Under such circumstances we can expect only lassitude over the one sensible method of getting the state out of the red.

WAS IT A MISTAKE?
(Mankato Free Press)

Perhaps we never made a greater mistake in policy than when we turned over the national range to homesteaders. No sooner did we do that than the price of beef began to go up.

When the homesteaders came in they began to plow up the buffalo grass that once carpeted the plains from the Rio Grande almost to the Canadian border.

One year out of five these homesteaders got some kind of a crop. But it was not a region adapted to field farming. It was a country where the buffalo had roamed in immense herds, a country where cattle flourished—it was a range. The very name meant it was not possible to fence off the place and tame. The cattle needed to roam mile after mile. In that way the grass was preserved.

We did not appreciate the fact that Nature had made that land fit for just one thing. A hungry homesteady lobby spread abroad reports of "cattle barons" who were occupying thousands of acres and keeping the poor farmers out. Poor farmers indeed! They have been poorer ever since they plowed up the range and attempted to do the impossible. Grass lands, they found by bitter experience, were neither corn nor wheat lands.

Had we left well enough alone the beef cattle would still be on that great range, and we would not be importing meat from Canada and the Argentine. Nor would we be compelled to extend charity to these homesteaders, who by their own folly have brought about the ruin of one of our great national resources.

STRIKES AND PUBLIC INTEREST
(The Eveleth News)

There is no question that the sit-down strike of automobile workers has had the effect of slowing down the process of recovery. Without attempting to appraise the rights and wrongs of the controversy between workers and employers in that great industry, it seems clear that some method must be found whereby labor disputes can be settled without putting the public at large to expense and inconvenience.

Much attention is being given to the method adopted in England after the general strike of 1926, when practically all business and industry was brought to a standstill. The British law, which has been in effect now for more than ten years, makes labor organizations equally responsible with employing corporations or individuals, for any inconvenience to the general public resulting from disputes over wages or working conditions.

Labor unions in England have to be registered or incorporated. They are required to make public financial reports of moneys received and spent, and are forbidden by law to use their funds for the purpose of supporting or encouraging strikes in trades or industries other than their own. They may not use union funds for political purposes except by express permission of the proper authorities. Yet under the law their right to strike is fully protected.

Whether some such plan as the British have evolved would work in America is difficult to say with certainty. It seems reasonable, however, that the government should in some way be able to control labor disputes where the public interest is affected, and that labor should shoulder its share of the responsibility.

Group Is Seeking Funds for Babcock Memorial

Under the leadership of Dr. Will J. Mayo of Rochester, and Honorable Earle Brown of Minneapolis, a committee of public spirited citizens have formed a non-partisan Babcock Memorial Association which has undertaken the task of securing a fitting memorial to the former national figure in the field of good roads—the beloved Charlie Babcock.

Many State organizations which have held conventions in the Twin Cities the past few weeks have passed resolutions unqualifiedly endorsing this movement among them being the Minnesota Editorial Association, Minnesota State Veterinary Medical Society, etc., etc.

The work of establishing county organizations throughout Minnesota is now under way.

The Committee will set a modest quota for each county and endeavor to raise the required amount from small contributions—one dollar or less.

All officers and members serve without compensation—direct or indirect.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:—

I cannot yet see the logic of the criticism of my position on the Supreme Court reform proposal published in the last issue of the Times and signed "A Gentleman from the Left." However, I shall study it a bit more, and, if it convinces me that your position is well taken, I shall immediately write Mr. Fess or some other rabid Republican, that they must hurry up and advocate Roosevelt's Court reform in order to drive all the Leftists over to the opposition and thus save the Court, and, indirectly the Constitution also.

I agree that it is somewhat queer that the Editor can write such a 100% good, American article on this subject, so long as he supports this insane money and credit system, but nevertheless it is a fact that this editorial is fully up to the very best according to my mind, and I have read many on both sides.

No, I cannot agree with you that we should be so prejudiced and narrow minded as to be blind to any possible virtue in our opponents. But this blindness is the most outstanding symptom of Rooseveltitis, witness the pacifists and neutrality crowd in Congress voting 99% and a big fraction for Roosevelt's 100% Fascist "neutrality" measure against the friendly Spanish government when they were fighting for their very existence against Fascist rebels and foreign Fascists. Also in the original "neutrality" act the "Leftists" and peace loving people were fooled into aiding Mussolini when he was fighting Ethiopia. So you better get some eye-salve and try to cure this Rooseveltitis which will ruin both our Farmer-Labor Party and the Country.

But as far as those carping critics who will blame you for not signing your communication, I am with you 100 per cent and will do likewise myself in case I ever should want to write from prejudice and without either logic or consistency.

I believe you are in earnest, and therefore hate to disagree with you, but I do believe you will change your mind in a couple of years when these "Trade treaties" have had time to operate and compelled American labor to compete with the world, just to protect the creditor class from high wages and prices. They are unconstitutional because they are not made with the "Advice and Consent" of the Senate, hence Roosevelt wants a Court that will uphold these treaties in spite of the Constitution.

News Behind the News in the Legislature
By Senator Vin Weber

Saint Paul, Special to the Times—Irritableness of legislators is the best indication that the legislature is swinging into its stride. With General Orders and the Calendar increasing in size every day means longer sessions, more battles and the consequent irritableness of the members.

While your correspondent has always supported any and all farm legislation, for the first time he fears a bill which is claimed to be beneficial to the dairy farmer. The southern states have but few products to sell to the northern agricultural states as compared with the products the north finds a market for in the south. Retaliation is a bad thing, whether in business or in legislation. Wisconsin passed an Oleomargarine law, preventing the sale of or manufacture of that product in that state. Immediately the southern states, which furnish cotton oil for oleo, boycotted Wisconsin, refusing to buy Wisconsin butter and cheese and other farm products. This in no little measure contributed to the benefit of Minnesota farmers, since there was a greater demand for Minnesota dairy products.

The question is: "will Minnesota dairy farmers lose more by the loss of the southern trade than they will make out of the comparatively small sale of oleo in the state?" It is my opinion that the loss will be far greater, and while I should like greatly to see the sale and manufacture of oleo prohibited I am afraid the Senator from Milaca is going about it in the wrong way.

Well, wise or unwise, politics is going to play a big part in the legislature from now on, if the action of the House committee on Taxation is a fair barometer. The first vehicle to make the going hard for members of the Senate when they stand for re-election, is the Income Tax bill. This bill was discussed at an open hearing in the Senate chambers a week ago. The chamber was too small to accommodate the hundreds that wanted to be heard in opposition. The bill in its original form would give Minnesota the highest income tax but despite the facts presented in opposition at the hearing, the House committee not only recommended the bill to pass, but recalled it and adopted amendments making it even more drastic. The bill, as first proposed, and which most everyone thought unreasonable in its demands with its provision for a raise in the maximum rates from [illegible] per cent to [illegible] per cent on corporations and 16% per cent in the case of individuals, now calls for doubling the rates in the original bill. The rates would be twice as high, under the bill as amended, as any in the nation. The political burlesque comes in the statement made by the author of the amendments who frankly admitted that he desired to "put the Senate on the spot."

Well, the Senate can play the same sort of game, if it wishes, but such by-play would merely mean that thousands of industries in the state would pack up and leave. Believing that duty comes before political horseplay, the Senate will undoubtedly strike out everything after the enacting clause and incorporate in lieu thereof a sane and sensible bill.

The farmers of Minnesota will receive aid from the counties and state in financing their seed for spring planting as a result of the Seed Loan bill which passed the Senate on Thursday, the bill previously having passed the House. The bill, which this writer drafted two years ago and again sponsored in this session together with Sen. Foslien, is much the same as that of two years ago, but calls for a slightly higher repayment in kind than two years ago. The state lost $170,000 two years ago and in order to reduce this great loss those who pay in kind this year will be required to pay two bushels of equal quality grain for one bushel received, and in the case of corn, three bushels for one received. The law will be administered by the State Auditor, the county boards and township officers as heretofore.

The flood of bills being introduced in both branches of the legislature affecting the mining business in this state, impresses one more and more that eventually some law must be enacted that will make the state and all of the people the beneficiaries of ore taxes, rather than just those people who live on the iron ranges. Your correspondent, coming as he does from southern Minnesota, may not know much about the mining business, but he does know that the ore beneath Minnesota soil is the heritage of all, and only as it is preserved will the state school trust fund attain its full and logical size. A little perusal of the state auditor's books is a revelation to any taxpayer. The mining companies have paid on an average the past 12 years, to the state and its subdivisions, the enormous sum of $22,243,668 annually in taxes. Of this huge amount the range counties and cities, villages and school districts have received the lion's share of $1[illegible],132,442.60. The state has received but $6,811,226. Now even the most ardent range citizen must admit that that is not as it should be. Range villages, cities and schools are spending too much money—money that belongs to all of the people in the state. But past performance indicates that there will be [illegible] spending [illegible] the range so long as the mining companies pay 90 per cent of the cost of municipal and school government. Range villages and cities will continue, as long as the present tax laws exist, to have a policeman on every corner and a clock winder for every municipal or school clock.

Independent theatres in the state are donning their armor and preparing for a battle with the chain theatre owners who are also producers. This writer introduced the bills which if enacted would give the independents a square deal. A powerful lobby will counter attack, without question, but win or lose the battle is on.

Oh, you ask about the liquor investigation. Well, it seems to have died aborning. As predicted the charges of Rep. Wier and Gov. Benson have not as yet been proven and we'll wager they never will be. Firewater is hot stuff and so is any investigation dealing with it.

Doctors Tell Rabbit Hunters How to Avoid Tularemia Infection

Most of the cases of tularemia in man come from the handling of infected rabbits. Today's bulletin from the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association calls the attention of hunters to the especial need for care in handling rabbit carcasses.

If the blood of an infected animal or even its hair enters into a break in the skin of the hands or if it gets into the eyes, tularemia is likely to develop. The meat from infected animals is safe to eat only if it is thoroughly cooked.

About one per cent of cotton tails, jack rabbits and hares are [illegible]. Squirrels are susceptible to the disease and so are grouse and gray foxes in Minnesota. Human cases have not been traced directly to the latter, though ticks and flies and horse flies which are known to have been responsible for human cases may have carried them from any infected animal or fowl.

Hunters, market men, housewives or any others who handle rabbits should take care never to handle them with bare hands. Rubber gloves are a protection against the infected blood but they have been known to tear on a splinter of bone and especial care to prevent puncturing the [illegible], [illegible] the skin of the hands [illegible]. If rabbit blood does come in contact with the hands [illegible], thorough washing with soap and water is advised, together with a common disinfectant such as iodine for punctures, cuts or scratches. If the [illegible] an open cut or scratch, [illegible] disinfection has often failed, [illegible] to prevent infection. Thorough cooking of all wild game, especially rabbits, is absolutely essential.

Irving Lundell Writes at Klamath Falls, Ore., of Conditions in West

Irving N. Lundell, who recently left this city to enter the employ of the Consolidated Freight Lines in Klamath Falls, Oregon, writes the Times that he had an interesting and enjoyable trip to the west coast, commenting on the outstanding improvement in train service in recent years. His new home town, he says, is the home of a widespread pine lumbering industry, the Weyerhauser interests having the largest mill. "Folks in general", he writes, "are a happy-go-lucky lot, and money seems to mean relatively little to them, especially to the younger generation." He adds that the company for which he is working is the second largest trucking transportation line in the United States. Klamath Falls has a population of 18,000 with a well populated contiguous territory.

INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE-MINDED IS ASKED AT CAPITOL

Bill Providing for Million Dollar Plant Introduced in House

A bill introduced last week in the lower house of the state legislature provides for an appropriation not exceeding $1,000,000 to cover the cost of acquiring a site and erecting a school for the feeble-minded in Thief River Falls, it was revealed in a copy of the measure received this week by the Times from Representatives J. O. Mellby of Oklee and W. E. Day of Bagley, joint sponsors of the bill.

Under the terms of the bill funds for the project would be provided by a levy on all taxable property in the state sufficient to raise $100,000 a year for ten years beginning in 1939. Pending collection of the taxes, certificates of indebtedness would be issued to permit an early start on the undertaking.

With similar institutions in other parts of the state at present crowded beyond their normal capacity, sponsors of the bill are hopeful that it will receive favorable consideration so that the situation may be relieved. Local supporters of the project further point out that Thief River Falls is one of the few communities of its size in Minnesota without a state institution of some kind, and that the city is strategically situated to care for the needs of this section.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Temperance Education

There is every reason to believe that the W.C.T.U. is proceeding wisely in setting out to launch another nationwide campaign of temperance education. The present plan is to procure a million-dollar fund for the purpose.

Prior to Federal Prohibition, the W.C.T.U. did a great deal of effective work along the line of popular enlightenment as to the harm of excessive drinking. Some observers incline to the view, indeed, that the trend was definitely toward moderation in the use of alcohol and that the placing of too much reliance on legislative enactments curbed a movement of real value.

The forthcoming drive, according to Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, National President, will be aimed at giving people "the knowledge accumulated by unbiased, fact-finding investigators, whose only motive has been the scientific one."

Such a frank and unbiased effort should have the effect of emphasizing the wisdom of relative restraint in the use of intoxicants, thereby accomplishing something wholesome and beneficial from both the social and moral points of view.

Scholarship honors in the senior class of the Plummer High School were awarded this week.

Based on four years of high school work Jack Ripple with an average of 93.2 was declared valedictorian, Roy Hayden with an average of 93.6 was named salutatorian, and Marian Gerardy with an average of 92.8 was given honorable mention.

Congratulations are in order.

Last Thursday the local boy scouts held a pan cake fry at the schoolhouse. Scoutmaster, Peter Ohnstad, assistant Leland LaVoi, and committeeman Mr. Jacobson were in attendance. Mr. Ohnstad officiated as chief cook and master of ceremonies. The scouts "put on" an endurance contest and some displayed unusual capacity. No bad after-results are reported. All had a good time and everyone is looking forward to another entertainment of this kind. —The date for the Junior Class Play has been set for March 19. Keep that date open for "Bashful Bobby". He will make a personal appearance then at the Municipal Auditorium in Plummer. —A fair crowd mostly adults attended the sub-district declamatory contest. All enjoyed the program very much and manifested great interest in the decision of the judges. There was some difference of opinion but complete unanimity as far as the excellent performance of the contestants was concerned.

The seniors have received copies of their class play and will begin casting it very shortly.

The maturity and numerous reserves of the Bemidji State Teachers College were too much for the Cardinals. LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLERS DOWN G. F. CENTRAL IN OVERTIME PERIOD

Last Contest Develops Into Thriller After Slow Start

The Prowlers played their final scheduled game of the season last Wednesday evening defeating the Grand Forks Central Cagers in probably the most exciting and most strongly contested battle local basketball fans have yet had the pleasure of witnessing. After trailing during the whole game the Redskins climbed up in the last few minutes of play to tie the locals at 25 to 25 and bring the game into not one overtime period, but three, at the end of which time the Prowlers led 30 to 27 to win the game.

Play in the opening quarter went very definitely to the side of the Lincolnites, who had built up a 9 to 2 lead by the end of the period. Although Grand Forks was playing steady ball they couldn't seem to solve the Prowlers' defense and were continually passing into the arms of an opposing player. Whenever they did manage to break through they couldn't make their shots count. When the two teams went to their dressing rooms at the end of the first half the Prowlers still held the advantage although it was cut from the seven points commanded at the end of the first quarter to five points. The scoreboard read 15 to 10.

The third period was nearly a stand still as far as scoring was concerned, each team gaining but two points, increasing the score to 17 to 12. Grand Forks came back in the last quarter to score more points than they had in the entire first three periods of play and bring their total equal to the Prowlers' at 25 all. There was no scoring in the first overtime period and so the contest went into a second, in which Lee made a field goal to put the Prowlers two points in the lead. However, Leo of Grand Forks was awarded two free throws, and despite the tenseness and strain of the moment, he came through for his team making both shots and again throwing the tally into a deadlock at 27 to 27. The rule book states that when a game goes into three overtime periods, the team scoring the first two points is declared the winner. Helquist was credited with a free throw to provide the first of the two necessary points, while Stadum finished the game a few seconds later when he counted on a close-in shot.

The box score follows:

Prowlers	fg	ft	ftm	pf	tp
Lorentson	1	0	0	0	2
Nelson	2	1	1	4	5

Panthers Retain Lead in Intramural League

Last week only one intra-mural basketball game was played although six games will be played this week.

This game between the Gophers and the Blackhawks started out with a surprise. Although they had but four players in the first quarter, the Gophers made eight points to the Blackhawks' two. Then the Blackhawks retaliated by making eleven points to the Gopher's two and the score stood thirteen to ten at the half. At the end of the third quarter the Gophers had tied the score at nineteen to nineteen. Then Bob Hanson discouraged by the bad passing and shooting, quit during the fourth quarter and the game ended with the Blackhawks winning twenty-four to twenty-one.

Through all the game a total of fifteen fouls were called by the referees, Jack Adkins and Bruce Prichard. Only nine of these were made. Two of them were technicals called on Kielty and the others were personals. Bob Hanson, making eleven points, was high-point scorer for the Gophers and Larson of the Blackhawks made nine of their points. The positions of the teams were not changed by this game.

PROWLERETTE'S CORNER

"With a P, with an R, with a P-R-O—" Dear me, just must oil up these vocal strings (cords sound so common) for the district tournament. Come on, gang, once again, keep on shouting and when you can't do that, yell! What's the matter with our Lincoln High School Pep? A week ago Wednesday's yelling was as anemic as the Benny-Allen feud. Poor— poor Mary! Shiver your timbers my fine G. A. A. members, and if you don't make as much noise as Adkins next time, consider your charter taken from you. Whew, that's off our chest and 'twas so hot it left its mark.

Seems as if the Black Legion are tops in the Leaguers' tournament since they "bounced" the Silver Streak 11-1 in a "scrappy" after school game. Silver skates to the Streak gang for never "uncle" spirit and sportsmanship.

What—freshette—nose-tipped—a chance to hob-nob with G. A. A. gals at the Palm Garden in favor of the perpetually noisy Soph boy? And who, with her handsome hockey player, beat hasty retreat to a more secluded corner with the coming of the G. A. A. horde? Oh, well, maybe we're sour graping.

The gym classes have divided into competitive teams for hitpin baseball, as this year's in-between sport. Good captains and looks like even up teams but time will tell and everyone will scrap. Who likes paying forfeits—to a winner?

Clock says time to scamper—yours for pep on "Faculty Pep Day"—and it'd better be good.

EXCHANGE

The Junior class of Milaca high school presented a play February 18 with a cast of twelve. The title of the play was, "Meet Uncle Sally."—The Milacht.

Composed of Ralph Fjelstad and Burton Smith the debate team of Concordia College met the U of M. debate team Feb. 19. The debate was non-dicisional. The teams argued the question concerning minimum wages and maximum hours, the Concordia team upholding the affirmative side.—The Concordian.

DECLAM CONTEST HELD AT WARREN

Hillyer, Amundson, Smith Represent T. R. F.

The sub-district declamation contest was held in Warren last Wednesday, February 24. The towns competing in this contest were Robert Smith, Oratory, Ann Hillyer, dramatic, and Lorraine Amundson.

In the ortorial division Robert Kurz of Warren won first place with the selection "The Unknown Soldier". Warren Eukel placed second with the selection "The Menace of the Labor Union." In the dramatic division Bernice Holm of Warren won first place with the reading "Sun Up," and Ann Hillyer of Thief River Falls placed second with "Honey". In the humorous division Helen Holmgren of Warren won first place giving the reading "At the Lawn Fete, and Lorraine Amundson won second with "Pa Goes Skating." Warren won all the honors with three first places.

Between selections the Warren Boy's Double Quartette sang two number and Melba Sands played a clarinet solo.

BAND NOTES

The high school band has been kept very busy lately performing at all the basket ball games and various other places in town. Wednesday noon the entire band gave a concert at the Land O'Lakes Convention at the auditorium. The pieces played were all marches and novelty numbers such as are played at the basket ball games. After the concert the entire band was given a dinner by the Land O'Lakes people. The members of the band wore their gold and blue uniforms at this performance. The band members really enjoyed giving this concert because they were excused from school from eleven o'clock till two o'clock and were given a free dinner besides.

The band also played at the first session of the district basketball tournament Wednesday evening. The pieces played at basketball games are almost all marches or novelty numbers, such as, "Skyrocket Yell," "Pop Goes the Weasel", "Slidin Some," a trombone oddity, and of course the old favorite "The Old Gray Mare." It seems that no matter what the band plays at games the students still want the "Old Gray Mare." If Crookston brings a pep band and starts to play "Popeye" we'll play the "Old Gray Mare" and show them some real competition. The band will also play both Thursday and Friday evenings at the tournament, wearing their capes and caps.

In the weekly lessons on the Prescott system Lorraine Amundson, Robert Quale, and Donald Peterson have completed twelve weeks of work.

Calendar of Events

March 4-5 —District Tournament at Thief River Falls.

March 9—Declamation Contest, regional at Thief River Falls.

Marsh 11-12—Regional Tournament at Ada.

The Warren Declamation troup won six awards at the Declamation Contest. The winners of first place were awarded gold pins and the winners of second place silver pins. —Warren High Chronicle.

Are you doing your utmost towards making the tournament a success? Today the district meet goes into its second day. Have you done your part towards making our visitors feel at home and making them look forward to another tournament in Thief River Falls? Many of us have complained that there are not enough events occuring in our city. If you do your part in making this tournament a success we will have more of them taking place here. Remember the sportsman's code and live up to it. This is the best way to make visitors want to return to our city. Vocal support can often make or break a tournament. The teams, officials, and district committees have done their part, now its up to you. Come out and yell for your favorites.

Should Lincoln High add another branch of athletics to its sport calender? Personally we would like to see it done. That sport would be hockey. Hockey could be added without much extra expense either as an intramural or a varsity sport. It would not have to clash with our other very popular winter sport, basketball. The city now has excellent facilities for the sport and townspeople are supporting the local six strongly. If the high school had a team competing with other schools it would develop talent for the city aggregation. It is our firm belief that an enterprise of this sort would pay for itself and add greatly to the athletic fund. Competition could be secured easily as high school and junior teams are flourishing in Grand Forks, Crookston, Hallock and other northern towns within reach of Thief River. Hockey for high school? By all means, yes!

"This Year's Crop of Kisses," played by Eddy Duchin rates tops with Marion Green. She is quite undecided about her favorite sport though, it's either tennis, basketball, or skating, (quite a variety.) Marion was born at Fargo, N. D. Jan. 14, 1919, and can you imagine her favorite subject is Chemistry! Her favorite sport is skating, and her pet peeve is always having to wait for someone, (that means you too, Aasen). On the screen she likes to see Deanna Durbin and Don Ameche the latter played in her favorite movie, "Ramona". Pedler writes the best books. "Desert Sands" was very good. Some day, Marion Green hopes to scale the heights of a tennis champion, with Helen Wills Moody as her inspiration. Marion has taken part in basketball, interclass sports, chorus, band and the Prowler Staff.

"Oh, she do!" that's Cliff VeVea's favorite expression, who is 17 years 20 months, 11 days, and 1 minute old as we go to press. He was born December 19, 1919 at the Physicians Hospital in Thief River Falls. Cliff has an unusual appreciation of good foot work, his hobby being tap dancing, and his favorite pastime dancing. Does Cliff ever go in for the strenous exercise his favorite sport being Washington Poke Tag. Oh! Oh! his favorite subject is girls, here's where you guys can get a few pointers. Cliff's future ambition is to play in an orchestra with Henry Busse as his inspiration, but he prefers Horace Heidt playing, "Boston Tea Party" to any other orchestra. "Old Man Rhythm" is his favorite movie. Say, we've missed out on something, his favorite actor is Mr. Montague. He likes chocolate pie, but oh my how he dislikes crabby teachers.

Hettie Gustafson, anyone of the following—"Het, Gussy, Candy and Ginger" to you was born December 18, 1919. She doesn't like sarcastic people. Dancing is her hobby. Ben Bernie presents the best music of which she likes most the selection, "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm" (which has a long way to come.) In the line of motion pictures she prefers the stars Don Ameche and Ginger Rogers and the movie, "Three Smart Girls." Sunday night you'll find her close to the radio enjoying a half hour with Jack Benny in the jello program. She also enjoys "The First Nighter" program. Cocoanut cream pie will do as a desert. To express enthusiasm, "Oh! Boy!" serves the purpose.

"Forgive Us Our Trespasses," by Lloyd Douglas is the best book she has ever read. Hettie's favorite subject is Social (wait until she tackles Government), and she hopes to become a dress designer some day with none other than Adrian as her inspiration.

Robert Sorenson, commonly known as Bob, was born at Oklee, Minnesota, March 6, 1919. He is also recognized as one of Lincoln's mathematicians and true to form higher algebra is his favorite subject. His favorite popular song is "Chapel in the Moonlight" played Ozzie Nelson's way is plenty all right. If Bob has been cross toward you this winter you will have to forgive him because snow covering up newly shoveled paths is his pet peeve, oh my, what a winter like this could do to a person like Bob. I take it he likes to read, it's his favorite pastime, and his hobby. "Three Just Men," by Edgar Wallace rates high with Bob as a good book. Attention, you guys! Here's a guy that likes macaroni—the first male that I have heard of that eats macaroni and likes it. Jack Benny and Fred Allen are both favorites, (whose side are you on in the present feud?) An inspiration hasn't hit him as to what he would like to be in the future, but I'm sure it will be something worth while.

A Lincoln Program was held in the assembly of the Sherburn high school Friday February 19.—Sherburn High-Pper.

MARCH-SLUSH

Once upon a time there was a little town in Minnesota that was just plumb full of bright-eyed, intelligent, good-looking, fun-loving and industrious people (especially high school students.) One night Wed. Feb. 24, to be exact—as the village clock chimed ten, eight little lads (Horace Avenue) with eight little lasses trudged eagerly up the lane. Because, you see, these sixteen little tots (Sophs) were on their way to Roy Johnson's papa's house on account of Roy was having a party for his little friends. Well, that self-same village clock chimed a few (?) more times and those self same youngsters were trudging wearily but happily homeward.

There was an overshoe dance in that town once and it started the Juniors dancing but you needn't fret 'cause they're capable of taking care of themselves. A while later, a dual association or something was organized. Please note that it wasn't a new couple. Maybe, I'd better not tell you, it isn't a secret anyway.

A boy by the name of Julien P. found out that it doesn't pay to be sassy in school. Of course that's all right—we all have to learn sooner or later. Just ask Harriet S. if you don't agree.

Besides all these people there was a boy called "Micky" that lived there too. He got a lot of publicity in the high school paper because of his friendship with the chemistry teacher's daughter named Mary M. D. He took that girl to the show quite a few times, and was teased a lot for it. All of the kids thought it was a lot of fun to tease him 'cause he blushed when they did it.

Guess what town this is all about! Maybe the solution will be given next week.

Humble Work

It is a great mistake to suppose that the best work of the world is done by people of great strength and great opportunities. It is unquestionably an advantage to have both these things, but neither of them is a necessity to the man who has the spirit and the pluck to achieve great results. Some of the greatest work of our time has been done by men of physical feebleness.

LOCAL SECONDS TROUNCE R. L. F.

Nicholson, Haughom Lead in Scoring Spree

The "Prowler "B" squad closed the curtain on one of the most successful seasons in Lincoln High School history last Tuesday by trouncing the Red Lake Falls five, 36 to 17 on the Lafayette court. This contest closed the regular season for the locals who now boast a record of eleven games won with no losses.

The Prowlers reserves played brilliant ball in all but the third quarter when their offense bogged down temporarily.

Quale opened the scoring for the Leemen after the opening whistle and his mates ran the advantage to 10 to 5 at the end of the first quarter. Columbus scored all five points for Purple and Gold. Red Lake Falls trailed by eight points at the end of the half as the local second team led 18 to 10. The Blue and Gold quint suffered a lapse of playing ability for the major part of the third period, but they recovered quickly to stretch the lead to 24 to 14 when the horn sounded at the end of the third stanza. Coach Lee placed Kielty, Stadum, Pederson, Mickelson and Eide in the lineup and these boys formed the best defensive unit of the game to hold the Red Lake Falls squad to two points in the last period.

Earl Nicholson and Melford Haughom led the Prowler scoring with eight points apiece. Rueben Mickelson starred in an all-around game scoring six points himself and holding his man scoreless. Rob Kielty, the freshmen ace, who is improving with every game tallied five points, and threatens to emulate his more famous brothers as a future Prowler Star. Bernard Columbus and Francis Martell scored seven points each to lead the scoring for the Lafayette defenders.

Don Gullickson, a former local boy, was permitted to continue in the Red Lake lineup, with the consent of Mr. Lee after he was guilty of four personal fouls. Coach Monson had no other capable reserve centers, so he was allowed to play.

THE SCREAMER

A certain Goldilocks in the first period assembly seems to think this was meant for a beauty parlor. Her perpetual combing gives all those in back of her the heebie-jeebys, so I'm told.

Ivan Bundy isn't any pansy, he smokes cigars—and not five cent ones either.

Jack A. held up his end of the bargain and didn't disappoint M. Clafy. He made enough noise at the B. B. game to assure anyone who might be a little dubious that T. R. F. was fairly well represented. And did he have fun sitting right in the midst of a bunch of sweet sixteen. (We mean the junior girls of course.)

Now what on earth caused the fall of Edith Hass the other day? We could imagine that someone tripped her but we have a better solution. It was because someone informed her that Wayne Kielty was coming home from the navy. (there are more ways than one of doing it, aren't there, Edith?)

And the thrill came Friday. All the admiring "peeping toms" in school were trying to peek through keyholes (Yales) peering around corners, and looking through windows for a glimpse of Mrs. Gabrielson. "Bumpa" was busy elsewhere and his better half took over his classes. Please come back again sometime, Mrs. Gabrielson!

A certain party held on Friday night still has symptoms of turning disasterous for some. But don't let it bother you very much.

I see the juniors are acquiring some intestinal fortitude. Good! Glad to have you with us.

Flash! A robber is running around lost. We are not quite sure just who the robbed one is but he was robbed of one "Toots" Hanson a freshman. He hid her till quite late Friday in one place called Ahheart's. He wears a yellow sweater with a letter on it, is prominent in football and tumbling and is a senior.

Must close now for a certain someone's music is getting in my ears and detracting my attention. It's good music though.

EIGHT B.B. TEAMS IN ACTION HERE WED. AND FRIDAY

Two Events Carded for Thursday, Friday Evenings

Thief River Falls will be the scene of frenzied sports activity for the second successive night as the District 31 tourney merges into the semi-finals. At 8: p. m. tonight the winner of the Red Lake Falls-East Grand Forks tilt will face the victor of the Climax-Crookston contest. The Little Green Wave is expected to knock off the Falls boys without much difficulty. Climax is expected to furnish the Pirates with stouter opposition but should succumb.

The winner of the Plummer-Warren game will engage the victor of the Oslo-Thief River Falls game at 9 p. m. The Cardinals are prepared to give the Ponies a struggle but are regarded as underdogs. The Prowlers should triumph over Oslo and should be slight favorites over Warren in that prospective game.

The finals and consolation contests will be played Friday evening. This tournament can be regarded only as a toss-up according to your scribe, although the Prowlers boast the most imposing record. The past tourney records show that any thing can happen. Crookston, East Grand Forks, and Warren have an almost equal opportunity with the fast moving Prowlers according to sports experts and it would be no great upset to see the Prowlers lost to any of these foes.

The winners of the district 31 play-off will be rewarded with a trip to Ada where they will compete in the Region 8 tournament on March 11th and 12th.

Bemidji, Ada and Warroad are favored to cop and play-offs in their respective districts and will form a formidable trio of quints to oppose this districts representative at Ada.

What Three of our Customers told us about Telephone Service

"When you are blue there's nothing that will cheer you up faster than to call up a friend."

"I tripped and fell...but managed to telephone my doctor before I fainted...It might have been hours before someone found me if I hadn't had a telephone."

"I got three weeks' work because I had a telephone. At $17.50 a week that pays for service for many months."

● Telephone service is constantly becoming a better bargain. Year after year, this Company, with the aid of the other parts of the Bell System in research, engineering, and manufacturing, is able to provide telephone users with more and better service for their money.

'36 FINANCIAL STATEMENT IS IN THIS ISSUE

Tabulation of County Report Completed by Auditor A. M. Senstad

MOST FUNDS IN GOOD SHAPE AT YEAR-END

Large Expenditures Made for Various Forms of Relief

The annual financial statement of Pennington couty as of December 31, 1936, prepared in the office of County Auditor A. M. Senstad ad published in this issue of the Times, contains in its lengthy tabulation of figures much information of interest to county residents.

The statement reveals that the past year closed with credit balances in nearly all of the various funds, one exception being the old-age assistance fund which, owing to unexpectedly heavy demands made on it, showed an overdraft of $12,350.45. Payments made during the year to recipients of this form of aid aggregated $79,969.04, of which one-sixth, or slightly more than $13,000 represents county funds, the remainder being supplied by the state and federal governments.

In addition, during the early months of the year the county paid out $2,260 in old-age pensions under the county system. A total of 54 mothers' pensions also were paid in 1936, aggregating $4,670. Warrants issued against the poor fund totaled $18,984.08.

Also listed in detail are operations during 1936 with road and bridge funds, showing the purposes for which the various warrants were issued. The statement also reveals, among other matters, that a total of $732 was paid in wolf bounties during the year.

The year closed with an outstanding county bonded indebtedness of $680,000, from which is to be deducted $15,000 in trunk highway reimbursement bonds which have been assumed by the state, leaving a net funded debt of $665,000.

Auto License Deadline Comes Monday, March 15

Local motorists who have not yet obtained their 1937 license plates are reminded that the thirty-day extension of time recently authorized by the legislature will expire Monday, March 15, following which a small penalty will be effective. Approximately 300 sets of plates have been issued by Alex Campbell, deputy registrar, since the date of the original deadline February 15.

$413,400 FEDERAL LOANS ARE PLACED IN PENNINGTON CO.

Farm Loan Associations Handle Large Volume in Past 20 Years

Pennington county farmers have outstanding $413,400 in loans on their farms as the result of organization of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul 20 years ago March 17. The basis for this volume of loans is chiefly the national farm loan associations through which land bank loans are made. However, in order to meet the emergency of 1933 congress that year provided for "commissioner" loans by which additional credit could be extended to farmers. The land bank acts as agent of the commissioner in making such loans, the local association assisting.

In this county there are 184 farmers who have financed their farms with one or both these types of loan, of whom 114 are association members. Of the total volume of credit shown above, $162,300 comprises commissioner loans, and $251,100 land bank loans to members of associations.

Association boundaries do not always follow county lines and in many places the loans in one county may have been made through several different associations. Some associations cover several counties, others are contained entirely in one county. Some counties have 2 or more associations.

Locked-Antler Buck Deer Heads at the Log Cabin

Carl Kretzschmar has on display in the Log Cabin tavern an unusual exhibit in the form of two buck deer heads with the antlers firmly locked together, in which situation the animals were found last November near Middle River by Bernard Tanner of that community, one of the deer having been dead when found. The heads were mounted by Orland Breese of Middle River.

180 Members of Local Credit Group Convene

Are Told at Annual Meeting Monday of Progress Made in 1936

Reports on substantial progress in 1936 were submitted Monday to 180 members at the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Production Credit association held in the Legion room in the Auditorium. The morning and afternoon sessions were pleasantly interrupted at noon by the serving of a turkey dinner by the ladies aid of Trinity Lutheran church.

It was revealed that at the end of the year the association had 356 members compared to 315 a year earlier, while $155,511 was loaned to members in 1936 compared to $117,868 in 1935. Loans outstanding at the end of the year aggregated $108,233, and net earning after all expenses were paid totaled $3,545, which sum was added to the reserve funds.

In the annual election of directors Alfred Longren was renamed for a three-year term, and E. H. Pomerenke of Mavie was elected to succeed V. C. Noper. Following the meeting the board organized with the re-election of present officers including F. S. Erdmann, Red Lake Falls, president; F. D. Voth, vice president; and R. J. Lund, secretary-treasurer.

At the morning session reports were submitted by Mr. Erdmann for the board of directors; Mr. Voth for the executive committee; and Mr. Lund.

The afternoon program opened with a group of songs by Leroy Rupprecht, who accompanied himself on the guitar, receiving generous applause. Brief talks were given by J. W. Sands of Warren, secretary-treasurer of fifteen national farm loan associations; John Wold of the local office of the department of rural credit, and S. E. Hunt, inspector for the association.

L. J. Merriam of the Production Credit corporation of St. Paul gave the principal address, supplying a brief account of the development of the federal farm credit system from its first beginnings in 1916. He stated that the production credit associations are established on a sound basis, and have sustained few credit losses. In closing he suggested that members of the association cooperate fully with the officers in increasing the volume of loans outstanding.

A petition from beer wholesalers asking the council to fix by ordinance the hours during which beer may be delivered to retail establishments was rejected on the ground that the matter was not within its jurisdiction and that it might more properly be handled by agreement among the wholesalers.

The council voted to endorse a resolution adopted by the city council at International Falls asking the state legislature to establish a highway between that city and Thief River Falls.

At an adjourned meeting last Friday evening the council acted on an accumulation of applications for adjustment of real estate and personal property taxes.

All Members of the Teaching Staff Are Re-elected Monday

C. E. Helquist, Soo Line engineer was appointed by the board of education at its March meeting Monday evening to serve on the board until the 1937 school district election in July. He succeeds Dr. A. M. Smith who tendered his resignation explaining to the board that he is leaving the city April 1.

Dr. Smith was elected in July, 1935 to serve a three-year term. Mr. Helquist has long taken an active interest in local school affairs, and has been a supporter of the work of the Parent-Teacher association. No other names were proposed at the meeting for the vacancy to be filled.

Recognizing the highly satisfactory service rendered by Supt. Morris Bye as head of the local school system, the board reappointed him to serve his twelfth consecutive year, his salary remaining the same as last year. At the same time all members of the teaching staff were reelected at a general salary increase of $5 a month, and the teachers were given until April 5 to return their contracts.

Other business transacted in the session including approval of a proposal to order more shrubbery for the beautification of the Knox school grounds. The board also ratified the action of Supt. Morris Bye in granting use of Room 111 in the Lincoln building for the use of adult education classes in typewriting.

Mayor of Emerson Pays Tribute to This City for Hockey Delegation

Mayor W. W. Prichard last Thursday received from Mayor J. B. Andrews of Emerson a letter expressing appreciation of the large delegation of more than 300 fans that accompanied the local hockey team to Emerson March 2. The letter reads:

"The town of Emerson desires to express its keen appreciation to Thief River Falls for the visit its capable hockey team and jovial fans made us. For a sporting occasion the crowd was exceptionally well ordered, and its display of quiet humor and good fellowship was admired by our citizens.

"Your sending of your own custodians was a clever suggestion on somebody's part. These splendid fellows did their work most efficiently, and the visitors left a spirit of good will behind them.

"We congratulate you on the showing of your team; indeed, our marginal victory scarcely justified a cheer."

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO EASE PENSION LOAD

Would Relieve Counties of Their Share of Old-Age Assistance

WOULD GRANT MORE AUTHORITY TO STATE

Governor Threatens Special Session to Enact Tax Program

Minnesota's counties would be relieved of payment of one-sixth of the cost of old age assistance under a measure passed by the state house of representatives late Tuesday by a vote of 72 to 51. The measure now goes to the senate.

Final approval came after violent arguments, with Representative Sam Bellman, Minneapolis, chairman of the house committee on public welfare, leading the fight for the bill, while Representative George MacKinnon, Minneapolis, vainly sought reconsideration of an amendment voted down Monday.

MacKinnon's amendment would have provided an appropriation of $400,000 annually to the state executive council to be used to reimburse only counties in need to an extent not to exceed one-half of their required contributions.

The bill as passed was a vehicle of the committee on public welfare. It eliminates the right of counties to appeal to the courts from the decisions of the state agency, which is the state board of control. The director of the old age assistance division is Kenneth Haycraft.

The measure grants greater supervisory powers to the state agency, but the county commissioners still have administrative rights, and still are empowered to pass on old age assistance amounts and needs of applicants.

The new law, under terms of the bill, would become effective April 1, at which time the state agency would absorb the one-sixth cost of all counties.

Representative MacKinnon's attempt to reconsider the amendment providing a revolving fund to grant partial aid to only those counties in need, went down to defeat by a vote of 61 to 65. Representative Bellman contended such a law would be unconstitutional.

Governor Benson Monday said flatly he would keep the present legislature in session until the budget is balanced without increasing real estate taxes, the present session is scheduled to close about April 21.

The Governor's determination, voiced at his first press conference since his return from a Washington WPA conference, was to declare a special session immediately at the close of the regular unless his tax program is enacted.

Taxes listed by the governor as coming in the "must" class were the new higher income levies proposed in the administration bill boosts on moneys and credits taxes, gift and inheritance taxes and larger iron ore levies.

RED LAKE RIVER WATER PROJECT MAKES PROGRESS

Water Conservation Project Is Advanced in Lower House

A proposed new bill planned to link Minnesota with North and South Dakota in a tri-state Red river valley water conservation compact was on house general orders Wednesday, and proponents of the plan were jubilant over what they termed "the first real victory for the plan in Minnesota."

Governor Elmer A. Benson Tuesday renewed his pledge of support for the program during a conference with representatives of North Dakota and western Minnesota. The new bill is a substitute for one killed last week.

Speaking before the house civil administration committee Dean Holm of St. Paul, federal consultant of the Minnesota state planning board, estimated development of the Red river valley would cost $15,000,000, of which "we can expect $8,000,000 or $9,000,000 will come from the federal government.

"There are three main dams projected in Minnesota," said Holm. "They are on the Snake-Roseau river in Roseau county, the Red Lake river, and the Lake Traverse-Boise de Sioux river. This plan absolutely insures a permanent supply of water for all cities along the Red river."

Others who testified briefly before the committee included L. B. Boyd, Crookston and A. R. Johanson, Wheaton.

Residents of Crookston, East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls are heartily in favor of the proposed compact, Boyd told the house committee.

Prowlers Capture District Title; to Play Ada Tonight

District Champions Will Seek Regional Title in Ada Tourney

DEFEAT CROOKSTON IN FINAL SETTO FRIDAY

Capacity Crowd Sees Locals Win at Auditorium by 22-16 Score

Making a clean sweep of the three games in which it engaged in the District 31 high school basketball tournament in this city late last week, the Lincoln school quintet, bearing the title of district champions, this evening will enter the Region 8 tourney at Ada meeting the fast Ada team at 8:30. Lancaster and Cass Lake teams, champions in Districts 32 and 29 respectively, will clash at 7:30.

A large delegation of local fans is planning to accompany Coach George Lee's boys to Ada to cheer them on to victory. The regional championship contest will be fought out Friday evening at 8:30, preceded by the consolation event, and the team that wins the title honors will have the distinction of participating in the state tournament to be held shortly in Minneapolis.

After overwhelming Oslo 60 to 17 last Wednesday evening, the Prowlers went into the semi-finals Thursday to defeat Warren 21 to 13. The local team had the advantage all the way, the score at the end of the first quarter being 7-1, at the half, 12-6, and at the end of the third period 16-8. Most of the Prowlers' margin of victory was accounted for by nine successful free throws to three for Warren.

In the other semi-final tilt Crookston handed East Grand Forks a 27-13 defeat, maintaining a lead all the way thru the game. Barnes starred for Crookston, accounting for 13 points, while Sundin led the scoring for East Grand Forks with a total of 12 points.

Climaxing a colorful program Friday evening before a capacity crowd, the Prowlers won the trophy symbolizing the district title by defeating Crookston 22-16 in a hotly contested game in which there never was a wide margin between the scores of the two teams. The first quarter ended 8-3; the half 15-7 in favor of the locals; and the third quarter 16-12.

The Prowler victory was due largely to the fact that the local boys succeeded in converting ten free throws to only four for Crookston. Lorentson led the scoring attack for the Prowlers, making a total of eight points, while Captain Hut Nelson and his teammates

STATE PROPERTY OWNERS UTILIZE 10-YEAR TAX PLAN

$1,500,000 in Taxes Paid In to Date by 15,228 Delinquents

Approximately $1,500,000 in taxes have been collected in Minnesota under the new ten year installment plan adopted by the state legislature a year ago, and 15,228 delinquent taxpayers have signed contracts with the state under the provisions of the act, according to a survey just made by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

Legislators and citizens have been desirous of knowing how the plan has been working out, since a renewal of the law is now under consideration at the special session, which, if adopted, would extend the time in which delinquents may pay up their back taxes and avoid penalties and interest. As a matter of information and to give statistical information upon which to base sound conclusions, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association undertook the survey.

A supplemental report on present tax delinquency was also made by the state taxpayers association, which discloses that while the average percentage of delinquency as of January 1936 was 18.81 per cent, the present delinquency is estimated at 15.57 per cent according to figures available at this time from 77 counties reporting.

ECONOMIST FROM STATE UNIVERSITY SPEAKS IN COUNTY

Dr. Silcox Sees Best Agricultural Outlook in Past Seven Years

"Despite the drouth of 1936 and the present shortage of feed grains, the outlook for agriculture in Minnesota is good, if not the best it has been for six or seven years," said Dr. W. D. Silcox, extension economist in marketing for the University of Minnesota, at meetings sponsored by the county agent's office held throughout the county last week.

"Because of improvements in industrial activity and generally improved economic conditions, the domestic demand for farm products in 1937 will exceed the demand for farm products in 1936. Steel production, electric power production, freight car loadings and other indexes of business activity are greater than a year ago resulting in increases in payrolls which result in greater purchasing power in the hands of the consumer and a potential increase in demand for products of the farm. Foreign demand for Agricultural products is also expected to be greater in 1937 than in recent years.

"The most important factor in the dairy industry at the present time is the unfavorable relationship between price of feed grains and the price of butterfat. However, as feed supplies become available in the early summer this relationship is expected to change leaving the dairy producer in a stronger position for the next two or three years than he has recently been. Slaughtering of dairy cows last summer were the heaviest of any year on record resulting in a reduced number of cows on farms. The number of heifer calves to be saved probably will not increase until the spring of 1938. Since it takes heifer calves two years to come into production, dairy cows will not show any substantial increase until 1938. The relatively high prices of other classes of livestock will reduce the incentive for other farmers to shift to the dairy enterprise.

Beef cattle numbers have decreased for the last three years but may show an upward trend from now on. If beef cattle numbers increase as expected during the next three years the relative position of the beef producer may not be as strong in 1940 as it is at present. The number of cattle on feed in the corn belt this year was twenty-three per cent smaller than a year ago. Prices of beef cattle also during 1937 will probably average higher than in 1936.

The 1936 lamb crop was nine per cent larger than a year ago, practically all of this increase taking place in the western and southern sheep states. The sheep industry was not as greatly affected by the drouth in 1936 as in 1934. Lambs were slow in coming to market last fall but the run during the winter has been quite heavy. On January 1st, 1937, the number of lambs on feed for market was estimated to be a little less than five million head, a decrease of four per cent from January 1st, 1936. Prices for lambs in 1936 were well above those for 1935 and higher than for several years. With smaller supplies of lambs likely to go to market during March, an advance in lamb prices this month is probable."

News Behind the News in the Legislature

By Senator Vin Weber

It is but natural that the writer of such a column, touching, as it does, upon many things, must draw some criticism. As a newspaperman of many years, your correspondent is accustomed to that. Not to draw fire would mean that such a column was merely so many words. The reader is reminded, however, that this column does not necessarily reflect the opinion of the editor of the paper but is offered merely as a "bill of fare" from which they may take what they like and leave that which is not palatable.

That Governor Benson has a mind of his own is daily becoming more apparent. Every once in a while he scolds even his most ardent supporters. Not long since, he and Senator Lommen, the state's foremost orator and master of words, spoke before the Fourth District Women's Clubs. Sen. Lommen, among other things spoke on the proposed Pari Mutuel bill, which would permit betting upon horse races. The Senator gave a sound argument. He showed wherein many thousands of dollars would accrue to the state by the enactment of such a law. He made a good impression, but his efforts went for naught, the Governor, following him, not only taking his Senate floor leader to task for even daring to mention such a proposal, but informing his audience that so long as he was Governor any race-horse betting bill would be vetoed. The Senator was not phased. He is accustomed to being over-ruled.

Some of the northern state editors and citizens do not like my comments relative to the alleged wasteful expenditure of money in range villages and cities and write me that I do not know conditions on the range or the problems confronting the range people. Knowing these things they tell me I would never dare suggest such a law as I promulgated last week. Well, maybe I am in error, but I have been a frequent visitor on the range these past twenty years and have observed many things. Just to prove that I do know a few things I need only cite that no less than thirteen officials of a certain range village, which I can name, late in February attended the annual convention of the League of Municipalities, each and every one drawing $100 expense money in advance for the junket. But what's $1,300 for a convention of so great importance?

Farmers of Minnesota in the drouth area will be able to get seed as in 1935 under the bill passed the forepart of the week and agreed to in conference on Thursday. The seed grain received may be paid for in cash or in kind, 1½ bushels for every bushel of grain received, and three bushels of corn for one bushel received. The payment in kind of corn was increased by reason of the cost of seed corn which usually amounts to from $3.00 to $6.00 per bushel, which great cost is caused by the expense involved in tests for germination. The law, as in 1935, will be administered by the State Auditor, the county and township boards.

Governor Benson's pet measure, the state liquor dispensary bill, appears headed for the limbo of forgotten things. Despite protests from every corner and section of the state that for a time doubled the mail receipts of every legislator, the Governor has not lost hope and has pressed for action. That his controlled house is not desirous of such legislation was indicated this week when the House committee on Liquor Control refused to recommend the bill for passage and held it over for another week. Delaying recommendation of a bill at this late stage of the session endangers passage of a bill in the extreme, and doubtless the House committee's thought along this line is father to their action.

Rep. Stockwell, with whom government ownership is a hobby, would put Minneapolis in the electric business, since his pet measure, a state owned hydro-electric power system, failed of passage. No bill could be more liberal or unlimited in scope and the Mill City, under its provisions, could be bonded to an extent that would bankrupt it in a minute. Not only does the bill provide for the construction of a monstrous power plant, but provides for the purchase of the present franchises, distribution system, etc. When this was accomplished lines could be built in every direction for a distance of 50 miles. It was ever easy to spend other people's money.

The highway problem is perplexing many members these days. They are reluctant to increase either the gas tax or auto license fees or to vote further certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of license fees, but realize they must find some revenues if Minnesota is to avail itself of some five millions of dollars which the federal government has earmarked for Minnesota, when and if matched by the state. The Highway Commissioner has presented a compilation showing the estimated receipts and expenditures which shows that maintenance, bond interest and principal, and other fixed expenses of the department, leave very little in the construction fund to match federal aid. Almost every county has some highways that need paving or other improvements, but the members will not vote blindly. They want a definite program presented, a program which will show how much the department proposes to spend for new bridges, grading, graveling, bituminous treatment, concrete pavement, and how many miles of each will be built and where located. This correspondent is of the opinion that if an acceptable program of permanent construction is promised, it is reasonably certain that funds will be provided to match federal aid, but without such a program, it is unlikely that any great amount will be voted.

What will the Senate do with the Income Tax? That is the question every Senator is asked hundreds of times daily. Well, that remains to be seen, but it is this writer's opinion that Minnesota is not yet ready to force industry out of the state, and that the Senate will vote not only to retain the industries we have but to give those industries that would like to locate in Minnesota, assurance that Minnesota is a safe and sane state in which to locate, regardless of some of the political grandstanding and maneuvering that is being played.

Advisers of King George are said seriously to have suggested that he grow a beard so that he will look more like his late father. That, at least, would seem to be a matter for the king, and the queen, to decide.—Springfield Republican.

THREE HORSES AND NO MAN'S LAND

It seems to be rather difficult for President Roosevelt to grasp the idea that the Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land, superior even to his will. Being absolutely satisfied in his own mind that his program is for the best interests of the people, he can see no justification whatsoever in delaying that program merely because of the Constitution, which prescribes specific limitations on his power and the powers of Congress. A couple of years ago he expressed his contempt for that document when he advised Congress to ignore it. He would now set it aside by the simple expedient of packing the Supreme Court with a group of "yes" men who would read into the Constitution whatever powers he would need to put his program into effect. That such a procedure would tend to destroy the very foundation of our liberties does not seem to occur to him. He is great. He is wise. He is good. All these things he admits. The people can trust him. Therefore they have nothing to fear.

In back of the ideas that were drafted into our Constitution were many centuries of political experience. The struggle for liberty of those who founded our government was only one of the many bitter and bloody conflicts that had fixed in the minds of the people a great fear of personal, autocratic government. It was as a bulwark against autocratic government that the Constitution was adopted, and the system of checks and balances in our government which that Constitution provides was adopted after a great deal of careful deliberation.

"WE THE PEOPLE of the United States, in order to secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States", reads the opening paragraph of that document. "This Constitution, and all laws of the United States WHICH SHALL BE MADE IN PURSUANCE THEREOF;—shall be the supreme law of the land; and Judges in every state shall be bound thereby," it states. Nothing could be clearer than this. The Constitution is the law of WE THE PEOPLE. The Constitution and laws made IN PURSUANCE THEREOF are the law of the land. Laws not in pursuance thereof are not laws.

And who shall judge whether acts of Congress or the States are or are not in pursuance thereof? The Constitution tells us, "The Judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as Congress may from time to time ordain and establish." The power to pass judgment on the constitutionality of its own acts was not conferred upon Congress or upon the President. It was conferred specifically upon the Supreme Court.

And when the President seeks to take upon himself the judicial power by packing the Supreme Court with judges who will do his bidding then he destroys the system of checks and balances of our government and violates his oath of office in which he said, "I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, PRESERVE, PROTECT AND DEFEND THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES."

In his Victory Day speech last week the President likened the three branches of our government to three horses, harnessed together. The horse representing the judicial branch, he intimated, was plunging off in the wrong direction, retarding the work of the two good horses, himself and Congress. He would bring this unruly horse into submission.

Many of us are of the opinion that it is the President, dragging a subservient Congress with him, that is plunging off into strange fields and that it is the judicial horse that is holding to a steady course. Be that as it may, the analogy betrays the real purpose of the President in his attacks on the Court. Instead of three horses, three branches of government exercising constitutional checks on each other, he wants the other two horses snubbed to him. He is willing, for the time being at least, to keep up the appearance of three horses. But as a matter of fact he thinks that one big horse, providing he is the horse, is enough. And in this his ideas are identical with the ideas of Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin.

In his Victory Day speech the President said that because of the "assumed" powers of the Supreme Court, neither the Federal government nor the states were able to deal with certain problems and that, therefore, "we live in a nation where there is no legal power anywhere to deal with its most difficult practical problems—a No Man's Land of final futility." This would be a sad state of affairs if it were true. But it is not true. President Roosevelt knows it is not true.

The legal power to deal with these problems to which he refers rests with the people. It is a power retained by them in the Constitution. There is not one single objective in the Roosevelt program that cannot be effected legally if WE THE PEOPLE approve. Roosevelt has not asked the people to give him the power which the Constitution now denies him. In his campaign speeches he promised the people that if he could not accomplish his purposes within the Constitution he would ask them for whatever amendments to that document might be needed to enable him to accomplish his purposes. The platform of the Democratic party pledged the party to the same procedure. The party may yet keep its word. The President has broken his.

There is no such thing as a "No Man's Land of final futility." The Constitution states that, "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited to it by the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or TO THE PEOPLE." By that Constitution the people still have some rights on which neither the Federal nor the State governments may encroach. It is these individual rights of the private citizen which make up that "No Man's Land" with which the President has grown so impatient. The controversy centers around the question of how far the government can go in regimenting the citizens of this country.

It is possible that the people want to be regimented. They, and they alone, have the power, "the legal power," to decide that, and the extent to which they shall be regimented. It is the rights of individual citizens in this "No Man's Land" that the Constitution now protects. If they are wise the people will consider carefully before they relinquish any of these rights. And if they still love liberty, and hate tyranny, as American citizens should, they will vigorously defend those rights and oppose, militantly if necessary, any usurper who would take from them those rights without their consent.

GREAT OPPORTUNITIES

(Mandan, N. D., Pioneer)

There's a greater menace to the State in putting it into the liquor business than in any of the things we have tried out. The proposal is to cut out the distributors and compel every retailer to buy from the State. What a nice juicy graft that would be. And with district and county deputies what a political machine could be built up, for the high commissioner of liquor would of necessity have to appoint deputies. The liquor machine would put to shame the state highway machine and we would find those who consume liquor prevented from buying brands manufactured by distillers who failed to "come across."

CONSERVATION SUFFERERS

(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

Game and fish of this section have suffered, not so much from lawlessness, as from hogglshness. For years the limits of game have been far too high. For years thousands have crowded the fishing waters, catching and taking more than good sense warranted. For years, lawfully or unlawfully, the breeding stock of the deer have been slaughtered. For years game and fish have been the object of political spoils. There has been about as much hypocrisy in game and fish as there was once found in the use of liquor under prohibition.

PROPERTY TAXES ARE STEADY

(Milwaukee Journal)

This year, as for some years past, legislators are toying with proposals to remove part of the tax burden on real estate. The proposals vary, but without exception they shift the tax to income or to purchases. This is true even though they may seem to tax something else.

Proponents of these measures may not realize it, but their substitutes have one thing in common—they are all "fair weather" taxes. In years when incomes are good and expenditures free, they would yield well. In years when incomes fall and expenditures with them, they would yield only a small fraction of what was needed.

Real estate taxation is really taxation of capital. Whether times are good or bad, the tax is due just the same. Therefore, even though there may be temporary delinquencies, it is a steady source of income to government. Eventually the property itself is forfeited, if taxes are not paid. We have no other tax of this sort. If property taxes were greatly decreased by shifting, depressions would find government in a bad way indeed.

These things should be remembered when shifts are thought of. Putting the burden on income, which may cease, or on purchases, which may be curtailed, carries the danger that tax yields may practically vanish. If local governments and schools depend too much on such taxes, their work may be very badly crippled in times of depression.

WHY SHOULD NELLIE FEAR?

(Kansas City Star)

President Roosevelt has shown such hostility to the Supreme Court that there was no occasion for surprise over his latest move. In the old days of melodrama the pursuit of Nellie, the beautiful cloak model, by the villian used to keep audiences on edge.

In the first act the villain tried to poison Nellie; in the second to stab her; in the third to push her off Brooklyn bridge. Meeting her in the fourth act, he exclaimed: "Nellie, why do you fear me?"

RETIREMENT AT SEVENTY

(St. Cloud Times)

If the age of retirement of Supreme Court judges is fixed at 70 years, that would mean relatively short terms for members, because a man has to be at least 50 before he has gained the experience and the legal knowledge to adequately qualify for this very responsible office. There are six or seven Supreme Court judges now 70 years of age or older, some of the most able and popular members, and who have been giving the best of service after they reached 70 years. Most of them could give excellent service for several years yet to come. It is recalled that Oliver Wendell Holmes, one of the ablest judges in the long history of the court, served until he was 92 years, and even then he was the only one who suggested his retirement. Some of his ablest decisions were after he was 80. Some men passed their best days before 70 and some are in full possession of their powers up to 80 and more years.

If members of the Supreme Court have to quit when they reach 70, how about members of the United States senate? If that body decides judges should retire at 70 why not members of the senate and the house? Certainly it requires mental and physical ability to serve in congress, if one is to do his best work. Such a rule would eliminate men like Borah, Norris, and several others, and in a year or two it would send Joseph Robinson back to his state of Arkansas, although he seemingly is good for another ten years.

There is a lot of unsound thinking in the forced retirement of men in high positions at 70, when they may be better fitted for their jobs than ever, profiting by their years of experience.

As a matter of fact congress has no constitutional authority to limit the terms of the judges of the Supreme court. They are appointed for life terms, and if they are to be shunted back into private life, the way to do that is to amend the constitution, the authority resting with the people and not congress.

PUBLIC OPINION

My dear Mr. Editor:

If Mr. Trovaten in his shrewdness believes that he can or will inveigle us into an exchange of billions-bickering and a vilifying of persons he is doomed for unsatisfaction. Such exchanges do at times entertain the readers, but they also have the ugly habit of engendering bitterness; and we have too much admiration for Mr. Trovaten's attacks upon the gold-gluttons of Wall Street to become angered at his remarks, regardless of how personal they may be.

But he asks for logic. We wonder if he would accept the logic of the late great Floyd Olson and Bob and Phil LaFollette, and Tom Amlie and Maury Maverick, and Paul Kvale, and Richard Buckler, and Dewey Johnson, and Henry Teigan and John Bernard and Hugo Black and Fiorella LaGuardia? We do not ask that he accept any logic, but we do hope that he will have the fairness to study the logic of these men. And with the exception of Floyd Olson (whose views on the Supreme Court are common knowledge) these men are all alive, and they have resolved to support Roosevelt's judiciary reform program.

By the way, we wonder if Mr. Trovaten would join us in a Committee of two to work and labor for the election of Philip LaFollette as our President in 1940?

And as for the Editors of the Times: we have been warned that these gentlemen have been abundantly blessed with that dubious gift of making the worse appear the better reason—and noting their mastery of the measured syllable and the polished phrase we realize that that warning was not amiss. What frightens us is the fear that some liberals may become lured by the siren-song of these Republican Loreleis, and to be reduced into a life of reaction. A fate which we imagine to be worse than any that can be conceived by the Furies.

Lacking in self-confidence we are not, but we must assure Mr. Trovaten and others that it is a serious physical disability which necessitates our signature to be,

Annual Spring Program

On April 1st, we will again celebrate our annual spring opening as our 26th anniversary

Details of the program will be given in next week's paper.

Present plans are, in addition to the moving pictures and free lunch at noon, to arrange for many special features of interest to the extent that it will be an interesting day to all.

DAN'T FORGET THE DATE, APRIL 1ST, 1937

What's new, and compared with the old is of interest to all and in modern farm equipment we have much to show to our trade which will be specially featured on APRIL 1ST.

Not only in farm equipment but in Motor Vehicles, Automobiles and Trucks. We perhaps will not be able to show you the new line of International Trucks by April 1st, but we do know there is a complete new line of International trucks out and that these trucks are simply outstanding in beauty styling, with still greater quality added to the outstanding International truck values. At any rate we will know something of the outstanding new features to tell and have illustrations to show you by April 1st.

PHOSPHATE

We are advised there is to be a government rebate or allowance under the Soil Conservation Program this year for the use of PHOSPHATE and commercial fertilizer. This would be interesting news to many. At least to all who have used and know the value of PHOSPHATE. Now then, we wish to do our part and have the Phosphate on hand for any and all who want it and when wanted. But it is impossible to do so unless we have advance orders. We shall try to stock a limited amount, but only advance orders can be given preference. Several have already placed orders and we hope to have the cooperation of every farmer on this PHOSPHATE program. We are actually working for you on this and our profits in the sale of Phosphate is less than the cash discount we give our customers. Besides the PHOSPHATE on your fields will pay you the dividends.

WARNING

Almost every day we are warned of price advances and we know positively these price advances are coming and many advances have already taken place. Under our contracts we have a limited stock in most all items we sell. But when we have sold the limits of our present stock and contract purchase, we must follow in line of new prices. IT'S THE BEST WARNING WE CAN GIVE, TO BUY NOW, AT LEAST PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW and we will do our best to protect your order at the lower prices. WHAT'S MORE, WE ALSO KNOW THERE WILL BE A SHORTAGE IN MANY LINES.

No better equipment was ever offered than the McCormick-Deering 1937 line. No better service ever, nor to be, on any other line. You must have service on all farm equipment. "The farther you move away from any McCormick-Deering branch house or dealer, the closer you will be to their next branch house or dealer."

REP. J. MELBY ASKS C. & C. SUPPORT FOR STATE INSTITUTION

Submits Copy of Bill Providing for Location in Thief River Falls

At the Civic and Commerce luncheon last Thursday Secretary Paul Lundgren read a communication from Representative J. O. Melby of Oklee accompanying a copy of a bill introduced jointly by himself and Rep. W. E. Day of Bagley providing for an institution for the feeble-minded to be located at Thief River Falls.

Mr. Melby pointed out that while the bill may not be passed in the current session of the legislature, it nevertheless will be well for officials and citizens of the city and county to consider the matter of making available a site for the institution, which would require a tract of 640 acres of land. The communication was referred to the association's legislative committee for further action.

Alf Berry, chairman of a special committee, submitted samples of two types of ornamental lighting decorations which the city council will be asked to consider for use in the downtown district. The matter was left in the hands of the committee to cooperate with the council and Supt. Ole Legvold of the water and light department.

A report of the legislative and agricultural committees was submitted by Robert J. Lund with reference to bills introduced in the legislature affecting the department of rural credit. Mr. Lund reported that, while in sympathy with the purposes of the bills, the committees reserved further time to recommend proposed changes in provisions.

Stanton Dahlen of the committee that arranged for the special train to Emerson March 2 reported that 324 tickets had been purchased by local hockey fans.

Investigator Finds Moylan Woman's Death Accidental

There was no murder or premeditated plan that led to the death of Mrs. Nicholai Kast, 44, Moylan township woman, whose charred body was taken from the burning embers of a small smoke house on the Kast farm in the early evening of Feb. 19, H. H. Goetzinger, investigator from the Minnesota bureau of criminal apprehension, declared Sunday following a complete check-up of the case last week.

Mr. Goetzinger was called to investigate the death of the newly married Moylan township woman, because of numerous rumors in the community pointing to the possibility that Mr. Kast had murdered his wife.

A grave injustice has been done to Mr. Kast by residents of that community as there is no evidence, direct or indirect which could point to him as having murdered his wife," said the state investigator in an interview with the Warren Sheaf. "The Marshall county coroner, Dr. H. M. Blegen and Sheriff O. C. Toftner are to be highly commended for the efficient manner that they conducted the investigation as there was nothing in the evidence which warranted the calling of a coroner's jury to make an inquest. Their action has also saved the taxpayers of Marshall county a considerable sum of money," said Mr. Goetzinger.

"After my investigation, I am positive that there was no murder or that the building had been deliberately set fire to," he declared.

In his statement the bureau representative reviewed the case stating as follows:

"We were out to the Kast farm, looked at the remains of the smoke house which was a building about 5½ feet square and ten feet high constructed of pine boards on a concrete foundation. There was a small vent in the building for all smoke to escape.

"On February 19, Mr. Kast and wife had their mid-day meal about two o'clock, and after the meal, Mrs. Kast stated that she wanted to start smoking the meat which consisted of four large and four small sides of pork. Mrs. Kast had been troubled with abdominal pain for several days, and her husband urged her to wait a day and he would help her. He thought nothing further about it and went out to clean the chicken house, piling the manure on a sled. He hitched up his horses and hauled the manure to one of his fields located on the side of his barn. He finished unloading and started to drive back. He then noticed the smokehouse in flames, and ran to the house to see if Mrs. Kast was there. Not finding her, he ran back and saw Owen Olson, Goodridge garage man, driving into the yard with Kast's car, Mr. Olson having had the Kast car for a couple of days doing repair work on the machine. Kast knew Mr. Olson was going to return his car that afternoon, as he had promised to take Mr. Olson back to town. Olson had also taken a neighbor boy, who attends school in Goodridge, back to his home. It was exactly 4:20 when Mr. Olson reached the yard.

"Mr. Kast's and Mr. Olson's stories checked conclusively after being questioned. We then followed the sled tracks and noticed where Mr. Kast had spread the manure. We sifted the ashes from the smoke house, and found all metal parts from the clothing worn by Mrs. Kast, including her diamond ring and her wedding ring and also pieces of clothing including parts from the plush coat she had worn. These articles are being stored for the present in Sheriff Toftner's vault and may be seen by anyone interested. Scientific tests were run on everything found and there was nothing shown that could even hint of murder or premeditated death.

"There was no motive either, as neither Mrs. Kast nor Mr. Kast carried any life insurance.

"Mr. Kast is a former 2nd Lieutenant in the Austria-Hungarian army and was in charge of instruction during the late world war. He served five years as an officer in the army. He was first married in 1916 in Austria and came to the United States in 1924. About two years ago, his first wife died following an operation at a hospital in Thief River Falls. In January, 1936, Mr. Kast returned to Vienna, Austria and on March 24, 1936 he was married to Elizabeth Bower. The couple returned to Moylan township shortly after. Having lived in the large city of Vienna all her life, living on a quiet farm was at first quite disagreeable to Mrs. Kast, however she became adapted to farm life and appeared to be enjoying it immensely—during the past winter.

"The Kast home was exceptionally clean, and I would call her an immaculate housekeeper. She was baking bread the afternoon of the tragic accident, and neighbors came in to finish the task when it was known that she had met such tragic death. Being new in the country, Mrs. Kast was not a good judge between kerosene and gasoline. Mr. Kast had two cans of similar type and size, one near the kitchen containing kerosene while one had been kept near the smoke house which contained gasoline. Mrs. Kast unscrewed the cap from the can in the smoke house and poured some of its contents on the wood to start fire, lit a match and the entire building burst out in flames. The dripping lard from the pork sides, dripped directly on the woman as she lay on the floor, while the gasoline kept pouring from the can, all making an intense flame.

"Sheriff Toftner received his call at approximately 4:30 P. M. and shortly after 5:00 P. M. he and Dr. Blegen were on the road to Moylan, reaching the scene of the tragic accident about seven o'clock. The local authorities did their duty and are to be commended highly for their actions," he said in closing.

INCOME OF RURAL CREDIT BUREAU IS HIGHER FOR 1936

Theodore Arens, Conservator, Submits Annual Report

Cash liquidation in the state department of rural credit increased almost three million dollars in 1936 over the preceding year, the annual report of Theodore Arens, state conservator, showed last week.

Receipts of $6,371,281 for 1936, $2,961,740 more than in the year previous, were in part attributed to refinancing authorized by the 1935 legislature. The federal land bank refinanced most loans.

The department, organized in 1923, made 13,562 loans, amounting to $62,270,500. Arens' report disclosed that 2,390 loans totaling $11,665,300, had been paid as of Dec. 31, 1936. Loans were discontinued and liquidation begun in 1933.

Cash on hand was $8,138,876, sufficient to meet maturing principal on bond payments of $7,077,749.

Complete liquidations at the close of business for 1936 since the reorganization act, included 2,390 loans and 1,207 sales on contract for deed.

Losses since the liquidation was begun, actual and contracted, are approximately $14,500,000, of which $10,799,630 is uncollected interest and the balance is principal investment. The report said these losses necessitated issuance of debt certificates and tax levy certificates.

The process of liquidation is shown by a comparison of loans status at the time the conservator act was passed and at the close of 1930.

Man Ends Life on Farm Southeast of This City Last Saturday Morning

Albert M. Burow, 60 years old, who had made his home since last fall on the Prestebak farm three miles south of the intersection of the angle road with the Oklee highway, Saturday aftrnoon was found alone in the house, dead from a self-inflicted shotgun wound thru the mouth. It's farther between filling stations in the Ford "60"

THE 60-horsepower Ford V-8 engine was first developed for Europe, where fuel costs are high. Two years' usage there proved its unusual economy.

When the "60" came to this country this year, the Ford Motor Company made no mileage claims—waited for facts, written on American roads by American drivers.

Now Ford "60" owners are reporting averages of 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline. That makes it the most economical Ford car ever built!

Best of all, the Ford "60" is just as big and roomy—just as handsome, sturdy and safe—as the famous 85-horsepower Ford V-8. And it sells at the lowest Ford price in years.

If you want a big car for a small budget—a car you can drive with pride and profit—see the thrifty "60" soon!
